All-Night Meet Settles Local Issues At GM

Only Master Contract Now to Be Drafted

TORONTO (CP)—An all-night session of General Motors and United Auto Workers negotiators broke up at 6 a.m. today.

Spokesmen for the union said contract negotiations will be resumed tonight with the way now cleared for exclusive discussion of the master contract.

An official of the United Auto Workers union said: "All the local stuff now has been cleared away and only the master contract remains to be negotiated."

The UAW represents 15,000 GM workers in five Ontario cities.

OFFERS INCREASE

A General Motors spokesman said the company has offered a six-cent-an-hour wage increase or 2½ per cent, whichever was greater, in each year of a three-year contract.

The first increase would be retroactive to Nov. 1 this year, the second would be set for Dec. 1 next year and the third for Dec. 1, 1960.

GM officers included a one-cent-an-hour increase in the cost of living allowance, now 12 cents an hour, but said the increase would be retroactive to Nov. 17.

Twelve cents of the 20-cent cost of living allowance would be added to employees' base hourly rates and not subject to reduction.

ADDED BENEFIT

An added supplementary pension, reported would be payable between the ages of 60 and 70 to eligible employees retiring in the future.

The General Motors spokesman said the union had withdrawn its demand on "unrealistic and highly inflationary economic demands."

Sessions lasted all day Saturday, reopened Sunday and continued through the night. There were reports an agreement was near.

Discussions involve contracts for GM plants in Toronto, Leaside, Oshawa, Windsor and St. Catharines.

Phone Service On Election Returns Tonight

The Ontario Intelligencer will tonight provide its customers municipal election night service. Polls close at 7 p.m. and reporting at 8 p.m. Listeners will be able to obtain the latest available information on the progress of the counting of ballots by telephoning Widdifield 2-2727. The Intelligencer phone number has four telephone lines but the one number will connect callers with whichever line is not busy.

Federal Govt. To Float Loan Of $400 Million

OTTAWA (CP) — The government announced today it will put off a bank loan with Canada Savings Bonds investors but will give the public immediately for an $400,000,000 to cover its [illegible] new $400,000,000 issue—adding to Ottawa's conversion loan of the split in two maturities: one, a four-per-cent, four-year, non-callable issue due Dec. 1, 1963, offered at $98.75 for $100 bond, those purchased at 4.34 per cent; the second a three-per-cent, one-year non-callable issue due Dec. 15, 1959, offered at $99.25, yielding 3.77 per cent.

A new feature on the four-per-cent issue is that while the government won't be able to call the bonds for payment before they mature, the buyer can redeem them in 3 years, or every fiscal year thereafter, at the buying price of $98.75. Three-month notice of intention is needed.

OFFERED IMMEDIATELY

The new bonds are being offered immediately through investment dealers and banks. Subscription books are to be opened at the Bank of Canada Wednesday.

An indication of the sharp rise in interest rates which the government has to pay to borrow money is given by the fact that in the last conversion loan of last July, one three-year bond maturity yielded three per cent compared with the four per cent maturity in the new four-year maturity which has been added in two years.

Finance Minister Fleming also announced that so far, some $555,000,000 worth of 1958 Canada Savings Bonds have been sold. This, he said, is "very satisfactory." Part of the money will be used to pay off a $400,000,000 bank loan made last July at 2¼ per cent and falling Dec. 15.

Mr. Fleming gave no indication of the new $400,000,000 issue would be except to say that the bonds will be used by the government for general purposes. He is known that the administration is deeper and deeper into debt. The 1958-59 budget deficit, which Mr. Fleming said unofficially total about $700,000,000; may go even higher. Some experts suggest it may total between $800,000,000 and $1,000,000,000.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A weak disturbance moved rapidly into Northern Ontario from the Prairies spreading cloud and snow across the province. Snowfall amounts have been light except about six inches. Temperatures moderated somewhat and a much warmer air moved into the province ahead of this disturbance.

As this storm continues eastward into Quebec west to northwest winds will return causing more in its wake, bringing occasional sky dawn from the northwest. Also resulted in snowflurries along the eastern shores of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay. A few scattered snowflurries elsewhere in Southern Ontario.

LIFE-SAVING 'COPTER MISSION LEAVES 6 DEAD

Crash Probably Due To Bad Weather

WINNIPEG (CP) — An RCAF helicopter flying on a seventy burned mother and child to hospital crashed in northern Manitoba Sunday and all six persons aboard were killed.

Cause of the crash was not known. An RCAF spokesman said the flight may have been due to bad weather.

The victims: Mrs. Jacob Crate and her two-year-old daughter; Fit. Lt. J. C. Smith, 28, Swan River, Man., air pilot; Cpl. W. J. Bain, 34, Dauphin, Man., LAC J. W. Wotherspoon, 20, Yorkton, Sask., and Pte. Willis Vandenberg of the Indian affairs department at Norway House, Man.

BURNED IN FIRE

Mrs. Crate and her daughter were burned Saturday when fire destroyed their home on the Bloodvein Indian reserve about 100 miles southeast of Northern Manitoba. Missionaries called for aid.

Smith, believed to be the pilot, was making night flights, the 310-mile round trip to the reserve being undertaken because of the critical nature of the case, the RCAF said.

Depending on moonlight for illumination, the pilot then made the landing at the reservation, picked up the patients and took off. Contact was lost when it disappeared.

Poor weather conditions delayed an air search, but an RCAF Dakota and Otter took off Sunday afternoon. The Otter sighted the wreckage.

THREE MEN DROPPED

The RCAF Dakota dropped three para-rescue men to the wreckage. They landed under water and scattered over the ice about 100 yards offshore.

The three rescue men, Sgt. R. W. Trent of Pathlow, Sask., and LAC D. B. Hunt and LAC R. H. Tripp, both of Centralia, Ont., reported there were no survivors. The bodies were to be removed today.

Lt. Smith was an experienced helicopter pilot. On April 14, 1954, he rescued stonepicker Frederick J. Eason of Toronto from the top of a 100-foot smokestack at Port John, B.C., when Mr. Eason was stranded by a broken ladder.

Coach Suspended For One Year, Hits Official

Scientist Suggests Electronic Judging Machines for Courts

TEDDINGTON, Eng. (AP)— Yossi Feinberg has a startling plea ing your case. The defendant has ing your case. Now you're waiting for the verdict.

On the bench, there is a whir and a click and a little white card. Then the verdict is announced—damages for the plaintiff.

The electronic judging machine has spoken.

Fantastic? Well, scientists from many nations heard the idea put to them at an International Conference on Electric Brains—"thinking machines."

The proposal was put forward by Dr. Lucien Mehl, a French lawyer, mathematician and former judge.

He suggested that someone build a machine with an electronic brain able to "learn" all questions and legal principles, sort out the ones applying to a particular case, and arrange them in logical order to arrive at a conclusion.

Dr. Mehl sees plenty of room for the flesh-and-blood judge. The electronic legal brain would be used "only in problems whose solutions can be derived unanimously and logically."

Amplifying his idea to a reporter, Dr. Mehl said he does not envisage the use of an electronic brain to decide a criminal case. "Criminal law is a problem in which a moral one as well as a logical one is involved.

More Snow Covers Ontario As Storm Toll Climbs to 16

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

More snow fell today as Southern Ontario residents continued to dig themselves out of a weekend storm that dumped five to 16 inches of snow and was accompanied by winds reaching gale force.

Sixteen deaths in Ontario since Friday, when the worst snow occurred, have been attributed to the storm and bad road conditions. At least two persons died of heart attacks after clearing the snow from their homes.

Driving conditions today were generally poor on main Ontario highways and impossible on most back roads but provincial police reported no drivers stranded during the weekend.

Highway crews were sanding roads on a 24-hour basis and snow ploughs were expected throughout Southern Ontario during the afternoon.

Gray Coach Lines said heavy snowfall in the vicinity of Buffalo had delayed service between Toronto and Buffalo up to two hours on some trips.

Northern Ontario highways were reported bare to middle bare with snowparked spots in Blind River and Chapleau regions.

The department of highways road information service in Toronto reported more than 1,800 calls on the weekend from worried motorists as slippery spots caused a rash of minor accidents.

U.S. 4 Years Behind as Russia Flies A-Powered Bomber

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia already is flying a nuclear-powered bomber, the magazine Aviation Week reported today. The United States is at least four years behind Russia in this respect.

The U.S. Air Force and defence department have no comment on the report.

The magazine said the Russian bomber was completed six months ago and has been flying over the Moscow area for the last two months. Its test flights there have been under the observation of the critical nature of the case, the RCAF said.

Depending on moonlight for illumination, the pilot then made the landing at the reservation, picked up the patients and took off. Contact was lost when it disappeared.

Poor weather conditions delayed an air search, but an RCAF Dakota and Otter took off Sunday afternoon. The Otter sighted the wreckage.

Declares Universities Need More Money for Research

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Toronto vice - president said today Canadian universities must have a free, continuous and unrestricted flow of money for research to keep pace with the great achievements in the Soviet Union.

Dr. Murray C. Ross told the Canadian Club that a combination of private giving, corporate giving and government grants can keep Canadian universities free and their leadership and research at a high level.

However, he said, "it will have to be a much larger contribution being hitherto considered in Canada."

Dr. Ross said Western scientists have been impressed with the generous and far-sighted provisions made for scientific research in Russia.

"A leading Soviet scientist said to me 'You will either fall in behind us or your universities will become government universities' he says. Private enterprise can not afford to support modern research on the scale we have in the U.S.S.R.'"

"I am not convinced that universities must come under government control in order to survive," he said, "but they must have far more money for research if we are to keep up. It is true that scientific research is expensive; it is true that we are falling behind."

A copy of his address was made available to the press in advance of delivery.

Sir H. Wilkins, Famed Explorer, Found Dead

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP)— Sir Hubert Wilkins, famed explorer of the North and South poles, was found dead today in his hotel room. He was 70.

Sir Hubert had an office in nearby Natick where he was a geographer and authority on Arctic regions. He was recognized as an authority on extreme climates, whether cold or hot.

He proved the feasibility of flight over the ice caps of the polar regions.

Asked once to figure how many countries he had visited, Sir Hubert replied 72.

Long recognized as an authority on submarine exploration, Wilkins said that nowadays with the upper end of a submarine's snorkel electrically heated, "there are practically no places where you can't penetrate the Polar ice at will, and you can even land on an elevator can bring up anything from a man to an aircraft."

Britain Studies Killing of Woman

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain is "considering" the possibility of the murdered wife of the British air attache in Israel, Lt.-Col. Jeffrey Allen, was killed today.

She told a press conference the government is considering action "in the light of evidence which it has received."

The bullet-riddled body of Mrs. Allen was discovered near where the Sea of Galilee within Israeli territory by an Israeli search party.

The spokesman said British has received information from the Israeli investigation in Israel and from United Nations observers on the Sides of Israel-Syria border.

Postage Stamps Worth $90,000 Reported Stolen

MONTREAL (CP) — Burglars dynamited the vault of a downtown post office over the weekend and stole about $90,000 worth of postage stamps and other valuables, police said here. It would be the third big loot reported in the Ward's worth vicinity in less than two weeks.

FIVE QUAKES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five earthquakes jolted southern California Sunday night from Los Angeles to the Mexican border 190 miles away. Only one of the quakes did any damage but the centres of sharp jolts shook thousands of residents in three counties.

DE GAULLE WINS FIRM CONTROL OF NEW ASSEMBLY

Communist Seats Cut From 149 to 10

PARIS (AP) — Right-wingers waving the banner of Premier Charles de Gaulle flattened the Communists, badly trimmed Socialists and swept overwhelmingly to firm control of the new French National Assembly today.

The Communists had 22.9 per cent of the popular vote but captured only 10 of the 149 seats they held in the last National Assembly in the man-to-man run-off elections in 465 constituencies.

Among the losers was the fiery Communist floor leader and strategist, Jacques Duclos.

Toppled like shooting gallery ducks were 20 members of former premiers, ministers and wheelhorses of the centre parties—among them former Radical premier Edgar Faure, Socialist dissident ex-premier Jules Moch, former Socialist foreign minister Christian Pineau, former Socialist Algerian administrator Robert Lacoste and former justice minister Edmond Michelet.

MAN TO WATCH

Jacques Soustelle became the man to watch in the new Fifth Republic. It was Soustelle who flew secretly between Algeria and gave political direction to the rightist movement that brought de Gaulle to power in Republic last May.

The Union for a New Republic captured 32.1 per cent of the vote and 188 of the 465 seats. It fell behind such a large bloc of seats.

The Conservatives, Independents, moderates and peasant deputies, combined with the UNR, have a 350-seat majority.

In addition, the 71 deputies being elected from Algeria and the Sahara were expected to support Soustelle. Despite de Gaulle's figures for a wide range of representation, Soustelle fear of reprisals from both the nationalist rebels and the French army restricted the number of votes for those favoring continued close French connection.

SOCIALISTS CUT

The Socialists dropped to 40 seats from 94 in the last Assemble, while the Catholic Movement Republicain Popularie to 44 from 83.

The once-strong Radical Socialists, a slightly left-of-centre group, declined to 26 from 71 and even this remnant was split into two factions.

Diverse groups accounted for the remaining seats, including one strength from France.

Ten deputies were elected from overseas territories. With the 71 elected from Algeria and the Sahara, the bloc will total 81.

A new premier will be named after the electoral college picks a president to succeed Rene Coty. De Gaulle is certain to get the presidency.

In France about 21 per cent of the electorate did not vote in the general election and indifference cut down voter turnout in Algeria. There were numerous complaints that the army and rightist colonials told Moslems how to vote.

FAMILY KILLED

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A flying holiday trip to Nevada ended in death early today for a family four. Theron C. Teel, 58, his wife, Lynn, 50; their daughter, Mrs. Ruth Ann Ricks, 35, were killed when their light aircraft crashed Sunday near Municipal airport.

West May Seek Summit Meet On German Problem

May Turn Berlin Issue Into Unification Parley

BERLIN (AP) — The Western powers may use the six months Soviet Premier Khrushchev has given them to give up West Berlin in renewing demands for the unification of Germany by free elections.

Informants in the Communist-surrounded city said diplomats in the Western capitals were discussing a proposal to call for a big East-West conference, even at the summit or the level of ministers level, to reopen the whole German problem.

The would include not only Berlin but German unification and a German peace treaty.

WELCOMES TALKS

Khrushchev said Saturday night that Russia wants round-table talks with the West on Berlin but if negotiations do not begin within six months Russia will act unilaterally to end four-power control of the city.

Khrushchev spoke at an Albanian Embassy reception marking the 14th anniversary of the country's liberation. He said he expected the meeting would be held:

BUT PEACE IS FIRM

"The president reiterated our government's firm purpose that Western troops will not enter into any arrangement or embark on any measure of which would have the effect of abandoning the responsibilities which we have undertaken to assist Britain and France, has formally assured the people and military security of the people of West Berlin."

That in effect was a fresh rejection of Russia's proposal for creation of a demilitarized "free" city of West Berlin.

After reading the new statement, Mr. Brew to Mexico City for today's inauguration of President-elect Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

BOSTON (AP) — A civilian who never before piloted a plane was charged today with trying to steal an air force jet to fly it to India.

Donald L. Lutman, 35, unemployed, of Hackensack, N.J., was arrested Sunday at Hanscom air force base in Bedford when he pulled a wrong lever and set off an explosion which knocked the canopy off the jet.

FBI agents quoted Lutman as saying he wanted to take the plane to India so he could be at the bedside of Thakur, ailing Hindu religious leader.

Lutman was quoted by the FBI as saying he belonged to a follower of the Hindu religious leader while he was stationed in India with the American Field Service during the war.

The FBI said Lutman strode to the plane—a T-33 jet trainer —entered the cockpit and then fiddled with the controls in an attempt to get it off the ground.

A lever was pulled, agents said, sent the plane's canopy flying. The ex-pilot said the wrong lever was supposed to eject the seat. The propeller remained still, however, prevented that, possibly frustrating Lutman's life.

Report Massey In Good Shape

OTTAWA (CP) — Governor-General Massey is in satisfactory condition after undergoing abdominal surgery, Government House said today.

An official said the operation this morning was carried out successfully and the governor-general is resting comfortably.

The nature of the surgery was not disclosed, but it was not serious. It was postponed until Mr. Massey had a few days free of engagements, permitting him to rest in bed.

Mr. Massey, 71, will then fly to Toronto to open a Government House for about 10 days after his return home.

Tito Starts Tour

BELGRADE (Reuters) — President Tito leaves Belgrade today for an undisclosed "vacation" in Asia and will visit a number of countries.

He will be away for about two months.

Tito's tour will take him to Asian and Middle East tour.

Family Surrounds Sir Winston As He Observes 84th Birthday

It was misty and cheerless outside but there was warmth inside as three generations of Churchills gathered around the fabulous birthday cake, three feet high, covered with greenery and icing and red marzipan roses.

The post office at nearby Sevenoaks was busy, keeping open to deliver hundreds of congratulatory telegrams. A message from the Queen extended "all good wishes" and warm greetings came also from President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan.

Churchill's children, Randolph, Diana, Sarah and Mary, gave the most intimate present to the old statesman—two more pages for the Book of Roses which they gave him on his golden wedding anniversary last September.

The book contains water colory by the British artist of the Queen's flowers in the "avenue of roses" in the grounds at Chartwell.

Churchill was pleased by the gift, his daughter, but appalled at the prospect of trying to answer all the letters and telegrams pressing to convey his thanks.

"I have received many messages and well wishes on my 84th birthday from friends known and unknown all over the world," he said, "and they have given me and my family great pleasure. There is such a large number that I cannot, unfortunately, acknowledge each one. But I should like to express my warm thanks to all who have so kindly thought of me."

Expect More Snow

MONTREAL (CP)—Two more inches of snow were expected to fall on the Montreal district today, hard on the heels of a weekend storm that dumped more than a foot of snow and brought the lowest temperatures so far this winter.

In suburban Ste. Genevieve, Roxboro and several neighboring communities, 20,000 residents were without water service or telephone after a 24-hour cut to an ice blockage in the water intake pipe. The service was restored today.

STOVEPIPE THIMBLE CAUSES HOUSE FIRE

Believed to have started from a stovepipe thimble passing through a ceiling, fire Sunday afternoon caused ceiling and wall damage at 13 Baldwin St., the residence of George Polleman.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance said damage was limited of smoke and water was not heavy.

STORM CAUSES RASH OF MINOR ACCIDENTS

Slippery street and roadway conditions as result of the weekend snow caused a rash of minor highway accidents in the city and district over the weekend.

However, neither provincial nor city police reported any serious mishaps and no one was reported injured. The first heavy snowfall of the season is believed to have kept many motorists at home

WHAT IS A DOLL TO A LITTLE GIRL ?
Is's her comfort and her pride. It is to her what a mink coat is to her mother — what a new car is to her father—what a baseball autographed by Mickey Mantle is to her brother.
Little girls have odd tastes in dolls. Some will give all their love to a tattered old rag doll; others will cherish only a replica of a baby grandma. It's a personal matter, determined by little-girl whim.
That's why we have gathered such a variety of dolls from all over — just in time for Christmas — for you to feel and twist and squirm and finally decide exactly which is right for them.
You're invited to look them over.

3 Hitch-Hikers Stab Sarnia Man

SARNIA (CP) — Police are looking for three hitch-hikers responsible for the assault and stabbing for a 53-year-old Sarnia man early Saturday.

Wilfred Pinkney told police he picked up three men while in his car. Later the three offered him a drink if he would stop and get out of the car. He refused, a fight developed and one of the men stabbed him in the back and stomach with what is believed to have been a pocket knife.

The trio then fled across the fields and Mr. Pinkney, dazed and bleeding, drove to Sarnia Hospital where his condition was reported as satisfactory Sunday night.

Britain Makes Final Payment On Wartime Loan

OTTAWA (CP) — Britain today made the final payment to Canada on its interest-free $700,000,000 wartime loan.

Sir Saville Garner, British high commissioner to Canada, presented Finance Minister Fleming with a cheque for $17,500,000 at a brief ceremony in Mr. Fleming's office.

Britain borrowed the money from Canada in 1942 to buy Canadian goods for prosecution of the war. At that period during the Second World War British faced a critical shortage of dollars.

Mr. Fleming said in a statement that repayment of the loan was a mark of Britain's good faith and a firm indication of the success of the British people in recovering from the devastations of the Second World War.

The United Kingdom still owes Canada about $1,080,000,000 — the outstanding part of a $1,185,000,000 50-year loan made to Britain in 1946.

Police Warn Cheque Artists Have Been Active

A word of caution for Belleville merchants to be on the lookout for fraudulent cheque artists has been issued by Police Chief Walter Probert, who notes that such men have been quite active in many other parts of the province.

The cheques being passed are written on cheque forms of large and well known companies with common - place names for endorsation and identification being used. Popular forms of identification such as driver's permit, liquor permit and club membership cards are submitted.

With the Christmas shopping season coming up with its resultant increased business tempo, Police Chief Probert warns merchants to be more than ever on the alert against cashing cheques for strangers.

"It would be much better to lose a sale than to lose merchandise and also cash that might be paid out in cashing a worthless cheque," noted the police chief.

Extremely Light Vote Reported At Polling Booths

An extremely light vote was reported throughout the city today as ratepayers went to the polls to elect seven new aldermen and two school trustees.

One West Hill polling subdivision reported that up until twelve o'clock noon "it had been very light" as compared to other years, while the same report was received from two East Hill polling sub-divisions.

One West Ward polling place in the annexed area reported that up until noon only 17 of over 200 voters had cast their ballots, this works out at something like three and a half per cent.

Voting at the advance poll was also down from other municipal elections with only a third of the customary number of ballots being polled.

Lack of any red hot issues and the fact that there is no election for a mayoralty or public utilities commission, was given as the seeming lack of interest up to the noon hour. Also last night's fall of snow was felt might have an effect on the number of people getting out to vote.

THOMAS O'REILLY
R.R. 4, Madoc

Lifetime resident of the Huntingdon township area, Thomas O'Reilly, R.R. 4, Madoc, died suddenly at his home on Saturday. He was in his 78th year.

Born in Huntingdon, he had been son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John O'Reilly, he had farmed in that township area all his life.

T. BLAKE KETCHESON
Moira

A lifelong resident of Moira and well known in his community, T. Blake Ketcheson died in the Belleville General Hospital on Sunday. About a week ago he suffered a stroke and was admitted to the hospital.

Mr. Ketcheson was born in Huntingdon township, 79 years ago, being the son of the late Albert Ketcheson and Ada White and he resided in his native township all of his life. He was a successful farmer at Moira for many years and on his retirement he moved into the community and his son, Ross, continued on the homestead. He took an active part in his earlier years in the municipal life of his township and served on the township council.

He was a faithful member of Moira United Church and at the time of his death he was an elder of the congregation. For many years he acted as recording steward and was also superintendent of the Sunday School for many years. He enjoyed a wide circle of friends in the community who will sincerely regret his sudden death.

Surviving are his wife, the former Katie Hollinger, and the couple celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary in July; one brother, Mrs. J. (Olive) Williams of Belleville, one son Ross Ketcheson on the homestead, eleven grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren. He was the last of his family.

JAMES H. STITT
(Ottawa — Fiction)

OTTAWA (CP) — James H. Stitt, 66, a former Conservative member of Parliament and a Liberal organizer, died suddenly in his office here Saturday from a heart attack.

Mr. Stitt was thrown partly out of his car when it collided with an automobile driven by Henry Cleeg of Chelsea, Que., on a highway near Aylmer, Hull, Que.

Since 1945 Mr. Stitt had practised law in the capital. He is survived by a son, James H., Ottawa; Dr. Campbell, Mrs. F. K. McKean of Midland.

Investigation Underway Into Deline Blaze

A full scale investigation into the possible cause of Saturday morning's fire, which did an estimated $40,000 damage last at Bill Deline's Ltd., and Arthur A. Sills and Son Ltd. on Coleman Street, was underway Monday by officials.

Officials are expressing wonder at how the blaze started so rapidly as the premises were completely wrecked by night club patrol officers not more than half an hour before the blaze was discovered.

When discovered by nearby residents, the whole interior of the Deline store appeared ablaze and pressure hoses had built up sufficiently to blow the plate glass windows in the front of the building.

Indian's Story Of Murder Said Pure Invention

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec's attorney-general's department said today the story of a Canadian Montagnais Indian told Miami police concerning the 1953 death of three American hunters in the Gaspe Peninsula is "pure invention."

Deputy Minister Francis Gilbert Thompson, 33, told Miami police that he spoke to the Indian, Andrew Paul, and not the late Wilbert Coffin, were responsible for the murders. Coffin, a 43-year-old prospector was hanged for the murders after protesting his innocence.

A spokesman for the department said today a list of questions was sent by Miami to Montreal police. On the basis of the summary of Thompson's report the department is quite convinced the affair is a hoax from beginning to end."

"And in addition we're convinced Thompson has never been in the Gaspe Peninsula," the spokesman said.

Port Colborne Pickets Block Office Staff

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—A crowd of pickets, estimated at upwards of 200 formed at the peak, massed at the International Nickel Company refinery main entrance here this morning, and turned back office and supervisory personnel attempting to enter the strikebound plant. This was the first irregular incident touching the 17-day-old strike of 15,000 members of International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers against inco operations here and in Sudbury. There are more than 1,540 men in the Port Colborne Local 637 of the union.

In biting cold wind and snow squalls, the pickets on duty early refused to move out of the way of cars of non-union members attempting to enter the plant to carry on maintenance work. The pickets gradually volunteered only for the top management, security officers, nursing staff and fire sickets.

SOME WORKING

A number of the salaried staff of the refinery have been working in shifts, but many more have been crossing the picket lines daily, until today. Police Chief Lincoln Baker and three of his men were at the entrance, but failed in their efforts to persuade the strikers to move out of the way of the cars.

The strikers displayed a sign, reading: "We shall not be moved."

Otherwise, the scene was a peaceful one. There was no violence or outward threats of such to the office cars or personnel. Shouting pickets merely advised them "to go back" and "take the day off," refusing to budge. Rowdyism was at a minimum.

Are Picking Up Light Keepers

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — United States Coast Guard vessels based on the Michigan Sault have made a start on withdrawing light-house keepers and navigational aids from Lake Superior in preparation for the end of the shipping season Dec. 15.

A coast guard official said today the lighthouse keeper at Stannard Rock, about 215 miles from here in Lake Superior, has been picked up and other keepers were at Keweenaw Point will be picked up by the end of the week.

Cypriot Girl, 12, Died From Shock Caused by Fear

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — A 12-year-old Greek Cypriot girl who allegedly came home crying "I'm afraid of the Englishmen" died of fright from the shock caused by fear, an inquest jury decided.

The Famagusta coroner's court found, however, there was no evidence that anything what had frightened the girl, Ioanna Zachariadou.

She died in her home while security forces hunted for the slayer of a British army sergeant's wife in Famagusta Oct. 3. Seven Greek Cypriots were rounded up during the hunt.

Fine White Man For Violence at Mixed Meeting

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters) — Andrew Hendrik Claassens, one of six white men charged with public violence at a multi-racial meeting here, today was fined £100 and sent to prison for three months with compulsory labor.

The whites were said to have been present during a political study group last August after objecting to furniture during chief Albert Luthuli addressing the meeting.

Four of the men were acquitted and the sixth was fined £100 with the alternative of four months' imprisonment.

Train Derailed At Brampton

TORONTO (CP) — Two Toronto-bound CNR trains from Stratford and a Stratford-bound Toronto train were delayed between 2½ and four hours Saturday night when one of the Toronto-bound trains was derailed at Brampton.

The Stratford-bound train today said passengers on the two Toronto-bound trains were taken to their destination by bus.

He said the derailment was caused by the breaking of a front wheel on the rear truck of the tender. The tender jumped off the track and the track was slightly damaged. No body was injured.

New $75,000 Curling Rink Completed, Ready for Play

TRENTON — Curling, which places second only to hockey in wintertime sport, has come to Trenton. Last Thursday the first stone was sent down the ice of the new curling rink built this fall by the Trenton Country Club.

The stones, which are only obtainable from Scotland, arrived on Wednesday and scrubs games started the following day.

The ice was just ready for the big day and much of the painting had only been finished a few days before the stones arrived.

The $75,000 addition to the club was built by building contractor, Bill Steenberg and the chairman of the building committee was Jimmy Duncan, who also drew up the plans for the new building.

Built of cement blocks the building houses four rinks for curling with an entrance for watchers both upstairs and down. In the basement there is a large room for the women, another for the men and the room which houses the compressor. The ice is artificial.

The rinks have been painted in various colors. Between the big lines is blue with the ends painted a pale green. The circles at both ends are also painted with the outer ring and the "bullseye" painted orange. The inner rings are yellow and green. All lines are black.

The new rink will be thrown open for public inspection during the early part of the month and Trentonians will be given a chance to see it.

The membership to the club has been increased from 100 to 160 but is being kept on fast curling enthusiasts. Persons now wish to join the club for curling and other activities are urged to get their names in as soon as possible. It is first come first served and once the 160 mark has been reached there will be no more.

Seven to Face Charges of Car Theft in Court

TRENTON — Seven Trenton boys will face Juvenile Court authorities this week charged with car theft in cases which have been reported since about November 21.

The cars involved in the thefts were two from the parking lot of Lange and Fetter Motors, one from Weese Motors and two from local citizens and privately-owned cars. The latter were stolen from the corner of Campbell and Dundas Street East and the other from in front of 20 Marmora Street.

All cars have been recovered by the police and in most cases damage to the cars has either been slight or nil.

The police investigation, under the direction of Inspector Bob Rutherford, took in all members of the force and a confession to the thefts has been obtained from all the lads and in the cases of the cars stolen from the second-hand lots of the car dealers, they told police they went to the lots in the day-time, stole the keys from the cars and then returned at night for the vehicle.

They would drive the car around and then during the night when they were finished with it they would hide it in some secluded area until the following night when they would go and get it again.

Needless to say, car dealers are being urged not to leave the keys in the used cars during the day in case such a method should be used again for the theft of cars.

Police also urge private car owners to always take the keys from the ignition when they leave their cars.

It is believed Juvenile Court will be held this coming Friday.

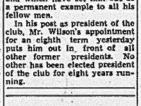
Board Names Alex Wilson as Club President

TRENTON—Alex Wilson was named president of the Trenton Country Club for his eighth term at a board of directors meeting held at the club Sunday afternoon.

As one official of the club said yesterday, "As far as I'm concerned, we couldn't have a better man at the head of the club."



The new board of directors had been appointed last week and they met Sunday to name their president as well as the chairmen of the various committees. The board consists of: Ken Culbert, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada; Don Black, met. officer at the RCAF Station, Trenton and re-elected to the board; Herm Chambers, an insurance salesman; Jimmy Duncan of the Central Bridge Company and Alex Wilson, president of the club for the past seven years and on the staff of Downs and Coulter. Two members on the board, still with one year to serve, are Douglas Bannon of Belleville and Margaret Bowen, who is employed as a civil servant at the RCAF Station Trenton.

At the meeting of the club held last week and when the new slate of directors was approved, nearly 100 members attended the banquet at which time the trophies for the year were presented to the various winners.

It was also announced that a memorial trophy will be presented annually to perpetuate the memory of Gordon Landon. Eric R. McDowall. The trophy will be awarded to the member whose quality of interest, good fellowship and sportsmanship contributes those things which S/L McDowall, held most dear and which have set him out as a permanent example to all his fellow men.

In his post as president of the club, Mr. Wilson's appointment for an eighth term yesterday puts him out in front of all other former presidents. No other has been elected president of the club for eight years running.

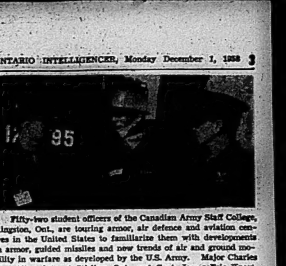
Town Briefs

TRENTON — Thousands of adults and youngsters turned out on Saturday morning to see the Santa Claus parade with its floats, clowns, bands, majorettes and of course, Santa, who gave out candy to the children at the end of the parade route. Winning the float contest was the "Santa Express", sponsored by several appliance dealers. Taking second place was the Kiwanians float. "The Old Woman in the Shoe" and in third place was the "Christmas Bell" sponsored by the Trenton Business and Professional Women's Club. Judges were Cliff Gunter, George Brown and Julia Rowe, Art teacher at the Trenton High School. Chairman of the Santa Claus parade was John Fetter of Lange and Fetter Motors. The most comical float, if there had been a prize for it, would easily have been won by the Trenton Firemen who sponsored a "Bill Billy Scene" and tossed nine live chickens to the adults, who lined the parade route and balloons to the youngsters. In the antique department was a old-type hose used at one time by the Rathbun Bus Service between Trenton and Belleville. When in use years ago it was drawn by horses. During the parade a truck substituted. The firemen also pulled an old hose reel and wore the old-type metal helmet used in the same era. The helmets were borrowed from the Belleville Fire Department. The temperature at the time of the parade was 18 above.

TWO SMALL BLAZES



Trenton Firemen were called out to two small fires on the weekend with a small amount of damage in one and no damage in the other. The first was on Saturday night at about 8 p.m. to 127 Bleecker when an overheated pipes caused concern. Firemen found the oil stove had not been hooked up properly and the check draft was not cutting in. The wire and pipes had been cooled off when the firemen arrived. The second call came on Sunday night at around the same time from 129 Victoria Avenue where a chesterfield had caught on fire. The piece of furniture was ruined and the wall of the living room was scorched. The owner, Fraser Fairman, was asleep in a chair across the room from the chesterfield and the smell of smoke woke him. The cause of the blaze is not known.

SAND TRUCKS OUT

Town sand trucks were out all day Saturday and Sunday night spreading sand on the slippery streets caused by the sleet. Director of same which fell during the weekend. On Saturday both Trenton and Belleville had to be used and the town engineer ordered other trucks out and sand was spread by hand on intersections and hills where traffic was having the most trouble. However the sanding machines were out in quick time and were out last night.

son store in Trenton held their annual Christmas party at the last week. The 15 workers sat down to a turkey supper and followed the meal with a dance. The music was supplied by a pianist. They also presented a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Minaker. The staff and management of the Downs Coulter Woollen Mills in Trenton also held their annual supper in the form of a banquet and dance at the Legion Memorial hall. A large attendance was reported.

RASH OF ACCIDENTS

Twelve accidents on Trenton streets during Saturday and Sunday piled up an estimated property damage of nearly $2,000 and all were blamed on the slippery road conditions. There was a total of nine mishaps on Saturday and three on Sunday. Damage other than to vehicles was caused when a hydro pole was broken off on Dufferin St., when a bread truck skidded into it.

REALLY COLD

Trenton had its first really cold night of the season on Saturday when temperatures dropped to an official low of 2 above. The Met Office at the RCAF Station in Trenton reported it was possible that the temperature may have gone even below zero in some of the lowlying areas. Unofficial thermometers in the business section of town went to 3 below zero. On Sunday the temperature stayed at a snappy 18 above during the daytime hours and dropped to 12 above during the night. Sunday night also brought another two inches of snow as skies cleared around 9 a.m. this morning and somewhat milder weather greeted early morning voters.

IT BEGINS AT HOME

The other evening we had the privilege to hear Canada's only university chaplain, the Reverend A. M. Laverty of Queen's University, speaking on education, both generally and as it pertains to our province. He stated that our more capable students are turning away from the teaching profession not because of poor pay as much as because of interference on the part of students' parents in the teachers' classroom procedure. He also mentioned that he felt that the poor decorum and poor display of respect for teachers by students could be directly attributed to the fact that parents nowadays discuss teachers and educational problems in front of their children.

We cannot help but agree. As the mold so the casting. If adults present their views before children we cannot help but expect the children to adopt similar views. If parents criticize teachers and the educational system in their locality within the reach of their children's ears it is to be expected that the students will convey this attitude in their classroom conduct. Griping is an easy thing to do and, sometimes, it spreads only too rapidly. It can hardly be considered as constructive or beneficial or conducive to better relations between the parties concerned.

It would seem, therefore, that parents might divorce all mention of things educational from the eyes and ears of their offspring when criticism of such matters is involved. Faith and belief in one's teachers are most important to a student, especially in their childhood and adolescent years. If this faith and belief and the respect which accrues from them are open to question we cannot but help to expect that our children's faith in all things will become undermined and will be replaced by a blase scepticism wherein nothing is respected. This attitude cannot be beneficial to our democratic way of life.

Let us take care that our children always have something or someone to look up to in their formative years; that they shall always have some foundation for their beliefs and concepts and principles of life. Let us not be tempted by an easy standard of living to let this faith fall by the wayside through cheap or thoughtless talk.

BUT BERLIN'S WISHES DON'T COUNT

"We in West Berlin say no," declares Mayor Willy Brandt of the proposal by Soviet Russia that West Berlin be made a "free city."

Perhaps the best measure of the state of the world is the fact that Mayor Brandt's declaration will have precisely no effect whatever on the outcome of this issue.

Nobody in the West will find it difficult to believe the contention that the wishes of West Berlin residents will carry no weight whatever in the Kremlin.

There may be some who will argue that Mayor Brandt's declaration will have a decided influence on the decision of the Western Allies, but that belief seems to us to be erroneous. True, the allies will almost certainly oppose the Russian plan and will take a stand which will be in line with the wishes of West Berlin residents. That, though, will be more in the nature of a coincidence. Does anybody believe that, had Mayor Brandt favored the Russian plan, acceptance of the plan by the West would automatically have followed?

The military value of West Berlin to the West is negligible. Its political significance, on the other hand, is important. In the heart of a Communist land is a city which can be made a showcase for democracy, in spite of the technical occupation by foreign troops.

Yet, when all this is said, the Russians have scored another propaganda victory in the face of it they accept the establishment of "free city," after a six-month period of negotiations, appears like sweet reasonableness compared with the precipitate action which the world had been led to expect the Russians would take in Berlin.

Perhaps six months will be long enough for Western diplomats to dream up a plan which, in its turn, will appear reasonable and which will yet not concede to the Communists their objective of tightening the shackles of Communism on the eastern part of prewar Germany.

THE WORRIED FRIEND

Oh, have you seen my lady fair
With gold black eyes and raven hair,
With most bewitching smile that seems
To haunt me even in my dreams?
Oh, have you seen my lady fair
Near this corner anywhere?
She was to meet me here at three;
'Tis four o'clock, where can she be?

Oh, have you seen my lady fair
Waiting for me anywhere?
For an hour I've stood right here,
Till my lady shall appear.
For she promised she would be Here upon the stroke of three.
Here I stand upon the street
Waiting for my lady sweet.

Wherever can my lady be,
Who should have met me here at three?
Where, I wonder, does she stay
While I pass the time away?
There she comes, with pleasant smile,
Meant my temper to beguile;
But she puts it on too strong;
When she asks me, "Been here long?"

Taming a Wild Dog

By Bruce Turner in the magazine "Sylva."

While stationed in Whitney and patrolling Algonquin Park as a Conservation Officer, a tourist camp operator complained to me that a dog was running wild in the vicinity of her camp and causing considerable damage.

Her main complaint was that the dog was coming into the camp at night to steal things from the kitchen, having, so she had taken a liking for good, cooking utensils, an electric drill, forty feet of extension cord, and a pillow.

Some of the articles had been found, but others, including all of her pillows had not been found. And besides all this, the camp owner reported the dog was killing deer and she strongly recommended that I destroy it.

From a former employee of the camp I got the history of the dog. He was a registered German sheepherd, and had been brought to the lodge from Toronto as a pup the previous fall, by the owner who was engaged as a winter caretaker.

When the pup was opened up in the spring, he and his dog left, presumably for Toronto, and the dog was left to be returned to the camp alone. The camp staff attempted to discourage the dog by not feeding him, and chasing him away. Then, they abandoned the building and after a week he dropped from sight. Even the camp equipment began to disappear.

The Provincial Police combed the district from Whitney to the area; we found trails where a large dog had travelled recently, and a few deer killed, but none of the missing articles. Then, after we had abandoned the search, we caught sight of the culprit peering at us from his hiding place in the distance. Studying him through my rifle scope, I decided that this was not a "bad" dog. The appearance of his head told me that this beautifully marked German shepherd was a victim of circumstances. He was a dog that was meant for him went unfed.

Back at Whitney, the Forest Protection staff and I built a five-trap 10 feet long, five feet high, and six feet wide of heavy wire mesh. We moved it 50 miles by truck, boat and by carrying it to the dog's main trail, where it was camouflaged and baited with a bone. The setting of the trap was finished at 7.30 p.m. and we retired a distance to wait. Shortly after midnight the trap door banged shut, and we approached to find the big dog, a fully wild animal, manifesting defiance from the middle of the cage. Gentle talking to him to the extent that I was able to put a chain on him, and lead him out of the cage. On the trip back to Whitney, he was docile, or Blarney aloof.

After a good feed of dog meat and meat he lay down in front of the stove, apparently resigned to captivity. But I had to go outside for a moment, and no sooner had I done so than the dog crashed through the window and screen I was able to call the dragging chain, thwarting his desperate break for freedom. For the next month, I led him everywhere I went, and at night tied him to my bed. He soon lost his fear, came friendly to me and began to follow me about. When the family returned from holidays, he quickly made up with the children and I left the dog reviewed my wife with distrust.

My son named the dog Jim Tim Tim, Jr., Blarney Castle after the famous dog of motion picture fame, and Rinty for the Kipling gamble. After living with the Turners for a year, Rinty was thoroughly acclimatized to the out of a family pet, he life as a pioneer of the wilderness forgotten.

Two years ago, I was transferred from Whitney to Algonquin Park, and so, of course, was Rinty. Here he soon met a new friend, a female Malamute husky who presented him with puppies and who quickly showed all marked like their father. At the age of seven months they were ready to put into harness with their parents, and Rinty went back into training as he entered another chapter of his career, as lead dog in the team. Rinty grew sinewy and strong, so did the dog team, and Rinty was the leader of the team. Becoming an intelligent and obedient sled dog, Rinty showed that they were a hardened team that would cover many miles a day.

We Must Live As Villagers

Fredericton Daily Gleaner

Canadians have had another reminder that it is useful a man the British Commonwealth has in Prince Philip.

The Duke is a link between the sovereign and her people, and a link that is little known monarchy has never had before. His position is close enough to royalty to be above the world's notice he utters; yet it is just enough detached from it to have that the impartiality which the sovereign must maintain does not apply to him.

The prince, too, has an eloquent voice with which to proclaim the conclusions of his first-class mind.

When he told the English-Speaking Union of which he is president that in this twentieth century it is no longer possible for one country to live in the age of the past, and to enjoy the high standards of living, he said something which needs to be taken to heart—in the world, in the Commonwealth, in this country. Canada, he spoke.

The improved communications of the modern world have reduced effective distances until they are now so small that measurements of time and space are instaneous to all parts of it. Journey to any part of it is a matter of hours.

We have reduced the world to the effective size of a village. Unless we introduce into it some of the neighborliness, the willingness to share both goods and burdens that is a village characteristic, our world may be doomed.

We needed someone of Prince Philip's stature to remind us of it.

Even Santa Was White

Fletcher Martin, Negro newspaperman, in The Atlantic

Even Santa Claus was white, I started hating Santa early in life.

His race — as I thought then — had nothing to do with it. He was just a link in the whole fantasies that should be a part of childhood by openly defying all that he stood for.

It happened during a visit to a department store where my aunt had taken me specifically to see him as a reward for keeping my face washed and my clothes clean.

My aunt slowly edged me into the circle of the children whom Santa was inviting one at a time to his knee.

I waited and waited but the fat old man never beckoned to me.

My aunt, apparently sensing my disappointment, gave a gentle shove, and before I knew it I had my hands on Santa.

He patted me and with a sweep of his arm sent me stumbling back into the crowd while the fat man laughed at my confusion.

On the way home I noticed that my aunt was crying and that she was trying to hide it by handkerchief.

When I asked her why she was crying she said the most horrible thing I have ever heard.

"He was dirt mean — white dirt mean," she said. "Why didn't he shove the white children? He's just as dirt mean as the rest of them."

From then on I attributed Santa's failure to honor Christmas list to his personal dislike of me and not to my mother's pocketbook.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of my playmates in my early childhood was remarkable in my eyes, even then, for t h e fact that he always had food on his face. He could not eat a cookie without showers of the crumbs escaping and lodging on h i s cheek, his chin or at the corners of his mouth. And dry cookie crumbs are not easy to make adhere to you. But he could do it. When he came out to play after lunch, you could always see what he had had. My chief memory of him in childhood was this talent for having food on his face.

He mowed away, and I did not remember him again until t h e first war. He came up to me in the dining room of the Old Stag Hotel in Hamilton. He was an artillery captain. He called me by name and held out his hand. On his chin was a little bit of brussels sprout.

It is forty years since that last meeting. It seems he has been enjoying a great career, for a Canadian, as a fairly senior executive of one of the mighty American industrial combines. I met him in Chicago, Illinois, yesterday. I saw him on a lady's reception line, despite what the years had done to his face a n d figure. He was talking to a lady in the hotel lobby, and I went and stood by, waiting for him to glance my way.

When he did so, and jumped to greet me, do you know what?

On his chin was a little bit of brussels sprout.

Some people never really change.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

December 1st., 1910

Mr. and Mrs. W. Edgar Maybee, Grove Street, celebrated the 35th anniversary of their wedding yesterday and received the congratulations and good wishes of many friends.

Miss Phyllis Mills of Shannonville left yesterday for Ottawa where she will enroll in the Dominion Provincial Youth Training School of educational courses sponsored by the Dominion Government.

Mr. Cecil Thompson of Detroit, Mich., spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Thompson, Rossmore.

Yesterday afternoon Her Excellency the Lady Tweedsmuir, visited Belleville for the first time, arrived in the city by private car at two-thirty o'clock and at the Book Fair. She was welcomed at the station by officers of Quinte Chapter I.O.D.E. and School Club which is sponsoring the Book Fair and was taken to Queen Alexandra School to meet the club's executive, the staff and students. Principal W. G. Anderson, welcomed Lady Tweedsmuir and Mr. Charles A. Cameron, K.C., M.P., introduced the executive of the school's Home and School Club. Her Excellency gave a very interesting talk to the pupils and they were delighted. At 3.30 o'clock Her Excellency had a private view of the exhibits at the Book Fair and at 4.30 o'clock she formally opened the fair. At 4.30 o'clock tea and reception was held in the collegiate apartment, and at five o'clock Her Excellency concluded her visit in the city.

30 YEARS AGO

December 1st., 1928

A permit has been granted to add a fourth storey to the New Queen's Hotel at a cost of $10,000.

Mr. L. B. Cooper and Mr. Owen Bierney were appointed at the district meeting of Odd Fellows in Brockville last night. They both addressed the meeting.

Twenty-eight carloads of Christmas trees passed through here today on the CPR en-route to Toronto from Ottawa.

Mr. E. Butler, barrister, addressed the members of the Y.M.C.A. Men's Club last evening on the subject of law and its enforcement.

40 YEARS AGO

December 1st., 1918

At a meeting of the Dominion Dairy Conference in Ottawa this week, Mr. Medora Elie Robertson of this city was named one of the representative lives of the National Dairy Council from the province of Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Fox of Stockdale, Sidney township, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding on Nov. 27th. Many guests were present to extend congratulations and express good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Fox.

The Ban Is Lifted. Cakes iced with sugar will be baked for Christmas. Puffed pastry will also make its appearance again. Cake makers have been received notice from Ottawa lifting the ban which has given employment to more people.

50 YEARS AGO

Looks like a green Christmas — but there is still time for snow.

There was a good attendance at hockey enthusiasts at the meeting at Hotel Quinte last evening and it was quite evident that the new game of hockey will boom in Belleville this winter. There will be two teams in the O.H.A. — Junior and intermediate. The following officers were elected: president, H. Corby; ex-M.P.; first vice-president, Freg R. Linsham; second vice-president, Charles N. Sulman; hon. vice-president, Morne W. Marsh; secretary, Herb A. Plah; treasurer, J. Quantenberg; manager, Sandy Burrows; managing committee, Herb Plah, C. Spearingberg, Sandy Burrows and George Jones.

Mr. John Weir, South Front Street, left today for Brooklyn, N.Y., where he will visit his brother.

In this particular matter of freedom of any national to travel outside the boundaries of his own country without being strangled by red tape there has been a great retrogression. TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF

Believe in yourself and people will believe in you. It's that simple! Behind every great entrepreneur is at least one man who is the life of his enterprise. If i t faith and genius are outstanding. We never look up to him. h a v e faith in his faith, and so it is that we have builders who believe in themselves before all others. People do not follow a leader who does not lead. All others inspire the leader ones to lead and themselves to grow into leadership.

Believe in yourself. It is essential. Then, and only then, can there be no useless experiments and there must be knowledge, and the courage to go forward. We all should read Emerson's great essay on "Self Reliance." It has inspired millions, and put many a career ahead by a great and useful enterprise. By reading history and the lives of great men, who have demonstrated the power behind all belief in one's self, we keep learning from others. We always improve o u r game — whatever it may be — when we study the great game with someone greater than ourselves. There should be some thing of the conqueror in us all.

Believe in yourself. It is the first step in the famous ladder of success. Also it is the first spiritual step into a permanent partnership with the great Master in the freeing of ideas and the development of character. Faith and beliefs are forever clearing a path for the dreamer and doer. The timid seem to be satisfied with but little, whereas the bolder scatters himself to the four points of the compass, glorying in his triumphs!

Safety Device

U.K. Information Service

A device for removing carbon monoxide from exhaust gases of road vehicles has been developed at Britain's Fuel Research Station. Gases are drawn and mounted in the exhaust pipe was able to eliminate 85 per cent of the carbon monoxide and 60 per cent of the hydrogen under all engine operating conditions; only after 11,000 miles had been covered did serious flaws of this development be published in the Fuel Research Station's report for 1957.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

DETACHED RETINA MAY RESPOND TO SURGERY

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me something about 'disconnected retinas of the eye'? My cousin has this and we are all worried. — R. E. B."

This is not a very common occurrence. I think the usual term is "detached retinas". You know what the retina is — the part of the eye at the back of the eyeball which gives the "picture" of what you see and converts the light into nautial impulses just as in a camera the film in the eye picks up the "picture" and converts the light into chemical changes which result in a negative image on the film.

The retina is an area the size of a dime or smaller. Sometimes part (or all) of it comes loose. If it all comes loose, there is nothing we can do about it. Usually, how ever, only part of it becomes detached.

If part of the retina that is moved out of position, light enters the eye but no image focuses properly. It is like a camera that is out of focus.

Or the retina can become more or less folded over, so light does not strike the retina properly.

Repairing such damage is a very delicate process. It has been done successfully a good many times, but it is difficult. The operation is near a big city where you can find experts who specialize in such difficult techniques.

This is no longer a hopeless situation, but it is a condition which requires great care in surgery and is not a cure which nobody can garantee success.

TRUST THE SURGEON

Detachment of a retina has become detached, the patient should be protected from such hard blows of falls or jars that might cause any motion of the tear loose. With surgical repair, you must trust the judgment of the surgeon as to when the prospects of success are good enough to warrant the expense of operation and if he says so, accept his judgment. A good and skilful eye surgeon will give you his best honest opinion. He will not lead you along unless he has a fair chance to do some good. If he tries to dissuade you, then accept his advice. He is trying to help you. Sympathetically but factually lead the patient to the proper permanently impaired eyesight.

"Dear Dr. Molner: At what age would it be proper to remove the tonsils from the pediatrician to the family doctor? — Mrs. M. B."

I wouldn't want to be didactic about it, but I think it is a very reasonable age for this.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a polyp in the rectal area. Please tell me how I can shrink it or get rid of it without an operation. Also I recently saw an ad for a cure for hemorrhoids sent to me by mail. Is this satisfactory? — M. J."

As to the polyp, you can't. Sur-

Needy Lands In Americas

Montreal Gazette

North Americans, when they think of "backward areas" or "needy nations", are inclined to think of Asia and Africa and the Middle East. On the American continent, in the Latin-American states, there are areas which need help quite as vitally as any other area in the world.

That fact is becoming better appreciated and more is being done about it through the OAS, the Organization of American States.

An OAS mission is to help prepare a development plan for La Paz, Bolivia. The economic and history institute is working on a new atlas of the Americas. The technical cooperation program is being expanded. The travel commission plans to discuss the elimination of tourist visas for citizens of OAS members. And several items concern progress in educational fields.

The Organization of American States, affiliated with the Pan-American Union, includes the rest of Latin-American republics and the United States. Canada is not a member.

Most of the Latin American states are rich in natural resources as yet undeveloped. All are rich in cultural and historical heritage. All are neighbors in this New World. The progress of their people is of interest to all "Norte Americanos".

QUT OF CHAOS — BEAUTY

A man told me recently t h a t some years ago he had listened to William T. Ellis, my late writing colleague, describe a n e w edition on the beauties of Niagara Falls. Dr. Ellis said t h a t ages ago a placid river in a quiet valley flowed through t h i s picturesque section of the country. If there had been men to navigate boats in those days, it would probably have been called a navigable stream. But suddenly there was a great geological change which caused a tremendous break to occur in the course of the river. The Falls were created. Today we look at those Falls in their magnificent beauty and few realize that they a r e the result of one of nature's most profound cataclysms.

Dr. Ellis made the point, and we need to make it to our minds constantly, that what is a tremendous beautiful things in t h e world and in our lives are as a result of cataclysm. A death, financial loss, wrecking of ambitions, loss of health — how many these things, almost impossible to face in their awfulness, have become the source of great blessings for us all. A cataclysm occurred in the universe. A navigable stream was made a terrestrial river. But there the beautiful Falls stand, with men and women decade after decade looking upon them with awe and admiration.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Belleville sports car enthusiast Jim Williamson looks slightly apprehensive as he is handed his route map and last minute instructions by rally organizer Ray Rockall, also of Belleville, prior to starting out on yesterday's 115-mile rally by the St. Lawrence Automobile Club.

Two Families Left Homeless In House Fire

PICTON — A house in which two families were residing was gutted by fire here yesterday afternoon. Firemen worked in ten above zero weather to keep the flames confined to the interior of the building and thus two frame houses close by were not endangered. The house was owned by a former Picton resident, Harold Campney of Jordan Station and the tenants were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Jeffery and son Robert and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Riley.

Very few of the contents of the frame structure were saved and what fire did not destroy tons of water did. The cause is not known.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery and son were at church when the fire started. Mr. and Mrs. Riley were visiting in Brockville.

It was happarent that the fire had smouldered some time before smoke was noted by a neighbor. The fire caught in the walls and beneath the roof and firemen had to finally hack away part of the roof to get at the blaze which was kept under control as that flames were never visible to the hundreds of spectators who flocked to the scene. Though shivering in the cold wind and low temperatures, the firemen were on the scene nearly four hours.

Marshals' Madcap' Car Rally Held in Area Over Weekend

About thirty persons participated in the "Marshals' Madcap" automobile rally which was organized by Belleville members of the St. Lawrence Automobile Club and held over snow-swept provincial highways this weekend. Starting from Kingston the participants, driving anything from small economy cars, through sports cars to the large automobile variety, found their way over a devious 115-mile route into Kingston. The route ran north out of Kingston along Highway 38 to Sharbot Lake, thence in a westerly direction along Highway 7, through Kaladar, to Highway 37 and then south into Belleville.

The competitors were marked on their ability to find the marshals' checkpoints located at unknown points along the route. Marshals were marked on their ability to check the competing cars through the course without being observed by the competitors. Through a progressive system of organization all participants were allowed the chance to compete both as a marshal and a competitor. The marshals were located (and not located) in many ingenious places along the route. One was noticed hiding in an old icebox beside a gas station. The veteran marshals made use of an abandoned truck at the side of the road and, with their own vehicle parked further down the road, were only found by two competitors and the wrecking truck crew who literally towed the truck away from under them.

SOME GET LOST

Despite the apparent simplicity of the route a few people managed to get lost. In fact, at press time the organizers have yet to hear word of what happene; to the club president, who disappeared completely together with his wife, daughter, and small Italian automobile. Others apparently were confused on the new cloverleaf at Highways 38 and 401 and found themselves north of Trenton before realizing that they were slightly off course. No average speed was set for the run due to weather conditions.

Winners of the marshals' awards, the Carling's Red Cap Mug and Plate, were Percy Lakins, of Kingston, and Doug Fraser, of Trenton, who were driving the course in a Morris Minor. Winner of the competitors' award, the St. LAC Club Cup, which was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rockall of Belleville, was Niel Patterson of Kingston. The awards were presented by E. J. "Al" Hardy of Carling's at a buffet banquet held at the conclusion of the event. The event was organized by Mr. and Mrs. Rockall and several other club members, who even as organizers, had their difficulties with springs in one car collapsing and the driveshaft in a second vehicle going astray whilst going over the original course.

REROUTE CNR TRAIN

TORONTO (CP) — The CNR Super-continental will serve Newmarket, Barrie and Orillia beginning Dec. 7. The train now runs up the east side of Lake Simcoe. It will be rerouted to the CNR line on the west side of the lake.

SKUNK HUNTER WOUNDED

HAMILTON (CP) — Peter Chesney, 27, was wounded in the arm when a young companion's 22-calibre rifle accidentally discharged while the two were hunting skunks in the city's outskirts. David Washuk, 14, told police the rifle discharged when he slipped on some ice.

Another 3 Inches Of Snow Falls In This District

Right on the heels of the six-inch fall of snow which descended on the Bay of Quinte district on Friday, another three inches of loose fluffy stuff fell in the city last night.

However, with streets and walks plowed clear following Friday's storm, last night's snow failed to slow traffic materially although walking was a bit tough for pedestrians this morning.

Public Works Department plows were out early clearing the streets, while sidewalk plows were also in operation making things a bit easier for the pedestrians.

GREAT TREES

The Douglas firs of British Columbia grow as high as 300 feet, with a trunk diameter up to 15 feet.

Upper New York State Buried Under 6-Foot Drifts, 44 Die

Highway accidents claimed 29 lives.

Seven persons died shovelling snow and an eighth while putting chains on a car. Fire took three lives and four persons died in other types of accidents.

Storms that swept in off the Great Lakes left drifts up to six feet deep in parts of Western New York. Temperatures dropped as low as nine degrees below zero. Light snow and continued cold weather was on tap in most sections today.

Snowdrifts choked the state Thruway in western New York Saturday night and motorists abandoned 200 automobiles and trucks that stalled in drifts.

An estimated 600 travellers from the snow-locked vehicles were taken to the change buildings on the Thruway and state police barracks, private homes and a state armory in the vicinity.

Most had reclaimed their cars and headed for their destinations by today. There were no reports that anyone had suffered any serious ill effects.

The Great Lakes storms dumped up to three feet of snow near Buffalo. All roads in southern Erie County were blocked Saturday night.

Western New York was hardest hit but there was snow and high winds in most upstate sections.

At Syracuse 16 inches of snow fell and many secondary roads in the area were closed during the night.

The hardest hit section of the Thruway was 125 miles between Buffalo and the Pennsylvania state line. The speed limit was dropped 20 miles an hour for a time on the stretch between Hamburg and Pennsylvania.

About 12 inches of snow fell in Chautauqua, Cattaraugus and Wyoming counties and parts of Genesee.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

The Reverend Firman Sauve, of Peterborough Alliance Tabernacle exchanged pulpits with the Reverend Sackville Palmer of Belleville Alliance Tabernacle for the Sunday evening service at which Mr. Palmer spoke especially to the young people.

OUT-OF-TOWN PERSONAL

Mr. Arthur Peterson and daughter, Miss Norma Peterson, and his sister, Mrs. E. Shell, of Watertown, New York, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Simmons, of Trenton.

Wedding

BANNON — THOMPSON

A lovely all-white autumn wedding was recently solemnized in Christ Church, Belleville, by Archdeacon J. B. Creeggan, rector of the church, when Frances Elizabeth Thompson, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas William Thompson, of Belleville, R.R. 7, became the bride of William Douglas Bannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Bannon, of Belleville. White chrysanthemums adorned the altar, and tall standards of the same the chancel rail, while the guest pews were designated by white satin bows.

The soloist, Mr. Alfred Hughes, sang before the ceremony, the Wedding Prayer and during the signing of the register, "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by the church organist, Mr. John Croyden Wilbur, who also rendered the processional and recessional music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her bridal gown of white metal-lic silver brocade fashioned in full-length with fitted bodice having a matching jacket buttoned at the front with high, standup collar, long, point-ed sleeves. The overskirt and train which was held in place by a large bow at the front, was of white silk Miramist. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a tiara headdress of seed pearls and rhinestones simulating leaves and was carried in cascade bouquet of pink roses, mingled with white carnations and trailing ivy. Matching silver brocaded shoes completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Ronald B. Button, of North Bay, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. James Handy, of Shanty Bay, south of the bride, and Mrs. John McCrory, of Belleville, were senior bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in white silk taffetette, cocktail length sheaths, with overskirts and short trains of the same material. They wore white, velvet bows for headdresses, and long, white gloves and shoes, and carried cascade bouquets of bronze and yellow mums with variegated ivy.

Miss Judith McKnight, of Belleville, as junior bridesmaid, and the little flower girl, Miss Leslie Jane Button, of North Bay, were short, white organza dresses, with round necklines embroidered, and short sleeves, with full skirts accented by Swiss embroidery at the skirts' edges, on tops of sleeves, and across dress tops. Both wore white velvet belts, white velvet bows as headdresses, short white gloves, socks and white shoes. They carried colonial bouquets of bronze and yellow mums, and the flower girl a small, pink basket of bronze mums and yellow roses.

Mr. Donald C. Block, of Trenton, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. R. J. Heap, of Barrie, Paul Trip of Trenton, and Carl Charlton, also of Trenton, ushered the guests.

The reception was held at the Trenton Country Club, where the bride's mother receiv-

The bridegroom's mother, assisting, was dressed in turquoise velvet with flair skirt and detailed back interest; beige-toned feathered hat, matching gloves and accessories, and corsage of white, Sweetheart roses.

The bridal table was daintily appointed with white damask, and pink wedding bells, centred by a three-tier all-white wedding cake, made by the bride's grandmother, and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath an arch of lily-of-the-valley, and white bells. Tall, white candles in silver candelabra, and the bridal bouquets completed the nuptial picture.

For travelling to Lake Placid, Washington, D.C. and North Carolina, the bride chose a sapphire-toned gown with balloon skirt of crepe-organza, and jersey top with round neckline and three-quarter sleeves, black accessories, and Emba Argenta mink stole featuring a portrait neckline and bridesmaids, faced back, with pink and white carnation corsage in triangle shape.

The bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower, prior to her marriage, held at the home of Mrs. Warren Whitney, Saline Avenue, with co-hostesses, Mrs. Milvon Pukanecik; Mrs. Lawrence Cuculuzzi, and Mrs. Bruce Lynch; at a reception by the employees and personnel of the Hudson Bay Company Limited, where the bride is employed; at a presentation by the lady golfers of the Trenton Country Club, and by the directors of the Country Club, Trenton.

Those present included guests from Detroit, Michigan; Barrie; Trenton; North Bay; Ajax; Shanty Bay; Oshawa; Nanticoke; Toronto; Point Anne; Wooler; Montreal, Quebec; Corbyville, and Belleville.

Anton Lendi To Show Film

Mr. Anton R. Lendi, of the University of Switzerland, Toronto, internationally known commentator, will present a coloured film portrayal of Switzerland, entitled "Paradise On Earth," next Thursday evening at the Women's Canadian Club held in Queen Alexandra School by Ann Street.

This film pageant conveys in natural colour the land, its people, its customs, traditions and accomplishments of this small nation which has adhered for so many years to its democratic way of life.

Mr. Lendi was born in Switzerland and educated in Europe, and is now resident in Canada, a dual citizen of both Canada and Switzerland. During World War II he served as an Intelligence officer in the Canadian Active Army. Over the past 11 years his interpretations of his native land and people have become recognized as outstanding contributions to world understanding.

Switzerland has cherished peace through the centuries and this program of fellowship is of timely importance to all Canadians whose deep concern is for the preservation of world peace. Mrs. Harry Francis: Mrs. Phil

STIRLING — The new wing of St. Paul's United Church Sunday School rooms was artistically decorated in a carnival effect of clowns, fish, umbrellas and a large variety of designs and colors for St. Paul's W.A. Country Carnival, Thursday afternoon.

The upper room was a bower of beauty and each sales lady had wonderful success in disposing of her wares.

Although the hour was advertised at 2.30 p.m. a throng of people gathered an hour earlier to be sure of first choice for Christmas gifts.

Guests were in attendance from Belleville, Trenton, Frankford, Stockdale, Batawa, Carmel, Hoard's, Mount Pleasant, Wellman's, Bethel, Salem and other nearby points.

The net proceeds of the afternoon will be over $300 and the ingenuity of the executive are grateful to all who helped make the carnival such a success.

DOWNSAIRS TEA ROOM

The tea room in the downstairs was arranged with daintily quartet tables, each with its own teapot with cute tea cosey in pink gingham with ruffled edge, guests to "pour their own." The waitresses paced their plentiful tea tables with one-bite sandwiches and cookies, as well as a variety of delicious cakes, to allow plenty of time to chat during their cup of tea.

The serving table was laid with a snowy linen cloth and centred with a floral arrangement of fresh fruits which made a mouth-watering picture. Candles in silver holders added beauty to the scene.

The guests were welcomed as they arrived by Mrs. R. A. Patterson, president of the W.A. and Mrs. A. Packman, wife of the pastor. Mrs. Harold Wells was treasurer for the afternoon.

The guests were invited to the tea room, accommodating 45 at each setting, by Mrs. James Hough and Mrs. George Carlisle. Those who served were: Mrs. Grant Richardson, Mrs. Claire West, Mrs. N. P. Mayhew, Mrs. Elwood Bateman, Mrs. Mitch Armstrong, Mrs. Harold Vanderlip, Mrs. Basil St. Piere, Mrs. Robert Halton and Mrs. Ronald Williams.

Assisting in the kitchen were: Mrs. J. B. Thompson, convener with Mrs. R. Christie; Mrs. V. Richardson; Mrs. Earl Leury; Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson; Mrs. Blake Faulkner; Mrs. Fred Bateman; Mrs. Allen McPherson; Mrs. Percy Bronson; Mrs. Leonard Waramaker; Mrs. Cecil Maddison; Mrs. Harry Francis; Mrs. Phil

These are the official portraits issued by the Japanese royal family, following announcement of the engagement of Crown Prince Akhito and Miss Michiko Shoda. The bride-to-be, a commoner, was chosen by the prince from a list of 1,000 eligible girls.

CARNIVAL PORTION

The carnival portion was held in the upper auditorium with Mrs. W. C. Pitman; Mrs. Roy Duffin; Mrs. H. C. David; Mrs. S. J. Elliott, and Mrs. W. Jones, as carnival hostesse. Here the eager purchasers had encouraged an almost endless choice of gifts.

A large 'mystery tree' in silver, was filled with parcels of every size, shape and price, and there were many bargains, with Mrs. Leslie Thompson and Mrs. Harold Bird as conveners.

The Christmas nook was decorated in a design of red bells and glistening lines where all varieties of handiwork were displayed. Convening these were Mrs. Maurice Bell; Mrs. Gordon Branford and Mrs. Charles Davidson.

APRON ARBOR

The apron arbor contained a large assortment of gingham, prints, and organdy aprons in all colors of the rainbow; large and lovely styles; wee, half aprons; and cobblers aprons; all of which made a picturesque array. The conveners were: Mrs. Will Brown; Mrs. Walter Elliott, and Mrs. Clifford Hutton.

The "Kitchen Kapers Korner" had a nice selection of novelty goods which include: foam rubber gloves. Convening this were:

EVEN BETTER than (or in addition to) a sewed-on name tape is your child's name printed in large letters on the inside of his raincoat (and hat) or school jackets. A small child can identify his own more easily, an older youngster can find his more quickly if the name is big and black. Less chance of even a temporary mixup.

Mrs. Rosa Bush and Mrs. Ashley Brooks.

In the baseinette corner were knitted goods for the wee darlings complete with jacket, bonnet and booties; children's mitts from tiny shots up to four-year-olds; shirts, blouses and little dresses. Mrs. Percy Usman and Mrs. Guy Bradley were the conveners.

DELECTABLE DELICATESSEN

The delectable delicatessen counter was filled with appetizing food and extended almost the length of the hall. There were jars or rich cream; marmalade; relishes; pickles; jams; casseroles of food; pies and tarts; small cookies and cup cakes and a variety of square and layer cakes swathed in luscious icings which drew numerous purchasers to this pantry plaza. Conveners were: Mrs. Harry Fischer; Mrs. Alex Bush; Mrs. Russel Stapley; Mrs. Frank Wood and Mrs. Mary Vandervoort.

One end of the table was filled with many kinds of puddings; baked beans; roast pork with dressing; steamed sweet apples; salmon loaves; fruited jellies and a large assortment of both hot and cold foods, all prepared for supper.

CANDY CORNER

The candy box corner, convened by Mrs. Harold West, Mrs. William Wilkins and Mrs. Roy Tucker, was filled with boxes of chocolate fudge; maple creams; peanut brittle; peppermint squares and other sweet concoctions.

The carnival tea was an outstanding success and was something new and different in the village. The patrons were loud in their praise of the pretty decorations, the delightful articles offered for sale and above all, the appetizing food.

The rooms abounded with an air friendliness and every one was made welcome.

Women's Activities

GILEAD ST. ANDREW'S F.G.

The November meeting of the Gilead Friendship Guild was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Ross with a good attendance.

The president, Mr. Carman Huffman, presided over the business part of the meeting.

Mrs. Roy Huffman gave a report on the bazaar, and it was decided to send cards of thanks to those who made donations to the bazaar.

The men are to put on a play at the Christmas concert with Mrs. Gerald Swan and Duane Martin assisting with the play.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Swan were in charge of the program. The Scripture lesson, Jeremiah 18:1-6, was read by Mrs. Earle Treverton, and the meditation by Mrs. Embury.

A reading, "Decorating the Church," by Mrs. Embury; a number of Christmas carols were sung by George Clare with the group joining in on the second verses; a reading by Duane Martin, "Child's Prayer and Teacher's Crown"; an accordion selection by Bruce Swan, "My Beautiful Heaven," and a reading by Eloise Clare, "Learn to Pray, May."

Mrs. Swan conducted two interesting contests on the topic of the day, and, "What's In Santa's Bag?"

Refreshments were served and a social time spent.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beechman

SHOULD NOT USE FIRST HUSBAND'S SURNAME IN HER NEW NAME

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I was a widow for several years, and very recently remarried. In my name now is it correct for me to use both married names, Jane Brown Walker (Brown, my first husband's surname, and Walker my new husband's surname)? — C.

No. When you remarried you should drop your first husband's name entirely. Your formal name now is, for example, Mrs. Charles Walker. And your informal name, your signature, is Jane Clark Walker (Clark, let's say, was your maiden surname).

INVITE TO BOTH HOUSEWARMING AND CHRISTENING?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

About a year ago my husband and I moved into our new house, but we did not give a housewarming. Several months ago we were blessed with our first child, a baby girl, and the baby christened yet because my husband's brother, who is to be her godfather, entered the Service, but is coming home soon on his first leave. I and my husband and I would like to have the christening and a housewarming combined if it would be proper to combine the two affairs — and if so, when to send out invitations stating so. But I don't want people to think I am a bad manner, and so I would like to say on the invitations "No gifts, please." Is this proper? I am not a "formal" type of person and so I am wondering if it would be proper, instead of sending printed invitations, for me to use our Informals (engraved "Mr. a n d Mrs.—" on the first page) and write the notes of invitation myself. — Reader.

It will be entirely correct, delightfully friendly too, for you to write the invitations on the inside pages of your Informals, particularly appropriate too, since the name is engraved on them with "Mr. and Mrs." (It would be optimum taste to send printed cards of invitation.) I suggest that you write the little notes inviting the guests simply to the christening, thus making this the important occasion, and not at all featuring, or even mentioning the housewarming. Then since it will not be made an occasion that will suggest t w o presents, one for the housewarming and one for the christening. Indeed not, I should think, to include "No presents, please", leaving it to the wish of the guests as to whether they wish to bring christening gifts. However, if you prefer, your invitations may invite to both occasions, and you may include "No gifts, please" in your notes of invitation.

ABOUT ANNOUNCING AN ENGAGEMENT

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I would appreciate so very much your advice pertaining to my daughter's wedding in June.

1. What is considered the proper time to announce an engagement?

2. When an engagement announcement party is given, what is the proper hour to give it? Could it be around 4 o'clock, or should it be given later in the day?

3. Who should be invited to the engagement announcement party — just the members of the two families, or also their attendants and some of their other friends? — Mother.

1. So many personal factors enter into the question of how long the engagement that only the couple themselves can make the decision. There may be a term of military service to finish . . . practically always there is the budget to be most importantly considered . . . there may be the question of a job or a raise, the completion of school or college courses, and so forth, and so forth. However, nowadays most young couples don't announce the engagement until they are fairly sure they will be able to be married within a matter of months.

So, since your daughter and to her young man are planning to be married in June it would be entirely proper that the engagement be announced at any time now they wish to announce it.

2. Since, as I judge, you are planning to give the engagement party in the afternoon, four o'clock is an excellent hour to choose. It's a good idea to set a definite hour for the guests to arrive, so that all will surely arrive in time for that so-important announcement.

3. To an engagement-announcement party you may invite as many guests as you wish to and can conveniently accommodate.

OFTEN-ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT SIGNING CHRISTMAS CARDS

Q. When I sign our Christmas cards — the usual kind with the message printed on them — should I sign them "Mr. and Mrs." or with our first names?

Please explain the correct signature.

Answer: Do not sign y o u r Christmas cards "Mr. a n d Mrs. —." This formal name is ghastlily wrong as a signature. Your signature must be your informal name . . . first name (or first name with last name), but no title. Like this:

Greetings for Christmas and the New Year

Peter and Ruth Holly

2. Is it correct to sign your formal name after the printed message?

Answer: No! Whether the name is written or imprinted after the message, it is not correct to use your formal name . . . "Mr. and Mrs.", "Mrs.", "Miss." The following is not correct:

Greetings for Christmas and the New Year

Mr. and Mrs. John Frost

3. When the wife signs the Christmas cards for her husband and herself, should she sign her name first or last?

Answer: When the wife signs the cards, she should, politely, sign her name last:

Peter and Ruth Holly

(And when the husband signs the cards, he, politely, signs his name last:

Ruth and Peter Holly.)

4. When the names of husband and wife are imprinted at the end of the message on the cards, which name should come first, the husband's or the wife's?

Answer: The wife's n a m e should come first . . . obviously more courteous. Like this:

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year

Ruth and Peter Holly

5. When a child's name is to be included in the signature, whether handwritten or imprinted, whose name comes first, the father's name, the mother's name, or the child's name?

Answer: The father's n a m e comes first; Paul and Anne and Anita.

The names of several children may be included in this informal way:

The Thompsons — John's n a me and Paul and Polly and Tommy.

Or:

John and Mary Thompson and Polly and Tommy

Three Way Stretch For New Puff Paste

by Mary Moore

For hostesses who have a head and a yen for organizing I have an idea.

I made a double batch of my new sure-fire puff paste. From it I made two family-sized chicken pies and four individual ones, plus puff paste Napoleons for dessert, two days later.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

MONDAY

Poached Eggs on Lamb Hash; Cauliflower; Spinach; Baked Squash; Angel Cake with Strawberries; Coffee.

I was thinking about this later and realized it could have had a triple purpose.

I could have made just one chicken pie, and used the remaining puff paste for sausage rolls and for a hypothetical finger-food party for a serve-yourself buffet.

My dears, to help you make up one batch of this sure-fire puff paste and use to impress two different groups of guests during the Christmas season, for those who missed the recipe given in October, we repeat it now but will give a double-batch so you will have plenty on hand for the three parties I imagined for you.

NON-ROLL PUFF PASTE

Four cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1-lb. cold, hard butter (do not substitute), ½ pint (10-oz.) commercial sour cream. Measure flour and cut the butter into it as you would for pie pastry. It should not be thoroughly blended with the flour—little fat pieces about ½" are ideal. Now stir in the sour cream lightly. Press into chunky roll, wrap in foil or wax paper and chill thoroughly. Cut the roll into four and roll one-quarter of the dough out to ½" thickness. (Put the rest of the dough back in the frig.) Fold over and pash the centre fold. Meanwhile have ready the

FILLING FOR THE CHICKEN PIE

Simmer until just tender one three-pound chicken. Strip meat from bones leaving in large pieces — don't break them up—put them in the casserole as they break away naturally from the carcass. Over the top sprinkle 1 cup frozen peas, and arrange 4 or 5 partially cooked carrots, cut up. Thicken the cups broth in which chicken was cooked, by stirring in flour-meal (use 2 tablespoons flour and 5 tablespoons water) until smooth. Season lightly with salt and pepper. Pour this hot gravy over filling and cover with gashed pastry. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. until filling is bubbling and crust is pale gold. Use same method for the 4 to 6 individual chicken pies. Serve with generous salad.

Tomorrow watch for methods for making this puff paste into Napoleons and sausage rolls and pinwheels for your buffet party.

Modified Sack Style

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Wool plaid in off - white beige and brown tones is used for this modified chemise dress. It has a cuffed, sway-from - the - neck collar. Seaming from the plaited double-breasted with black buttons, the lower two buttoning onto the black leather belt which also buttons in back. It's a dress that should see a lot of versatile wear.

Gloves Feature Delicate Detail

Leather gloves appear in pastel shades and a whole rainbow of high-fashion colors. These include browns in all shades from palest greyed browns to darkest chocolate, bronze greens, greys, blues from bright to dark, reds in deep wine tones and bright scarlet.

Pastels for late day and evening run the gamut from pinks to mauves and lilacs, palest yellows, blues and greens and, of course, the formal white. Kid gloves that sometimes reach as high as the shoulder.

Washability is a popular feature of new Launderleather gloves, along with such detailing as tiny perforations, jewelled trims, light embroidery and floral touches, applique treatments, bows and buckles.

The trapeze silhouette has been adapted to Launder Leather gloves that have a flared cuff and are high belted under the finger line. The chemise look is seen in a low stitching at the cuff line highlighted with a tiny bow.

Pigskin and pigtextured deerskin and cape appear in capeskin styles, many with whip stitching in contrasting colors. They are often lined in silk, wool or fur.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, a clergyman, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and individuals.

Mary R. — I owe my parents special consideration.

Harry R. — Husbands come first.

• • •

Mary R. — My husband and I are in our mid-20's and we have been married a little more than a year. We have quite a lot of serious disagreements about one special matter — my parents.

My parents are elderly a n d live near us. I have a brother and sister who live in a different state and only visit my parents twice a year. Two years ago my youngest sister was killed in an accident, so naturally my folks are quite lonely and in a depressed state of mind.

I feel that it is up to me to cheer them up. I make it my business to see them every night. My husband says he doesn't mind if I go over there every night so I go alone. Then he is furious that I leave him alone. He says that he should come first. B u t I feel that in this case I owe my parents some special consideration.

• • •

Harry R. — Married life certainly is not what I expected it to be. The day after we returned from our honeymoon Mary insisted upon spending the whole evening with her parents. I wanted to enjoy being alone in our new home, but nothing doing.

I feel that when a woman gets married she's got to put her husband before her parents. That's what marriage is all about and what everyone agrees with me. T h e way things are now we may as well have remained single.

When I get home after a hard day's work I like to get into comfortable clothing and relax in an easy chair over the newspapers or TV. I don't want to have to make conversation with anyone's parents — including my own. But if I would like my wife to join with me. Here I am, married a year, sitting home alone every night of the week.

• • •

The issue "he comes first me or your parents?" is a rather childish one. We think he's the boy who says "if you loved me you would give me the biggest piece of cake." He retreats in a sulk if for some reason Mother is unable to give it to him.

It is true that marriage partners are pledged to one another — "forsaking all others" — but this pledge has a larger interpretation than "choosing" one person at the expense of the other. What is involved is a pledge to share in one another's feelings and needs, not simply to consume one another's physical and psychic energies.

Mary says "I owe my parents some special consideration." Just so. But whether if her marriage were established on a more satisfactory level, the statement might be "I owe my parents . . ." Mary and Harry are now a unit and should not so function as such.

Basic principles aside, we do feel that Harry has good reason to complain about not having his wife at home in the evenings. Spending every single evening at the home of parents certainly sounds like quite a bit too much even if Mary and Harry did it together. We doubt very much whether the parents expect or even want so much attention.

We do believe, however, that if Harry showed understanding and consideration for Mary's feelings about her parents, it would be much easier to arrive at a compromise.

Electrohome

Sometimes even the 'good guys' don't stand a chance

Some TV sets are downright unfair to cowboys. Reception is bad—the pictures blur and contort. Sometimes the gun smoke never clears. But on Electrohome television . . . why, you can even see the bad guy's yellow streak. Straight-shooting Canadian engineers built these sets for Canadian conditions—you get a constant, clear picture.

There is hardly ever a hint of interference anywhere. Pictures stay bright and clear—sound comes rich and smooth as a fast draw from True Fidelity* speakers. And Electrohome sets look powerful good—even when they're turned off. The cabinets are styled by famous Delicraft designers.

- Slim, big screen, 21" 110-degree tube —allows slim cabinet design.
- 3-way signal protection — adjacent channel sound trapp, horizontal locking control, and special local-distance control guarantee a sharp clear signal.
- Push button off-on switch — off on control is separate from volume control.
- Wide range sound — 3 watt audio circuit, 8" console speaker.
- Solid wood cabinet — in Delicraft hardwood veneers of walnut, Swedish walnut, mahogany or light oak.
- Dimensions — 34" high x 27" wide x 15 11/16" deep.

Boris Pasternak, the Soviet writer who, as author of Dr. Zhivago, was offered the Nobel prize for literature, is the object of cartoon criticism in many Soviet publications. Quoted from Soviet writers' and authors' union, many organizations are condemning him as an enemy of the state. This cartoon, published in Pravda, shows an Anti-Soviet dish being brewed, with the book, Dr. Zhivago, being added as spice. State-directed authors groups accuse Pasternak of working with the U.S. to undermine the Soviet system. Some accuse him openly of treason.

The dinner was held at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. The busload was organized by Fred Bateman, past Grand Master of Ontario East Orange Lodges.

Looking deadly as she sulks off the coast of Nova Scotia, the HMS Alderney, a unit of the Royal Navy's Sixth Submarine Fleet at Halifax, enables the Canadian maritime forces to train as realistically as possible in anti-submarine warfare. Canadian ships and planes try to thwart her supposedly hostile intentions and sink her. The submarine pores as not only a valued friend to the navy and air force but also as an enemy to be sought out at sea and destroyed.

NEW MEDICAL EXPENSE POLICY

Now Metropolitan Life announces a new Insurance policy — supplementing the Provincial Hospital Plan — It helps you pay bills, both in the hospital and at home, for:

- Semi-private or private room hospital accommodation
- Surgical expenses
- Maternity expenses
- Medical expenses such as physicians' charges, registered nurses' charges, and certain medical services and supplies

The cost of illness or injury in your family can be sizeable. Consider the cost today of items such as physicians' bills, surgeons' fees, special nurses — in hospital, at home, or both — special prescriptions, prosthetic appliances, and similar expenses.

Also, when a member of your family must be hospitalized, you may, well require room accommodations more private than those offered.

And so, Metropolitan has designed a NEW POLICY to supplement the benefits available to you under the Provincial Hospital Plan.

It is available to you either as an individual or as a family head, including wife and children, at a cost within the average budget.

Now is the time to review your Medical Care coverage. See if it meets the needs of you and your family. Sound advice by an insurance expert can help tailor a plan suitable to those needs.

Your Metropolitan Representative is such a person. He has been carefully trained in the analysis of insurance needs — and he is interested in helping you get the most coverage for your money. Call him today through the local office below.

Metropolitan service is as local as Main Street as close as your phone

TV Coverage of Cup Game Keeps Canadians Home, Helps to Reduce Fatalities

SURVIVES BOUT OF SLEEPING SICKNESS

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A. W. Guggisberg, author and entomologist in the Kenya Medical department, at Nairobi, who allowed himself to be inoculated with Rhodesian sleeping sickness in an experiment. He survived after his recovery. During eight days in the hospital reached 106.8 degrees. The disease is frequently fatal.

A helicopter crash in Manitoba in which six persons died was Canada's worst weekend accident with winter weather and perhaps television coverage of the Grey Cup game keeping Canadians at home.

A major snowstorm which reduced Ontario and Quebec highway traffic cut the toll on Canadian highways to nine persons compared with 22 the previous weekend. Violent deaths totalled 36 from all causes.

Single deaths in Toronto and Timmins were in fires believed caused by cigarets.

The fatalities for the weekend started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at Sunday midnight.

Ontario deaths were:

FELL ASLEEP SMOKING

Peter Partridge, 43, in a fire believed started when he fell asleep in a chesterfield Saturday night while smoking.

Gilbert Larable, 21, of the Ottawa suburb of Hurdman's Bridge, when a car skidded on a snow-covered road near Havelock Saturday. Larable was on his way to Peterborough with Gerald Walker, 19, Hurdman's Bridge, as a pallbearer at a neighbored Memorial Hospital with chest injuries.

Ernest St. Lalonde, 42, of St. Bernadin, 22 miles northwest of Cornwall, was killed when a truck after it hit a bridge Saturday and toppled into a creek near Lalonde. A cousin, Joachim Lalonde, 39, was rescued from the ditch.

Joseph Boil, 62, burned to death in his home Saturday through the upstairs halls of the St. Charles Hotel in Timmins.

Mrs. Albert Walker, 74, Coldwater, after a two-car collision Saturday north of Barrie. Five other persons were injured.

Royal Family Issues Denial Of Paper's Story

LONDON (AP) — The royal family issued a formal denial Sunday that Queen Mother Elizabeth has been regularly visited by a 41-year-old Irishman who reads the future from a crystal ball.

A statement from Buckingham Palace issued through the press association said:

"The press secretary to the Queen wished to inform editors that the story concerning the crystal gazer visiting Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother at Clarence House is untrue."

The denial followed a story in The Sunday Pictorial saying the 58-year-old Queen Mother was regularly consulting Tipperary-born crystal gazer Tom Corbett.

GLEN ROBERTSON, Ont. (CP) — Alfred Fournier, 58, a farmer from nearby Dalhousie Station, was killed Friday when a team of horses he was driving bolted in a heavy snowstorm and tossed him into the path of a car. Glen Robertson is 24 miles northeast of Cornwall.

Inco Workers Solidly Reject Company Offer at Meetings

SUDBURY (CP) — Officials of the striking International Nickel Co. of Mines, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) said Sunday the union membership has endorsed rejection of a company offer made during talks in Toronto last week.

Mike Solski, local president, said the offer by the International Nickel Company of Canada was solidly rejected at six mass meetings held in the district Sunday.

Similar action was reported by mine-mill's local at Port Colborne, where 1,400 Inco refinery workers are on strike.

Mine-mill officials said a motorcade of strikers will head for Toronto Tuesday at midnight to urge that the provincial government operate Inco's plants. A similar motorcade is to start out from Sudbury.

Union officials have said every slip possible will be made to demonstrate the union demand for government action to get 14,000 striking workers back on the job.

The motorcade was originally scheduled for last Thursday but was called off to await the outcome of new Inco-union talks in Toronto.

TALKS FAILED

The Toronto talks collapsed Friday after two days of discussions on proposals to end the strike, which began Oct. 27, 1958, when 12,000 workers shut down plants in mines and refineries here.

Mr. Solski reported the company offered a three-year contract effective Aug. 15, 1958. He said it provided for an 8-cent increase in the first year, a one per cent boost Aug. 15, 1959 and a further 1½ per cent increase Aug. 15, 1960.

He said the union demanded a three-year pact effective June 1 1958, with increases of three per cent in the first year, 3½ per cent June 1, 1959 and 3½ per cent June 1, 1960. The union originally sought an eight-per-cent increase in the first year.

Average wage at Inco before the strike was $2.20 an hour.

British Experts On Asia Talk To Diefenbaker

SINGAPORE (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker discussed Southeast Asian politics with two British leading Asian experts today on a one-day visit to this eastern crossroads.

He talked for half an hour before luncheon with Governor Sir William Goode and Sir Robert Scott, United Kingdom commissioner general in Southeast Asia. The informal talks for another half-hour after lunch in the governor's house where Diefenbaker is staying.

A Canadian source said they discussed political developments in Southeast Asia with special reference to Singapore, where local self-government is to be established following elections next April.

The Canadian leader then visited the Krangi War Memorial overlooking the Straits of Johore, across which 14,000 troops stormed in February, 1942. The memorial commemorates 24,000 Commonwealth war dead including 299 Canadians who died in the battle.

THEN FLIES SOUTH

Tuesday Diefenbaker is scheduled to visit a number of leading public men, including Singapore Mayor Ong Eng Guan, a member of the left-wing Peoples Action party. Then he flies south on Qantas Australia with a two-hour visit to Jakarta for talks with Indonesian leaders.

Diefenbaker, relaxing this afternoon, was taken on a sightseeing tour through the historic city, bastion of British military power in Asia since it was founded a century.

At the support the world-tour- ing Canada is deeply interested in Singapore's new constitution, which guarantees full internal self-government after elections next April 1 year.

He said the constitution is part of the growing concept of development of democracy in the Commonwealth.

Four Relatives Take Own Lives In Suicide Pact

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Four persons, dependent over poor health, apparently all torn from took their own lives. Their bodies were found Sunday night in a rooming house in South St. Louis apartment.

The three women and a man, all related, appeared to have been dead for several days.

They were identified by police as relatives as Arthur Forrester, 62, a salesman; his wife, Lucille, 60; Mrs. Forrester's sister, Mrs. Mary Conkling, 56, a widow, and Miss Blanche Conkling, 56, Mrs. Forrester's sister.

The bodies were found by Thomas Conkling, a brother of the dead sisters. After trying for several days to get in touch with them, he entered the apartment.

Police found several notes, some signed by individuals and at least one with the signatures of all four of the dead.

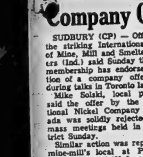
One read, "Art is not responsible for mom and me." It was found near Blanche Conkling's body.

Forrester, a commission salesman for a cookie company, had insurance totaling about $50,000. Fellow employees and his brother-in-law said a co-worker met Forrester at 4 when told "I'm not surprised."

They reported earlier this year had been in a mental institution and once had attempted to cut his throat.

Officers said a newspaper dated Tuesday was the latest one in the room.

OFF WORK 10 DAYS



Officers said each person apparently had been shot through the temple. A .22 calibre pistol was found near Forrester.

One of the notes said "sickness the reason for this." It was signed by all four.

Dies in Hospital

BOWMANVILLE (CP) — Rev. Walter Hardscheuel, 54, retired Toronto, died in hospital Saturday from injuries received in a truck-car crash Friday on Highway 2.

Thomas Heeney, 22, a Jesuit Scholastic taking graduate studies at the University of Toronto, was killed in the crash, and the driver of the car, Rev. Edward Jordan, 46, rector of the Jesuit Seminary in Toronto, suffered undetermined injuries and shock.

"I always wear tight shoes — they take my mind off everything else".

THE REEL THING

Britain's Queen Mother wears smile as she dances a reel during dinner and ball at the University of London's Senate House Friday night. Affair was given by the president of the University of London Union. The Queen Mother is chancellor of London University. Indian Will Face Lie Detector On Story He Killed Gaspe Hunter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Francis his guilt."

Gilbert Thompson, the Canadian Mohawk Indian police said has confessed the killing of an American hunter five years ago for which another man was hanged, will undergo a lie detector test today.

Thompson said he and a companion, Johnny Greene, 37, the former Lindsey, 47, and his son, Richard, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., in the hunting country 60 miles west of Gaspe, Que., in July 1953. Another body, that of Frederick Clear, 20, also of Hollidaysburg, was found, but Thompson made no mention of him.

Wilbert Coffin - was executed two years ago for the murder of the younger Lindsey after his lawyers had exhausted every avenue of appeal. Coffin maintained his innocence to the last.

In Toronto, Canada, Crown Attorney, one of Coffin's defence lawyers, said that "if it is ever proved that Coffin innocent, it will mean the end of the death penalty in Canada."

Mr. Maloney, who took part in the case when it reached the Supreme Court of Canada, said that although he was never fully convinced about Coffin's innocence, he had "the gravest doubts about

Right Wing Wins Most of Seats In Algeria Vote

ALGIERS (Reuters)—The men who helped bring France's Fourth Republic to an end were firmly in power today as results poured in from the election for the French National Assembly.

A sprinkling of progressive-minded, anti-war candidates—candidates consisting 67 seats — 46 Moslem and 21 European—took a heavy beating during three days of voting that ended Sunday.

The result was a mandate for right-wing settlers who demand total integration of this revolutionary Moslem territory with France, as gains limited self-government retaining an "Algerian personality."

With results known for 15 of Algeria's 16 constituencies, only two lists of moderate candidates had been elected.

Meanwhile, student leader and former paratrooper Pierre Lagaillarde scored a decisive victory over more moderate opponents. It was he who led the revolt that stormed the government building here May 13.

The demonstration touched off an army and settler's revolt against the Fifth government, leading to the premiership of Charles de Gaulle and declaration of the Fifth Republic.

But in the capital's suburbs, a list of pro-de Gaulle candidates defeated leaders of the public safety committee — main force behind the revolt — by a neck-and-neck margin.

In Orleansville, the four candidates of the public safety committee were elected and in the Oran area the four-candidate list of the union for the rebirth of French Algeria led by Monsignor Cid Cara, joint president of the all-Algeria public safety committee, was victorious.

Donald Loucks New Mayor of Peterborough

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Blustery weather and Grey Cup football interest helped hold almost two-third of eligible voters—from the polls in this Eastern Ontario city's first Saturday election.

Donald Loucks, 42-year-old retired electrical goods dealer, was swept into mayor to succeed John ewart who retired after five year's service. Mr. Loucks defeated Ald. Thomas Gordon for Rupert E. Knox, 76, and 2,-276 Peter Boy Bradley.

Only 8,248 voted out of an eligible list of 24,512.

Mr. Loucks received sales of the Peterborough Utilities Commission's natural gas distribution franchise and gas assets to the Consumers' Gas Company for $1,302,000. The count was 5,-949 for and 2,576 against.

Mr. Loucks will be the city's privately - operated bus system passed 2,511 to 2,806.

Ratepayers were given four of the five council seats at stake, Alderman Lorne Boorman was re-elected, heading the polls with 5,339 votes. Others elected: Harold L. Garner, retired general manager of the Peterborough Examiner, 4,966; lawyer Norman Crook, 4,743; Gordon Hackman, retired manager, 3,-126, and Jack O'Neil, a cement contractor 3,242.

Dies After Crash

HAMILTON (CP) — Mrs. Matthew Lorie, 58, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., died in hospital Saturday as a result of injuries suffered Friday in a car-truck collision on the city's outskirts.

Her 63-year-old husband was reported in fair condition. He received face cuts and knee injuries.

Ernest Simpson, Former Husband Of Duchess, Dies

LONDON (AP) — Ernest Simpson, former husband of the Duchess of Windsor, died early Sunday after a long illness.

The 63-year-old businessman had been suffering from a throat ailment for more than a year, but the exact cause of his death was not announced.

His fourth wife was at his bedside in London's Middlesex Hospital when he died.

Simpson's divorce in 1937 from Wallis Warfield of Baltimore made headlines around the world. The divorce freed her to marry King Edward VIII who gave up his throne for his love and took the title of the Duke of Windsor.

The duchess was aware of Simpson's critical last illness.

The two had many friends after their divorce, and Simpson was a frequent visitor. He helped the duchess with a few details when she wrote her memoirs, The Heart Has Its Reasons.

In the First World War he served with the Coldstream Guards. He married the present Duchess of Windsor in London in 1928. After the abdication crisis and their subsequent dissolution of the marriage, Simpson devoted himself entirely to managing a London stockbroker firm and moved quietly in a small circle of friends.

German Freighter Battles Storm For 14 Hours

HALIFAX (CP)—A young ship with a young crew docked safely here Sunday after a 14, - hour battle with raging Atlantic swells off the Nova Scotia coast.

The 3,000-ton German freighter Waldeck, flying 25 degrees, came into port under her own steam Saturday night. Early Saturday the freighter's load of railway ties shifted in the height of a storm 200 miles at sea. She anchored overnight behind an island.

Her skipper, Capt. Walter Harm, 79, of Bremen, said he would be at least eight days before the ship is ready for the sea again.

Crewmen said they first thought the timbers were smashing ship when 27-foot waves crashed over the deck and spun the vessel in a gale-driven circle. Two lifeboats were made ready, but one of them was smashed by waves.

They stayed with the ship. Engine crews finally managed to keep control of the ship's course. One of the freighter's 1,400 horsepower diesel engines was damaged by water and unserviceable.

Two navy officers boarded the ship for the stricken freighter, built in Kiel in 1953. Her 26-man crew averages between 24 and 25 in age. None was injured.

Boycott Ships Under Flags Of Convenience

LONDON (Reuters) — Waterfront and seafaring unions here and in Scandinavia and Australia today declared solidarity with the 1958 Grey Cup football final.

The whoopla surrounding Winnipeg Blue Bombers' upset 35-28 victory over Hamilton's defending champions Tiger-Cats in Saturday's national grid playoff is lended for another year; the Bombers will meet the winner of the visiting fans.

Today, this West Coast city went to work as usual, except for a few who had to replace windows broken Saturday night when 15,000—most of them local young hoodlums seeking trouble— swarmed downtown streets, apparently waiting for something to happen. Little did.

Without any organized function for fans of either side to get the grid final underway, the second period stand subdued. Hotel lobbies and bars were quiet for the occasion and they were almost barren of celebrants.

Private parties—including those staged by the Ticats and the Bombers for team personnel only —went on upstairs and hallways abounded with western support- ers nursing their last whoopee, or trudging to the trains.

Bank President Calls on Govt. To Take Action to Halt Inflation, Safeguard Dollar

MONTREAL (CP) — Gordon R. Bell, president of the Bank of Montreal, today called on the federal government to take action to halt inflation and safeguard the integrity of the Canadian dollar.

"It is particularly important at present that the government should make it clear in action as well as words that safeguarding the integrity of the dollar will take a prominent place in its policies," he said in an address to the bank's shareholders.

During the last year consumer prices had jumped by about three per cent. The money value of the country's national output this year has been entirely a reflection of prices advances, he said. The quantity of goods and services produced this year was no greater than it was last year.

"It brings the matter even closer to home to realize that the personal income, after taxes, of the average Canadian — although eight per cent higher — this year will purchase very little more than it did two years ago," Mr. Bell said.

Failure to take action could lead to the point where confidence in the dollar would be cut in half in about 12 years.

Not in this calculation a mere matter of unrealistic conjecture. The comparison is based on what has in fact doubled and the value of our dollar has in fact been halved in the last 21 years.

"Surely no stronger reminder is needed of the need for a stable dollar," he said.

"Surely no stronger reminder is needed of the need for a stable dollar," he said.

Canadiens Back in Top Slot With Twin Wins Over Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens have their rabid fans chortling happily in their league today after trouncing Detroit Red Wings 6-3 and 7-0 during the weekend.

To the fans, many of whom have felt the Habs haven't been their colorful selves of late, the victories were reminders of the last two seasons when Canadiens ran roughshod over the league.

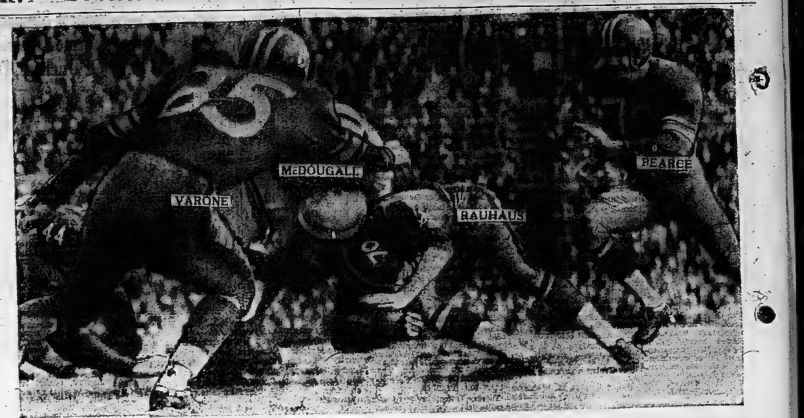
The two wins, coupled with Boston's win-less record during the weekend, gave Montreal a three-point margin in the standings. They have two games in hand over Bruins, who led the league for a few hours Saturday after beating New York 3-1 in an afternoon game.

BELIVEAU LED

Then Montreal, paced by centre Jean Beliveau, clobbered Detroit 6-2 before 13,703 Montreal fans and gained a one-point lead. Beliveau scored three goals, one each period, before suffering a hand injury that prevented him from playing Sunday.

Other Canadiens goal - getters that night were Tom Johnson, Dickie Moore, and rookie Ralph Backstrom. For Detroit it was Norm Ullman and Warren Godfrey.

Moving into Detroit Sunday, Montreal rolled roughshod over the Wings 7-0. Boom Boom Geoffrion got three this time while Henri Richard and Moore scored twice. It was goalie Jacques Plante's third shutout of the season as he turned aside 21 shots.



Boston spotted New York a goal Saturday afternoon, then scored three times to beat Rangers 3-1, taking the league lead. John Hanna scored his first goal of the season putting New York ahead briefly in the first period. Then Fleming Mackell, Johnny Bucyk and Jerry Toppazzini put Boston ahead.

BRUINS DROP BACK

But Bruins lost their chance of staying within a point of Montreal when they were nipped 2-1 Sunday by Toronto. Leafs won their first game under their new coaching staff when Barry Cullen and Frank Mahovlich counted in the first period. Toronto then stayed off Bruins, whose only goal came in the second period from Vic Stasiuk's stick.

Saturday, Leafs lost a 2-1 decision to Chicago Black Hawks in a spiritless contest at Toronto. Defenceman Pierre Pilote fired the winner for Hawks with 7 seconds to play in the third period. Earlier right winger Ken Wharram had scored for Chicago and Billy Harris for Leafs.

Back home Sunday, Chicago overcame a 2-0 deficit with third period goals by Ron Murphy and veteran Ted Lindsay. Alex Delvecchio, the leading scoring leader, notched both New York goals, one in the first, the other in the third.

Kingston Wins Over Ottawa Ties Cornwall Over Weekend

Belleville McFarlands, who replace Whitby Dunlops as Canada's world hockey championship representatives this year, failed in their weekend bid to overtake Dunlops as leaders of the eastern OHA Senior A series.

McFarlands lost 4-3 at Whitby Saturday, ending a six-game win streak. A victory would have given Belleville a first-place tie.

McFarlands recovered Sunday, however, to defeat Hull-Ottawa Canadiens 6-4.

The loss was the second during the weekend for Canadiens who dropped a 5-2 game to Kingston Merchants Saturday night. Merchants went on to tie Cornwall Chevies 2-2 at Cornwall Sunday.

Fred Etcher tied it 1-1 at 5:39 of the second after Al Dewsbury had given Belleville a 1-0 first-period lead, and Tom O'Connor made it 2-1 for Whitby in the second. Paul Payette put McFarlands back in the picture half way through the period but it was all Whitby in the third with Jack Kane and George Samolesko handling the scoring.

Ab. Hal. Fiori Georgan scored twice in the third for the winning Belleville margin.

Kingston's win Saturday was only its fourth in 15 starts. Coupled with the 2-2 tie with Cornwall, it left the last-place Merchants two points behind Cornwall. Hull-Ottawa is third with 14 points, 10 less than Belleville.

Kingston had a 4-0 lead before Claude Richard clicked for Canadiens. Merchants' first line of playing-coach Bus Gagnon, Moe Savard and Jim Maxwell fired three goals.

Savard scored twice in the first after Frank Chiarelli opened scoring. Billy Colvin counted in the second and Maxwell scored half-way through the third before Hull's John Annabelle made it 5-2 with the last goal of the night.

At Cornwall, Gagnon fired both Kingston goals, tying it the second time at 15:46 of the third. Cornwall had taken a first-period lead on a goal by Ron Muir and went ahead 2-1 when Guy Henri scored less than a minute after Gagnon got his first goal in the second.

Judo Club Members Given New Gradings

The club's chief instructor, Jim Driscoll, said that the feature of the examination was the 20-minute tournamen draw between the Misses Shirley Fleming and Rita Poelstra, who were awarded their Brown belts.

The young ladies who now hold the highest award in Ontario, gave a finished exhibition and earned the plaudits of club officers as well as the examining official.

Other promotions given following the grading and examination were, besides the Misses Poelstra and Fleming to Brown Belts, George Woodhouse, Robert Burke, Carol Ann Cummings, Roland Lajeace and Miss Stella Vos to Green Belt; Len Seifert, RCAF Trenton Judo Club to Blue Belt; Wayne Fox from White to Orange Belt, and Fred Wooster, Gerry Cranston, Cye Kehoe, James Williamson and Marion Lynn to Yellow Belt.

Chief Instructor Driscoll said there is plenty of room in the adult club for new members and those interested should contact him at the YMCA. This invitation is also open to women. A new class is starting in January.

Hockey's Big Seven

Durelle Opens Training for Moore Fight

MONTREAL (CP) — Rugged Yvon Durelle paid no attention to the zero temperature Sunday as he trotted around the top of Mount Royal keeping fit for his bout with Archie Moore.

The five miles of morning roadwork opened local training for Durelle, Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight champion from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B.

Moore, the aged champion, was due in Montreal during the week-end but was delayed because of the airlines strike in the United States. He is expected to arrive Tuesday.

Promoter Eddie Quinn's office said advance ticket sales were "well over $30,000" and backers were hoping for a full house with $150,000 gate.

Bulldogs Whip Maroons 6-1 As Dutchmen Trim Trappers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Windsor Bulldogs came out of a slump with a bang Sunday, defeating first-place Chatham Maroons 6-1 to recapture fourth place in the OHA-NOHA Senior A series.

Sudbury Wolves had moved into the fourth spot temporarily by defeating Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds 2-1 Saturday night.

Bulldogs, who have lost seven of their last eight games, led 2-0 after the first, 3-0 after the second and added another in the third before Fred Pletsch got Chatham's lone counter.

RETURNS TO NETS

Danny Giesevich of Windsor, missing owing to an eye injury for much of the slump period, looked good back in the Bulldog nets.

Leo Bendo led scorers with two third - period goals and singles went to Bob Seymour, Bob Brown Wally Pawluk, a 6-6 Georgi Hasty, obtained from Chatham Friday in a swap for defenceman Gord Thompson.

Sudbury came from behind for their win at Sault Ste. Marie. Right winger Jim McBurney scored the only Soo goal at 7:17 of the first with Joe Zorica tying her in the period.

Defenceman Pete Pilote scored the winner while Greyhounds were shorthanded at 5:11 of the second and the teams went scoreless from then on. Both Sudbury goals were scored on power plays.

Kitchener - Waterloo's victory moved them to within three points of first - place Chatham. Maroons have 26 points, Dutchmen 23. The other clubs are separated by only one point.

Kitchener scored two second-period goals, the first by Jack Spare Children's in "The Colossus of New York", starring John Carradine, Mala Powers, Otto Kruger and Robert Hutton. Two Sensational Science-Fiction Thrillers on One Big Double Bill.

Devotees of science fiction can have themselves an entertaining time, tonight, when the Belle theatre plays host to not one, but two, science fiction thrillers — "The Space Children", and "The Colossus of New York."

Both films were produced by William Alland who is regarded as Hollywood's "foremost genius of science-fiction sagas". Alland denies the allegation with the contention that all of his thrilling dramas have a basis in fact, which he believes is what makes the difference between a good science-fiction film and a bad one. Alland certainly has to his credit "It Came From Outer Space", "This Island Earth", "Creature from the Black Lagoon, to mention only a few.

"The Space Children" stars Michel Ray, the young star who distinguished himself in "The Brave One" and "The Tin Star", stage and screen star Adam Williams, radio and television star Peggy Webber. Its locale is an unnamed missile base on the shores of the Pacific Ocean to which rocket expert Williams is assigned. Here, while spied upon by Miss Webber, sets up housekeeping with her husband and them and their two young sons. The boys, and the other children at the base, are until finally the psychotic influence of "The Thing", a fantastic object from outer space which enslaves them to do its bidding.

The children are directed by "The Thing" to prevent the launching of "The Thunderbird", a rocket stage rocket with a hydrogen warhead that can rise 9,000 miles and destroy any country on land at the touch of a button. What happens to them and to the scientists at the base makes "The Space Children" the science-shocker of the month.

"THE COLOSSUS OF NEW YORK"

The other thriller billed "The Space Children" is "The Colossus of New York", starring John Carradine, Mala Powers, Otto Kruger and Robert Hutton. This is a terrifying story of a great brain surgeon's attempt to bring the dead back to life. Harness Racing

TORONTO (CP) — Dottie's Pick, a six-year-old mare that has won more than $250,000 for her owners, brothers Ted and Elvin Armstrong of Brampton is retiring from harness racing competition.

The mare, bought originally for $6,200, has outstripped the earnings of other Canadian - owned horses — thoroughbred or standardbred—with her bankroll.

Dottie leaves a big mark on the harness racing world. She has a mile record of 1.56.4 in a time trial and 1.57.4 in a race. Her time of two minutes flat over a half-mile track is the fastest recorded by a mare.

Just a few weeks before her retirement Dottie was still breaking records when she went 1¼ miles in 2.15 to equal the world record and set a new mark for mares.

Army Cadets Whip Navy in Annual Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Army administered its expected licking to Navy while five teams in Air Force Academy, Clemson, Florida, Mississippi, and Hardin Simmons climbed bowl bids Saturday as the 1958 college football season ended.

The Cadets overcame an early case of the jitters, and with Bob Anderson scoring twice, whipped Navy 22-6 to complete their first undefeated season since 1949.

The Air Force Academy defeated Colorado 40-20 in Big Eight 20-14 and immediately was tapped for the Cotton Bowl against Texas Christian.

The Gator Bowl waited until the final day of the season before deciding on its teams. Mississippi and Florida, Ole Miss shot out Mississippi State 21-0 and Florida just made it, turning back Miami (Fla.) 13-12.

Hardin Simmons wrapped up the border conference championship Friday with a 26-20 decision over New Mexico A and M, but it was not until Saturday before the offer came to meet Skyline ruler Wyoming in the Sun Bowl.

Blues Swamp Redmen 11-3

MONTREAL (CP) — University of Toronto Blues, senior intercollegiate hockey champions last season, swamped McGill University Redmen 11-3 Saturday in the two clubs' first meeting this season.

The Blues were led by their Howie Bodill-Al Kennedy - Dave Stphen line, with Roth scoring three times and his linemates two each. John Macdonald scored two goals for the visitors and Mike Dunn, Dunc Brodie, Tom Watt and Grant Mills added one each.

Blues started slowly, scoring only once in the first period and giving up one in return, but in the second period the roof fell in on the Redmen.

Toronto scored five times, the last two goals only 16 seconds apart, and McGill managed only one. At the opening of the third with McGill short - handed, the Blues rammed home four goals in the space of two minutes and 40 seconds.

Colts Clinch First Western Conference Title

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Colts clinched their first western conference title of the National Football League and the Cleveland Browns maintained their one game lead over New York in the eastern conference Sunday.

The Colts, trailing by 20 points at halftime, rallied back for four touchdowns in the last two quarters to defeat San Francisco 49ers 35-27. The Baltimore triumph coupled with Chicago Bears' 24-10 setback by Pittsburgh gave Colts a three - game western division lead. There are only two weeks remaining in the regular season.

Cleveland rallied for two fourth quarter touchdowns on Milt Plum's passing and Lou Carpenter's running to beat the Washington Redskins 21-14. The Giants kept pace with the Browns by trimming Philadelphia Eagles 24-10.

The Los Angeles Rams whipped Chicago Cardinals 30-14 in the other game on the five-game program.

Washington's defensive line bottled up Jim Brown, Cleveland's fullback. Brown gained only 12 yards in 11 attempts and was held scoreless for the second straight week. But Carpenter took up the slack with 98 yards in 14 rushes—including 54 yards on the final touchdown drive.

'Wonderful Town' Offered Audience a Wonderful Time

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Wonderful Town offered the television audience a wonderful time Tuesday night. Its stage presentation of the musical comedy on CBS-TV,

Rosalind Russell brought all the verve to her Broadway performance to her role of a girl from Ohio living in Greenwich Village, Jacquelyn McKeever, newcomer to television, was a charming sister Eileen, and Sydney Chaplin was an appropriate boyfriend.

The show was produced for the home screen with freshness, as though it never had been a musical or movie but had been conceived especially for television.

Fortunately it was granted two hours of air time instead of being slimmed to the customary 90 minutes. Above all, it was blessed with some grand music by Leonard Bernstein and lyrics and vignettes by Betty Comden and Adolph Green.

A distinguished and fascinating new program has come to television with a once-a-month series in which Leonard Bernstein conducts the Philharmonic on CBS-TV.

Sunday he led the Philharmonic in excerpts from Beethoven's Ninth Symphony which he characterized in his comments as a musical example of "almost atomic energy."

Bernstein has been described by many as more competent to judge than I as a musical genius of extraordinarily wide-ranging interests. Certainly he is a great teacher. It is a happy fact that he shuns the ivory tower and shares his enthusiasm and his talents with the largest possible audience.

Minor Hockey

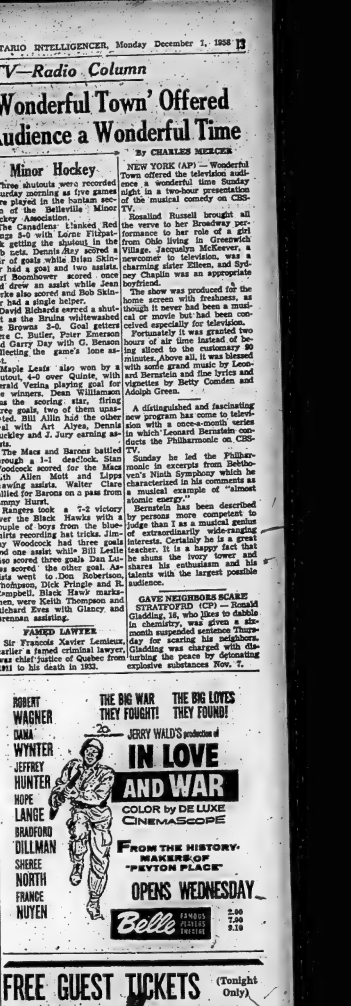
Three shutouts were recorded Saturday morning as five games were played in the bantam section of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association.

The Canadiens blanked Red Wings 5-0 with Kevin Filipek's hat getting the shutout in the belt. Dennis Ray scored a pair of goals while Brian Skinner had a goal and two assists. Carl Boomhower scored once and drew an assist while Jean Yorke also scored and Bob Skinner had a single helper.

David Richards earned a shutout as the Bruins walloped the Browns 3-0. Goal getters were C. Butler, Peter Emerson and Garry Day with G. Benson collecting the game's lone assist.

Maple Leafs also won by a shutout, 4-0 over Quinte, with Gerald Vezina playing goal for the winners. Dean Williamson was the leading light, firing three goals, two of them unassisted. Bill Allin had the other goal with Art Alyea, Dennis Buckley and J. Jury earning assists.

The Macs and Barons battled through a 1-1 deadlock, with Woodcock scored for the Macs with Allen Mott and Lipps drawing assists. Walter Clark tallied for Barons on a pass from Jimmy Hurst.



Rangers took a 7-2 victory over the Black Hawks with a couple of boys from the blue-shirts recording hat tricks. Jimmy Woodcock had three goals and one assist while Bill Leslie also scored three goals. Dan Lucas scored the other goal. Assists went to Don Robertson, Dwight Pringle and R. Campbell. Black Hawk marksmen were Keith Thompson and Steve Evers with Glancy and Brennan assisting.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARTER, Sports Editor

The east is east and the west-north mostly west, but never the twain shall meet again around a joint board by hockey rumbles if the not-so-stone death-canoers have anything to say about it.

If the OHA-NOHA group thought the upstairs eastern sports would break down and sob and don the black of mourning when the west-northerners tossed their joint agreement out the window with a thrill-a-minute-you'll-get-no-kick-from-me torpedo, they had better get their thinking apparatus, if available, overhauled.

Unfortunately for the easterners and probably fortunately for the lone-going west-northern waivers, that master of the spoken word, hefty Harry Old chilling, Wren Blair of the Whitby Dunlops, was unable to be present.

As it was Blair called from sunny snow-bound point in New York via telephone, but the conversation with two or more team representatives at the eastern group meeting Friday night here had to be curtailed when the heat of the Blairian language threatened to melt the wires after he had performed the dissolution of partnership as laid down by the west-northern group.

The item in the west-north proposed program that both amused and puzzled the easterners, was the fact that the mervey of the dissolution threw out practically every agreement dealt with the exception of the minimum salary limit. That, the press report of the meeting stated, was agreed upon but caused some eye-brow raising on the part of some of those present.

The press report also stated that the decisions of the OHA-NOHA meeting would automatically void the Ontario Hockey Association at a meeting to be held next Friday.

OHA president Lorne Cook who chaired last Friday's meeting here, said, much was not the case. The agreement between the two clubs was just that, and the minutes either public nor the agreement with the other was at liberty to act as before, under the rules and regulations of the CAHA.

The supercilious attitude of the north-western group in its motion to notify the easterners of the dissolution of the agreement, and not ask their opinion in the matter, brought guffaws of laughter from those around the table.

Said Kingston's Wally Brabin: "What they should have done was to call an inter-group meeting to discuss mutual problems, and perhaps both would have benefitted. As it is, I can't see this group being led astray by the nose or jumping at the beck and call of the other division. Let's wash out the whole thing and revert back to the CAHA regulations."

Which was all well and good until somebody realized the affiliation clause called for a November deadline. Then the group moved to request the OHA for an extension of the date to some time in December.

It was the general opponents of the get-together that the west-northern division by cancelation of the agreement and return to former high-priced details, plus the fact it would adhere to its new salary maximum, was merely scooping out a few more shovelsful of dirt from its grave.

According to pool reports submitted to OHA proxy Cook, this end of the senior "A" division is sound of wind and limb.

Rookie Quarter Leads Winnipeg To Cup Victory

Bombers' Van Pelt Stars As Favored Tiger-Cats Beaten 35-28 in Spectacular Upset

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jimmy Van Pelt, 23-year-old rookie quarterback, led Winnipeg Blue Bombers out of the Grey Cup wilderness Saturday in a spectacular 35-28 upset victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The annual football classic—the third meeting between East and West for the national title—produced perhaps the most blistering tought games in cup history.

For the Bombers it was a cup-hungry team's moment of revenge. They lost 32-7 to the Ticats in Toronto last year to run a winless Winnipeg streak to eight. The last Winnipeg Grey Cup victory team was a 5-1 decision over Ottawa Rough Riders in 1941.

It was the fourth western victory in five years — Edmonton Eskimos won in 1954, 1953 and 1955, each time against Montreal Alouettes.

On the damp turf of Vancouver's Empire Stadium Saturday the Bombers and Ticats could call on four touchdowns each in the rough, tough, even vicious struggle.

KICKING GIVES MARGIN

In the end result it was two field goals by Ken Preston, booming staigle by big Charlie Shepard that gave Bombers their victory margin.

Bombers needed everything to squeak by. They never had just enough offensively and defensively. They wiped out each other's mistakes and had a blanket the rampaging Ticats in a fourth-quarter comeback.

The scrappy Ticats, set back five times by roughing, clipping and clipping penalties, lost Ralph Goldston in the second quarter. The two - way Hamilton back-fielder was thrown out of the game for slugging Lee Knowles.

Van Pelt, who came to Bombers this year from University of Michigan, was the standout figure in the scoring. He counted two touchdowns, four converts and two field goals for a record total of 22 points.

The hard-hitting Ticats, fighting back to a one-point lead in the third quarter when quarterback Bernie Faloney threw two touchdown passes into the end zone to Ron Howell, were blanked in the final 15 minutes. The Bombers racked up eight points.

RAUHAUS STARS

Norm Rauhaus, a Winnipeg boy, blocked a Hamilton kick in the second quarter to score a touchdown and was a lifesaver for Bombers late in the last quarter when he intercepted a pass.

Kenny Ploen came up with another pass interception in the same quarter. It was the coup Ploen needed to score the touchdown on the next play with Van Pelt hugging the ball as the gun sounded.

Gerry McDougall scored Hamilton's first touchdown on a sweep around right end and Goldston, snapping up Van Pelt's fumble on the Bomber 45, raced all the way for the next.

Bombers' Howell's touchdowns, on passes fired by Faloney, came in the third quarter. Steve Oneschuk converted all four Hamilton touchdowns.

Besides Howell's touchdowns, Shepard rammed over from a yard out in the first period for a single in the fourth quarter that left Hamilton with the need of a converted touchdown to pull into a tie. Pass interceptions by Hamilton and Ploen ruined Ticats.

SPECIAL PLAY CLICKS

Western supporters were jolted when Ticats set up a 14-0 lead in the first quarter but were heartened five minutes later when Van Pelt scored on a play that clicked on two of the three times it was tried.

It was a passing play, finishing off a handout or pitchout. Van Pelt used it twice in Winnipeg's first touchdown march.

Bombers were bidding for their first score when Van Pelt handed off to Ploen, who tossed to Shepard and the Hamilton 31 for a 25-yard gain.

Shepard then plunged to the Hamilton 20 and Van Pelt boldly went for the play again. He handed off to Lewis who passed, as he was tackled, to Van Pelt who laid the quarterback scooted across for a touchdown.

The same play was tried in the third quarter, with Ernie Pitts as Lewis' pass target, but it missed.

BASHING AFFAIR

There were so many tense moments and crucial plays that the screaming crowd of 34,342 might as well have been looking at four games. Each 15-minute period was a smashing, bashing affair.

After the initial kickoff, Ticats went from their 19-yard line for a touchdown in 12 plays. From the Winnipeg nine McDougall skirted right end for the first touchdown.

Little more than two minutes later Ploen struck again when Goldston broke through to scoop up Van Pelt's fumble at the Hamilton 45 and sprint on for a touchdown.

The Bomber offensive took over after the kickoff and in nine plays from the Winnipeg 35 helped by a couple of penalties, the Bombers had halved Hamilton's 14-point lead on Van Pelt's first touchdown.

Van Pelt threw two field goals in the second quarter cut Hamilton's lead to 14-13 and on the final play before half-time Rauhaus cracked through the Hamilton line to block Cam Fraser's kick and fall on the ball for a touchdown.

THIRD-DOWN RUN

Don Sutherin's recovery of a fumble by Lewis on the Hamilton 30 early in the third quarter started Ticats on their way again. On a third-down gamble with five yards to go Milt Campbell raced to the Winnipeg 18. Howell pulled in a yard out Ticats found themselves on the Winnipeg 12 when Bombers' Jack Neal pulled Howell roughing. Faloney promptly passed deep to Howell in the end zone.

Six minutes later McDougall plunged over from a yard out. He covered for Bombers on the Hamilton 21. After a series of plays, Shepard slammed over.

Beck came the Ticats. In six plays they moved from their own 35 to the Winnipeg 15. Howell touchdown to grab a 28-27 lead as the third quarter ended.

Van Pelt's snapped once and broke loose for a 15-yard gain which Shepard trailed breathlessly when Faloney faked back again for another pass. Rauhaus raced in for the interception and the Hamilton march died.

It still wasn't over. The Bombers were halted and had to kick. Once more Faloney tried.

This time Howell broke up, he passed to McDougall at the Hamilton 45. On the next play Ploen charged in to intercept a pass. That was all for the Ticats.

Bomber Fans Celebrate Win

WINNIPEG (CP) — A sign showed a tiger bolting to the Pacific Coast with the words: "Anyone for Ticat soup?"

Another showed a stuffed tiger draped upside down. It read: Blue Bombers safari

Bombers' safari

Trek and the deafening cheers of 10,000 people in Winnipeg Saturday night as the Grey Cup and as they returned from Vancouver Sunday with the Grey Cup. Canadian Pacific Railway special after prize.

Winnipeg folks had the time of their lives picking fun at Ticat coach Jim Trimble for predicting a humiliation win in the classic.

Last year ago Winnipeg fans didn't have much to get excited about. Their team lost 32-7 to Hamilton in the cup game. Today they have made up for it fourfold.

OFFICIAL RECEPTION

Government leaders later offered formal praises at an official reception. Mayor Stephen Juba rubbed up with a Siberian tiger cub so Bomber coach Bud Grant and Trimble, in their striped tabbies. Grant posed with the cub and Trimble the cup.

Bombers arrived home at 4:30 p.m. and were bundled into cars for the trek through the town. Thousands braved biting weather to line the route.

The team received a standing ovation as they walked into the arena, where the crowd had watched a junior hockey game.

Sec. Jules Benoit, deputy Premier Evrick Willis of Manitoba brought official congratulations to the Bombers.

Goldston Second Man to Be Tossed Out of Cup Classic

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ralph up with the officials walking Goldston became the second man to be thrown out of the 44-year history of the Grey Cup Saturday when he did what Jake Dunlap, now a successful businessman in Ottawa, who got the axe in the 1921 final when the Rough Riders defeated Edmonton, had made the call and had talked to the official before where more questions were asked.

(The Canadian Press erroneously reported that Paul Dojack had made the call and had talked to the official at half time.)

In 1931 Red Teller of Montreal, Winged Wheelers, was banished from football for life for socking Regina Roughrider George Gillespie, crack end, during a fracas in the cup 22-0. Teller's punches were thrown at the players walked off the field.

In the Dressing Room

VANCOUVER (CP)—"It's been a long time coming," said welterweight champion Buddy Tinsley as the jubilant Winnipeg Blue Bombers whooped it up in their dressing room Saturday after their 35-28 victory over Ticats.

The giant tackle, who joined Bombers in 1950, was thinking about his three previous trips into the Canadian final in 1950, 1951 and 1957. Bombers came out on the short end of the Grey Cup stick each time.

Coach Bud Grant, unable to hold back his enthusiasm although soaked from a dunking in the showers, said quarterback Jim Van Pelt called "a tremendous game."

BLOCKERS PRAISED

Grant also had a good word for the blockers who opened holes for the backs.

"And that Charlie Shepard, did you see him burst out for that 32-yard run?" asked Grant. "I finally took a decathalon champion (Hamilton's Milt Campbell) to catch him."

Most of the Bombers took jibes at Hamilton coach Jim Trimble for his pre-game prediction that Tiger-Cats would again whip the Bombers. Last year, the Ticats walloped Winnipeg 32-7 at Toronto.

"We were crippled then, but we were healthy today," said defensive back Nick Miller. "Maybe that Trimble will learn to keep quiet now."

Puffing hard on a cigar, Herb Gray, all-star defensive star in the west, and a graduate of the University of Texas, broke the lone star state "eighties" he committed the Bomber victory was "just everything that ever happened in Texas."

Pierre Pilote, Chicago defenceman whose name is mentioned each season, with 74 points to play, gave Rocket Richard a 3-1 edge over Toronto Saturday.

Veteran goalie Harry Lumley, 32, called up from Providence, led Boston to a 3-1 win over New York Saturday in Boston.

Macs Fail To Grab Lead; Split Wins Over Weekend

Defeat Hull-Ottawa 6-4 After Losing to Whitby Dunlops; Trail Leaders by Two Points

The McFarlands just failed to grab a fifty per cent share of the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" League lead over a strenuous weekend, splitting two verdicts with Hull-Ottawa after their 3-1 Friday night victory over the Cornwall Cheviles.

As matters stand the Macs trail the Whitby Dunlops by two points after dropping a 4-3 decision to the league leaders on Saturday night, rearing back to smash a 6-4 victory over the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens in the Quebec city on Sunday afternoon.

Penalties proved the turning point for the Macs in the Whitby defeat, three sessions being good for as many goals after they blew a 1-0 first period lead.

Fiori Goegan paced the Macs in their Sunday victory over the Hull-Ottawans, scoring the winning and clinching goals in the third period after helping with another in the first. The Canadiens scored two in the second period to tie the count at four-all going into the final frame.

WHITBY 4 BELLEVILLE 3

WHITBY (Staff) — Perfectly clicking power plays spawned by costly Belleville penalties were the big factor in the world championship win over the Allan Cup holders.

Twice in the second period and again in the final frame, the Dunlops concentrated offensives paid off with goals after Belleville sinners had been waved to the hoosegow.

Both times, played brilliant sinless hockey in the first period with the McFarlands getting the jump with a 1-0 lead. Dunlops took their first lead in the second period with the Dunlops scoring twice with manpower advantages and Belleville coming right back tying it up midway through the heat with the teams at full strength. The Dunlops took a 3-2 lead at the seven minute mark of the third period and scored the clincher at 16:34 when the McFarlands ruined their chances of a tie by their third costly penalty.

The Etcher-Samolenko-Smith line was the potent force up front for the Dunlops. Etcher-Samolenko getting a goal and assist each with the playing Smith being credited with two helpers. Tom O'Connor also had a goal and assist with Bobby Attersley having two helpers. Jackie Kane scored the winner through assists by Babando racking up an assist.

Al Dewsbury and Paul Payette were the triggermen for the McFarlands with single assists going to Hildebrand, McLellan, Crawford and Moe Bercoli. The game was a brilliant hard-but-close checking affair with both teams playing the puck and assisting only six minor penalties were handed out by the officials, four of them to the McFarlands.

Dewsbury's driving smash at 1:32 of the first period with Hildebrand and McLellan assisting, broke the scoring ice and gave the McFarlands a 1-0 lead. It was close hard-driving hockey with both goalies stopping labelled drives.

Ed Marineau's penalty at 4:04 in the second heat paved the way for the tying goal. The Dunlops exploded with an all out drive and Etcher's blast with Samolenko and Babando assisting beat Bell for the equalizer. Two minutes later Al Dewsbury was chased for boarding, and again the driving power play of the Dunlops found paydirt. Tom O'Connor scoring with Smith and Attersley helping to put the homesters in front by a 2-1 score. The Macs stung by the setback forged into offensive life and at 10:55 Paul Payette beat Long John Henderson on a drive with Bercoli and Crawford to knot the count.

The Dunlops took the lead for the second time of the game when Jackie Kane teaming with Smith and Tom O'Connor swiped a puck past Bell to make the count 3-2. After seven minutes of play in the third period.

The Macs swarmed to the attack and on several occasions all but tied the score. They lost their chance for a tie or victory with less than four minutes to go when Marineau drew his second penalty of the game and the resultant charging power play of the Dunlops was climaxed by Samolenko's goal with Attersley and Etcher in on the kill.

BELLEVILLE 6 HULL 4

HULL, Quebec (Staff) — Fiori Goegan's brace of goals in the third period pulled the Macs up by their skate-straps in a closely-contested game here on the Ottawa-Hull Canadiens. Goegan who had assisted with a first period counter fired the winner and clincher after the Hull-Ottawas had tied the score four-all at the end of the second frame.

The McFarlands' smarting from their 4-2 setback at the hands of the Whitby Dunlops Saturday night grabbed a first-period 3-2 lead, but were outscored in the second period when the Canadiens evened the count.

Goegan led the Macs pointgetters with two and one with Crawford, Smrke and Bradley good for a goal and assist each. Paul Payette scored the other Belleville marker, Hildebrand had two assists with Marineau, Coogan, Bathgate, McLellan and Menard getting one each.

McLellan and Jean Claude Tremblay drew the major sentences for pushing each other to the first period while Minnie Menard and Gauthier were labbed with minors for pushing after the siren had ended the opening frame.

Rousseau's unassisted goal opened the scoring in the first period after seven minutes of play but Dumouchel's penalty paved the way for the equalizer when Paul Payette scored with Hildebrand and Crawford assisting, two minutes later.

Three tilts later took Black's pass at 12.54 to again give the Canadiens the lead but Crawford evened matters after being sent away by Coogan and Hildebrand. Smrke combined with Bradley and Marineau to give the Macs a 3-2 period lead.

Black again tied the score unassisted after six minutes of the second frame but Bradley got it back with Smrke and Raglan only to have Dumouchel and Longarini knot the count before the period ended.

The McFarlands took over in the third period with Goegan during home the winner on a beat combination effort with Bathgate after three minutes of play.

The new player slung home the clinching goal midway through the heat on a three-way drive with Johnny McLellan and Minnie Menard. The Macs threw two of the points three minutes before but fine defensive work held the Canadiens off the score sheet.

The McFarlands meet the Whitby Dunlops here tomorrow night in what should be a thrilling battle for the league leadership.

Cubs Break Losing Streak, Whip Marlboros

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tiger-Cubs, their full salaries restored a week ago after a cut, seem to have profited on the ice as well.

The last-place Cubs ended a 12-game losing streak in the OHA Junior A circuit Sunday as Lorne Haddon's third-period goal gave them a 2-1 win over Toronto Marlboros.

The Cubs didn't look quite good enough to up the league-leading Marlboros are second-place place with 19 points to Hamilton's eight —but they did look better than they have all season.

Coach Bud Poile said he restored salaries a week ago Friday. "The kids were trying and were just having bad luck," he commented. Salaries were cut by approximately $10 a week earlier in the season when Brown and the players weren't trying.

PLAY TO DRAW

In the first game of the double-header in Toronto, Sunday Peter, borough Peter and Toronto St. Michael's majors, deadlocked for second place with 20 points each, didn't solve the situation.

They tied 2-2 in the game watched by 2,206 fans. The night before, at St. Catharines, Teepees won their 10th game of the season and extended their first-place lead to 12 points by defeating Majors 5-1.

Cubs scored both their goals in the third after a scoreless second. Bob Brown scored on a rebound at 3:53 and Haddon got the winner on a slap shot.

One of the game's eight penalties—to Don Cuzzy for boarding Hamilton defenceman Ray Presutto—resulted from the hardest check seen here this season. Presutto was also hard to score on the boards and injured his right knee. Hamilton said he's a doubtful starter for the next game.

In the second game Peterborough took the lead after 2:45 of the second when Wayne Connelly scored. Bruce Draper made it 1-1 five minutes later.

KEENAN TIES IT

Petes again went ahead when Chuck Hamilton scored in the second but the game was tied in 10 seconds when Larry Keenan scored at 4:07.

Saturday night TeePees cut Majors' six-game winning streak by outscoring St. Michael's 2-1 in the first and adding three third-period goals for a scoreless second.

Newest Cup Football Hero Bombers' James S. Van Pelt

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two scarily-season injuries to key personnel with Winnipeg Blue Bombers opened the door to Canada's newest Grey Cup football hero—James Sutton Van Pelt.

The 23-year-old Chicago - born Dutchman in his first year with Bombers, moved in as quarterback when regular Kenny Ploen was injured during the Western Conference season and took over placement kicking when fullback Gerry James was knocked out with a broken leg.

Ploen returned, but as a halfback, as the smooth-working Jim Van Pelt took Bombers to victory after victory.

Saturday afternoon in Empire Stadium, Van Pelt scored a record 22 points as Bombers defeated the defending champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the most memorable Grey Cup game of the final since Edmonton Eskimos 26-25 triumph over Montreal Alouettes in 1954.

SETS RECORD

The total on two touchdowns, two field goals and four converts was three more than the previous record-game record of 19, set in 1956 by Edmonton's Jackie Parker.

Van Pelt moved Van Pelt into a fourth-place tie with Hal Patterson of Montreal in the all-time Grey Cup scoring, led by former Toronto Argo Joel Krol, who ran up 30 points in seven Grey Cup games during his career.

En route to his scoring mark, Van Pelt became the game's outstanding player. He threw 17 forward passes and completed nine, caught one forward for 2-20-yard touchdown; carried the ball four times for 23 yards, including a one-yard over-centre plunge for his second touchdown.

His performance far overshadowed an early-game fumble on the snap from centre that cost the ball to Ralph Goldston, who scooped up and rambled 35 from the Hamilton 45 to a touchdown that gave Ticats a 14-0 lead.

THROWN OUT

Goldston later was thrown out of the game for slugging Leo Lewis and the 25-yard penalty attached to the foul helped set up two other 15-yard roughing penalties contributed much to the Cats' 97 yards lost in 10 penalties. Bombers got 39 yards in six flags.

Van Pelt was by no means alone among the Winnipeg heroes. Fullback Charlie Shepard was no records, but showed up in the statistics with a blocked punt that he turned into a touchdown and with a key interception deep in his own end zone to halt a late Ticat drive.

Fullback Charlie Shepard was another standout as he led the ground gainers with 121 yards rushing, took two forward passes for 23 yards and averaged 43 yards 'in five punts.

Halfback Leo Lewis carried 13 times for 67 yards to become the second biggest ground gainer and took two forwards for 23 yards. He also was the man who loosed the touchdown pass to Van Pelt.

Hamilton's leading rusher was fullback Gerry McDougall, who carried 10 times for 54 yards. Quarterback Bernie Faloney, running eight times when he couldn't find pass receivers open, picked up 52 yards, but on three other occasions he was thrown for losses totalling 34 yards.

SEVEN BREAKS

In passing—the leading receiver was end Paul Dekker of Ticats, who caught all five forwards thrown to him and gained 78 yards. Halfback Ron Howell, outstanding Canadian, took four forwards for 76 yards while McDougall grabbed five for 54. End Ernie Pitts grabbed two forwards for 36 yards for Winnipeg and end Gene Gillium took two others for 25 as Van Pelt spread his pass-catchers among Pitts, Gillium, Shepard, Ploen and Lewis.

Van Pelt equalled one other mark and came close to three more, all in scoring. His two field goals in a single quarter matched the performance of George Fraser of Ottawa in the 1951 Grey Cup final, and Van Pelt's 19 points kicked was one short of the record 11 set by Fraser in that 1951 contest. The Bombers' total of 39 points tied him with three others—one Fraser and Fraser set record in single - game and all - time field goals kicked in Grey Cup games.

The one-game scoring record was the only individual mark established by the game, which drew a crowd of 34,426, compared with the record 39,417 in 1955 when the Grey Cup was played here for the first time.

GATE

Gate receipts, however, were the highest in history, estimated at nearly $300,000, compared with the previous high of $187,182, taken in through ticket sales for 1955. That year tickets topped at $7.50 this time at $10. Total take, including $228,000 from television, radio and other rights, was more than $500,000.

There was one other individual mark equalled—by Howell of the Ticats, who caught two touchdown passes in a losing cause. This matched performances of Patterson and Ref O'Quinn of Montreal in 1955 and 1954, respectively.

The game statistics Saturday showed the clubs played a fairly even match, Bombers getting 26 first downs on 247 yards rushing and 227 yards passing, with Van Pelt, Leo Lewis and Ploen completing 11 of 20 forwards' attempts.

Ticats got 23 first downs on 151 yards rushing and 234 yards passing with quarterback Bernie Faloney completing 18 of 25 forwards attempted and have two intercepted, both in the last four minutes.

The blocked kick against Hamilton punter Sam Fraser left the Ticats with an average punt of 38 yards in eight kicks and the combined total of 13 punts set the second lowest number in a Grey Cup game. The record was 12 in the 1953 Edmonton-Montreal game here.

GRANDVIEW BURNED

CLEVELAND (AP) — A windstorm has destroyed the clubhouse and grandstand at Grandview Race Track Sunday, officials estimated at $500,000. The grandstand, which seated 3,600, collapsed. There were no injuries. The track is 15 miles southeast of Cleveland. More than 230,000 attended the 44-day meeting at the half-mile harness track this year.

HOW TO CHECK A CAR'S BRAKES

Equally important to a car's handling condition is the ability to stop . . . quickly, surely and smoothly . . . and you want to get out of the trunk of the car ahead of you.

It only takes a moment to check the hydraulic system without even moving the car. Press your foot on the brake pedal and hold it down under steady pressure. If the pedal feels spongy or sinks gradually to the floor, the hydraulic system needs attention — a relatively simple matter.

West Huntingdon
ENDEAVORS CLASS

WEST HUNTINGDON — Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCoy entertained the members of the Endeavors class on Thursday evening for the November meeting.

The program was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. John Lalonde. Mr. George Jervis brought the special message. Helpful readings were given by Mrs. Jervis, Mrs. Mae Sarles and Alex McCurdy. Mrs. Dan Cooke conducted the Scripture reading. It was decided to have the December meeting one week earlier on account of Christmas. At the close Mrs. McCurdy served a lunch.

W. M. S.

The United Church WMS held its November meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Hammond. Mr. and Mrs. George Dynan gave a duet and Mrs. Hammond took charge of the Scripture and Bible study. After Mrs. Dynan closed the meeting lunch was served.

FAREWELL PARTY

A farewell party was held for Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wannamaker who has sold his farm and contents and has accepted a call from the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church to the States of Calhercit and in a few days he and his wife will be taking up residence in the manse at Calhercit.

ENDEAVORS CLASS

WEST HUNTINGDON — Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCurdy entertained the members of the Endeavors class on Thursday evening for the November meeting.

The program was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. John Lalonde. Mr. and Mrs. George Jervis brought the special message. Helpful readings were given by Mrs. Arnold Mar-Sarles and Alex McCurdy. Mrs. Dan Cooke conducted the Scripture reading. It was de-cided to have the December meeting one week earlier on ac-count of Christmas. At the close Mrs. McCurdy served a lunch.

W. M. S.

The United Church WMS held its November meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Hammond. Mr. and Mrs. George Dymon gave a duet and Mrs. Hammond took charge of the Scripture and Bible study. After Mrs. Dymon closed the meeting lunch was served.

FAREWELL PARTY

A farewell party was held for Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wannamak-er who has sold his farm and contents and has accepted a call from the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church to the status of Calnecti and in a few days he and his wife will be taking up residence in the manse at Rollin.

Mr. Wannamaker has been serving as minister for the Fox boro circuit for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg Workman opened their home for a farew-well gathering to which friends and neighbors assembled to bid Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker God's best. Mr. Workman was chairman and Miss Christina Workman read an appropriate address, after which the honor-ed couple were presented with an automatic electric tea kettle for which Mr. and Mrs. Wan-namaker voiced their apprecia-tion.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner.

West Rejects Red Proposals At Geneva Talks

They spoke at the 17th formal session of a 10-power conference which has been deadlocked on fixing an agenda since it began Nov. 10. Today's session lasted only 35 minutes—the shortest so far.

Last Friday, the five Communist delegations, representing Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Rumania and Albania, introduced a proposal on "the establishment of ground control posts, on aerial inspection and on simultaneous implementation of certain measures in the field of disarmament in order to decrease danger of surprise attack."

Western delegates, speaking for the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy, said today the proposal is unacceptable on two counts:

1. It fell short of methods required in this intercontinental ballistic missile age to prevent surprise attack.

2. It linked specific disarmament issues and political questions with the purely technical problem of measures to reduce the danger of surprise attack.

PREDICTS OIL BOOM

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Economics Minister Ibrahim Kubba today predicted Iraq's oil production will be doubled within three years with the government taking over areas that are at present unexploited.

Harkness Says Argue Guilty of Cheap Politics

WHITEMOUTH, Man. (CP) — Agriculture Minister Harkness, accused CCF Leader Hazen Argue Saturday night of "the cheapest sort of politics" in challenging the minister to a debate on farm policies.

Mr. Harkness asked the audience at an election campaign meeting: "Who does Mr. Argue think he is? I know he things he's a very important man. Does he expect me to jump on an airplane to meet him?"

Mr. Harkness, speaking in support of Dr. Joseph Slogan, Conservative candidate in the federal Springfield riding in the Dec. 15 by-election, said it was all very well for Mr. Argue to make wild charges and suggestions because "he has no responsibility and he will never have any."

"These are the type of tactics I deplore and one of the reasons the CCF has only eight seats in the House of Commons," he said. "You can't keep fooling the people this way."

Girl Hangs Self

GRANBY, Que. (CP) — An eight-year-old girl accidentally hanged herself in the basement of her home Saturday.

Man and Wife Found Shot to Death in Home

MONTREAL (CP)—A man and his wife were found shot to death early today and a shotgun was found lying nearby in their north-east Montreal apartment.

Police said the couple's 17-year-old son, in a state of shock, was in hospital where he was taken by a radio-controlled police car he hailed in the street.

Paul Emile Lamoureux, 47, a Montreal Transportation Commission employee died from a shotgun blast to the head, and his 42-year-old wife died from shotgun wounds to the body. The weapon was found on the floor of the bedroom where the bodies lay.

It was about 2 a.m. when Serge Lamoureux hailed the radio patrol car near his home. He was wearing his pyjamas.

A police investigation is under way.

Madoc Junction

MADOC JCT. — Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ray, Joan and Rose of Hamilton, were recent visitors at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Ray.

A number from here attended the Orange rally held in the Stirling community hall last Wednesday night. Mr. T. A. Kidd, Imperial Grand Master of the Triennial Council of the World, and Mr. A. Miller, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario East, were guest speakers.

Grand Master Miller also showed colored slides of the 12th of July celebration in Belfast, Ireland, and many beautiful views taken during his tour of the continent. Members of Stirling LOBA, No.-615, assisted in serving refreshments.

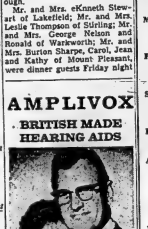
Mrs. William McMullen, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, Mrs. Bruce Stapley, Mrs. Warren Harlow, Mrs. Clarence Fitchett and Miss Joyce Stapley attended the tea and bazaar under the auspices of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.A. in Stirling on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Murney Kirkey called on Mrs. A. Andrews on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. William Petherick, Chris and Valerie of Petherick's, spent part of last week at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Petherick.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stewart of Lakefield, called at Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bridges, on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Murney Kirkey were supper guests on Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warkentin, Big Island.



Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith spent a couple of days last week visiting relatives in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. eKnneth Stewart of Lakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thompson of Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson and Mrs. Ed Warkentin; Mr. and Mrs. Burton Sharpe, Carol, Jean and Kathy of Mount Pleasant, were dinner guests Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow. A number of friends in the community here called during the evening to extend congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart who were recently married. It was also the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow's wedding anniversary, and friends here extend best wishes to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett are supper guests on Sunday at the home of Miss Ruby Eggleton and Mr. Morley Eggleton of Foxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. William McMullen, Wayne and Keith, Mr. Geo. McMullen spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson of Warkworth.

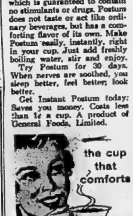
I was a bundle of nerves



My nerves were that bad the least little thing set me off. I was irritable, tense, easily depressed, and I slept badly. And as for that sweet enough, I'd get indigestion.

Many people experience unpleasant feelings because their systems are disturbed by ingredients present in everyday beverages. While some people can drink tea, coffee, cocoa and some soft drinks without harm, others cannot.

Postum contains no tannin to interfere with digestion; no caffein, theophylline and theobromine which can cause nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, palpitations, rapid pulse, followed by depression.

There is no need to endure any of these unpleasant feelings. Switch to Instant Postum which is guaranteed to contain no stimulants or drugs. Postum does not taste or act like ordinary beverages, but has a comforting flavor of its own. Make Postum easily, instantly, right in your cup. Just add freshly boiling water, stir and enjoy. Try Postum for 30 days. When nerves are soothed, you sleep better, feel better, look better.

Get Instant Postum today. Saves you money. Costs less than 1c a cup. A product of General Foods, Limited.

NINETY DIE IN CHICAGO SCHOOL FIRE

Newcomers Ellis, Elliott Top List

Wishart, McCabe, Graham, Collins, Grandame Win

Give All Over 21 Vote; Favor 15-Man Council

Five veteran aldermen and two newcomers to civic government won their seats in the municipal elections held here yesterday.

One public school trustee and one Separate school trustee won their electoral battles, while two questions, one in favor of giving 21-year-olds the franchise, and two, a 14-man council and mayor were endorsed by the electorate with substantial majorities.

Mayor Gerald B. Hyde was given an acclamation for a second term of office at the recent nominations as was Public Utilities Commissioner Harry Rollins.

The two aldermanic newcomers led the victory lists with Jack R. Ellis topping the polls with 2,449 and Walter T. Elliott next with 2,143. Elected in order were: George Wishart 1,893; Mrs. Effie McCabe, 1,684; Ralph L. Graham, 1,541; Frank V. Grandame, 1,535, and Robertson Collins, 1,464.

Geoffrey W. Paget won the public school trusteeship with 174 votes over Francis P. Clarke's 72, with Jack Barrett being returned as Separate school trustee with 95 votes over Joseph Elliard's 45.

The four candidates defeated in the 11-man aldermanic race were former aldermen Donald J. Whalen, 1,365, and Douglas Moxam, 1,323, and Ernest Gibbs, 1,279 and Joseph B. Roth 809.

Official count remained relatively unchanged as the overwhelming majority of voters in favor of the two questions submitted on the ballots.

The first, "Are you in favor of extending the right of vote at municipal elections to persons of the full age of 21 who are British subjects and who have resided in the municipality for at least one year," was endorsed by a 2,765 vote—No 1417" count, while the second, "Are you in favor of the council consisting of 14 aldermen and a mayor," received a Yes 2549, No 1392 endorsation.

While there was no definite method of checking, several election observers were of the opinion yesterday's vote was one of the lightest in years.

One noted there was a "lack of urge" because of the absence of a mayoralty fight, with this aided and abetted by the whims of the weathermen who say anything but a friend of the office-seeker yesterday.

One rash prognosticator voiced the opinion that some 4,000 voters would be the elements to go to the polls. This, he said, would constitute roughly about 25 per cent or better of the electorate, since there are now some 13,000 voters in the city.

QUIET AT CITY HALL

That it was one of the quietest civic elections in years was evidenced in the council chambers of the city hall where the returns were received and tabulated for public promulgation by a battery of city hall staffers.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A storm which developed in Alberta Monday, has moved rapidly southeastward across the Prairies. It is now centred in areas from Lake Huron late tonight and reach New England by Wednesday afternoon.

Winds from the south will bring warmer air into southwestern Ontario and temperatures will rise above the freezing mark. The precipitation will be in the form of rain and snow in the lower Great Lakes area. In central and northern regions the storm will add from two to five inches of snow to the present accumulation.

Elmer Diefenbaker, 60-year-old brother of Canada's prime minister, has ignored protocol to chalk hands enthusiastically with hotel porters, airport attendants and major domos at state banquets.

He has left in his wake scores of people flattered and sometimes puzzled by the casual informality of his approach and self-introduction: "I'm Elmer Diefenbaker, from Saskatoon, Canada."

SINGAPORE (CP) — A man named Diefenbaker from Saskatchewan, with a wide smile and every-ready handshake, has been spreading goodwill wherever Prime Minister Diefenbaker goes on his world trip.

VOTERS SETTLE MANY HOT ISSUES IN ELECTIONS

Favor Extending Vote to All Over 21

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Voters in eight Ontario centres gave solid approval Monday to the first major change in the province's municipal election franchise since women were granted the vote in 1917.

They cast ballots in favor of giving the vote for mayor and council members to all British subjects 21 and over who have a year's residence in the municipality.

The question was on the municipal election ballot in the cities of Toronto, Windsor, London, Brantford, Fort William, Belleville and Woodstock and in Leaside, a town of 16,400 in the Toronto suburbs.

It won overwhelming support in every case. Toronto voters backed it by a five to two margin.

"NO" TO AMALGAMATION

The Lakehead's hottest municipal topic, amalgamation of adjoining Port William and Port Arthur, failed its first test. Fort William rejected the suggestion with a resounding "no" vote. Port Arthur takes the question to the polls Dec. 8.

Fluoridation of municipal water supplies is a controversial question in the province for several years. It was soundly rejected at Kitchener and won a slim 4,895-to-4,633 margin at Kingston. Teck Township, which surrounds the Northern Ontario mining town of Kirkland Lake, votes on the subject Dec. 15. And Owen Sound Dec. 16.

Eight communities now fluoridate their water to combat dental decay — Brantford, Brockville, Deep River, Fort Erie, Oshawa, Sarnia, Sault Ste. Marie and Windsor.

De Gaulle Expects Assembly To Give Him Little Trouble

PARIS (AP) — Charles de Gaulle, certain to be France's next president, expects a prolonged honeymoon period during which he can run the new National Assembly without too much trouble from the rightist majority.

This point of view has been expressed repeatedly by his entourage before and since the election Sunday that swept into office a flock of individualists unused to parliamentary harness. Their reasons:

1. The heavy vote that threw out the old and brought in the new faces was a vote for de Gaulle and not for any party organization.

2. Nobody in the assembly is likely to risk his political future in a battle with de Gaulle at the peak of his popularity.

3. De Gaulle and his advisers planned the new constitution to give the president just the power he wants over the assembly.

4. The mood of the country, as indicated by three successive national votes, is against any stubborn or obstructionist parliamentary hanky-panky.

Yet the election pushed Jacques Soustelle, leader of the overthrow of the Fourth Republic, into the front political rank. Around him will be grouped, at least nominally, nearly 250 of the 546 assembly members.

Many liberals fear Soustelle is not a quick rise to dominance in France and will do whatever it takes to get there. Soustelle himself scoffs at the idea, and so do the people around de Gaulle.

Many of Soustelle's followers in North Africa don't see eye to eye with de Gaulle. But Soustelle himself comes nearer to agreeing with de Gaulle than with diehard rightists in the new assembly about reforms and help for Algeria.

Soustelle's rise to power may come later, when de Gaulle—now 68—leaves the field. But for the time being no head-on collision seems likely.

De Gaulle is expected to appoint a premier soon who will work with him as a chief of staff works with his generals.

De Gaulle as president will have one chief weapon against any assembly which tries to block his policies. He can dissolve it and force it to face a new election. The only limitation is that once the assembly is replaced, the new group cannot be thrown out for a year.

CPA Feels TCA Can Make Money In Competition

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines could cushion the first shock of competition for transcontinental passengers, Canadian Pacific Airlines has argued before the air transport board.

In support of its application for Vancouver - Montreal passenger routes, CPA said Monday that traffic potential is about 300,000—roughly four per cent of all passenger revenues — TCA would resume normal rate of growth of about 15 per cent a year.

Even in the first year, said CPA counsel Hugh Sinclair, it would substantial injury by tailoring its 1959 schedules in relation to volume of service otherwise planned.

Mr. Sinclair and Jay Gould summed up CPA's final argument before hearings on the application neared an end. TCA and Maritime Central Airways are expected to conclude their cases before Thursday.

CPA said TCA's failure to justify high operating costs as compared with United States air carriers, TCA's staff productivity and efficiency were poor and unrealistic depreciation figures were used by the government-owned airline in stating its financial position.

Given the desire, given the incentive, and faced with the necessity, TCA can adjust its competitive costs as has been done elsewhere in the airline industry," Mr. Sinclair said.

Rough Concrete Sections Will Be Smoothed Out

TORONTO (CP) — Rough concrete sections on two of Canada's most-travelled highways will be smoothed out with asphalt next year.

The highways department Monday announced tenders for paving 4.3-mile stretch of the southern end of Highway 400 north from Toronto to Barrie.

Also in for treatment is Highway 401 from Toronto east to Whitby. Both are four-lane, divided highways.

Highways Minister Cass, meanwhile, asked for a report from chief departmental engineers on No. 400. The section has been in use for about five years and is showing severe bumps.

Both Mr. Cass and deputy minister W. J. Fulton described it as "a bad job."

Mr. Cass said he will issue a statement after receiving the report.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The shah's daughter, 18-year - old Princess Shahnaz, gave birth to a girl today. The princess is the wife of an engineer, Ardeshir Zahedi, 28. Princess Shahnaz is the shah's only child.

Pupils, Teachers Trapped With Terrifying Swiftness Minutes Before Dismissal

85 Youngsters Still in Hospital With Burns and Broken Bones

CHICAGO (AP) — Fire struck a parochial grade school with terrifying swiftness Monday, trapping pupils and teachers at their desks a few minutes before dismissal time. Ninety died.

The final toll included 87 children and three Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The fire was Chicago's worst since the 602-death Iroquois Theatre fire of 1903. It was the third worst school fire in the U.S. in the last 100 years.

More than 85 youngsters remained in hospital, suffering from burns, broken bones received in frantic leaps and from the shock of seeing playmates die.

In the Cook County morgue, sheet-covered little corpses, a few charred remains beyond recognition, still awaited identification by tearful parents.

A detective task force joined firemen in seeking the cause of the blaze. As the ashes cooled, investigators sifted the ruins for clues.

The speed with which the blaze devoured the Our Lady of the Angels Roman Catholic school led fire commissioner Robert J. Quinn to consider arson. Blowing black smoke indicated an oil-type fire, he said.

Quinn called the blaze "the worst thing I have ever seen or ever will see."

Drew Brown, head of the police arson squad, said a rubbish blaze could have started it.

Brown said he learned a student was instructed to put some rubbish in a concrete pit near the two-story brick building's northeast stairway about 2:30 p.m., some 20 minutes before the fire broke out. The vicinity of the northeast stairway was where the fire apparently started, Brown said.

Just 18 minutes was the difference between life and death for the 1,300 students. The first box alarm was sounded at 2:48 p.m. The school let out at 3 p.m.

EXITS IMPASSABLE

Within minutes, smoke and heat filled staircases and second-floor corridors so fast that normal exits were impassable.

"We are trapped. We are trapped," nuns screamed from the windows as they huddled with groups of children.

"Nothing killed those kids but heat and smoke," Quinn said. "They just couldn't get out into the corridor to go downstairs."

Nearly all of the eighth-grade class in two upper-floor classrooms died.

DOZENS RESCUED

Firemen raised ladders and brought dozens of children and adult pupils. Priests, on the scene even before the firefighters, led out others.

Nuns, with disregard for their

Western Allies May Urge Vote In West Berlin

LONDON (AP) — Some Allied diplomats today were reported in favor of challenging Nikolai Khrushchev to a plebiscite in which West Berliners could accept or reject his proposal to make their city a demilitarized free city.

Informants said that under the proposal being suggested if the 2,200,000 West Berliners rejected the free city status, Khrushchev would be obliged to dump his plan and continue to abide by the existing four-power occupation agreements.

If the West Berliners accepted the Soviet premier's proposals, then the Americans, British and French would be bound to withdraw their 10,000 troops from the non-Communist sectors of the city.

The informants stressed that this was only one of several ideas being studied. The Allied diplomats who favor some such proposals to Moscow said they are convinced:

1. That the Russians would not risk putting their proposal to the test of public opinion.

2. That in any vote the West Berliners would reject the Russian proposal.

There was no indication whether the idea has yet been considered by Allied governments at top level.

It is known, however, that Russia's move has started some fundamental study among the Western allies regarding their position not only in Berlin but in all Germany.

There is a recognition in several Allied capitals that, by next year, the war, the time has come to examine new approaches and to take risks for the sake of another high-level East-West attempt at a German peace settlement.

Officials here believe that Khrushchev may, so far as he has dramatized the need for a German settlement, have served a useful purpose.

Chicago Mothers Hunt, Wait, Hope But Many Balk at Trip to Morgue

CHICAGO (AP)—To wait, to hope, to fear.

For some frantic parents that was all there was to do.

Their children were "the unaccounted for" in the aftermath of the fiery grade school that swept through the Roman Catholic Our Lady of the Angels parochial elementary school Monday, taking 85 lives.

Others hurried to the hospitals on the northwest side where the dying and the injured were taken.

Still others made the dread trip to the morgue.

At one hospital Mrs. Howard English tried to question little Frances Panno, 10 a classmate of her son, Bobby, 10.

"Where was Bobby? Did he get out?"

"I don't know," she said, and sobbed Mrs. Anglim, "I don't want to go to the morgue. I'm so afraid."

At the police station, relatives crowded around Sgt. Mike Phelan, who held a list of some 90 names showing what children were treated for injuries.

When a name wasn't there, Phelan asked:

"Have you checked the morgue?"

Some women burst into tears.

CHICAGO (CP)—The sobbing of relatives sounded today through the morgue at the Cook County Hospital where bodies were taken of school-children who died in the Lady of the Angels school fire.

Sisters of Roman Catholic priests and hospital attendants tried to comfort the living as they moved among the dead.

Ninety sheet-covered bodies lay on stretchers in three rooms of the morgue basement. Some had been identified within hours after the fire struck shortly before 3 p.m.

Some fire - blackened bodies, contorted in agony, may never be identified.

CONSOLES WOMAN

Among white-clad nurses and morgue attendants could be seen the frocked figures of priests. Here and there, his arm around the shoulder of a weeping woman, trying to console her.

"It was the will of God," was heard in a low whisper from the priest. "Your daughter is an angel in heaven."

From the other side of the room came a shriek. A woman crouched and writhing while attendants surrounded her, eased her into a chair and administered smelling salts.

The man had said earlier his daughter was not reported in any of the half-dozen hospitals to which many of the children had been taken. The couple came to the morgue, but had not looked at any of the unidentified children. They were praying she still might have only been injured, perhaps still in a hospital through some mixup in names.

FIRST PARISH

Comforting the parishioners was Rev. Joseph Quillenec. This 32-year-old priest came to Our Lady, as the parish was known, in 1954. It was his first assignment after ordination.

He was Father Joe to everyone.

It was his daily routine to walk about the schoolyard and near the entrance during recess, his noon lunch period and as the children left the building at 3 p.m.

Monday, Father Quinlenec met an old friend for lunch. Then he noticed it would soon be time for his daily chores to keep the school for home.

"I was hurrying to the school in my car. I saw smoke coming from the upper windows and thought it was the wrong way up a one-way street. I parked the car and ran into the building.

WERE LEAVING

"Some children were leaving the building in an orderly fire-drill manner, others were running about, screaming. Then everything was ablaze."

Father Joe's bodies began arriving at the morgue, Father Joe's task was to help with their identification. He knew the greatest force of the fire was concentrated in the section housing rooms 207, 208, 209, 211 and 212. Secrets of these children he knew by name. All were his friends.

Yet, when he had to identify them by name, or grade he could only whisper:

"I'm not sure of this little one. . . . I think this one was in 208. . . . this boy was . . . I'm not sure."

He pressed a thin, shaking hand to his eyes. Then he summoned it appeared that he might collapse. An attendant slipped a bottle of salts to the priest's nostrils and he straightened up.

Then he walked among the

BRIGHTON REEVE IS RETURNED

Frank Goderich was returned as reeve for Brighton at Monday's election, polling 423 votes to 281 for William H. Cook. For deputy reeve Fred Delong was put over Kenneth McCann by a slim margin of only five ballots the result was 338 to 333.

Councillors elected were James Simpson 469; Albert Wright 457 and Albert Jackson 341. Defeated was George Colling 303.

Dr. Stanley Hagerman Passes FRCP Exams

Member of a well-known Belleville family, Dr. Stanley Hagerman has been successful in passing his exams for F.R.C.P. (Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians). He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Hagerman of London, England, and formerly of Belleville. Mr. Hagerman is general manager of a branch factory of the Sleeman-Warner Corp. of the United States and Canada. Another happy member Dr. Hagerman was the arrival of a baby daughter on Monday night, 25th inst. Mother and baby are reported well. He is a graduate of Queen's Medical School and he and Mrs. Hagerman are residing in Toronto.

Small Percentage Of Voters Make Way to Polls

Some 4,191 voters out of an electorate of 15,852 went to the city polls in the municipal elections yesterday, city clerk Miss Anne Haggerty said this morning.

These voters, Mrs. Haggerty said, came from seven different wards of the city. The polls have been divided into thirty-seven subdivisions.

These sub-divisions have in turn been broken down into A and B sections, where the poll rate is heavy, which added to the advance poll makes a total of 52 sub-divisions for the city.

This will explain the situation at the elections returns office in city council chambers last night when some citizens appeared confused over the new number of polling sub-divisions.

Major Issues For Next Year Says Mayor Hyde

The forthcoming year will be a busy year for Belleville's city council. Last night Mayor Hyde said in his reading of the problems which will be placed before council in the next twelve months. The widening of Coleman Street, the former boundary line between the city and Thurlow township; the construction of the new overhead bridge crossing the C.N.R. tracks at the Front Street and the erection of a two-and-one-quarter million dollar sewage disposal plant, will be the major issues facing the city council members in 1959.

Mayor Hyde expressed his regret that Don Whalen and Doug Moxam had met with defeat at the polls and expressed thanks for their contribution to city council in the past. He also welcomed the newcomers to council, Messrs. Ellis and Elliott, and congratulated Ralph Deneroff upon his service with interment in Christ Anglican Cemetery.

The bearers were Reginald Seero, George Smart, Stan Pfeiffer, Joseph Dolcetti, Fred Zacharlah, and Jamer Secco.

Mr. Brunt was born 81 years ago on the Tyendinaga reserve and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brunt. He was educated at Reserve schools, at Belleville and Toronto, and for a number of years had taught school on the Tyendinaga Reserve. He long resided in this district, he was a member of Christ Church Anglican.

He is survived by three sons, Burton and Arthur of Belleville, Joseph Hastings of Toronto, two daughters, Mrs. Aldina Bansley of Belleville and Isabel Banister, at home.

There are 11 grandchildren, (and one great-grandchild, Beg) Brant and Hugh Brant, both of Shannonville.

MRS. MELVILLE McKENNA Deseronto

Fatally injured in an auto accident near Picton last Friday, Mrs. Christena McKenna, Green Street, Deseronto, was laid to rest in Deseronto Cemetery on Monday following services at the White Funeral Home. Rev. C. W. Neelands, Deseronto United Church, and Rev. D. Gaetz of the Napanee Baptist Church, conducted the rites.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Almas, Mrs. McKenna was born at Brantford and had lived at Deseronto and Toronto before coming to Deseronto 10 years ago. Her husband, Melville McKenna, predeceased her 11 years ago.

She was a member of the Women's Association of the United Church at Deseronto.

She is survived by one son, Cecil M. Woodley of Toronto.

THOMAS DORLAND RUSHLOW

The funeral of Thomas Dorland Rushlow was held from the John B. Bush Funeral Home on Monday afternoon. Canon A. S. McConnell conducted the service in the chapel and the committal rites at Belleville cemetery.

Pallbearers were Clayton Sheridan, Allan Robinco, Harold Thompson, Donald Horne, Basil Allan and Charles Rushlow.

ARTHUR ERNEST LATTA

The funeral of Arthur Ernest Latta was held from the John R. Bush Funeral Home on Tuesday afternoon. The service in the chapel and the committal rites at Belleville cemetery were conducted by Rev. H. J. McCrea.

The bearers were Clayton and Russell Ritz, Gerald and Willis Brenton, Borden Forsythe and Louis Ruckatuhl.

Pre-Fab Imports Reduce Jobs

TORONTO (CP) — Top Canadian officers of 20 building trades unions complained Monday that many construction workers are losing jobs because imported prefabricated building sections from low wage areas in Europe are being used increasingly on Canadian projects.

The union leaders listed power station, oil refineries and other major projects as being built by prefabricated metals, which they said reduce Canadian labor content to 10 per cent.

The top policy meeting was attended by Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress. Representatives discussed possibilities of a building trades department of the congress.

Joseph Connelly, general organizer of the plumbers union, was chairman. Jack Woolsey, committee secretary, said the unions would propose to the government that all public projects be required to use Canadian fabricated materials.

Russia Starts Selling Tanks, Jets to Iraq

LONDON (AP) — Russia has started supplying jet fighters, tanks and other arms to Iraq, informed diplomats said today.

A foreign office spokesman indicated Britain has information to confirm the report that a Soviet merchant ship had been unloading military equipment on Iraq's Shatt al Arab River in the last few days.

"I would not think that this report is unlikely," he said.

The government of Premier Abdul Karim Kassem, which came to power in Iraq July 14, followed a neutralist policy in foreign affairs and has indicated it is ready to accept arms from anybody who proffers.

FIRST RED ARMS

Iraqi armed forces in the past have been equipped mainly by Britain and the U.S. The Iraqi air force has a squadron of British Hawker-Hunter jet fighters and as a loan by president Nasser's United Arab Republic, about a dozen Russian-built MIG jet fighters.

Neither the Russians nor the Iraqis have yet announced an arms agreement. However, if the arrival of Soviet arms is confirmed it would mean that the Russians have gained yet another military foothold among the nations of the Middle East.

Iraq's political and military policy trends will be one of the subjects examined this winter by foreign ministers of her old partners in the Baghdad Pact. The ministers are expected to meet in Tehran in January or February.

Active members are Britain, Turkey, Pakistan and Iran. The United States is virtually committed to all the obligations of full membership without actually having joined he alliance.

RABID CAT ATTACKS

THORNTON, Ont. (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnston have received a rabies treatment after a veterinarian reported a stray cat was found when it attacked and scratched them Saturday on their farm near this village about eight miles southwest of Barrie.

CAT ON A COLD TIN ROOF

With southern Ontario deluged with as much as a foot of snow, the first major fall of the season, galoshes are being taken out of attics, snowshovels are clattering and, of course and as usual, motorists are being stranded all over the place. Forgotten by everyone but a photographer was this stray cat, who, chased by a dog, found cold refuge on top of a car.

New Desks Greet Members At County Council Opening

The final session of the 1958 Hastings County Council got under way today with Warden Lloyd Price welcoming members to the last regular meeting of the year.

The session was marked by the appearance of members' new desks, replacing old ones which had been in use since the council chambers were constructed many years ago.

Warden Price complimented the finance committee on its choice of desks, noting that they added much to the appearance of the chambers. Cost of the desks for the 24 council members was $2,954.

Correspondence read included a request for adjustment of jail guards' salaries. The letter was ordered filed after brief discussion, it being pointed out that jail employees have been given a raise during the year.

A committee from the county council will be appointed to meet with city of Belleville officials to discuss agreements with respect to Children's Aid Society, Home for the Aged and indigent hospital payments as they affect the newly-annexed areas in Sidney and Thurlow townships.

There was also a discussion on the advisability of the various municipalities taking out hospital insurance coverage for indigents. No definite decision was reached. Although it was agreed the matter was deserving of very careful consideration.

County Treasurer Earle S. Dennys noted that all municipalities had forwarded their county rates for this year. This was the third year in which the county had received 100 per cent payment of county rates, he stated.

He noted that 100 per cent payment of county rates meant a great deal to the county in securing a good rate when debentures were sold.

Two Soccer Fans in British Split Record Jackpot in Winning Pool

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters)—Two soccer fans today won a record jackpot on Britain's soccer pool — a tax-free £300,206 which they will share between them.

The pool is based on forecasting the outcome of a series of 12 selected games each week. Under British tax law such winnings are classed as capital gains and are not taxable.

They were the only two persons of the thousands entered who scored top points for forecasting eight games in the card of more than 50 which would result in dividends.

Richards, who made a lengthy series of bets, also won three second prizes, five third prizes and 25 fourths.

The pools company, Littlewoods, said today's win was a world record. The previous highest win was £212,288 last September but the sum had to be divided among four winners. Last March northern England miner Thomas Riley gained the individual world record pool win of £200,073.

World Boycott Of Four Fleets In Second Day

Overseas, reports of success were scattered. In the United States, however, possibly 70 ships were tied up.

The demonstration, which entered its second day today, is aimed at ship owners operating under the flags of Panama, Honduras, Costa Rica and Liberia. By registering under these flags owners benefit from tax benefits and lower labor costs, transport workers contend.

Leading the worldwide action is the International Transport Workers Federation which claims a membership of 7,000,000. In the United States, 18 unions, led by the National Maritime Union and the Seafarers International Union have formed a united front.

Harbor police in Montreal prevented picketing by the SIU. Canadian law forbids picketing inside harbor property and no work stoppage was ordered by stevedores.

JOHN BOYCOTT

Port unions in Vancouver joined the boycott and five ships flying the Liberian flag will have to wait until Dec. 5 for a start on unloading.

After incomplete support for the boycott in Dutch ports Monday, workers in Rotterdam decided today to withdraw also. Leather and "black" gangs were worked normally.

In Britain, dockworkers continued to support the ban in many instances. Two grain ships flying flags of convenience were idle in the Port of London. Six others were idle in Britain and two more in Dublin.

Peterborough Will Get New 6-Storey Hotel

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) Plans were unveiled before city council Monday night for a $1,000,000 six-storey hotel on the site of the Empress Hotel, destroyed by fire last summer. The hotel will include 100 rooms, a banquet hall with 300 seating capacity, a ballroom and restaurant. Construction is expected to begin this month.

LONG SETTLED

Cookshire in Compton County, Quebec, was founded in 1799 by settlers from the New England states.

VOTERS SETTLE

Sudbury, Thorold and Tisdale Township near Timmins.

CHIEF ISSUE

The franchise issue was the chief interest, however, in a long list of topics which came up for decision.

Two years ago Toronto and London voted heavily in favor of extending the franchise regulations. As a result the Ontario legislature this year enacted a new law allowing municipalities to make the extension.

Ontario voter qualifications were established in 1849 giving the vote to property owners and tenants whose assessed value for taxation purposes met a fixed minimum. This minimum changed over the years, now stands at $100 in villages and townships, $200 in towns under 2,000 population, $300 in towns of 2,000 and more and $400 in cities.

The regulations have been revised several times on a province-wide basis. In 1877 the vote was given to farmers' sons, later to spinsters and widows with property, in 1917 to wives, in 1931 to farmers' daughters and in 1933 to farmers' sisters and wives of farmers' sons.

FURTHER EXTENSION

Under this year's change, cities which approve of it by vote may give the franchise to sons and daughters of present voters, to roomers and boarders and to owners and tenants of properties which do not meet the minimum standards.

The extension, which does not include voting on Catholic trustees or money bylaws, will require a new basis of preparing voter lists, now taken from assessment rolls which list owners and tenants.

In other questions and bylaws voted on Monday, the towns of Preston, Forest, Aylmer and Trenton approved two-year terms for municipal office-holders and the city of Stratford gave a decisive "yes" vote.

Chatham solidly endorsed a bylaw authorizing a $200,000 grant to St. Joseph's Hospital now under construction, but Guelph ratepayers rejected a similar bylaw to grant the Sisters of St. Joseph $540,000 towards construction of a home for the aged.

A bylaw to sell the town-owned Regent Theatre to a new supermarket chain was turned down at Brockville. Ratepayers preferred to have the building used as a town auditorium.

TURN DOWN HALL PROJECT

Ratepayers at Galt said "no" to a $473,000 city hall project but said Woodstock at a $260,000 arena and community centre won an emphatic "yes". A move to remove Woodstock's council to eight from 10 members passed by a narrower margin.

Kingston approved reduction of aldermen to 8 from 12 and reported a vote of confidence by the public utilities commission.

Welland approved $400,000 for a nine-floor addition to St. Mary's General Hospital and endorsed retirement from Kitchener ratepayers.

Guelph rejected a home for the aged but Belleville voters agreed to retain a 14-member council.

Wallaceburg in Kent County, ended a long period of indecision by voting to build a new summer hotel to head the polls. Mrs. Elizabeth Bedford, the first woman to sit on the Board of Education, polled a total of 924 votes to gather in the second and third member to be elected to the Board of Education was Robert Barker with a total of 646 votes.

RETURNED TO PUC

In seeking re-election to the seat on Public Utilities Bert Atkinson was returned by a wide margin, capturing 1,938 votes against his opponent, Douglas Whitley, who received 1,423 votes.

In the cases of the Board of Education and the Public Utilities those elected will hold their seats for a two-year term with the councillors and the mayor will run again in December, 1961, with a one-year-terms to serve on the Board of Education are Pete Aylsa, Stan Ketcheson and Colin Crewes.

On the Public Utilities, Cliff Baker will serve 1959 as chairman of the board and members will be Bert Atkinson and Mayor Ross Burtt.

FAVOR TWO-YEAR TERM

Trenton voters also expressed their opinion by a by-law which will give the future councillors a two-year stretch on the town council. The ballots asked the voters if they favored a staggered system of election and the answer came back with 1,474 voting yes and 801 voting no.

The by-law will be brought up in front of the council again in the coming year and if the councillors so approve it will become effective for the 1960 council. This means all council will be up for re-election in December 1959 and from that election the top three councillors will hold office for two years and the lowest three elected will sit only one year and will be required to contest their seats again in 1961.

Only 2,295 votes turnout yesterday was an increase of 1,000 percent over the figures last year.

TRENTON — "I must say I was certainly tried a couple of times when the votes were coming in," Mayor Ross Burtt said last night in his election speech at the town hall. Mayor Burtt was re-elected to the post for another year by a majority of 52 votes over his opponent, James MacDonald, councillor. Thirty-three per cent of Trenton's voters turned out.

Mayor Burtt polled a total of 1,253 votes against Councillor MacDonald's 1,201 in one of the closest elections for mayor in recent years. Several times Councillor MacDonald and the Mayor traded places for the lead, and were tied on two different occasions.

It wasn't until the "A-F" section of Poll Two returns came in that Mayor Burtt took a decisive lead of 51 votes, with only section "G-N" of the same poll to be heard from. The mayor gained another vote there to give him the 52 vote lead.

PRAISE EACH OTHER

The Mayor said he feels next year will be the best council ever and that there are several projects to be finished during that time. He thanked all the people porters and workers during the campaign and the opposition, his opponent, Councillor James MacDonald, he complimented when the former mayor of the town and said the council will certainly retain him during the coming year.

Called to the floor to speak the defeated candidate for mayor was met with a thunderous applause from the crowd of supporters who jammed the room. After thanking the many who had supported him in the election he congratulated the new council and the new mayor and said fighting against Mayor Burtt was difficult. His honesty and integrity made it almost impossible to find any flaws in his past record and he will have to "find another thing," he said, "I was running just as hard as I have served you well for the past 37 years."

WINNING COUNCILLORS

The winning councillors were also called on to address the ratepayers and thank their vote. All thanked their supporters and workers and pledged to do their best in the coming year. They were C. V. Graham, William Bradshaw, Vagn Lange, Ismet Aziz, Lloyd Weese and Lloyd Worrall.

Town clerk O. W. Larry acted as chairman and introduced the candidates and called out the number of votes each had obtained.

In the Board of Education vote Paul Tripp led in nearly all the polls and was in Polls No. 1 and 5 by small margins over Mayor Burtt. In 1,123 ballots to head the polls. Mrs. Elizabeth Bedford, the first woman to sit on the Board of Education, polled a total of 924 votes to gather in the second and third member to be elected to the Board of Education was Robert Barker with a total of 646 votes.

Coffin's Brother Says 'Thompson' Name Familiar

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec authorities give no credence to a Mohawk Indian's statement that he and a companion killed two of three Americans for whose murder Wilbert Coffin was executed but Coffin's brother says a name given by the Indian has come up before in the case.

Francis Gilbert Thompson, 25-year-old native of Caughnawaga S.R. Regis reservation, told police who questioned him Monday that last week on a robbery charge, that he and Joe Delisle killed the three hunters in the Gaspe Peninsula in 1953.

Police regarding Thompson's description of the crime for which Wilbert Coffin, 44-year-old prospector was executed, Charles-Edouard Cantin, Quebec's deputy attorney-general, said Thompson's confession as "a pure invention" and described him as a liar, a mental case, or an imposter."

THOMPSON NAME

But Miami detective James Minix, who, with Det. Milton Ash, investigated Coffin's case on three times, was quoted by the Montreal Gazette as saying Thompson told the story the same way each time that if the Indian had learned of the killing he would say, "then he rehearsed it well."

Thompson, 5 feet 11 inches tall, Que., said Monday night the name "Thompson" was on a list of names which Frank Desmarais of Quebec City, his brother's defence counsel, showed him before the trial.

"Thompson had told Miami police he had accomplice in the brutal slaying was "Johnny Greene," whom he met in Montreal before the crime. Donald Coffin thought the name Greene may have been on the list as well.

He said Mr. Gravel showed him the list and "asked me if I knew any of the people on it."

Questioned about the list, Mr. Gravel said the name Fiberi Thompson was on a list he received on a charge of gross indecency but the name Greene was not on it. He did not elaborate.

He said he has two investigators working on the case in Miami.

Minix, who arrested Thompson on a charge of breaking and entering breaking into a paintial yacht moored in Miami, told reporters the Montreal Gazette in a telephone interview:

"We have no way of determining whether or not Thompson is telling the truth until we receive some pertinent information from Quebec . . . until we get some facts there's little use in giving Thompson a lie detector test."

And Deputy Attorney-General Cantin said here his department asked Miami police three days ago for a picture of Thompson and his fingerprints but has not received them yet.

Miami detectives said Thompson still is in jail and that breaking and entering charges have been filed against him.

They said they still have not approached Greene, who died at the time the Mohawk Indian was picked up Wednesday night.

He said he has two investigators working on the case in Miami.

Minix, who arrested Thompson on a charge of breaking and entering breaking into a paintial yacht moored in Miami, told reporters the Montreal Gazette in a telephone interview:

"We have no way of determining whether or not Thompson is telling the truth until we receive some pertinent information from Quebec . . . until we get some facts there's little use in giving Thompson a lie detector test."

And Deputy Attorney-General Cantin said here his department asked Miami police three days ago for a picture of Thompson and his fingerprints but has not received them yet.

Miami detectives said Thompson still is in jail and that breaking and entering charges have been filed against him.

They said they still have not approached Greene, who died at the time the Mohawk Indian was picked up Wednesday night.

Revised Federal Fiscal Policies Called for by Bank

TORONTO (CP)—The time has come for Canadians to face squarely the fact that their country is not they want a stable dollar, A. C. Ashforth, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, said today at the bank's annual meeting.

It is a matter, Mr. Ashforth said, that is not the concern of only by the government, but also by Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen, and in the final analysis it will be the average citizen who would suffer from any revaluation.

"If he decides to vote in favor of a stable dollar he must also recognize that there may be times when he will have to forgo large increases in wage rates for the long-term benefits of a currency which retains its purchasing power."

A solution to the inflation threat would require the co-operation of all segments of the community.

CALLS FOR ACTION

"The first and foremost requirement," Mr. Ashforth stated, "is decisive action by the government to put a stop to the inflationary process and this entails drastic revision of present fiscal policies."

"These policies in Canada in the last year have had a strong inflationary bent. The huge expansion in the money supply has sown the seeds for more inflation in the future.

"Not only have we had a large expansion in the money supply but also increased government spending and deficit financing. Many of these are inflationary elements. The kindling for the inflationary fire has been laid and I do not think that much of a breeze to make it burst into flame.

"Statesmanship in current political action is needed. Given leadership I am sure most people and public will choose the right road."

Mr. Ashforth's comments were contained in a text made available to the press prior to delivery.

WIDE POWERS UNDER FIRE

Commenting on the recent Borden commission report, Mr. Ashforth said few would disagree with the recommendation for a national energy board but there would be wide disagreement on the powers suggested for such a board. He added:

"The report, if adopted, would subject the oil and gas industry to bureaucratic control to a greater regulation than exists for any other major industry."

Mr. Ashforth told Canadians might look forward to the coming year with "cautious optimism."

During the last eight months economic activity had been following a gentle upward grade and a continuance of this trend could be expected. However, a resumption of the 1955-1956 rates of growth was not a near-term prospect.

Ernie Ward Wins Post of Reeve By Eleven Votes

PICTON (Special) — In one of the closest election fights ever in Picton in many years, Ernest Ward defeated Woodrow Blakely to become reeve of Hallowell by a scant eleven votes. Mr. Ward polled 646 votes against Mr. Blakely's 635. In the election for council, James Bird headed the polls with 704 and was closely followed by George Morden 864, Randolph Clapp 693, Andrew Jarvis 1073, Andrew Jarvis 1073, and Howard Gordon 644. Jack Hollingsworth failed to make the council chambers, only polling 518 votes.

A by-law to extend the franchise to women in local and rural council in the municipality for a two-year vote not to elect a council for the township and Hall. Staff included Bird with 201 with Don Heffernan having 270 votes and John J. May 245 votes. Reeve Ward, now with 646, and Allan MacDonald with 177 were defeated.

FEET OF CLAY

"Time out of mind, the older generation has said of the younger generation that they simply don't know what the young people are coming to nowadays. - All the same, successive generations in this country have not done so badly when their turn came. In the meantime, let us do all we can to widen the horizons of the young and open up opportunities for them." (The Right Honourable Harold Macmillan, the British Prime Minister.)

Mr. Macmillan, we feel, has stated a basic principle as to man's purpose on this earth - - to create a better environment and facilities for his offspring. Man can take nothing with him when he leaves this life, hence his success in this life may be adequately measured by how much, or how little, he has left behind him for the benefit and use of those who shall follow. Maintaining and improving the breed is the main purpose of any society. The perpetuation and enhancement of one's community, one's society, one's civilization is the greatest thing to which any person can aspire. That succeeding generations should be more intelligent, better provided for, more complex than preceding generations is a mark of that inevitable progress which is to be expected of a healthy society.

That we, the members of this current generation, should plan either as individuals or as groups to effect the inauguration and conclusion of projects designed to provide better for our children is a direct responsibility of each member of our society or community. The creation of the proper environment and facilities for the mental, physical and spiritual development of our wealth is a prime responsibility of any society, and if found lacking should be remedied immediately.

Sound minds in healthy bodies operating in a society with decent rules of conduct should always be our final goal as free human beings.

There are many examples of societies within which there have existed the finest in education facilities and physical training, but societies that did not last any longer, because they did not have a proper code of conduct, because their purposes were distorted by irresponsible leadership, in short, their society was out of balance and harmony. Just as Hitler's Reich, Mussolini's Italy, and other very active but unbalanced societies have fallen because their set of values and morals were deficient, so, too, can a democratic society fall because it is off balance: not for want of education of its people or a proper code of conduct, but because of physical weakness. The Athenian society failed when its citizens became too lax to encourage themselves and their youth in physical development; the Roman society likewise failed when physical recreation and fitness became too tedious for an opulent society which had been built on the fitness of its early citizenry.

In short; it is an established fact that the greater portion of our society of the western democracies is faced with the problem of physical unfitness on a large scale. Our sidewalks has weakened and it must be stopped up before it becomes dangerous to our continued existence as a democratic civilization. An adequate athletic program is an essential part of this, the physical side of a healthy society. In light of the importance of keeping our citizens healthy and well balanced, we feel that the community should take action in providing adequate athletic accommodation for its members. Provincial and federal aid should be solicited and gained in the provision of said accommodations.

The strength of our society is in our youth. Let us not defer action on the problem of their physical unfitness - - the Russians certainly haven't this problem in their society, and we should not allow this situation to exist in ours.

RESCUE RATES

Paris police have announced in the municipal bulletin the rewards to be paid the rescuers of people who fall into the Seine river.

If you save them merely by offering your hand, a rope or the end of a stick, you will get $5.25.

If you have to swim, the reward rises to $20, and to $25 if you have to use special heroism. (L'Aurora, Paris.)

A WINTER GOLFER'S WAIL

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

"Well, when the spring returned this year I put the books away
And joined the golfers on the tee, my better game to play.
But something curious occurred when the final game;
Regardless of the books I'd read, my scores remained the same.

I'm sure like handsome Horton Smith not once I ever looked.
Although my golfing pro's advice at home I would recall,
Upon the course I couldn't keep my eye upon the ball.

Beside the fire all winter long I learned what I should do.
Before the mirror I could show a perfect follow through,
But couldn't sink a two-foot putt when I was on the green.

And here we are with winter near; the northern season done.
I've played a round whenever I could, but not a cup I've won.
And I shall wait beside the fire for spring to reappear

Iron for Rome's Legions

From the Magazine "Poland"

In the centre of present-day Poland stretches the old, rain-washed range of Swietokrzyska (Holy Cross) Mountains. At the foot of the mountains, in the town of Ostrowiec, there is an iron foundry that has been in operation for a thousand years.

Before the war, about 20 years ago, peasant carts from the entire surrounding area used to come to the foundry and bring some iron-containing stones which contained approximately 50 per cent iron. They had the shape of cylindrical blocks, at times somewhat concave and were covered with parallel ridges.

Each of these blocks weighed over 200 pounds. The peasants found them on their fields, not much below the surface; they interfered with their work. The foundry paid for them; so it was worth taking the trouble of digging them.

The "ore" brought by the peasants aroused the interest of Cracow archaeologist. Like other experts, he came to the conclusion that it was a by-product of some ancient iron industry, and that it had existed a very long time compared with our times of smelting technique.

Another interesting detail was noted before the war: the peasants found, sometimes, right beneath the surface of the ground; they often struck them while ploughing just at this spot.

But it was actually three years ago, when the Cracow Archeological Museum embarked on systematic excavations, that the whole thing was followed one another.

During the first season three foundry furnaces were discovered in the small village of Kun near Checiny, Opatow, and in the vicinity of exactly the same blocks; there was nothing else than slag in the process of smelting iron. Close by was also found pottery of the Celtic period, and on this basis it was for the first time established that the Celtic people made traces of foundry work date to the 1st and 2nd century A.D.

The second season of research yielded the spectacular discovery; this yielded results. Though generally very reserved, the archeologists did not hesitate to use this word in describing the discovery that was no longer the number of ancient furnaces dug up that was a revelation, but the fact that there amounted to thousands, but the fact that a large excavation alone in Stara Slusia, there were found 130 traces of such furnaces, and the second fact—the way they were placed. The arrangement of the ancient iron furnace is something new for archeologists, who are looking to this form as a remarkable situation, be it in the ancient smelting of iron, or in the small foundries of West Bengal.

It is very difficult to reconstruct the work of the furnace, for we have only the bottom of the last important part. It is still difficult to establish with certainty what the part above ground was and how it looked, how, for example, the problem of supplying air, necessary for smelting iron was solved then. But what is certain is that there were thousands of such furnaces in this region.

During the course of three years of research 300 such sites have been registered and, as stated previously, there are from a few to dozens on each site. These 300 excavation sites were concentrated in a few villages, which reveal a similar ironsmelting technique.

It is also known that it was from here that were used as fuel and that the ore was mined in the same regions where the steel industry is now busy in Ostrowiec. In the "Staszic" mine (in Rudki), for instance, "Celtic" and "ancient mining" operations were carried away back before the year. The ore discovered at that time was typical of the Roman at one period. Other traces of ancient mining were discovered during the past few years at a depth of about 65 feet. Found, too, were large quantities of primitively prepared timber for propping and, on the same spot, traces of ancient settlements and coins—Vespasian's and Trajan's denarii.

It is obvious that each furnace served once for a single charging that explains the enormous amount of these discoveries. The output of such a furnace was small in comparison with present-day conditions—between 30 and around 200 pounds. In the 200-pound slag blocks were also found today there remained half of the iron. This proportion gives certain basis for scientific industry prospered for several centuries and yielded a total of the output of 3,170 dinarii, weighing 22.5 pounds, in a single clay vessel this was a treasure of coins — all the way from Nero to Septimius Severus.

so-SITSX on advisC Tombibb Dinarii Hoard. The main thesis is confirmed in every respect. In addition to the above "underground-bank" just mentioned, there are quite a number of smaller finds of discovery of single Roman coins is fairly frequent. But it was only the contents of pottery confirm the date, on the coins.

The main importance of Iron is not much. But if we multiply by 10 pounds by the number of furnaces and take into account the fact that all this was only at the very beginning of our era, then we must admit that it was quite considerable, something with the dimensions of the long-distance journeys from the territories of the Roman Empire to the northern countries.

The thesis about the Swietokrzyski Iron mining for arms for the Roman legions finds more and more support. But we are still in the initial stage of research, still far from a complete and definitive picture. Hundreds of ancient foundries situated in the midst of the Swietokrzyski forests. Many problems still await explanation and discoveries.

Eskimo Man In Transition

Melita New Era

The Eskimo nowadays often is to be too busy pondering a time clock to paddle his kayak. He is in transition, turning innate talent into the big money of hockey trucker, commercial artist or fisherman or radar line employee.

But he has his problems. The superior of the Eskimo may persist in the old days, still exists for some communities these people stranded by the decline in the migratory herds.

He may obtain a white man's wages but he still needs to learn his kid ability to live at work. His housing standards need elevating. His wants are changing. Interference, not interest is independence, aware that he will be assisted but not held against by the government.

This is the northern problem's finest hour.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Now is about the time to drop into one of those photo-stamp machines, making firms and order a stamp, in small unobtrusive type, with just your address on it: your street and number, and town.

And when you are making out your Christmas cards, just stamp them with those statistics in some discreet spot on the card, where it won't intrude on the pretty design.

For you know darn well that in a couple of weeks, when you are busy with your Christmas cards, and you get out, from the cupboard where you put them, forty-six weeks ago, that pile of Christmas cards you received last year, all tied up in a thick bundle, what your feelings will be when you discover that not a single one of them has an address on it.

It is true that a very few of those who buy tailor-made Christmas cards with their names engraved thereon also put their address, but so few as to be hardly any.

No; you have to grope through the phone book, you have to telephone friends and relatives in order to write down the card-to-town addresses. It is a weary chore.

A few super-intelligent friends take the trouble to scribble their addresses on the backs of cards. But it seems to me about 98 per cent of all Christmas cards are semi-anonymous because of the absence of the address. A tiny rubber stamp would solve the situation, as I have told myself, in vain, every second of December, now, for twenty years past.

Shows Effect Of Inflation

By W. L. Clark in The Windsor Star

The Scot was the subject where inflation does is to take an actual example.

Here is what happened to the rent of an apartment in Toronto.

In 1911 the apartment was opened for business and the two-room suite rented for $65 per month.

The rent was then increased to $70.

On Dec. 1, 1919, the rent was raised again to $81.50 per month.

On Feb. 1, 1922, the rent went up again to $112.50.

On Sept. 1, 1934, the rent soared to $130 a month.

On Oct. 1, 1955, it went to $175, where it still is.

Many people know the content upon one point, namely, that of the Bible without knowing men shall love God and one anthem much about its intent. A other. Since this injunction occurother is: Many know the Bible's very many people do not know it, and yet verses in the old Bible better than he knew his Testament, one may read the Bible Chinese convert who said that he read the Bible and believed it. By that he meant that he had memorized the content of the Bible and the intent of it.

Our Lord was confronted today with a group of distinguished Bible study authorities. Probably no group of men that had lived up to that time knew the content of the Bible any better than they did. But they were sadly lacking in their knowledge of the intent of the Bible. They understood content but not intent. The whole teaching of Scripture bears down

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HOW I WRITE THESE TALKS

I write these talks as though I were talking to my listener, or reader of this newspaper. It is as though we had known each other for a long time. As a matter of fact, we grow wise through contact with others, and though I have never met them, I have an association that often reminds me of a friendship that is real.

I have learned to listen more than I talk. I have learned to read between the lines. I have learned men and women — albeit by their books. This library keeps me informed about all day long, and often one note will suggest material that is allied to it. People, nature, happy interests, and the sorrows that are allotted me to grow dull and I come a bore to my friends.

Most of these Talks are written at night in my library — among my books. This library keeps with interests, for it is not a scholars library. It is that of a sincere and enthusiastic lover of books. Books are people to me. The great souls survive die. After being introduced to the characters in these books I live with them. We become friends. We warm our own minds and then invite others to warm theirs in like fashion, and forgetting to keep a warm heart as well.

I like to note the simple, human-like things about me. I like to stimulate the attention and interest of those to whom I write, for no matter how small and neglected a thing may be it can possibly be classed as significant. The tiniest flower gives out kindness. God created it. The longer I live, and the more I notice a child's delight over colored everything in the earth, the more I am filled with wonder.

I have now written some 10,000 Talks. Long after I am gone, these simple, human style about the simple, significant things. People will always want to be given courage, patience, and hope for happiness.

RIPPLE, RIPPLE, RIPPLE,

Police Inspector J. Claire Hayes inspects section of back of Bill Deline Ltd. safe attacked by acetylene torch and hammer prior to Saturday morning's fire. Damaged section was removed by cutting torch following fire to allow for closer inspection. Blaze is believed to have started from dropped torch when safecrackers were scared away by approach of police.

Blame Deline-Sills Blaze On Lighted Torch Dropped By Frightened Safecrackers

Safecrackers who dropped a lighted acetylene torch and fled when alarmed by the approach of a city police cruiser are blamed for the fire which last Saturday morning destroyed the Coleman Street business premises of Bill Deline Ltd., and Arthur A. Sills and Son Ltd., causing a half million dollar loss.

This was the opinion of Police Inspector J. Claire Hayes who said that the blaze was "no doubt set by persons attempting to riffle the safe at Deline's using an acetylene torch found on the premises."

The inspector said the torch had been moved from its regular place inside the garage to the location of the safe in the Deline office, and after the fire the acetylene tanks and the torch were found in the debris alongside the safe. This was what aroused the suspicion of investigating officers that the fire may have been caused by safecrackers.

FIND MARKS ON SAFE

Later, when the safe was removed from the debris, suspicions were learned to be well founded. The back of the safe had been attacked by a cutting torch and was also found to have been battered by a hammer.

Inspector Hayes said that in his opinion the persons responsible had been scared away by patrol officers and had dropped the lighted torch on the office floor before fleeing.

The jets on the torch were found in the open position following the fire.

The safe had not been opened by the safecrackers and after the fire the contents were found intact, although wet.

The blaze in the Deline Store was discovered by nearby residents on Coleman Street who were awakened at 3.15 a.m. by the noise of plate glass being smashed by the pressure built up by fire within the store.

CHECKED BY POLICE

The police patrol officers had checked the premises only about 20 or 25 minutes before, but had found nothing amiss.

The entire interior of the store was aflame by the time firemen arrived and a short time later propane gas tanks on the premises started to explode, setting fire to two residences across the street.

Sills' office and warehouse was a complete loss in the blaze while only the tire-servicing department at Deline's was saved from destruction in the fire.

Wm. A. Shannon, Irwin McCoy Again Reeves

MARMORA (Special) — Marmora village reeve William A. Shannon, and Marmora and Lake township council head, Reeve Irwin McCoy, were re-elected for another term of office at municipal elections held Monday.

In Marmora Reeve William Shannon defeated Russell Wells 352 to 223, while Mr. McCoy polled 106 votes, defeating Chas. Clemens and Gordon Jones. Mr. Clemens received 158 votes and Mr. Jones 141.

Councillors for Marmora village are Charles Campion 366; Alex Fraser, 365; John Reynolds 366 and Carl Heath 262. Elected were Don Robertson, 238; Wilfred Lavender 213; Frank Hannah 169 and Earl Binch, 135.

With 227 votes, Mr. Wilkes was elected with Arthur Sheridan for fourth position on council. When the vote was announced, however, Mr. Sheridan immediately withdrew leaving the council seat to Mr. Wilkes. The defeated candidate was Victor Neal, 218.

Toronto Mayor Easily Defeats Two Opponents

TORONTO (CP) — Nathan Phillips, a white-thatched politician fond of saying he is "mayor of all the people," has proved again that he is.

The 66-year-old veteran of 34 years on Toronto city council was re-elected mayor Monday with 83,776 votes, more than both his opponents, controllers Fred Brand and Joseph Cornish.

It gave Toronto's first Jewish mayor a second two-year term for a total of six years as mayor —he was elected to two one-year terms before the extended term was introduced in 1956. Only Toronto mayor ever to surpass this was Tommy Church, elected to seven one-year terms from 1915 to 1921.

Another major achievement was that of Mrs. Jean Newman, a smartly dressed grandmother who led balloting for board of control for the second straight year. Mrs. Newman is Toronto's first woman controller and potentially the city's first woman mayor.

190 SOUGHT OFFICES

With ethnic leaders reporting a quickened interest among New Canadians, an even 100 candidates sought office on city council and school boards.

About 101,000 of Toronto's 340,574 eligible voters cast ballots for a turnout of 29.8 per cent. In 1956 it was 29.5 per cent.

The voters, all owners or renters of property worth at least $400, gave their blessing to extending the franchise to all citizens over 21 who have lived in the city a year.

BRAND RETIRES

Labor candidate Ford Brand, a controller for seven years, collected only 39,736 votes, walked until nearly midnight before conceding — and announcing his retirement from politics. Lawyer Joseph Cornish got 17,089 votes.

Re-elected to board of control with Mrs. Newman was William Allen. Behind him came two former aldermen—Donald Summerville and William Dennison — to take over the seats vacated by Messrs. Brand and Cornish.

The electors settled two issues —for the time being — in balloting for board of control. Alderman Ross Parry ran second on his single campaign issue — demand that the chairman of the metropolitan council embracing Toronto and its 12 suburbs be elected, not appointed. And nightclub owner James Karellis ran eighth while calling for "a brighter Sunday."

NO COMMUNISTS IN

None of five Communist-backed candidates was elected to any of the 36 council and school board posts. Closest was Mrs. Janet McMurray, who failed by 580 votes to win a seat on the public school board for ward five.

In the suburbs, balloting went about as expected with only one upset. Mayor Harry Clark of Weston was toppled by former councillor J. L. Holley.

SNOW IS DEEP

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Snowstorms and sub-zero temperatures continue to plug communications around the northeastern shores of Lake Superior. Forty-four inches of snow were reported Monday night. Great Lakes Power's new transmission line site, Algoma Central Railways recorded 30 inches along the Agoma line 100 miles north of here.

Fire Destroys Barn and Apples

MADOC — Fire of unknown origin destroyed the large barn on the farm of Mr. Walter Pigden about one mile east of Madoc on No. 7 highway on Friday night, during the heavy snowstorm. Mr. Pigden had over 200 bushels of apples stored in the barn, which he recently turned into a store-house for his fruit. This farm, quite recently purchased by Mr. Pigden is well known as the farm of the late Jas. Caskey. Mr. Pigden held very little insurance on the barn.

Stirling Reeve Meets Defeat In Hot Election

STIRLING (Special) — Stirling Reeve James V. Holt went down to defeat at the polls in this village on Monday in a hotly contested election which saw Councillor Kenneth Ray named to head council for next year.

Councillors elected are Wilson Morton, 472; Carl Bateman 463; Russell West 395 and H. R. Thompkins 360. Defeated were Mick Armstrong 327 and Dr. A. Packman 166.

School trustee board for next year will be Edward Warren, 541; Hamilton Rosa 540 and Ray Mallory 484. Defeated was Clyde White 139.

Harry Sweetnam Returned Mayor Of Deseronto

Harry "Sweetnam" was re-elected as mayor of Deseronto for 1959 by almost a two to one majority over Ross Neal, former town auditor, in a hot election which saw both the mayor and reeve returned and an almost new council elected.

Incumbent Harry Sweetnam received 402 votes to 211 polled by his opponent, Ross Neal. Henry Alford was re-elected reeve with 389 votes to the 247 votes received by Arnold G. Walker, former reeve and mayor.

There was an insufficient number of qualifications for school board and a new nomination for two members will be held December 10. The election, if necessary, will be held on January 22.

Curling Season Opens at RCAF Station Trenton

Group Captain R. M. Cox, DFC, AFC, CD, and Group Captain T. A. Spruston, MBE, commanding officers of Station Trenton and 6 R.D. respectively, officially opened the RCAF Trenton curling season Thursday, November 27, 1958, by throwing the first rocks of the third annual club bonspiel.

The ice was in tip-top shape for the opening festivities and a great deal of credit for this must go to Mr. Grant Macauley, the new club manager. Mr. Macauley, a native of Manitoba, is no stranger to curling, having been associated with the sport for many years.

After the opening ceremonies the club bonspiel got under way with 56 rinks participating. This opening spiel serves the purpose of selecting the club rinks for the seven sections of the league.

A busy curling season is anticipated for in addition to the club rinks there will be 34 rinks participating in mixed curling, four rinks in junior, and 12 rinks in the ladies section.

President Jack Quackenbush announced the schedule of events for the 58-59 season. The Valentine spiel starting on Boxing Day, the Bay of Quinte spiel to be held during the latter part of February in conjunction with the Trenton Country Club and the club championship, consolation and mixed spiel in March. In addition the RCAF Trenton Club will be represented in the Silver Tankard, Governor-General's Cup, Colts and Brier playdowns. It is also hoped that a junior rink will be entered in the Canadian high school playoffs.

The club rooms have undergone many changes during the off-season and are in readiness for a very busy curling season.

J. M. Barber, right, of R.R. 7, Belleville, a senior Economics student at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, was awarded the Canada Packers scholarship in economics at a banquet held at the college. The award was presented by R. D. Selvage, left, assistant manager, Canada Packers Ltd. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barber of Prince Edward County and was honored by being elected president of the administrative-council of O.A.C. this year.

A DIEFENBAKER

Once a school teacher, Elmer has for years been field agent for the Saskatchewan Retail Merchants Association. He is a bachelor, and has made his home in Saskatoon with his mother, Mrs. William T. Diefenbaker.

The prime minister, by taking both his wife and brother on this tour, has followed a precedent set by former prime minister St. Laurent on his 1954 world tour. St. Laurent was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, and son Jean-Paul.

A spokesman for the prime minister said that officials who arranged this tour recommended that he take two members of his family. He said the federal treasury is paying for none of Elmer's expenses, apart from transportation on the RCAF plane carrying the Canadian party.

In most of the places visited Elmer has been a state guest of the host country, and has gone almost everywhere the prime minister has gone except on cabinet government leaders and other official business.

His hosts must have been puzzled by some of his reactions to the things he saw.

$400,000,000
Government of Canada Bonds

The Bank of Canada is authorized by the Minister of Finance to receive subscriptions for a loan, to be issued for cash and offered in two maturities as follows:

4 YEAR 4% BONDS DUE JANUARY 1, 1963
ISSUE PRICE: 98.75% YIELDING ABOUT 4.34% TO MATURITY
Redeemable at the option of the holder at 98.75% on January 1, 1961 or on any subsequent interest payment date up to and including July 1, 1962, subject to three months' written notice to Bank of Canada.
Interest payable June 15 and December 15
Denominations: $1,000, $5,000, $25,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000

and

1 YEAR 3½ BONDS DUE DECEMBER 15, 1959
(Non-Callable to Maturity)
ISSUE PRICE: 99.25% YIELDING ABOUT 3.77% TO MATURITY
Interest payable June 15 and December 15
Denominations: $1,000, $5,000, $25,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000

The four year bonds will mature at 100% on January 1, 1963 and will not be subject to call by the Government of Canada for redemption prior to maturity. However, they will be redeemable at the option of the holder on January 1, 1961 or on any subsequent interest payment date up to and including July 1, 1962 at 98.75% subject to three months' notice of intention to redeem being given in writing to any Agency of Bank of Canada. Such notice must be received by the Agency at least three full calendar months prior to the date of redemption specified in such notice and the related bonds temporarily surrendered to the Agency to which notice has been given for the purpose of having an appropriate stamp placed on them to indicate they will be redeemed on the specified date and for the cancellation of removal of coupons which would have become payable subsequent to that date. Interest shall cease to accrue after the redemption date specified in the written notice.

The new 4% bonds will be dated January 1, 1959 and will bear interest from that date. The new 3½ bonds will be dated December 15, 1958 and will bear interest from that date. Definitive bonds of the January 1, 1963 maturity will be available on or about January 5, 1959 and definitive bonds of the December 15, 1959 maturity will be available on or about December 15, 1958.

Subscriptions may be made to Bank of Canada, Ottawa, through any investment dealer eligible to act as a primary distributor or through any bank in Canada. An official prospectus may be obtained from any Agency of Bank of Canada.

The Minister of Finance reserves the right to accept or reject in whole or in part any subscription.

The books of the Loan will open at 5.00 p.m. E.S.T. on December 3, 1958 and will close in either maturity or both with or without notice at the discretion of the Minister of Finance.

OTTAWA, December 1, 1958.

G.G. Form New Division Committee

An innovation took place in Girl Guide circles recently. At an inaugural meeting at the home of the division commissioner, Mrs. D. G. Diamanidies, a new division committee was organized to co-ordinate the work of the three local associations. The executive chosen is as follows: chairman, Mrs. D. G. Diamanidies; secretary, Mrs. R. Walsh (treasurer, Mrs. E. Stewart; social convenors, Mrs. W. T. Mesgher and Mrs. G. F. Maund; publicity convenors, Mrs. J. G. Demeza and Mrs. R. D. Arnott.

The three district commissioners are automatically members. These ladies are: Mrs. H. Floyd, Mrs. R. Settle and Mrs. J. Kunisz.

The main effort of this organization is the annual Girl Guide and Brownie Tea. This function is to be held sometime in February under the ownership of Mrs. Mesgher and Mrs. Maund.

Guidance and assistance is given to the camp activities of the girls, Choice of the camp site and of the camping equipment are two of the ways in which the girls are assisted.

The new Ranger group is a branch of the Girl Guide effort which is worthy of much interest and encouragement. This group is made up of enthusiastic former Guides whose main Ranger interest is community service.

The next meeting of the division committee will be called after the three local associations have held their inaugural meetings. The three district commissioners are chairmen of the associations, respectively.

Quinte Chapter R.N.A.O. Elects 1959 Officers

A pot-luck supper was served prior to the business session, and enjoyed by all.

The officers for the year were installed and are as follows—president, Mrs. Harper Barclay; vice-president, Miss Doris Smith; 2nd vice-president, Miss Ann Ronalds; secretary, Mrs. Kay Campbell; treasurer, Miss Margaret Nicklin; committee chairmen — program, Miss Ethel Campbell; social, Miss Jeanette McDermitt; bursary, Miss Alice Meyers; finance, Miss Gladys Carney; membership, Miss Alice Wright; nominating, Mrs. Margaret Barrett.

The draw for the wool blanket was won by Mrs. E. Dowsett. The proceeds totalled $111 and were presented to the Home for Mentally Retarded Infants, at Smithfield.

Miss Joanne Crocker, who represented the chapter at the C.N.A. convention in Ottawa last June, presented a report on the activities which took place at the convention.

Women Stand High After Elections

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A husky widow who once worked on township road gangs to keep her large family fed and clothed was elected reeve Monday in Rayside, a rural township of 3,500 in the Sudbury area.

Mrs. Malvina Labine, 65, is probably the most colorful of the dozen or so women who figured prominently on the winning side in Ontario's rash of Dec. 1 municipal elections.

She defeated Reeve Tyne Castonguay, a former school teacher who was seeking his second term of office, with a campaign that included the condition of township ditches at a leading issue.

Municipal politics will be the newest in a long line of side jobs that the 220-pound farm woman, noted throughout the area for her kindness, has tackled since raising a family of 20 children.

MRS. SEPPALA ELECTED

The chief magistrate's post at Fort William also went to a woman. Mrs. Catherine Seppala beat out three other councillors, including Mrs. Dorothy Pickup, in the contest to fill the vacancy being created when Robert Edgar relinquishes the end of the month.

Mrs. Seppala will be the lone woman in the city mayors' list when Council in 1959. Woodstock voters dropped Mrs. Mercedes Smith who had held that distinction this year.

Mrs. Newman, as attractive grandmother, topped the polls with 58,343 votes. Her total was more than 5,000 higher than that of Mayor Nathan Phillips who was re-elected for a fourth term.

She also led the polls in 1956, Toronto's last municipal election year, in making her first bid for the control board. She is a second-generation city, and gives her authority over the city budget and hiring and firing of staff.

WOMEN IN COUNCIL

Four women, two of them newcomers—were among the 18 aldermen elected in Toronto. Mrs. May Birchard and May Robinson led the polls for re-election in their wards. Mrs. Mary Temple stepped her ward and Mrs. M. Campbell ran second to Mrs. Robinson.

Mrs. Marion Earl ran second in a three-way contest for mayor at Kingston.

Mrs. Isobel Post headed the polls in council voting at Orillia and Christine Thomas was the council leader in the city voting.

Voters in East York township, a Toronto suburb, gave Miss True Davidson the highest council vote and the nearby town of Leaside elected Mrs. Lenore Sibbald and Mrs. Elizabeth as two of its six council members.

LEAD IN WARDS

At Windsor Mrs. Cameron Montrose headed the polls for council posts in her ward and Miss Mary Wood did the same at Brantford.

Two women, Mrs. Edwin Fullerton and Laura Gray will sit on the London council as aldermen and Mrs. Louise Hastings will join the aldermanic ranks at Sarnia.

Ballet Corps In Calgary Now Four Years Old

CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary Ballet Corps, now four years old, has sounded the gallons of tea and hundreds of home-made articles.

Tea and rummage sales raised money for a group of Calgary parents who had decided a ballet company was necessary to give talented children an opportunity to study as a group.

Incorporated in 1955, with 16 members, the corps now has a 24-member group and this season is staging three complete productions at the 2,400-seat Jubilee Auditorium here.

Money was the big problem in the beginning. Parents gulped dozens of cups of tea, and stics and collars were left bare by rummage sales. With the proceeds, material was purchased and costumes were made. Sets were painted in their homes during evening sessions.

"The dancers were so confused with the idea, we just couldn't let them down," said Mrs. Marie Stenson, one of the first supporters.

STANDARDS HIGH

Despite the small organizations, standards were high from the start. Lessons were geared to the Royal Academy of Dancing in London and Jean Simpson and Sibyl Rogers were enrolled as ballet mistresses.

Mrs. Simpson, an exponent of Highland dancing, holds 175 medals and 75 cups. Mrs. Rogers was trained at London and is a member of the Imperial Society of Dancing Teachers.

The season's productions include Musical Variations with music by Shostakovich, Old Woman in the Shoe to music by Saint-Saens and a modern work in the Highlands.

Travels in Panel Truck to Record Trip on Canvas

VANCOUVER (CP) — Miss Cathy McDowall, Scottish - born artist with healthy outdoors complexion, travels in a panel-truck to record beauty on canvas.

She has washed her laundry alongside some of the most beautiful streams in Alberta and British Columbia, using two buckets and a clothesline strung between trees.

Her home is the truck which has a journey-stove protruding from the roof. She has covered more than 30,000 miles up to date and she says these have included some of the most beautiful miles in the world.

Miss McDowall came to Canada in 1952 after graduating from Edinburgh Art College. During the first two years here she worked as a cook, dishwasher, riding instructor in the Laurentians, and finally achieved the truck and time to travel and to paint.

FINDS MARKET

And she quickly found a market for her work. She is impressed with Canadians' interest in art and their desire to own paintings.

The last two summers she has had some lively company in the form of a herd of horses, on which she kept an eye for a rancher in the Cariboo district of central British Columbia.

"Sometimes I do not see a human being for days and it can't afford to be nervous," she said during a visit to her work here.

This winter she will park her truck at Lake Louise, and she says she hopes someone will remember to shovel the snow off it.

EX-MILLIONAIRE FINED

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Former multi-millionaire L. V. Sutton was fined $5,000 Monday after pleading guilty to charges of using the mails to defraud. Two of his children, executive associates who also pleaded guilty, were placed on two years probation on similar charges. Each of the trio was charged with 14 counts of fraud for cheating two grain companies out of $4,441,900 in 1954 when Butler made a wrong guess in the grain market and was caught in the squeeze.

Women's Activities

ST. ANDREW'S W.A.

WELLINGTON — The regular meeting of St. Andrew's W.A. was held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. W. A. Davern. The new Rector, the Rev. Mr. J. J. Rogers, opened it with a prayer followed by the Scripture reading.

The president, Mrs. G. Upton, welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Rogers to the parish, all the members showed their joy at having the rectory opened again.

Mrs. D. Upton treasurer, reported on the finances.

Mrs. Ogilvy read a letter from Mrs. Grant requesting certain specific garments for the 1958 bale to be sent in April.

Mrs. Collier received a letter from the prayer partner which was read by Mrs. G. Upton. Mrs. Spriggings reported that the little Helpers are having an "At Home," on Saturday afternoon; Mrs. Ogilvy sold calendars before and after the meeting. The corresponding secretary read a thank-you note from Mrs. D. Upton and also the board letter.

NEW BUSINESS

It was decided to send $8. to Mrs. Carter, Pictor for the extra-cent-a-day fund that all bills be paid; that cards be sent to Mr. J. Bryant; Mrs. Hare and Mr. Lee, Sword.

Mr. Rogers then conducted the election of officers for the coming year, who will be the same as last year with the exception of the treasurer, which Mrs. W. J. Bowern has taken over, as Mrs. D. Upton is unable to continue at this post.

Mrs. Rogers closed the meeting. A social half hour was spent. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Daverna on the 4th Monday in January.

Will Display 200 Articles Made in Britain

LONDON (CP)—Two hundred British - made articles, ranging from a stainless steel condiment set to a yacht, will be on show at Ottawa's Design Centre next February.

The display, intended to boost British designs, has been arranged by The National Industrial Design Council of Canada in cooperation with the British board of trade and the council of industrial design.

There are streamlined golf clubs and tools, furnishing fabrics and household equipment, record-players and brightly painted toy bricks.

Among the novelties are an eight-foot-high puppet clown with a happy smile and three feet long eye-lashes; a pioneer wagon attached to a large pair of wooden horses, matching cutlery and dinner services.

Included in the furnishing fabrics of cotton, damask and satin, is one particular white cotton, which would be suitable for curtains or a bedcover. It is white patterned with black prints of Euripides—the Greek dramatist.

Norman Hay, director of Canada's National Industrial Design Council, came to Britain last August to choose the articles.

The display will probably tour department stores in leading cities and British manufacturers are negotiating with agents so that the products can be made available to the Canadian public.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

HOW TO HINT "THE PARTY'S OVER"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We're giving a mixed-shower for a dear friend of ours and her fiance, and we're inviting twelve other couples. The shower will be given at three o'clock on Sunday afternoon, the buffet service to begin at five o'clock. My husband and I both work, and we have to get up early on Monday morning. Should I name an hour for the shower to end, or just how could this be done?

— Reader

So that the guests will be tipped to realize that "the party's over," you might . . . It's often very necessary hostess-technique . . . enlist the co-operation of one of the couples, informing them the hour when you would like to have them suggest "It's getting very late, and we know that Mary and John have to get up early tomorrow morning. So we really should all be on our way!"

REMEMBER that favorite Halloween party omitted to one who can take a bite of a dangling apple—"no hands!" You'll need a row of apples hanging on strings, one for each guest. Pull the string through the apple with a long needle, and tie a small cardboard circle on the end of the string to keep the apple from falling off.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, an emergency room nurse, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and boy writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Caroline S. — Punishments are making Johnny worse.

• • •

Caroline S. — My husband and I are the parents of three children ranging from 8 to 15 years old. We have been having a lot of disputes recently about their upbringing.

We were always very easygoing with them and I guess we spoiled them a bit. The oldest boy, particularly, is getting to be hard to handle. He has been fresh and disobedient and isn't doing too well in school.

My husband has taken to hitting him and Johnny resents it very much. I'm afraid that any day now, he's going to hit back. My husband also tore up Johnny's picture of one of his favorite baseball heroes and now Johnny goes around saying he'll get revenge somehow or other. I do feel that we must be more strict, but I think these punishments are making Johnny worse.

• • •

Jonathan S. — It is not the punishments that are making Johnny worse, but the lack of punishments in the past. Johnny goes to school with some very rough kids and I'm afraid he'll become a regular juvenile delinquent if we don't do something fast.

I am also worried about the younger kids. They follow Johnny in everything — even the girl. With that as an example and with all of these bad influences in the school and neighborhood, I don't know what will become of them.

Caroline seems to think you can get somewhere with kids by scolding and nagging, but it certainly doesn't seem to be working out with out brats, I do feel that it might be enough if they weren't exposed to so many bad influences outside our home. Extreme situations call for extreme remedies.

• • •

The Council: Jonathan's alarm over the future of his children is understandable, but it should be obvious to him that his methods aren't working.

The question of punishment is a relatively small part of child rearing. Some parents manage to exert a great deal of authority over their children with a minimum of punishment at all times, who punish freely, may easily lose control over the children. What punishments to give, how often and under what circumstances must be determined by common sense and observation of the child. Methods that are effective with one child may be useless with another.

In general, we would say that punishments that cause a child humiliation or deep hurt in his feelings are out of order. A boy of 13, who has been "spoiled a bit" and who is suddenly hit by his father, is bound to resent it and to develop hostile feeling toward his attacker. Even worse is the destruction of a piece of the boy's personal property — a picture of a hero at that. Such punishments hurt without teaching anything but violence. Children's heroes are precious and represent their highest aspirations. Why should a father attack what represents the good to his child?

It seems to us that both these parents have become frightened by the realization that they do not represent authority to their children. It is a frightening situation, but it cannot be remedied overnight. They will have to build up their stature in their children's eyes by proving that they can be kindly and understanding even while they are firm.

Second Use For Puff Pastry — Napoleons

by Mary Moore

If you do what I suggested yesterday and make up a batch of puff pastry — you will want to know what to do with the unused portions that I recommended you keep cold in the refrigerator. (Well wrapped, this will keep a week.)

So here is the next offering:

NAPOLEONS:

(These are three-layer pastries with filling between and an icing on top.) Roll out two-fourths of the pastry, one at a time. (As you know by now, dough must never get warm while rolling or you cannot work it up.) Roll to ¼ thickness and cut into strips of equal lengths 2½" wide. A pastry wheel will facilitate this cutting. Quickly transfer strips of pastry to cookie sheet.

Roll out second one-fourth likewise. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 5 minutes then reduce heat to 375 deg. until pastry tests done. Test a little test piece to see if it is baked through.

When cool put together in layers with rich custard filling (see below and peach, pineapple or apricot jam or conserve. Frost top with pastel-tinted butter-icing and sprinkle top with nuts. (Pistachios are elegant.) When cool and set, with a very sharp knife carefully cut each strip into squares. These must be served with a fork.

RICH CUSTARD FILLING:

(For Napoleons, or layer cakes o rcream puffs). One half cup of sugar, 4 tablespoons cake flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups milk, 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Combine flour, sugar and salt in top of double boiler; add milk and egg yolks, mixing thoroughly. Place over boiling water and cook 10 minutes or until thick, stirring constantly. Cool; add flavoring.

Now we have come to the last one-fourth of the pastry and you could proceed to make pinwheels or sausage rolls.

SAUSAGE ROLLS:

Roll out dough in strips 1½" wider than sausages are long. Caution: Sausages must be boiled in water for 5 minutes, cooled and dried to remove excess fat and to precook them. Cut dough into rectangles just big enough to roll cooked sausage in with ½" overlap. Seal overlap and ends. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 5 minutes — reduce heat to 375 deg. until rolls are pale gold. Serve warm or cold.

PINWHEELS

Spread cold rolled out dough with soft cheese or liver or chicken spread. Roll up like a jelly roll. Chill until hard. With a very sharp knife cut into ½" slices and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 3 or 4 minutes. Watch these very carefully. Remove from oven at once and then carefully lift from pan with egg-lifter to cool. These are so tender and delicate and popular —they disappear like a breeze.

Club Activities

BRIDGE STREET C.C.

The November meeting of the Coronation Club was held on Monday evening last in Bridge St. United Church.

The president, Elizabeth Scott opened the meeting with the carol "O Come All Ye Faithful."

The Christmas devotional service was conducted by Norma Courtney's group. Roberta Rice read the Scripture taken from Luke II and an appropriate meditation was given by Evelyn Sherwin.

Greta Peverley led in prayer and the hymn "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung.

A short business meeting followed.

The Rev. Robert Sherwin was the guest speaker and chose as his subject "The Christmas Festival—Some Facts and, Fancies." He explained the origin of Christmas; the duty; the close association of St. Nicholas with Christmas and how the Christmas tree came to be used in Christmas festivities.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Away in a Manger."

Norma Courtney's group served refreshments.

CMA Urges Trade Unions Get Legal Responsibilities

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade unions should be required by law to accept equal legal responsibilities with employers and other groups, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said today in a submission to Labor Minister Starr.

The 54-page submission—signed by H. J. Clawson, vice-president of the CMA's industrial relations committee—was made in connection with possible revisions in the industrial relations and disputes investigation act and other federal labor legislation.

The submission says the association "recognizes the role of trade unions and accepts unquestionably the principle of collective bargaining." It also states:

"Most employers and most trade unions do make an honest effort to abide by the law and to conduct themselves in an orderly and peaceful manner. However, a reliance on voluntary action is not enough. The law is an effective stimulus to civilized conduct."

The CMA asks both for enforcement of present law and for further provisions to deal with matters on which the law now is unclear, or on which it feels there is no present adequate legislation.

CAN CRIPPLE ECONOMY

Statements in the submission include the following:

Trade unions now are exceedingly powerful—organizations not only with large memberships and great financial resources, but with the power to cripple the economy at will.

Present legislation was designed "to protect trade unions when they were relatively weak. Today there is much more need to think in terms of protecting the public, employers and individual employees.

Not only do some unions not observe the law but the law is frequently not enforced against some unions. Trade unions enjoy a freedom from legal controls which is not allowed to other comparable groups and persons.

The submission commended on specific topics:

Unlawful strikes: The incidence is sufficiently high to warrant procedure for civil redress from unions.

Prosecution should be undertaken by the Crown in cases of strikes which take place before completion of conciliation procedure prescribed by the act.

If a union authorizes, encourages, ratifies, sanctions or fails to repudiate, or is a party to, the commission of unlawful acts which result in loss or damage to an employer—or if a union contributes to the support of its members in an unlawful strike—it should be answerable in damages.

Other sanctions such as revocable licensing of trade unions, or decertification of a s u e should also be considered.

Picketing: Unions and their members have a lawful and moral right to convey information as to the existence of a lawful strike and to attempt peacefully to persuade employees to refrain from working.

However, the customary nature of picketing is very different, and there is hardly any other area of the criminal law which is violated so frequently with impunity as is picketing.

Picketing on secondary boycotts (picketing of an employer not in a dispute in order to strike at another who is), or picketing in jurisdictional disputes among unions, should be made unlawful . . . it is economic coercion of the worst kind.

Compulsory check-off of dues and compulsory union membership: With unions fully accepted by most employers and well entrenched by law, they are really seeking a guaranteed income and security against defection by their own members.

The CMA said it is not requesting legislation prohibiting checkoff arrangements arrived at by collective bargaining, but legislation is required in the field of "compulsory union membership."

Much of the discussion in the current right-to-work controversy stresses the coercive aspect of forcing an employee to become a member of a union against his will in order to obtain or hold a job. A far more serious problem is posed in the case of an employee who is fully prepared to become and remain a member of a union but who is denied admittance or is expelled.

REVISIONS PROPOSED

The submission made a number of suggestions for revision of the present act. Their provisions would include:

The minister of labor would be empowered to arrange return-to-work votes, supervised by the government, when he has reason to believe it would facilitate settlement of a strike.

An employer would be given freedom to express his views to employees on labor - relations matters, including q u e s t i o n s raised by employees during a union-organizing campaign — so long as no intimidation or coercion was involved.

"Employees," the submission said, "should have the right to hear both sides and to make their choices on the basis of all available information."

Another suggested amendment would require trade unions to file with the department of labor copies of their constitution and by-laws, a declaration of the names and addresses of their officers, details of their administrative rules and practices, including provisions for authorization of strikes, conditions of membership, and the amount of initiation fees and scale of regular dues.

Issuance and auditing of financial statements, including the handling of trust and benefit funds, would also be required.

EXEMPTIONS ASKED

Other suggested amendments would:

Add nurses to the list of those excluded from the meaning of the word "employee" as used in the act; and also exclude anyone employed in a confidential capacity related to relations with employees or trade unions and related matters.

Provide a method of appeal from decisions and orders of the labor relations board "in cases where the board is alleged to have exceeded its jurisdiction or acted contrary to natural justice or committed an error of law."

The submission said that only too often unions have diverted attention from constructive criticism as by attacking their critics with the charge of being "anti-union."

"Surely," the submission adds, "it is not subversive of the ultimate objectives and activities of unions to 'ask that they accept the same legal responsibilities as other institutional groups within our free society."

EYE-WITNESSES

backing away from the pungent odor.

Bereaved relatives. He stopped, talked with a weeping father.

"It was the will of God, Stan-ley," the daughter is now an angel in heaven."

One boy, Joseph Brocato, 11, told doctors "I can't stop shaking" as he described how brush with death in the school.

"We heard it. We were emptying the wastebasket in the basement.

"It was a boom in the furnace room. And the janitor ran out. "He shouted to us to get up stairs."

RUN UPSTAIRS

Joseph and his companion—he didn't name the other boy—ran upstairs. They were herded out of the school later, his father brought him into the hospital because the shaking wouldn't stop. Joseph said he burned. He didn't have to jump. He only saw the smoke.

While ambulances and fire trucks jammed the streets, hysterical mothers sought their children. Mrs. Mary Jalowichti stood weeping outside her house across the street from the school.

"I sent the kids home out of the school," she told a reporter. "My son, Ronald, was one of the first out." Then she burst into tears.

Again she sobbed.

"I saw the fire . . . the second floor were leaping out the windows. At least 10 jumped. This was terrible. I went into the school. It was full of smoke. The smoke hit me and I came right home."

"And there they were . . . five or six sitting or laying on the ground. They were from the school. It was awful."

FIREMEN'S RESCUE

Lieutenant Raymond, 12, who was trapped briefly in an eight-grade classroom before firemen arrived, said he and several classmates were rescued by firemen who lifted a ladder to the window.

"We thought at first that the yells came from some kids playing in the corridor," he said. "Then, we heard someone shout, 'Fire! Fire!'"

He said the fire bell rang, and his teacher said, "Get up and get out fast."

Raymond said he was the last of the class to reach the corridor.

"There was lots of smoke," he said. "I couldn't breathe or nothing. I was going to jump, but just then some girls came in. I told them to get down on the floor because of the smoke."

Raymond said he broke a window down by hurling school books through the pane. He was thinking of jumping again, when firemen shouted at him not to.

"I kept thinking how I'd look dead," Raymond said. He was hurt.

BOY JUMPS

Carlos Lozano, 10, whose leg was injured in a leap from a second-floor window, said:

"Everybody was jumping. The smoke was terrible. Everybody was screaming. Everybody was trying to get on the firemen's ladders at the same time."

Patricia said a nun, Sister Concolo, calmed the children before a fire ladder was lifted to the window.

"There were some coming out after me," she said. "I don't know if all of them got out."

WISHART

At 7.30 p.m. when the first returns trickling in, there was a handful of spectators, mainly aldermen and candidates. This situation remained practically the same until an hour later when the small crowd was augmented somewhat. Even at the peak of the evening returns when groups of aldermanic candidates waged a stern political battle, the council chamber was scarcely what one could call crowded. It was never over "comfortably filled" at any time.

There were no demonstrations at any time during the hours the returns built up. After the final figures for the night were posted and various candidates defeated and otherwise made brief radio addresses, nothing over the usual hum of conversation disturbed the atmosphere. In fact the gathering would have dispersed with no more ado had not Mayor Gerald Hyde appointed himself as chairman and requested the various candidates present to make brief addresses on the air.

TOOK EARLY LEAD

The eventual polls - leader Mr. Ellis and his runner-up Mr. Elliott gave early notice they were going to be a force to be reckoned with. Other incumbents and threesomes of the aldermanic list squared away for private fights, but the top issue was never in doubt.

With all polls in, Elliott was leading Ellis by a slim majority. Douglas Morrison and Mrs. McCabe picked third and fourth spots for their private battle which ended in a photo finish. Gibbs rounded out the top seven at this point.

With 20 subdivisions heard from Elliott was still out in front of Ellis by a slim margin, while McCabe had moved up to third spot over Morrison and Mrs. Wishart who had hopped from ninth to fourth in a short space of time.

Five polls later the scene had changed. Ellis had taken over the lead position, a spot he never relinquished, with Elliott running close in second place while Wishart had moved into third spot with a slight margin over McCabe. Mr. Wishart and Mrs. McCabe battled strenuously down the stretch to the wire but they finished in third and fourth spots respectively.

Meanwhile Grandame, Graham, Collins, Moxam, Gibbs and Whalen were staging a splitted six-man battle in the order named with but few votes separating top from the bottom. Graham and Grandame see-sawed for fifth and sixth spots and it was not until over 40 polls were in that Graham took over firm place "for keeps". Grandame froze to his sixth spot with Collins clinging tenaciously to seventh position.

It was not until a bare few polls were left that Collins in seventh position pulled away from the pack for votes separating him almost 100 votes lead and over eight-poll-leg Whalen, Moxam battled to the end finishing just 41 votes behind Whalen.

QUESTION OF MORALITY

Supporters of the "pros" on the two questions submitted had little to worry about after the first few polls were in. They took an early big lead on both and although they dropped back to nearly 2-1 proportions as the results piled up, were secure.

Rolls-leading Jack Ellis almost stunned all his top-spot backers and a few rivals when he said that he wanted to thank all who supported him, "but you will have to wait until I get my breath before I can make a proper speech."

Mr. Elliott also voiced his appreciation in excellent showing in his inaugural attempt. "I am surprised myself to see myself in here, I'm delighted," he said.

Alderman Ralph Graham said the apparent lack of urge in the election was due to the lack of a mayoralty fight. "As it is, I am surprised to see so many voters out."

Alderman McCabe, Grandame, Collins and defeated candidate Alderman Whalen also made brief addresses.

Chairmanship of the returns was again excellently handled by members of the city hall staff in the city council chamber. The returns were immediately relayed to the news rooms of the Ontario Intelligencer where an augmented editorial staff in turn relayed them to a curious public.

FINAL DILEMMA

Without broad government support in the past year, the B of M president continued, "business conditions would undoubtedly have deteriorated more than they did", and for a government to bolster a sagging economy by supplementing private spending power is now taken for granted. "But", Mr. Ball added, "by the same token, neither should it persist in overspending once the need for such stimulus is past," and with the urgent need to achieve a stable price structure, he said he believes the need for "aggressive budgetary and monetary policies" has diminished.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

G. Arnold Hart, general manager of the B of M, presenting the 141st annual statement, reported a year of "substantial growth in our operations", with net profits of $3,356,690 remaining, after setting aside $1,750,000 for income taxes. Of this record-high profit, $8,904,364 was provided for shareholders' dividends equivalent to $1.65 per share, he said.

Transferred to undivided profits was the balance of $1,452,126, bringing the total to $12,356,960, and a similar amount, $2 million was transferred to the B of M pension account, leaving a balance of undivided profits of $1,563,960.

DEPOSIT LOAN LEVEL HIGHER

The bank experienced a slight drop in loan revenues although the average level during year was higher than for 1957 and the number of borrowers increased, the general manager reported. Loans outstanding at October 31 were $1,417 million—$21 million less than last year. NHA mortgage loans were up $40 million in 1958 to $171 million.

ASSETS PASS $3¼ BILLION

B of M assets were at a new all-time high of $3,278 million, Mr. Hart continued, for an increase of more than $400 million over last year. This increase reflected a growth in deposits over last year of $362,038 million, while savings deposits increased by some 130,000, he said. "Such a rate of i t s strong desire to save," he said, from all segments.

The bank's high liquid position was well maintained, with quick assets, including cash, investments and call loans, equal to 62.1 per cent of all liabilities to the public, versus 54.8 per cent last year, Mr. Hart continued.

Reviewing B of M investments, the bank's October 31 portfolio of securities at $1,230 million — or $257 million higher than the year previous, he told the meeting.

GROWTH OF BRANCHES

Growth of the bank's premises, after depreciation, stood at close to $41 million, versus $36 million last year — an indication of the extent of the growth and improvement of branch facilities in the year, he said.

In all, 38 new offices were opened, while eight agencies were raised to branch status. In all, a total of 78 B of M branches were in operation at this year-end, exclusive of BOLAM branches, he said.

FOREIGN BUSINESS GROWS

In further reference to the bank's overseas ventures, the general manager said the core of the foreign operations of 14 BOLSA offices in six Latin-American countries; while B-C-LAN's head office and branch facilities have been established at Nassau, Bahamas; and premises have been acquired at Kingston, Jamaica, and at Port-of-Spain, Trinidad.

TRIBUTE TO STAFF

Concluding, Mr. Hart said he welcomed the opportunity to pay tribute to all the bank's staff, because I continue to receive abundant evidence of the high degree of efficiency and the cheerful, friendly manner in which our men and women discharge their daily duties."

STABLE PRICE STRUCTURE ESSENTIAL NATIONAL AIM -SAYS B OF M PRESIDENT

Gordon Ball Sees Purchasing Power Halved In 25 Years if Price Rises Continue

ARNOLD HART, GENERAL MANAGER, REPORTS RECORD DEPOSITS — ASSETS EXCEEDING $3¼ BILLION — IN "RECOVERY-FROM-RECESSION" STATEMENT

Achievement of stable prices should be at the forefront of Canada's national economic aims, for if consumer prices continue to advance at the present rate the purchasing power of our money will be cut in half in the next quarter century, according to Gordon R. Ball, president of the Bank of Montreal.

Mr. Ball told shareholders of the B of M at their 141st annual meeting that this potential reduction in the real value of the Canadian dollar is by no means "unrealistic conjecture", since, in the past 21 years, "the consumer price index has in fact doubled, and the value of our dollar has in fact been halved."

Shareholders also heard G. Arnold Hart, general manager of the bank, present a statement reflecting growth in both assets and revenues in a period which has seen the unsurpassing degree of recovery from the recession in business activity which characterized the greater part of last year. Assets stand beyond the $3¼ billion mark, while net profits exceed $10.3 million, Mr. Hart said.

CONTINUING BUSINESS REVIVAL

Recalling the general slackening of business activity of a year ago, Mr. Ball said, "Now, looking back, it can be seen that a moderate revival of business was in the making by the early months of 1958 a year. And the generally stronger trends of production, employment, income and expenditure that have since prevailed seem likely to continue for some months ahead."

At the present time, Canada's gross national product is at an annual rate of some $33 billion, Mr. Ball said, or about 21½ billion more than a year ago, while the volume of industrial output — down by more than six per cent in 1957 has expanded by better than 2 per cent in 1958. Retail trade was generally buoyant, so that increased consumer spending "proved to be the main stimulus in the recovery of business," Mr. Ball continued.

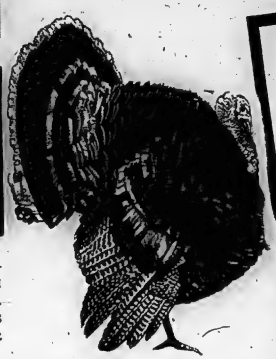
MORE "SOCIAL CAPITAL"

Capital expenditures are also continued at a high level, with the 1958 total much the same as that of 1957, although less spent on new industrial and commercial plant and more on new "social capital" in the w a y of homes, schools, hospitals, roads, municipal and utility services, he said.

Similarly, Canada's export trade for 1958 came close to record figures set in 1957, but new developments in the field of "new industrial and commercial fields" will affect the pattern of international commerce and finance, he added.

NEW BANKING VENTURE

"It is with this conviction and this vision," Mr. Ball said, "that Montreal and the Bank of London and Montreal Limited have this year joined hands in partnership, to form the Bank of London and Montreal Limited . . . which, like any child has already begun, 'flout you will' BOLAM' 'i', Mr. Ball said. "The new bank will develop as a joint enterprise in every way growing with, and facilitating, the expansion of Canada's trade and the Caribbean area." (Mr. Ball is chairman of BOLAM).



LEADERSHIP

CROSS-CURRENTS

Looking to the future, Mr. Ball pointed to the fact that in some respects influences which brought on the recession are still with us. The recovery of activity is still not broadly based in terms of employment and markets and renewed growth of productive capacity and far from being abreast of all industries. "The presence of higher unemployment in the face of rising output is a constant reminder that there are still deficiencies in the economy. Such cross-currents suggest that, although the worst of the troubled waters may be behind us, all is not yet clear sailing ahead," he said.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Whatever it was that Manager Wren Blair or playing coach Sid Smith, or both, told the Dunnies before last Saturday night's clash with our side, it worked. Not that the Dunlops were a whit better than the Maes from the Molrs, merely, they were opportunists of the first water, who capitalized on the penalty shortcomings of the Ikemen.

It had gone without saying, and the greater majority of the Maes believe it now, that the Dunlops have fashioned one of the finest power plays extant in senior hockey circles. It was their ability to convert pay-dirt nuggets out of McFarland minor falls from official grace, that proved the difference between victory and defeat. The statistics revealed that three of the Dunnies' markers were fired home when the Hildebranders were playing with a member in the sin house.

We, in the face of being accused of being a strict hometowner, believe the Maes are just as good, and better, than the Dunlops, and that 5-3 score of a week or ten days ago was a truer indication of the club's abilities than was last Saturday night's count, despite the fact the Dunnies were playing on home ice. In that 5-3 game the Maes kept their penalty noses clean. Last Saturday they were running a little, and the Dunnies wiped them clean with three markers out of four tries.

Tonight the Dunlops cross hockey swords with the Maes in Memorial Arena, and it is hoped the Ikemen learned a lesson in Whitby last Saturday, that won't be readily forgotten. Even that 6-4 victory over the Hill-Ottawa Canadiens on Sunday afternoon, and the taste of Saturday's defeat from the McFarland mouths, because that is the one they wanted to win—and spoiled their own chances of so doing.

However, that is water under the bridge and tonight is another night. All will be forgotten if the Dunnies go home on the short end of the score and the Maes share the top perch of the loop with their friendly enemies from Blairville.

A weekend despatch from an underground operator in Kingston which arrived before the weekend games had been completed, stated that Messrs. Brodin and Gagnon will not been satisfied with the showing of some of the Merchants in recent outings, and unless something like something different was forthcoming, something like an axe could fall, or words to that effect.

Whatever it was it apparently had the desired effect, for the Merchants thrilled a hometown Saturday night crowd with a topside 5-2 victory over the speedy Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, and followed it up with a Sunday afternoon 2-2 tie chaser down Cornwall way.

But Habs' Geoffrion Slashes Ranger Star's Lead by Four; Plante Leads Vezina Splurge

MONTREAL (CP)—Right wing or centre seems to be the preferred position for point producers in the National Hockey League so far this season.

Of the 31 NHL players who've scored 20 or more points this season, six are centres and three are right wingers. Only two are left wingers—Montreal's Dickie Moore and Boston's Vic Stasiuk —and only one, New York's Bill Gadsby, is a defenceman.

CLOSES IN

Montreal Canadiens' right-winger Bernie Geoffrion burst out with a blazing four-point performance last week to cut Bathgate's lead over him by four points. He's second with 28 points and 17 assists for 29 points, the 17 assists tying him with teammate Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard for the rank of second-best helper in the loop. Geoffrion's other 11 points come from two goals and 19 assists, in the box.

Geoffrion's centre, Jean Beliveau, also moved up in the scoring race, getting four goals and two assists and moving into a third-place tie at 27 points, one fellow Montrealer Moore, the outright winger in the top seven.

Chicago Black Hawks Eddie Litzenberger, took a nose dive by doing absolutely nothing. Big Litz, in second place last week with 21 points on nine goals and 12 assists, was tied for seventh place this week.

MCKENNEY ALSO DROPS

Boston's Don McKenney also slid down from fifth place last week to eighth place with the same number of points—12 goals and eight assists. Total points, 20.

Detroit's goalie, Terry Sawchuk, was the busiest netminder of the Red Wings for several months now, collapsed during the week-end and allowed 13 goals in two games, one of them a 7-0 shutout by Montreal.

The splurge by Montreal forced their own w a n d e r i n g goalie Jacques Plante into the lead for the Vezina Trophy Race. Plante has been credited as of 57 league 23 games for an average of 2.48 goals a game, and he has three shutouts to his credit.

Sawchuk has allowed 60 goals in 24 games for a 2.50 average and has two shutouts.

Durelle Cocky, 'Will Knock Him Silly'

MONTREAL (CP)—Yvon Durelle was in a confident mood as he finished his first workout at his Montreal gym in preparation for his world light heavyweight boxing go with champion Archie Moore.

"I'm going to knock him silly," said Durelle, the New Brunswick fisherman and British Empire light-heavy champion.

"I don't think Moore can go more than six rounds at his age. I'll let him carry the fight and bad weather pushed back his arrival to Wednesday.

Durelle spoke with a grim air. Then he brightened:

HOOKS HELD UP

Durelle, 29, arrived Saturday for the bout, to be held Dec. 10 in Montreal Forum. Moore—who admits being 49—was to arrive the same day. Both complained bad weather pushed back his arrival to Wednesday.

Durelle spoke with a grim air. Then he brightened:

"You know, we must have respect for old age, but its time some of the younger fellows took over.

Yvon, weighing 176 pounds—the limit is 175—went six rounds with sparring partners Monday and impressed ringsiders with his speed and power. He actually punched the heavy bag, skipped and did rope exercises.

"Yvon has never been in better shape. He trained hard before leaving home and is training hard here. Every one of the links in the hungry fighters—he has four kids to feed—and wants to win his fight badly."

Meanwhile, Joe Louis, former world heavyweight champion picked Durelle to win. Here to referee wrestling matches, Louis will be back the day of the fight.

"This Durelle," he said, "is a good fighter and can move around fast and punch hard. Archie is in his 40s and not very fast any more. I think Durelle will take him."

"He will certainly hit him and make him backpedal, Louis said. Once Moore has to start moving, his legs will give out.

Goldston Affair Still Hot Football Topic

VANCOUVER (CP) — The "Goldston incident" was still one of the football topics when Winnipeg Blue Bombers' 33-28 Grey Cup victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats was rehashed over and over.

Annis Stukus, football editor of the Vancouver Sun, had this to say Monday: "Whether he should have been disqualified for the punch and Lewis says he planted him but hit his face guard—is secondary. The blear should have.

The official who made the call on Goldston and ordered him out of play—a umpire, Taylor Paterson, of Regina.

As a player, Paterson came up through the junior ranks in Regina. He also played against Saskatchewan Roughriders. His only season in the Western International Football Union. Later he served in the RCAF.

"I made the call and that's all there is to say," football umpire Taylor Paterson said Monday in Regina.

He would make no further comment on the controversial decision.

Redlegs on Eve of Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cincinnati Redlegs appear to be involved in trade negotiations with Pittsburgh Pirates. San Francisco Giants and Philadelphia Phillies.

But Louis Cardinals also were in fierce pitching, hoping to improve their weak attack.

It was reliably reported the Redlegs might be willing to deal Frank Thomas, their power hitting infielder - outfielder, and catcher Smoky Burgess, lefthanded pitcher Joe Nuxhall, catcher Ed Bailey and third baseman Don Hoak. Lack of a southpaw starter handicapped the Bucs in their late season drive last season.

Smith said several clubs have made inquiries about Johnny Temple, his fine second baseman. "But nobody seems willing to get him," said Mayo, who managed the Phillies last summer.

Winnipeg Makes Strong Bid For Pan-American Trials

By BOB TRIMBEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Winnipeg made a strong bid Monday to gain the 1959 Pan-American Games trials for field hockey.

The move came at the opening of the Amateur Athletic Union's annual meeting. Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba invited the AAU to stage the event in his province and offered every assistance.

Adding impetus was the recent approval by ratepayers of a $150,000 recreational bylaw, which included $50,000 for a renovation and extension of the Polo Park Arena. The park, ideally suited to metric distances, will be brought to international standards through the program.

The AAU official said: "While there are other bids for the trials and final approval has not been given by the general body, the facilities which the park will offer and the fact the Pan American Games are played under the metric system makes the offer difficult to overlook."

TORONTO ASKING, TOO

Toronto has also asked for the trials. The games will be held at Chicago, starting next Sept. 29.

Behind the Winnipeg move to stage the mid-July trials is a $175,000 deficit which faces the Canadian Olympic Association.

Ottawa and Montreal have also been mentioned as possible sites for the trials.

Delegates mulled over a long list of Canadian athletes nominated by AAU branches for five amateur trophies. Winners will be announced today.

Highlighting today's discussions was organization of a junior Olympic program for athletes between 11 and 17 years.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Lightweight Russell Sands, 134½, Australia, Monday night stopped Louis Skopper, 131½, South Africa, in two minutes of the eighth round of a 12-rounder at Sydney Stadium.

Hamilton Still Loves Its Tiger-Cats

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton hasn't forgotten its Tiger-Cats.

This was obvious Monday night when more than 3,000 persons crowded the Hamilton Amateur Athletic Association's grounds to welcome the locals home from their 35-28 loss to Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Saturday's Grey Cup game.

The fans, sitting on snow-covered seats, gave a great round of applause to the team with a special two-minute standing ovation to Ralph Goldston, ejected from Saturday's game in Vancouver for slugging Bombers' Leo Lewis.

Coach Jim Trimble received a long round of cheers as he and Geod Fellow, from the packed stands, which heard him offer no comment. The best team won."

Goldston, interviewed by reporters, said he did not punch Lewis, but only grabbed at his face mask.

Pop Ivy May Be Lion Coach

EDMONTON (CP) — The Journal says it has learned from "unofficial but well - informed sources" that Frank (Pop) Ivy has agreed to coach the Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union next season.

Ivy coached Edmonton Eskimos for four years and won the Grey Cup twice. He left at the end of last season to become coach of the Calgary Stampeders of the National Football League in the United States. He signed a one-year agreement.

The Journal's unnamed source said a three-year contract at $25,000 a year will be agreed upon Tuesday by directors of the Lions club.

Ligas finished the 1958 season in last place with three wins in 16 league games. Dan Edwards took over as coach for the remainder of the season after Clem Crowe was fired.

Vancouver general manager Herb Capozzi of the Lions said it "definitely was true that any commitment has been made" to engage Ivy as coach.

Ivy said at Philadelphia that whether he remains with the Cardinals depends on whether the team does in its remaining two games.

At the same time he described the "speculation" the Ed monton report.

The Cardinals are tied for last place in the National Football League's Eastern Division with a 2-7-1 record.

Major League Players Want Share of Owners' Receipts

By JOE REICHLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major league baseball players took the initiative today in an all-out drive for increased salaries. They asked a share of the club owners' total receipts.

The players' league representatives, Robin Roberts of Philadelphia and Eddie Yost of Washington, arranged to confer with the owners. They planned to report back to 16 team representatives later.

At a meeting Monday, the players' representatives voted unanimously to ask for 25 per cent of the 16 clubs' over-all annual income. This went far beyond their demands for a cut of the regular season radio and television money.

MINOR LEAGUE DRAFT DAY

Meanwhile, it was the minor league baseball draft day with players from their own ranks today after the majors had picked their 16-man limit in the coup selecting 12 men for a total of $300,000. All the minors from class triple A through class C have a turn at the grab bag before the annual baseball baggage convention settles into its business routine.

St. Louis Cardinals, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox each grabbed two drafters at the standard $25,000 price tag. Detroit, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee and Chicago Cubs each took one.

Three minor league teams were split two under the new liberalized draft rules permitting any number of picks from the same club as long as the players had been signed for four years. The three teams were Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League and Charleston, W.Va., and Wichita of the American Association.

SOME QUICK SHIFTS

When Milwaukee selected outfielder Jim Piscol from Richmond the hit six of December. There were over the 40-man limit. They had to cut a man and Piscol dropped to Richmond. Then Hersh to Wichita.

Detroit promptly picked up Hersh, putting the Tigers one over the limit. So they transferred Ivy Shiraz to Charleston. Almost immediately, Shiraz was drafted by the White Sox, who also took Claude Raymond, a righthanded pitcher, from Wichita.

Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, 34, who has played with five different major league teams, some of them more than twice, came up for another look.

Pittsburgh drafted him from Portland after ruling that he led the International League in five batting categories.

LEAF OWNER SHOCKED

The Leafs were hard-hit by the loss of Nelson. They had expected him to escape the draft.

"I'm sick, I'm shocked," said Jack Kent Cooke, Leaf owner, who is attending the meetings here. Nelson was counted on as the core of next year's Leafs.

Leaf boss picked up Dick Luebke, a likely looking lefthanded pitcher who was at San Antonio last season but was on the Vancouver list. The Cards also went into Vancouver for outfielder Joe Fan Durham, a former Baltimore Oriole.

The Phillies took Johnny O'Brien, one of the Seattle baseball Braves who were paid a big bonus by Branch Rickey to sign with Pittsburgh a few years ago. Johnny had been traded to St. Louis last summer and shipped out to Rochester.

Kansas City wound up with Wayne Terwilliger, veteran second baseman. They plucked him from Charleston where he was voted the most valuable player in the American Association.

Kingston Defeats Belleville 8-4, Tightens Grip on Second Place

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Johnson Motors of Kingston tightened their grip on second place in the OHA Central Ontario Junior "B" hockey league here last night by handing Belleville Lambert-Rollins their fourth setback of the year by an 8-4 score.

Sparked by speedy Reg Mulholland, the visitors commanded play in the first and third chapters. They took a 3-0 lead in the opening stanza, tapered off in the second when Belleville played improved hockey for a short while, but had to eat a 4-2 lead.

Belleville cut the lead to 4-3 in the first minute of the third but Kingston suddenly caught fire and pulled away with three consecutive goals. The homesters stayed in the game with one but Kingston got that back in the final minute for the 8-4 victory.

Reg Mulholland paced the Limestone City crews' attack with three goal and assists. Denis O'Donnell fired a brace of goals and added an assist while Don Sandor had one marker and two assists. Fred Curran had one and one, Billy Reid scored once while Syd Faulkner, Gerry Offord and Wayne Waterworth each earned two assists.

Gary Rowbotham led the Belleville club pointwise with one goal and two helpers. Gary Goyer had a goal and assist, while Dennis Kerrulph, one of the team's hardest workers, and Ralph Plane scored one goal each. Bucky Ethier and Gordie St. Louis each gathered an assist.

In the penalty department, Kingston drew six against three, assessed to Reginald Mulholland. One of the Kingston penalties was a bench penalty to the coach for complaining too loudly about an offside call by referee Vern Goyer.

Mulholland opened the game scoring at 11.38 of the first on a short backhand shot and made it 2-0 at 16.46 when he outraced a pursuing defenceman on a breakaway. O'Donnell made it advantage when DePietro tried to bang one a puck and poked it under his leg pads at 19.43 to give Johnson Motors a 3-0 lead.

Mulholland completed his hat trick at 1.30 of the second while Belleville was a man short. Dennis Kerrulph got Belleville on the score sheet at 12.53 on a short pass from Gary Goyer, Belleville carried the play over the rest of the period and at 19.23 Goyer completed a three-pip play with Bucky Ethier and Gary Rowbotham to cut the margin to 4-2.

Rowbotham gunned the disc into the rigging for a 4-3 score at the one minute mark of the third but then Kingston came back with over the play. O'Donnell at 3.08, Curran at 7.19 and Ford with a blueline drive made it 7-3 in favor of the visitors.

Ralph Plane tallied a final Belleville goal with a Kingston man in the sin-bin at 14.57. Waterworth serving the bench penalty when Doug Senior edged the scoring at 19.21.

One of the bright spots from a Belleville standpoint was the rugged defensive game turned in by Jerry Mann. The husky defenceman belted the Kingston attackers with solid body checks on more than one occasion.

Kingston — Nichols, Carey, Offord, Senior, Mulholland, Waterworth, Curran, S. Faulkner, Waterworth, L. Faulkner, Ford.

Writer Says Richard Is to Pro Hockey What Ruth Was to Baseball

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Goaltender Jacques Plante of the New York Rangers, who has been in the nets for 10 consecutive games, has allowed only 15 goals for a 1.50 average.

Plante's record is the best among the seven goalies who have played in at least seven games.

Swede, Machen Fight Approved By Commissioner

CHICAGO (AP) — A proposed 12 - round rematch between European heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and Eddie Machen for Feb. 4, in Chicago Stadium has been approved by the Illinois Boxing Commission.

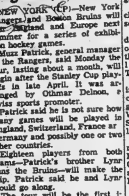
In sanctioning the bout Monday, the commission recognized an agreement between Machen's manager, Sid Flaherty, and Erwin Abigall, adviser of the Swedish champion.

The rematch contract — which was submitted to the commission —was signed by them prior to the fight in Gothenburg, Sweden, last Sept. 18, when Johansson knocked out Machen in the first round.

Johansson recently arrived in New York and was closeted with Cus D'Amato, manager of world heavyweight titlist Floyd Patterson. The purpose of the meeting presumably was preliminary talk for a world championship fight but nothing definite came out of it.

Rangers, Bruins Will Tour England, Europe

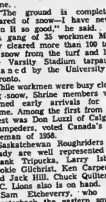
NEW YORK (CP)—New York Rangers and Boston Bruins will meet England and Europe next summer for a series of exhibition hockey games.



Milton Patrick, general manager of the Rangers, said Monday the tour, limited a month, will begin after the Stanley Cup playoffs in late April. It was arranged by Ottmar Delnon, a Swiss sports promoter.

Patrick said he is not sure how many games will be played in England, Ireland, France and Germany and possibly one or two other countries.

Eighteen players from both teams—Patrick's brother Lynn runs the Bruins—will make the trip. Patrick said he and Lynn would go along.



Your will be the first Europe by National League teams since the war.

Stadium in Perfect Shape For Shrine Game

HAMILTON (CP) — Bob Gargle, general manager for the annual Shrine East-West all - star football clash here, said Monday the Civic Stadium field is in "perfect shape" for Saturday's game.

"The ground is completely cleared of snow—I have never seen it so good," he said.

A gang of 35 workmen Monday cleared more than 100 tons of snow from the turf and laid the Varsity Stadium tarpaulin over the field by the University of Toronto.

While workmen were busy clearing snow, Shrine members welcomed early arrivals for the game. Among the first from the West was Don Lozzi of Calgary Stampeders, voted Canada's top lineman of 1958.

Sam Etcheverry, who will quarterback the eastern squad came to town with a group of Montreal Alouette teammates—Red Ogden, Tom Hugo, Doug McNichol, Jacki Simpson, Bill Bewley and Pat Abbruzzi.

Dick Fouts of Toronto Argonauts and Bill Swiatkoski of Ottawa Rough Riders, a native Hamiltonian, have also dropped in.

Four Cities Apply for 1964 Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Four cities—Brussels, Tokyo, Vienna and Detroit—have applied for the 1964 Olympic games, the International Olympic Committee announced Monday.

The time limit for applications expired Monday. The Brussels application reached the IOC headquarters at the last moment this morning.

The cities of both the 1964 Games are to be selected at the IOC's 55th session opening at Munich, Germany, May 22.

Steve Cochran's Home Must Be Seen to Be Believed

At the Belle . . .

"The Colossus of New York" and "The Space Children"

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Those who think that Hollywood is losing its characters should take a trip up to Steve Cochran's house.

Some place! It's got a swimming pool that looks more like a mountain lake, complete, with islands. Also 25 animals, including two goats and a deer named Toby.

The Cochran place has to be seen to be believed. You go up Coldwater Canyon from Beverly Hills, turn at the top of the mountain, drive along Mulholland and then plunge down a slope. There's his house, clinging to the hillside.

PLENTY OF CATS

The first greeters are Shane, a German shepherd, and Big Pal Toby, an extremely companionable deer off our mountain. There are cats all over the place.

Next, Steve appears in blue jeans, dirty shirt and bare feet—he likes comfort. He explains about Toby: It was found on a mountain road with rear end smashed by a car. Steve adopted it, had a vet fix his hind quarters with steel pins. Then the fish and game boys stepped in and said Steve couldn't be domesticated.

"What was I going to do—set her free in the woods with six pins in her hips?" says Steve. "After a while they sort the dropped the matter."

RANCH-STYLE HOUSE

Steve's house is the normal California ranch-type with a 50-year-old slot machine and an enclosed piano.

The latest addition to the two-acre estate is a monstrous swimming pool with a tropical island in the middle.

"The pool started out, to be 48 feet long," Steve says, "but by the time I finished it was 66 feet. I'm going to stock it with perch." Won't his female guest object to sharing the pool with fish?

"The perch would bother 'em," the actor says. "If the girls don't like it, they don't have to swim."

The theory that the human mind, divorced from the sense of pain and mortality, would take all decency and compassion from mankind is promulgated by producer William Alland in the new Paramount science-fiction shocker, "The Colossus of New York," showing tonight for the last time at the Belle Theatre.

Starred in the far-fatic story of a man's mind in the body of a monster are television and screen star John Baragrey, lovely Mala Powers, veteran character actor Otto Kruger and Robert Hutton.

"The Space Children," thrilling with Sputniks and Travelers whirling in orbit in ever increasing number, the spotlight seems to be focussing with sharper intensity than ever before on science, including the fiction and entertainment fields. Sounding into the latter field is Paramount's exciting and imaginative "Spider," "The Space Children," the second-action feature attraction playing tonight for the last times at the Belle Theatre.

Produced by William Alland, an expert in filming science fiction, "The Space Children" stars young Michael Ray who distinguished himself in "The Brave One" and more recently in "The Tin Star," plus Adam Williams, star of stage and television; radio and television performer Peggy Webber; and the ever-popular Jackie Coogan. A number of talented muppets take part in the provocative proceedings, which are set in an unnamed missile base somewhere along the Pacific Ocean coastline.

Bell Clamps Down on Coach Bickering

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell has told National Football League owners he would like to continue to run the league "by persuasion" but that unless they end internal squabbling he is ready to give up his contract.

Bell conferred Monday with the owners in executive session after the 13 pro teams completed four rounds of their annual player draft.

"As far as I'm concerned," Bell said, "I don't want to be a car. I have always tried to do things by persuasion. But the individual bickering and the squawking of coaches has got to stop. If it doesn't I'll have to run strictly by the book. And unless I can run this league the way the book says I will give up my contract."

The owners retorted by giving the commissioner a vote of confidence.

The $50,000 - a - year commissioner, now in his 13th year as head of the NFL, said he was annoyed by accusations of owners against each other; he was annoyed by the squawking of coaches about officials; he was tired of arguments.

Fortune Scathingly Attacks Present State of American TV

By CHARLES MERCER

I don't recall having read a stronger denunciation of an industry in this magazine largely devoted to the examination of commercial enterprise. Nor do I recall an angrier reaction to such criticism.

It's rather curious, for Fortune does not make any new criticisms. It merely synthesizes a lot of criticisms that people in the medium have been hearing for a long time.

"By and large," says Fortune, "the 1958-59 season is compounded of pathos from the realm of counterfeit cerebration via quiz shows, barbarism from the police blotters, inanity from outer space, monstrophilia from Hollywood's oethidd cemeteries."

LOSES EXCITEMENT?

Plunging deeply into the complexities of finance and programming, the article states that the medium has lost its excitement and aspiration and is wallowing in mediocrity. It traces this state chiefly to the exodus of creative talent from the industry and the growing ascendancy of west coast film packagers.

Fortune foresees a "disastrous cycle of economic pressure making for shoddy programs, shoddy programs reducing the television audience, smaller audiences increasing the economic pressure."

It suggests that the time is approaching when commercial TV needs the competition of pay TV. It should be amazed how many people are hurt and angry.

The deepest ailing suffered by people in the industry seems to come from Fortune's inference that network management is surrendering its programming responsibilities to film packagers and that pay TV might provide the healthful competition commercial TV needs.

Personally, I agree with Fortune's opinion that economic pressure is resulting in many shoddy programs. But this has not started a "disastrous cycle" economically. Distressing though the fact may be to idealists, the rating agencies report that the viewing audience has reached an all-time high this season—and many of the worst programs are the most popular.

Thus the television industry maintains that the viewing public is getting what it wants. In other words, it feels that change is impossible rather than inevitable.

"I started to catch you but I was afraid I'd hurt my back. I bowl tonight, you know!"

THIS IS Something Special
From time to time we are privileged to present a motion picture of which we are particularly proud.
We say "proud" because it is a word with many meanings bringing together all the rare qualities that make a film — "SOMETHING SPECIAL".
This is such a film, a bold provocative story that is torn from the diaries of the living.
Frankly, we can't remember a film quite so intimate, so tender and so very human. It is youthful, vibrant and alive.
See it and you will enjoy a new thrilling experience.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, December 3, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — A.M. is just fine for house, garden or desk routine work that is awaiting you, and a most efficient job can be done. Fine for selling, buying, merchandising of any sort, too. P.M. steer clear of stranger who makes fantastic promises.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — A.M. should be spent at the hands of beautician or barber to enhance your appearance. Have luncheon with comrade who needs kindness from you. Come to a meeting of minds. P.M. be economical and avoid arguing with anyone.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — A.M. for regaining harmony and order in own residence. Begin uptrend by giving attention to rather tedious but most necessary duties, those that require thought and painstaking exactness. P.M. avoid fight with irate associate.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Here is that morning when you can accomplish related duties with real efficiency and have a happy frame of mind. Give attention to priceless antiques, frayed furnishings, etc. Get things spruced up beautifully. P.M. take it easy, relax.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Fine day for repairs to real estate that will improve its appearance as well as selling value. See that your bills are paid, particularly taxes, and set up a more practical budget. P.M. be happy and have inexpensively.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Concentrate on improving your appearance by vigorous, healthful exercise as well as other treatments and beauty work. Then be very sociable. P.M. use discretion and diplomacy at home. Avoid painful arguments, disharmony.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Confidential talks and study bring out data you had almost forgotten, but which will be very beneficial in the early future.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — In order that you attain your own goals today, it is necessary you also co-operate with others in getting their desires. Go more than halfway with them, because they deserve it. P.M. be most economical. Rest and relax.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Do your very best to show those in executive or powerful position that you are a first-rate worker and citizen. P.M. seek Divine wisdom through concentration, prayer and the beauty of quiet, relaxed thinking.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Many fine ideas occur to you but they are of no value if you do not act on them immediately. They will vanish into thin air never to return. Look in your career too, for inspiration. P.M. is fine for heavy reading, important conferences.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — It would be very wise to attend to bill paying and bill collecting today. Plan your itinerary to best get ability and you will have fine results. P.M. be certain to steer clear of egotistical individual.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Long talks with partners may seem like a waste of time, but actually there will be so much information and so many ideas gleaned from them that you will be glad you took the precious time. P.M. be very diplomatic around a bigwig.

If your child is born today — The intelligent child born today will early know the value of system and order in the attainment of any cherished ambition. An excellent horoscope for work before the public and particularly in the noble professions of medicine, dentistry, nursing. Early teach the performance of regular duties efficiently and naturally, as part of duty to humanity and self. Wonderful chart for government service.

Director of Travel Bureau Estimates Next Year Will Be One of Big Spending

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A recession in the United States and a wet summer prevented Canada's multi - million - dollar tourist business from reaching record proportions in 1958.

But Alan Field, director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau at Ottawa, estimates that 1959 will be a banner year in travel spending by visitors to Canada, especially Americans.

A Canadian Press survey of federal, provincial and private tourist agencies shows that the level of tourist business this year will be about the same as in 1957.

NO INCREASE

Mr. Field said the main indication is that the number of United States vehicles which entered Canada on travellers' permits in the first 10 months of 1958 was unchanged from last year.

Another barometer is inquiries from prospective tourists. The federal travel bureau itself has received 700,000 requests for tourist information so far this year, an increase of about 20 per cent over the same period last year.

Mr. Field said he bases his forecast for 1959 on the expected spending of the U.S. slump and requests for information by potential tourists next year.

Another hopeful sign was a prediction by American automobile manufacturers that a record number of passenger cars would be sold in the U.S. in 1959.

"If that is so there should be an increase in the number of cars entering Canada," Mr. Field said.

In 1957 foreign visitors spent in Canada a record $563,000,000, up $26,000,000 from the previous year. Of this total, $325,000,000 was spent by Americans.

BIGGER DEFICIT

However, Canadian visitors spent $403,000,000 on travel in the U.S. in 1957 and $122,000,000 in overseas countries. This resulted in a Canadian tourist deficit of $162,000,000, a drop of $1,000,000 from the 1956 deficit.

Travel officials say, however, that not all Canadian money spent in other countries, particularly the U.S., is true travel spending. They estimate that of the $403,000,000 Canadians spent in the U.S. in 1957 at least $120,000,000 was for the purchase of American consumer goods.

On the other hand they say that nearly all the $325,000,000 spent by Americans in Canada in 1957 were true tourist dollars. U.S. tourists purchase some Canadian consumer goods, including handicrafts, but the volume is small.

Mr. Field said tourist travel into Canada increased in the first few months of 1958 but dropped off after that.

FUN FROM HUMIDITY

One tourist official said the Canadian tourist business reaps real benefits when there is hot, sticky weather in the U.S. in May. Americans then tend to travel to Canada to seek relief.

The federal government puts its American advertising campaign into full swing during the early part of the summer. The 1958 drive cost about $1,300,000 and more money likely will be spent next year.

At the federal-provincial tourist conference in Ottawa Dec. 3-5 a committee of tourist experts will make a preliminary report on a long-range survey of the Canadian tourist industry.

Mr. Field said that gradual completion of the Trans-Canada highway is helping to keep an increasing number of Canadian tourists at home.

FIGURES LACKING

However, there are no figures available to indicate the amount of tourist dollars Canadians spend in their own country, Provincial estimates include spending by residents of the province and visitors from other provinces and other countries.

"There has been a marked increase in the number of Canadians visiting the Maritimes and western provinces," Mr. Field said.

All provinces except Ontario, Nova Scotia and Quebec estimate that their over-all tourist business will be up in 1958 compared with last year. This includes business from residents of the province and visitors from other parts of Canada and foreign countries.

Ontario and Nova Scotia estimate their level of tourist business will be about the same as it was in 1957. However, Quebec forecasts a slight decrease to $200,000,000 from $208,000,000.

REVIEW BY PROVINCES

The Newfoundland tourist department continues to soft-pedal its tourist attractions until the Trans-Canada highway is completed. It keeps no tourist records.

The Prince Edward Island tourist bureau says 1958 traffic will be 12 per cent greater than in 1957. Last year some 150,000 persons visited the province, with total tourist business valued at about $5,000,000. Improved ferry service to the island has been helpful.

A slight increase in tourist travel is expected by New Brunswick. There has been a boost in visitors from the U.S. and other provinces except Ontario and Quebec. Value of the tourist business this year will be about $35,000,000.

Dan Wallace, Nova Scotia tourist director, says preliminary figures indicate visitors will total 600,000 and spending $47,000,000. He says the proportion of Canadian visitors continues to grow.

Raoul Baby, acting director of the Quebec publicity bureau, estimates 4,700,000 tourists visited Quebec this year, down from 5,210,000 in 1957. The decrease was caused by the business recession.

LARGE INFLUX

The Ontario government estimates that by the end of the year visitors to the province will total between 17,000,000 and 18,000,000. Tourist spending is estimated at between $250,000,000 and $260,000,000, about the same as last year.

The Manitoba bureau of travel and publicity forecasts 1,250,000 visitors this year, up from 1,004,498 last year. Tourist spending is estimated at $33,000,000, compared with $32,224,964 in 1957.

The Saskatchewan department of travel and information says the province's tourist business this year was the "best yet."

There was a 35-per-cent increase in American vehicles and a big-per increase in arrivals of vehicles from other provinces.

An 15-per-cent increase in tourist business is forecast by Alberta for 1958. The record was 2,000,000 visitors last year and a tourist expenditure of more than $60,000,000.

The British Columbia government estimates tourist spending this year will total about $110,000,000, up from $103,000,000 in 1957. The B.C. Centennial attracted many visitors this year but many tourist operators on Vancouver Island suffered as a result of strikes on ferry boats operating between the island and the mainland.

Giant Brush Fire Threatens Malibu Movie Colony

26 Homes Destroyed Many Forced to Flee

MALIBU BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A wind-lashed fire has cut an eight-mile-wide swath from the mountains to the sea but a massed battery of pumpers, virtually one to a house, today checked a threat to this famed film colony.

The huge blaze, driven by 50 mile-an-hour winds, has destroyed an estimated 26 homes.

Hundreds of residents have fled the scene.

Malibu Lake, perhaps set by an arsonist, burst out Tuesday on the brush and cata-studded inland slopes of the Santa Monica Mountains. The winds quickly whipped it over the ridges to the hills and down canyons to the sea.

ON OCEAN SIDE

The Malibu Beach film colony is on the ocean side of the highway. The flame jumped from the land side across the highway but the intensive efforts of firemen and their pumps and trucks dents with garden hoses checked it.

The $50,000 home of actor Lew Ayres was one of the houses destroyed as the blaze swept over the hills across the Malibu hills to the sea, driven by dry, gale-force winds.

Property on ruralers owned by actors Ronald Reagan and Dorothy Hope was damaged. Canadian-born actor Raymond Burr's colonial film — threatened ranch, truckline and several head of prize cattle with him.

The film colony of Malibu Beach, which is built from the leaping flames and residents fled to the ocean's edge, pouring water on their homes. One of them was actor Jackie Coogan, who snatched a television appearance Tuesday night to watch the blaze from his roof.

RECALLS PREVIOUS BLAZE

Fire officials said the blaze may be worse than the Malibu fire two years ago that burned 18 homes in days, blackening 42,000 acres and destroying $4 million. Some of the same ground is being scorched by the same pow, but most of the fire is in the hills running down to the inland side, about 20 miles from Los Angeles.

"This thing has gone scary," said county fire chief Keith Klinger, directing more than 1,000 men on the fire lines.

A spokesman said the sudden rise in the wind and a spark "from unknown source" ignited the second fire, which is now confined to touch off the fire at noon Tuesday along a main highway eight miles from Malibu Beach on the Pacific Ocean. The possibility of arson is being investigated.

INTERRUPTS FILMING

The fire swept over a ranch where Columbia is making a film company to make western movies, causing a company spokesman to say: "We're packing."

Evacuation centres were set up by immigration officials in Kentucky.

LINER BREAKS UP

CASCAIS, Portugal (AP)—The 8,000-ton British liner Hildebrand, grounded in fog near here 8 months ago, broke in two Tuesday. Salvage work was almost complete and she had been made in refloat her in two weeks.

Today's Chuckle

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Light snow spread across Northern Ontario Tuesday and across the central regions during the past night. The southern edge of the snow is near Toronto. During the night a trace was reported at Malton airport. To the north about two inches of snow fell by this morning.

Light drizzle and freezing drizzle is occurring over the southern regions this morning. This precipitation is forecast to spread eastward, into the lower Great Lakes area today.

A storm, which is moving across the Prairies today will reach the Great Lakes about noon Thursday. Snow will continue over the northern regions Thursday. Snow mixed with rain will occur in the southern regions late in the day.

Old Barkeepers Wait to Start Celebration

LONDON (AP) — "No hard drinking during the ceremony" was the order Tuesday when the Queen Mother opened a new bungalow colony for retired barkeeps.

Under a marquee she sipped tea with a jolly vintage of old pint pullers, each with more than 20 years' service at the bar, and their wives. Only occasionally did some of the men's eyes stray to a silk curtain directly behind the Queen Mother's chair.

The silk curtain was pulled aside. Crate upon crate of hard liquor was revealed. And 100 pairs of trained hands set to with corkscrew and bottle opener.

Mohawk Indian Repudiates His Tale of Murders

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Provincial Police say they are not surprised to learn a Mohawk Indian in Miami, Fla., has repudiated his confession to the murder of three United States hunters in the Gaspe Peninsula bush five years ago.

Wilbert Coffin, 43, a prospector, was hanged in 1956 for the murder of one of the victims, Richard Lindsay, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa. The others slain were the youth's father, Eugene, 45, and a friend, Frederick Chase, 30.

The Indian, Francis Gilbert Thompson, told Miami police last week that he and a companion, Johnny Greene, shot two of the hunters. But Thompson said Private Carol Thompson denied his guilt when interviewed by state prison censors at the jail where he is being held.

"I don't know anything about it," he said in reference to the slayings.

In Quebec City, Lt.-Col. Leon Lambert of the Quebec Provincial Police, said Thompson's repudiation came as no surprise.

"But I am convinced that he took so long to make the denial."

Meanwhile, in Syracuse, N.Y., Thompson's mother, Mrs. Catherine Lazore, 59, told police her son was in a Canadian mental institution at the time of the murders.

Mrs. Lazore said Thompson was at Brockville, on the recommendation of a Cornwall physician. He escaped from the institution in 1955 and was arrested by immigration officials in Kentucky.

Sudbury, Port Colborne Strikers Steam Into Toronto to See Frost

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly 1,000 strikers from Sudbury and Port Colborne streamed into Toronto today to demand action by Premier Frost in the 72-day-old International Nickel Company strike.

A five-man delegation met with the premier and other government officials while chanting slogans in front of the modern Queen's Park info the downtown area.

The delegation was led by Nels Thibeault, Canadian president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.). Other members included Mike Solski, president of the Sudbury local, Roly Methot, president of the Port Colborne local, and two other union officials from Sudbury, Tom Paradeis and Ray Stevenson.

The marchers (including a handful of women), toured the downtown area in groups of 50, visiting Inco's Bay Street offices before returning to Queen's Park. Many of them carried placards saying "We're fed up with Inco stalling."

A motorcycle policeman was detached from five other officers outside the legislative buildings to accompany the marchers. No incidents were reported.

Inside the legislature buildings four plainclothes provincial police officers investigated the premier's office during the disturbance. The premier was not present officials while chanting slogans in front of the modern Queen's Park info the downtown area.

STILL SEEK CAUSE OF CHICAGO FIRE, DISCOUNT ARSON

Think Cigaret Butt In Trash to Blame

CHICAGO (AP) — While anguished parents prepared today to bury the 87 children who with three nuns died in Chicago's worst school fire, the cause of the catastrophe still plagued investigators.

Thus it started in the base of a stairwell in the northeast corner of Our Lady of Angels School they generally agreed. The way and the how were theories.

One police arson expert theorized a cigaret flipped carelessly into a pile of trash, a wastebasket or a stairway may have sparked Monday's blaze. A school boy smoking a smoke was one possibility, he said.

Flames might have smouldered for an hour, said Sgt. Drew Brown, and then flashed up the stairwell to the fourth floor and the Roman Catholic nun teachers.

Arson was discounted, but not ruled out.

As the search for clues went on, plans for a mass funeral for the children were announced by church officials.

Twenty - five priests set out Tuesday to visit the bereaved stricken homes of the victims and seeking agreements for the service and burial on Friday.

In the hospitals the fight for the lives went on. Seventy-five of the injured still required hospital treatment. Two of the nuns were nuns and one a school janitor. Many children were in critical condition.

Their battle was made easier by the overwhelming response to appeals for blood and skin for grafts. Even from prospective blood donors were so great that many were told to call later in the week or the week after.

BODIES UNIDENTIFIED

And in the morgue, three charred bodies still lay unidentified. Three girls were missing, all hooped with the color. They believe the victims were their daughters.

Examination of a steel 30-gallon can found near the wooden staircase may help officials clear up any helpful clues as to the cause of the blaze.

In Boston, the National Fire Protection Association, said open doors and stairways were the major cause of death. Association engineers suggested fireproof wooden doors on the second floor were open, permitting fire and hot gases to spread quickly.

Japan Rejects Soviet Warning

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama today dismissed as propaganda Soviet warnings that Japan will break its military assistance treaty with the United States.

Fujiyama said secret negotiations to revise a 1951 defence treaty with Washington would proceed on schedule next week.

ALGIERS-PARIS (AP) — Premier Charles de Gaulle flew to Algeria today to speed his program to halt the nationalist rebellion. He landed at Constantine on his first stop.

During the five-day visit he was expected to remove Gen. Raoul Salan from control of civil administration in Algeria and to return government control to civilians.

Salan, the French military commander for Algeria, has been in charge of the civil administration as well since the May 13 uprising of right-wing European settlers and army officers that brought de Gaulle to power.

Unofficial reports say de Gaulle will give civil control to Paul Delouvrier, a veteran economist. Salan's aide, Gen. Maurice Challes, would assume military command.

Duties of the post, were not announced.

During the tour, which was to begin today at Bone, de Gaulle will inspect the Constantine region through which rebels slip arms.

De Gaulle also may meet some or most of the 71 Algerian deputies elected last weekend to the new National Assembly. He was expected to discuss with them his five - year Algerian development plan.

The plan outlined at Constantine Oct. 3 is designed to improve living conditions for the 9,000,000 Moslems in the hope of winning them away from rebel leaders.

It includes distribution to Moslem farmers of 625,000 acres of land within the next five years, creation of 400,000 new jobs through agricultural and industrial projects and raising pay and working conditions.

Despite de Gaulle's hope that a wide range of Moslem opinion would be represented among the 84 Moslems elected to the National Assembly, the 46 all camp-followers in support of the integration of Algeria into France.

Tourist Promoters to Reach 60 Million Americans by TV

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's tourist promoters hop to reach a 60,000,000 American television audience with travel films next year, perhaps attracting some of them to visit this country.

The forecast is contained in the report of the Canadian government travel bureau to the annual federal-provincial tourist conference opening here today. The conference closes Friday.

The bureau's report said its free television film library established two years ago with 180 of them in color, before July 1956, and now listed at 400, is responding 12 months ended last June, the figure had jumped to 1,881,880 showings in color.

The bureau said the library, with 56 titles on hand, needs a fresh supply of travel subjects, corresponding period last year.

Twenty-five films already have been telecast 100 times each on different American stations.

Over all, the Canadian tourist industry held its own this summer compared with 1957, despite an increased number of United States and a wet summer.

The travel bureau reported the offices of New York City York and Chicago handled 730,000 inquiries about potential visits to the Canadian scene in 1958-59.

The bureau's New York office said most complaints from returning travellers concerned "late hours, poor service and poor quality liveries from smaller retail outlets. Complaints were nearly all resulted in satisfactory adjustments."

Canada's 16 national parks and 16 national historic parks and sites had 3,550,970 visitors in the period from April 1 to Sept. 30, an increase from 3,350,970 in the corresponding period last year.

Dairy Leader Says Farmers Asking Too Much for Milk

TORONTO (CP)—E. A. Lewis, president of the National Dairy Council, suggested today that farmers may be asking too high a price for milk going into the bottled product.

"It would appear prudent not to price fluid milk out of the market," he said in a speech before the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association.

Canadians seemed, on the average, to be drinking less milk than formerly. Consumption was rising in many areas but declining in others.

This year's drop rate is averaged 81.87 a hundredweight across the country and will ever $2 in Ontario, Mr. Lewis said.

Meanwhile, daily consumption of fluid milk and cream per person had declined to .83 pints from .94 pints, about 12 per cent in the last 10 years. In Ontario the decline was nine per cent, to .82 pints from .90 pints.

"This, of course, is somewhat discouraging but this section of the dairy industry has shown a strong competition with other dairy products and this competition is not likely to diminish," Mr. Lewis added.

"It seems logical to conclude, particularly in periods when the economy is not expanding rapidly, that the price of the differential between milk for fluid consumption and milk manufactured milk, the greater will be the incentive to divert the concentrated milk products on fresh fluid sales."

Bottled milk was getting competition from skim milk powder and synthetics. Scientists now were working on ways of making whole milk powder which could dissolve instantly and retain all the taste and other qualities of bottled milk.

"In the last five years instant skim milk powder sales have grown to the point where they are running at an annual equivalent of 80,000,000 quarts."

Evaporated milk sales in Canada also have increased by some 30,000,000 pounds during the same five-year period," he said.

Seven buffalo on a nearby ranch wandered on the Union Pacific tracks and halted an ore train until they could be scared off.

Lord Alexander Ready to Leave Hospital

OTTAWA (CP) — Earl Alexander of Tunis has recovered sufficiently from a heart attack to leave hospital and return to Britain.

The wartime field marshal, governor-general of Canada from 1946 to 1952, and Countess Alexander will be driven to Montreal Thursday, and will fly to London aboard a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane from Dorval Airport.

Lord Alexander was admitted to the Ottawa Civic Hospital Oct. 27 after apparently suffering his heart attack on a hunting trip near Maple Leaf Lodge in the Ottawa, who served on Lord Alexander's staff while he was governor-general.

Lord Alexander has remained in hospital since that time. He was taken on two or three motor trips this week.

Dr. C. P. Petrie said his patient has "done awfully well." Thursday, Lord Alexander will have to rest in Britain for a period before resuming an active life.

ONSET OF EARLY WINTER HAMPERS LAKE SHIPPING

38 Ships in Danger Of Being Frozen In

MONTREAL (CP) — Shipping inched through the navigation system between Montreal and the Great Lakes during the night as captains and pilots fought to get out before the system's Saturday closing.

Most ships were being hampered by the ooze of an early winter.

Some 38 ships — including 12 ocean vessels—Tuesday were reported in danger of being frozen into the system, which gives way to the St. Lawrence Seaway next year.

"I don't think they'll get caught," said a Lachine Canal lockesman in charge of the locks. "Traffic is slow but moving.

"Most of the trouble is on the machinery — the valves wouldn't go down or up."

MAY HAMPER AID

A spokesman for the transport department's signal service said locks unless they were warned up, traffic may be halted for the winter. The official lamented for the region called for temperatures just below the freezing mark with occasional warnings risk of freezing rain today.

Twelve vessels Tuesday were reported late. Tuesday Montreal Harbor, the cause of jammed lock gates, but the Lachine Canal authorities said the delays were due to congestion in the system.

Lake St. Louis, about 15 miles west of Montreal, 18 ships were reported waiting their turn through the locks of the Lachine Canal and into Montreal Harbor. Another 18 ships were tied up at Cascades Point on the eastern end of the Soulanges Canal.

In Toronto, John J. Mahoney, regional director of the Dominion Marine Association, said he was "very concerned" that the Transport Minister Hees protesting the delay in taking measures to get traffic moving.

Mr. Mahoney, whose organization represents Canadian ships on the lakes, said the delays were also calling all day complaining of lack of navigation aids in the area.

Once into the St. Lawrence stream below the canal system, which empties into Montreal Harbor, ships may move unhindered. Solid ice is forming in the river and slush before it can take hold.

However, the Montreal harbor officials said it appeared the ocean shipping season may end before the projected Dec. 15-17 date.

WINDSOR (CP) — Preparation for the Dec. 15 closing of the Great Lakes shipping season is in full swing here with a ceremonial gun on the removal of Canadian navigation aids.

However the Corps of Army Engineers at Detroit said no date has been set for removal of U.S. navigational aids between Port Huron and Toledo.

Officials said cold weather conditions which hit the Lakehead area last week-end forced the this year's season ending before Dec. 14, last year's closing date.

'Just Don't Take Chances With Kids' Says Father After Convict Arrested

PARSONS, Kan. (AP) — "You just don't take chances with six children depending on you," said Wilbur March.

Thus the 41-year-old laborer explained why he had alerted while an escaped convict shared his home as an unwelcome guest Monday.

Acting on a tip from Mrs. March, police arrested convicted Richard Lee Allgaier, 28, a St. Louis, Mo., escapee from the state prison at Missouri Penitentiary. Allgaier was picked up while sleeping in the March home. He was unarmed and didn't resist.

Police said Allgaier had struck up a conversation with Mrs. March at a gaier made no direct threats to him. But the charge was dropped.

Allgaier, who said he walked the 200 miles between the prison and Parsons, showed up at the

Plan To Trade Governors Liked By Diefenbaker

But He Will Not Say If Menzies Is Sought

CANBERRA, Australia (CP)— Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he sees "beneficial possibilities" in an exchange of Commonwealth citizens as governor-general of various Commonwealth countries.

But at a press conference held within a few hours of his arrival for a five-day Australian visit, Mr. Diefenbaker declined to comment directly on an Ottawa report that he would like to see Australia's Prime Minister Robert Menzies as Canada's governor-general. Pressed further talks with Menzies on a number of questions are scheduled for Thursday.

Diefenbaker also said he hopes to make a tour of African Commonwealth members "as soon as conditions permit and opportunities allow." He said he regrets he was unable to visit Africa in his current 56-day world tour.

NEW AWARENESS

He had found in the present tour, whose itinerary has also spent visiting Asian Commonwealth members, "a new realization that the vitality of the Commonwealth and the necessity for its preservation."

The Canadian premier also declined a press question about which one reporter said quotes him as saying Canada favored independence for Canada's Communist China.

"There is Canadian newspapers condemnation because I said the reverse," he said with a smile.

The term of Canada's first native-born governor-general, Vincent Massey, expires next year following the scheduled summer visit of the Queen and Prince Philip. Diefenbaker said press reports on the possibility of Menzies as Massey's successor were based on speculation.

PERSONAL VIEW

However, when asked about the principle of the idea of drawing governors - general from other Commonwealth members, he replied that his own view is that there are beneficial possibilities in such a move, bringing closer relationships in the Commonwealth.

"I see no reason in the years ahead in the development of a more cohesive Commonwealth that consideration might not well be given to an interchange of governors-general or a choice of governors-general from other members of the Commonwealth," he said.

He said one of the topics to be discussed with Menzies was further measures that might be taken to expand or alter the direction of certain aspects of the Colombo Plan but added that he has not yet discussed Menzies. They also will deal with Commonwealth trade expansion and all trade topics may arise.

WHEAT DISPOSAL

Diefenbaker was asked about the best method to dispose of wheat surpluses. At a press conference in Colombo last week he said that with the prospect increase in Canadian wheat sales to China—to $50,000,000 from $35,000,000 — Canada hopes the Colombo Plan countries will take a larger share of Canadian wheat and flour.

Here, he said there should be the fullest consideration by recipient Colombo Plan countries to taking part of the aid in agricultural commodities.

Without referring directly to United States surplus disposal in Asia, he said he hoped "nothing such a Colombo Plan arrangement for Canadian surpluses would pile up while recipient countries were getting wheat from others later than they think Canada could give for normal commercial sales."

Today Diefenbaker and his wife had no important engagements other than an informal dinner with Menzies. Thursday, after talks with Menzies and cabinet members, he will meet Opposition Leader Arthur Calwell, the Labor Party leader, and attend a Government House dinner given by Governor-General Field Marshal Sir William Slim.

Bridge Company Blamed for Spans' Collapse

VICTORIA (CP) — Eighteen workmen died when part of the new Second Narrows Bridge in Vancouver collapsed into the waters of Burrard Inlet last June 17. Another man died during rescue operations.

Now a royal commission report blames the Dominion Bridge Company Limited for the collapse of two spans of the partially-constructed bridge.

It absolves the provincial government of blame but criticizes the engineer for "a lack of care."

Report of the royal commission appointed by the government to investigate the collapse of two spans and headed by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett was released Tuesday.

The chief justice found the collapse was caused by "human error" due to an inadequate temporary pier, called a false bent. It was supported by a bridge during the extensions of the spans from one permanent pier to another.

U.S. Will Put Mice, Monkeys Into Satellites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will begin firing a series of satellites from the new Pandenberg Air Force Missile in the next few weeks, Some of them will carry mice and monkeys.

The defence department's Advanced Research Projects Agency announced today that the project Discoverer program will try to put up a 1,300-pound device in its first launching attempt "within the next several months."

At least a dozen satellite launchings will be attempted, Roy Johnson, ARPA director, said.

Johnson said that the attempt will be made next year to recover a capsule from a satellite, bringing it back through the atmosphere.

Johnson said that the program, for the present, does not include sending up men.

CHILDREN WARNED AGAINST USING POOL AS RINK

A warning to children against their using the Dundas Street swimming pool as a skating rink was issued yesterday by an official of the Belleville Kinsmen Club, who said the pool presented a danger to skaters.

Youths have broken the lock on the gate and fence surrounding the pool and some have even climbed the high wire fence to get to the pool for skating.

Officials said if the practice continues stern action will be taken against the offenders.

Editor Claims Russia Has Sent Rocket Past Moon

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Erik Bergaust, editor of Missiles and Rockets magazine, says that within the last two weeks Russia sent a missile past the moon and toward Mars.

Bergaust told the Ad Club of Pittsburgh that U.S. scientists tracked the missile by radio for three days.

However, a spokesman at the defense department, asked if the military had confirmed such a launching, replied: "Emphatically no."

At Sunnyvale, Calif., Lockheed scientists disclosed an "unusual and unidentified telemeter signal of some type" was picked up Nov. 26 by the Lockheed missile tracking station here. They said the signal was a three-step telemeter tone of a different character than that of current satellites.

Hog Producers To Open Shipping Point at Madoc

The Hastings county hog producers association will shortly open a hog shipping point at Madoc, it was learned by members of Hastings county council this week.

This information came out during a discussion on resolutions from two other Ontario counties asking continuance of the present hog marketing program as set up by the Ontario Hog Producers' Association.

Reeve Lewis McCoy of Marmora township said he endorsed the present co-operative method of hog sales although due to pressure from the big buyers, hog prices had been reduced to the floor level. He said the big buyers wanted the Dutch Clock method of auction for hog sales, while the producers were opposed to this system.

In referring to lower hog prices Reeve McCoy pointed out that greater production could have had something to do with the present low prices and that steps should have strengthened the market.

He suggested that shipping hog ten pounds lighter would help alleviate the present over-production and at the same time the continuation of the present system of selling were concurred in.

Last Meeting of Council Finds Little Business of Import to Be Transacted

Belleville city council wound up its regular business for the year Tuesday night, the meeting being the first of the two council members, who were defeated at the polls on Monday.

The year's work ended on a cheery note for Mayor Gerald Hyde, however, who was tendered the appreciation of council for his leadership during the past twelve months.

Alderman Doug Moxam said he had enjoyed working under Mayor Hyde and had enjoyed the association of other council members. He admitted disappointment at his defeat on Monday but wished council the best of luck for the new year.

Alderman Don Whalen expressed no regrets at not returning to council next year. "The people will be the loser", he laughed.

Mayor Hyde on behalf of council was made by Alderman Dr. James Forrester who said members had much to be thankful for in the leadership given. In seconding the motion Alderman George Wishart noted that he had never been ashamed of the way in which Mayor Hyde had conducted the city's business but he had had many occasions on which to be proud.

Little business of major import was conducted at the session although council did learn that the move on the part of local railroaders to have the CNR retain the freight terminal in Belleville was being taken up by Hon. George Hees, Minister of Transport.

ARRANGING MEETING

In reply to representatives of the local railway unions, Mayor Hyde noted that Hon. Mr. Hees was endeavoring to arrange a meeting between Donald Gordon, CNR president, and the railway union.

Local railway officials claim the CNR is planning removal of the freight terminal from Belleville to Mimico in a move which would eventually see the Belleville station point disappear.

Council voted to remove a fire parking recommendation from Coleman and Harriett Street areas from the bureaus records and agreed that the matter would be taken up at the first meeting of the traffic committee in the new year.

E. Ormonde Butler, appearing on behalf of Canadian Tire Corporation, asked that the matter be further considered before the by-law was passed.

The sale of three lots on Fahey Street in the Coleman Flats area to D. T. Schaul, Peterborough contractor, for the erection of a warehouse, was approved by council. Price to be received for the city-owned lots is $250 per lot.

Also an option was approved to D. G. Joss and William Cook for the sale of 4.2 acres in the industrial site at $500 per acre for the erection of a cheese warehouse. The option will run to March 1959.

Approval was given for Mayor Gerald B. Hyde and City Manager Drury Dehyes to sign tenders for the sale of $388,226.37 in city debentures for the hospital; public utilities and for local improvements.

REASONS EXPLAINED

The reasons for late election returns was explained by City Clerk Mrs. Anne Haggerty, who reported that in many cases deputy returning officers were unable to phone in the returns following completion of ballot counting. Polling booths in many instances were in schools where no phones were available, and also according to voting regulations official returns were to be given first to the returning officer.

She noted that in previous years this regulation had not been completely adhered to.

Alderman George Wishart referred to the fact that some public school wards in the city had three trustees, while wards in the annexed area in Thurlow township had but one, and pointed out that this was contrary to regulations which called for five trustees for each ward. He wanted to know who had made the decision regarding ward representation.

He was told by Mayor Gerald Hyde that the decision had been made by the city manager, city solicitor, the returning officer and the superintendent of schools.

"And I agreed with them", stated Mayor Hyde.

He said the problem arose with the committee of two city officials which as result of the decision as to representation would have three trustees for the next year. He observed that the matter would right itself in the next year when all wards would elect one trustee.

"You can argue the matter, but you can't get the answer until you go to the ward-by-ward basis", Alderman Tice asked of Ald. Wishart.

Ald. Wishart's problem arising out of annexation will be up for consideration by the new council in the new year.

The problem is in Hillcrest where during the past summer wells have become polluted and it was necessary for the township to run above ground water lines with public taps. With last week's frost the water was turned off to prevent freezing.

Mayor Hyde noted that when the water line was run it was understood it would be only temporary and also that it would be turned off in cold weather.

With annexation official on January 1st a petition could be taken up by Hillcrest residents for installation of water mains under local improvements. In answer to Ald. Moxam, however, the mayor doubted if the work could be commenced in the year of annexation of the government assistance program for winter municipal works.

Alderman Dr. James Forrester said possibly council was skirting a dangerous situation from a health standpoint. If wells were contaminated there was no guarantee how long they would remain safe even though cleaned out.

Mayor Hyde said the Thurlow M.O.H. was aware of the situation but he doubted that the city would take an official action until the first of January.

WILL REPORT EARLY

The city manager was authorized to investigate the matter and report at the first meeting in the new year. In the meantime, however, Hillcrest residents whose wells are contaminated are compelled to have water drawn by tank truck.

This is costing one resident $10 per week, it was stated.

Council appointments to the Bay of Quinte High School Board for next year are Mrs. Dorothy Drysdale and Mr. J. B. Durant.

IN MEMORIAM

KELLY. — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mary Ellen Kelly, who passed away December 3rd, 1957.

There are now one sinking,
One weeping and lonely place,
Where once was a vacant broken,
Now filled with empty space.
Not when we saw you leaving,
We could not wish you back,
To suffer this, memory only
—Lovingly remembered by daughter-in-law, Elsie and Ronald Emery.

ARELSTONE. — In loving memory of Burton Arelstone, who passed away December 1st, 1951.
A wonderful husband, so kind and true,
Often we think of you sitting here;
Even though you stand by my side,
Dear whisper can't grieve, dear death cannot divide.
For deep in my heart your memory is held,
And I still love and shall never forget.
—Sadly missed by wife Lina.

MCCORMICK. — In memory of a loving husband (and father), Alistair McCormick, who passed away December 3rd, 1957.
Gone from us, never sitting here;
Unseen, you stand by my side,
Dear whisper can't grieve, dear death cannot divide.
There's no memory fond and true;
There's no token of remembrance dearer to me.
And a heartache still for you.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

Complete Stop Of All Traffic Concurred In

Increased safety for children being transported to school by bus was up for discussion by Hastings county councillors Tuesday afternoon - with result that concurrence was given to a Wentworth county resolution for compulsory stop by traffic from both directions when a school bus was stopped for taking on or discharging passengers.

The resolution also called for a "swing out" sign which could be swung out from the side of the bus by the driver, adding for a completeo a complete stop by other traffic.

Madoc village Reeve Murray Smith noted that only about ten per cent of motorists now stopped for school buses.

As an operator of school buses, he said he favored the 'swing out' signs to be controlled by the driver.

Reeve Tracey Adams of Dungannon township suggested that unless designated stops were set up for discharge of school children it built up areas, the move to halt traffic from both directions on highways on buses were stopped would tie up traffic needlessly.

"I was half an hour going through Foxboro the other night when driving behind a school bus that stopped at every house or so to let off passengers," he said. "If traffic was stopped from both directions it would really tie things up."

OSD Expansion Plans Outlined To Kiwanis Club

On January 1st., 1959, Belleville will acquire, through the process of annexation, a new "baby" — the Ontario School for the Deaf, say the Trent Road.

"It is a growing 'baby,'" the school's superintendent, Joseph Demeza, said in an address to members of the Belleville Kiwanis Club at the regular weekly meeting Tuesday.

Mr. Demeza, in an informative and interesting address, described the expansion program currently in operation at the provincially - run institution. Four separate major construction projects — a new 18-class room school, part of an interconnected building also housing the school dining room, kitchen, dormitories, and other facilities; a new staff residence; laundry; and a power plant — are almost completed, he said. It is expected all four will be finished simultaneously by January 7.

The largest of these buildings, the new interconnected school building, was officially opened October 6, but will not be put to use until January 5, when interior work will be completed.

ENROLMENT UP

Mr. Demeza explained the increase in the school's size under this expansion program necessary.

Some 80 beginners will enrol at O.S.D. on January 6. "The school will have a total enrolment of 450," Mr. Demeza said.

The school will also take on additional staff in January, bringing the total to 175, the speaker added.

Future plans for Ontario's only residential school for the deaf call for the construction of a new vocational building, Mr. Demeza predicted.

"We also need artificial ice for our rink," he said.

NEW AUDIOLOGY CLINIC

Mr. Demeza explained a new and better equipped audiology clinic, to be used in testing the children's loss of hearing, will be set up in the new classroom wing. The basic tool to be used in the clinic will be the pure-tone audiometer, Mr. Demeza demonstrated at the conclusion of his address, along with other equipment used at the school.

The clinic will also have better facilities for testing the hearing of little children, he noted.

The majority of students at O.S.D., are "profoundly deaf," Mr. Demeza stated. He emphasized, however, that the same range of intelligence is found at O.S.D. as in other local schools.

Mr. Demeza also explained and demonstrated equipment used at the school, such as hearing aids, both of the old battery types and the new, smaller and cheaper-operating transistor, the stereophonic auditory trainer, and the pure tone audiometer.

The speaker was introduced by Everett Fairman and thanked by Canon A. S. McCormick.

Prior to the address, a brief business period was held. President Charles Lusk announced an organizational meeting, to be conducted by president-elect Gerry Wishart, will be held December 16. The main purpose of the dinner meeting will be to outline plans for the coming year.

Dr. Harold Craig requested Kiwanians to assist Rod Doran and the Recreation Committee with the annual Telephone Santa Claus project, which will be held on the evenings of December 8, 9, and 10, at the local branch of the Bell Telephone Co.

several cattle in Hastings had been lost as result of rabies and that it had cost individual farmers as much as $30 to have their cattle herds vaccinated.

Reeve William Davis quoted Federal veterinary Dr. H. Youngh,usband as saying the first step to clean up the prevalence of rabies would be to provide a bounty for foxes and to make sure that all dogs were tied up, thus eliminating to a great extend chance encounters with rabid foxes.

When cattle were bitten by rabid foxes vaccination and quarantine for a six-months period was required," he said.

Heavy Docket Disposed of By Magistrate

TRENTON — Edward Reid of Smithfield was sentenced to six months in county jail on a charge of fraud and another one month term to run concurrent on a charge of being drunk, it was his second offence on the latter, by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in court here yesterday.

Reid had been ordered to pay restitution on the fraud charge in January, 1957, and had paid only $50 of the $450 involved since then. He told the Magistrate he was unable to pay it and said, "I might as well go to jail and get it cleared up."

Ross Simpson, of no fixed address, was also sentenced to a jail term yesterday when he appeared before Magistrate Wills on a similar charge.

Simpson had been ordered to pay restitution to a farmer to a car he had stolen from the farmer's brother last January but failed to make any payment to date. He was sentenced to three months in county jail.

Police Chief Taylor told the court that Simpson had been picked up in another town on a liquor charge and the police there had informed him of the arrest. At the time Trenton police had a total of seven charges against the accused. The chief said Simpson had not even served any other time but on the Probation Officer since he appeared in court last year. He is now driving a fairly good car.

Simpson told the court of town lodge for work and had a job lined up at the time of his arrest but was unable to go to it because he was under jail and a friend of his had made the payments on his car, which was the reason he was in court. He said it and not able to make payments as the court had previously ordered.

Crown prosecutor John Pringle of Picton said he felt the accused was completely irresponsible and would be back on a jail term would be in order. He said the Crown could understand if the man was unable to pay but was unable to meet the financial obligations by his lack of work, but that in this case he was of the opinion the accused was not showing any interests.

AGREES WITH CROWN

Magistrate Wills agreed with the Crown and said he would rather make the man pay the money as it would be more of a punishment but because he had ignored the whole thing he would impose the sentence. He told Simpson, "If your friend in town can keep you out of jail too."

Ross Buchanan of Trenton was sentenced to two months in county jail on charges of theft and the sentence will back-date for five months. He was also fined $20 plus $3.50 court costs or, on default, of payment, 10 days in jail on a charge of speeding on Front Street.

A charge of assault against Jim Brunton of George Street, Trenton, was dismissed by the Magistrate. The charge had been filed by Lloyd Stickford of Herman Street, who claimed the accused had struck him a blow in the face which split his lip and broke his false teeth.

Magistrate Wills said there was not enough evidence present in the case and felt it was more of an issue to be settled in civil court.

PROVINCIAL RELIEF UP

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial expenditure for relief in November was $972,837, an increase of $500,384 compared with the same month last year, the department of welfare said Friday.

Aerial, Ladder Truck Ready After New Year

TRENTON — The Thibault firm of Belleville received the chassis from the Ford Company to finish the combination aerial and ladder truck for the Trenton Fire Department, Lloyd Worrall, chairman of the Protection to Persons and Property Committee, announced Monday evening.

It had been previously reported that the company would have the truck finished and delivered by the first of December but with the holdup on the chassis by the vehicle it is not expected the truck will be delivered until the first part of the new year.

Mr. Worrall said that when he had been informed by the fire-equipment firm they had still not received the chassis which includes the motor, cab, etc, he had asked Magistrate Wm. Lang, the local representative for the Ford Motor Company, to get in touch with them and ask if the chassis could not be delivered soon.

Mr. Lange reported that he had been informed that the truck would now be the 15th of December.

It will take about three weeks to put the ladder truck together once the chassis has been received and a few more days for checking and delivery.

It is also expected that some time after Christmas Acting Fire Chief Cecil Ellis will spend about two weeks at the plant where he will be shown the methods of operation of the giant piece of fire fighting equipment.

Once it arrives in Trenton it will be housed in the main fire station in the Market Square and two of the pumpers will be moved to the east side of the Trent River. On the east side the "fire station" will be in the town sheds on the corner of Meyers and Ontario Streets and the pumper stationed across the clock by three permanent firemen. Three other men and the chief will be on duty at the main fire station. One "swingman" will be hired by the department and he will take over while the other firemen have their day off during the week.

RCAF Firemen To Be Honored By Trenton Dept.

TRENTON — Tonight WO2 E. C. Reid, RCAF Station Fire Chief, and the fifteen firemen will be the guests of the Trenton Fire Department at a banquet to be held at the fire station in the Market Square.

The supper, which is under the chairmanship of acting Fire Chief Cecil Ellis, is in recognition and appreciation of the aid rendered by the town from the RCAF station fire department.

The air force firefighters were called and they responded, to the five major fires which hit Trenton this year. They took an active part in all the fires with the exception of the one at the Central Cold Storage.

At this fire they were asked to stand by at the Trenton fire station in case a fire should break out somewhere else in town when all the trucks were at the storage plant.

In the first fire last January the airmen were given credit by the Fire Chief Order for saving the electrical appliance store, which was next to the burning Trenton Hotel, from being destroyed. At this fire and at the Yorke Block, Exsmith Store, the Titus Block fires the airmen fought the flames side by side with the local volunteers.

Plans for the banquet to honor the air force firefighters were first made by the late Chief Order but this was untimely death at the Cold Storage Plant fire had postponed the arrangements until tonight.

Trenton's town councillors approved the plan when they were informed by Councillor Lloyd Worrall, chairman of the Protection to Persons and Property Committee, that the airmen were not allowed to receive a cash donation for their help.

Sizeable donations had been made by the town to the Belleville Firemen's Fund for their help in the same major fires.

Mayor Ross Burit and members of the council have been invited to attend the banquet tonight.

Town Briefs

TRENTON — Town police were called to Wragge Street last night when they found a dead fox with a dog standing over it. They believe the dog may have killed the fox in a fight as the wild animal had been badly bitten. The dog, it was reported, was not hurt. The carcass of the fox will be taken to the veterinarian to determine if it is rabid.

BAY COVERED

Thin ice has covered the bay of Quinte and the Trent River with the exception of where the current runs. The ice, of course, is unsafe but it has arrived weeks before it did last year. Fishermen were unable to move their shacks out onto the mouth of the Trent until along into January last season and it was because of this they reported a poor year. They claim the month of December is the best time to catch fish through the ice and from general appearances they feel they will be able to move out before Christmas this year.

OFFICIAL OPENING

The official opening of the Curling Rink at the Trenton Country Club will take place this Saturday evening. Arrangements are being made to make this a gala event and the public will be given a chance to go in and look at the new building. The $75,000 structure was built by the Steenberg Construction Company, and was only finished last week.

MORE SNOWFALL

Snow fell on Trenton again last night and this morning but the weathermen said it may turn to sleet this afternoon and evening as milder air pushes into the district. The Met Office at the Trenton air station say their records show that a total of six inches of snow has fallen during the past storms. They predict that weatherwise this area will have cloudy tomorrow and part of Friday with a possibility of a clear but cooler weekend. Low last night at Trenton was 8 above zero and the predicted high for today is about 30 above.

RAIN IN ANTARCTIC

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) — Rain almost unknown south of the Antarctic Circle fell at McMurdo Sound Sunday, the New Zealand Press Association reported.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bedford, above centre, is shown with the other two members of the Trenton Board of Education. From left to right, they are: Robert Barlow and Paul Tripp. All were elected Monday to serve a two-year term on the Board. Mrs. Bedford is the first woman to be appointed to the School Board, and was second highest when the votes were counted. She polled 924 votes. Mr. Tripp led the polls with 1,123 votes and Mr. Barlow received 848.

Municipalities Within County Likely to Pay Fox Bounties

Few New Faces In County Council For Next Year

Although both had vowed that it would be their final year in county council, two North Hastings reeves with a combined council service of over half a century will be at their regular desks during sessions in 1959.

They are Reeves William Davis of McClure, Wicklow and Bangor, and Reeve James H. Sprackett of Tudor and Cashel. On January 1st they will both start their 28th year as members of Hastings county council. Both are ex-wardens of the county.

Reeve Sprackett has served 43 years on his township council and has been out of harness only three years in the past 46 years.

Both received acclamation as reeve this year when other members of their councils refused to step up to the rewards.

There will be little change in the Hastings county council personnel next January with most of the 1958 reeves returning for another term.

Exceptions are Reeve Frank Preeves of Monteagle township, who resigned his post with Patrick Fitzgerald being the new reeve. Also in North Hastings Deputy Reeve Cliff Broad of Marmora has resigned with M. J. McAlpine as the new deputy reeve. Other reeves, with the exception of Guy Wilson of Carlow who is facingan election were returned by acclamation.

Other municipalities in South Hastings holding late elections are the village of Frankford and Tyendinaga township.

PARKING "BARGAIN"

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Eight motorists took advantage of a parking fine "bargain" that went into effect here Monday. A ruling was passed by city council Nov. 15 provided that motorists tagged for overtime parking at a parking meter need pay only half the normal $2 fine if they pay their tickets within an hour of receiving them.

A recommendation that each of the municipalities within the county pass by-laws authorizing the payment of four bounties to encourage hunting of the animals and thereby help to eliminate the spread of rabies was passed by Hastings county council Tuesday afternoon.

The recommendation asks that a minimum bounty of $4, two dollars of which would be paid by the government, be paid by the municipalities. Identification of foxes killed would be by tails brought in to municipal offices.

There was divided opinion as to whether the county as a whole should pay the fox bounty or whether this should be done by the individual township.

However, in the end, the motion for municipalities to pay the fox bounty, was passed, it being pointed out that it would be inconvenient in many cases for payment of the bounty from the county office in Belleville.

LIGHT NOT ADDED

A lighter note was added to the discussion when it was noted that fox tails brought in for identification should be with the nose left in. This it was said would rule out foxes tails used for car ornaments being turned in for collection of the bounty.

The prevalence of rabies was further emphasized by resolutions from Grey county and from Stormont and Glengarry asking that the government pay the costs of vaccination against rabies for farm livestock and also for the inclusion of rabies as a communicable farm animals disease with appropriate compensation to be paid to farmers suffering loss of animals from rabies.

FRENCH COMMUNISTS WIPED OUT

There will be general elation at the success of Gen. Charles de Gaulle in eliminating the Communists as a powerful force in the new French Assembly, but some misgivings regarding the leadership of the new dominant party, the Union for a New Republic. It is true that this party, Jacquin Sousteile, has supported de Gaulle, but it would be unwise to conclude that he will be content to continue in a lesser role if he should see an opportunity for gathering the reins of power into his own hand.

As for the Communists, though they have only 10 seats in the 465-member house, they still polled 22.9 per cent of the popular vote and the possibility of the party making a comeback at some later election cannot be ruled out. For the time being, though, the decisive defeat of the Communists would appear to have eliminated the danger that they might draw the support of left-of-centre voters who would normally vote the United ticket but who fear and distrust the rightists. France, though, has too long a record of left-of-centre politics to expect that the present swing to the right will go unchallanged. With vigorous leadership, the Socialists might draw away the support of many French-men who still voted Communist on Sunday, but the Socialists, like other parties of the left and centre, suffered heavily at the polls and the required leadership may not be forthcoming.

Meanwhile the world will wait to discover exactly what kind of policies will be advocated by Soustelle. Fortunately, for the present, Gen. de Gaulle remains at the helm.

FISHING NATIONS

...w many of us, we wonder, think of Americans as seafaring folk? Mighty few, we suspect. The cowboy and the rolling prairie, rather than the sailor and the rolling sea, provide the popular picture of the American of earlier days, while today's U.S. is better known as the home of the automobile and Hollywood than for ships and the men who go down to the sea.

Yet, according to the "Yearbook of Fishery Statistics" just published by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, the United States ranks a second in the world in respect to the annual catch of fish. Free to Japan. In third place comes China and in fourth place is the USSR. Thus, of the four leading fishing countries, three are great continental powers and only one is an island kingdom.

Following Russia are Norway, India and the United Kingdom in that order. There is nothing strange about the association of Norwegians and Americans with the sea. If anybody thinks that India is an intruder, he need only reflect that Lascars form the crews of many of the world's ocean-going vessels. Come to think of it, China and its junks and the Yankees and their clippers, not to mention the present U.S. Navy, make the appearance of these nations in the list not so amazing as might at first be supposed. But to learn that the Russians catch twice the tonnage of fish hauled in by British trawlers will come as a distinct surprise to many.

LOW WATER A FLOOD HAZARD?

This is borrowing trouble - - but we wonder what affect the present low level of the Moira River, and the Bay of Quinte, might have on the flood danger next spring.

One's first reaction is that the low water level would reduce the flood hazard.

We are not so certain that this is true. What would happen, for instance, if we had a very severe winter, freezing the lower reaches of the Moira to the bottom, as might easily occur with the river at its present level? When the break-up came in the spring, might we find that the water depth in the lower stretches of the river was not deep enough to float away the larger chunks of ice coming down from upstream? And, if these piled up, might they not create a dam which would rapidly back up water behind it and raise the river to dangerous levels in certain sections?

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright 1958, Edgar A. Guest)

CHILDREN'S INTUITION

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

Folks always said that he was queer
And notional, in many ways—
He'd size up every stranger here
And look at him with searching gaze;
And then, by methods of his own,
He'd judge his fellow man and say:
"I guess I'll leave that chap alone—
The dogs and children run away.

"When children fear a man," he said,
"There's something wrong with him, I know.
God watches them from overhead
And tells them where they ought to go.

So when they shrink away in fear
And will not sit upon his knee
And when the dog will not draw near,
There's something wrong we cannot see.

"But when the little ones delight
To greet a stranger and to . . smile,
And when the dog betrays no fright
But wags his tail in glee, the while—

No matter what the man may be,
Though poorly dressed or rough of mien,
There's good in him we cannot see
That by the little ones is seen."

Feels Taste Has Declined

BBC London Letter

A strong plea for people to think for themselves and exercise their own judgment in matters of taste, and quality was made in a recent BBC talk by Burbidge, Principal of Britain's Royal College of Art, which was founded by the government over one hundred years ago with the aim of checking a decline in the taste and quality of English manufacture or goods. Yesterday Burbidge said, the College was a kind of university of the visual arts, accepting about 1,000 students each year from all over Britain, who took full-time three-year courses at their local art schools, and giving them a three-year post-graduate course. These students were responsible not only for paintings, but for design in such things as kitchenware, furniture and textiles.

Burbidge went on to suggest that the danger of a decline in taste was even greater today than it had been a hundred years ago, because ever since the beginning of the industrial revolution the public had become more and more trained to accept what was given to them instead of thinking for themselves. Children today, for example, find far too many toys that were almost too perfect and left nothing to the imagination. He had often noticed that children preferred to use to play with rudimentary objects like pieces of wood, which they could endow with every sort of fantasy, and this was part of the business of children, things for oneself, which in turn led to a sense of self-reliance. Our great-grandmothers, he said, might often have hated the task of making their lovely embroidered samplers, and longed to be out of doors, but how they must have glowed with pride and achievement when their work was framed and hung in the nursery walls. Today fine needlework of that sort has almost disappeared in England, which he found very sad.

In cooking the situation was much the same, Burbidge said. Given a packet of Duncan's opinion. Never before had so many materials in perfect condition been available to the cook; never before had so much been written about cooking; but never before had so many people been ready to accept mediocrity and almost cooking, but to surrender discrimination to the manufacturer. It is terrifying to thought," he said. "and it could never have occurred until a few years ago, that this very night there may be perhaps a million or more people in this small island shoving into their faces exactly the same foods with exactly the same tastes." Often people ate frozen peas in the middle of summer when fresh peas were in season, and mayonnaise sauce from a can came out of a tube or bottle instead of being made fresh by the housewife. Indeed that could hardly take more than five minutes.

Professor Darwin said that he could quote other "follies" to illustrate the point, but in particular age we are allowing ourselves to be conditioned like so many sheep and to accept as what we all think and behave alike through a dumb supine acceptance of what other people tell us. It is not simply a question today of keeping up with the Joneses, as the saying goes. It is a question of all of us willingly and unthinkingly just becoming as Jones — and Brown, for that matter — what you will. And this simply will not do. We were made as individuals in God's grace and we must remain individuals at all costs.

* * *

It was true that the Royal College of Art trained people to design things to be made by the most up-to-date machines. Professor Darwin said, but the most important thing it did was to train students to think for themselves, not to insist upon quality in anything they made or designed. It paid particular heed to the subjects on view in a small exhibition flat entirely designed by students of the Royal College of Art were very good. "But" he added, "don't take my word for that; don't even worry what the critics say. If you live near enough, come and see it for yourself and make up your own mind. That is the only way in which we don't make u our minds for us, which is a process we shall soon become a world of robots. Then we shall deserve our fate, and it won't be a fun ny one."

Time to Quit?

Sarnia Canadian Observer

"A recently discovered human skull indicates man has been on earth between 10 and 11 million years". — Press report. As in all that time man still hasn't learned how to run his country, it's terrifying that it's not time he quit and peacefully, don't you think he might as well quit trying?

Hidden Vales Still Exist

New York Herald Tribune

There was an eerie quality in a dispatch from Australia the other day about the search for the seven-year-old mystery. Something called Ayers Rock, one of the World's End came upon the wreckage of a plane that disappeared in 1931 carrying two pilots and six passengers, including the flamboyant motion picture producer, Clyde Hood. Amid the wreckage was a luggage tag bearing the legend "Hood care Gaiety Theatre."

The incident is a reminder that, while many people yearn for new worlds beyond our own, this globe still has its secrets. Scientists cannot dismiss the "abominable snowmen" of Asia, for example, because its habitat if it exists — is a 30,000-square mile region that has never been closely explored.

The legend of Shangri-La is intoxicating because men like to think that such a place is possible, that somewhere in the really making safe landings in hidden kingdoms scarcely seems have never seen. Certainly the notion that Amelia Earhart was living out her days as a stuff guinea sisted long after her disappearance, long after credulity should have given her up.

* * *

Do you remember the celebrated case of WAC Corporal Margaret Hastings, one of three survivors of a crash in China's man — who survived a plane crash in the unmapped interior of New Guinea in World War II? Allied airmen had heard many times that a white girl was always seated off by mountains and clouds.

The crash survivors were the first Americans but were forcibly ably she recognized Miss Hastings as the leader of the search party. In fact the two men probeven the most highly-organized lifesaving service could have been of any use. Those who dis- aster's cannot fall to raise t h e question as to whether at t h e present time Canada is adequate aids to navigation and an efficient communications to deliver storm, planes are often grounded, and rescue craft must be not only powerful but fast. Coupled with 20-foot waves. W i t h the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, shipping on all G r e a t Lakes routes is certain to increase tremendously. It should be the concern of the central government to organize effective rescue services in advance, and in co-operation with the U. S. Coast Guard, to bring greater safety to our inland seas.

The crash survivors were the first Americans but were forcibly ably she recognized Miss Hastings as the leader of the search party. In fact the two men probably owe their lives to the fact that she was a woman.

The problems of getting the three Americans out were formidable one, and it drew wide attention. For it is always fascinating to contemplate the fact that the globe still has tribes that are unknown, as in the case of Africa's vanishing Bushman, almost impossible to find. Laurens van der Post, in his book, "Lost World of the Kalahari", tells his quest for the Bushman, "The Lost World of the Kalahari", as every bit as strange and mystical as Herman Melville's account of the Valley of Typee more than a century ago.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

When you get engine trouble on one of these four-lane, by-passing thruways, you have to sit a.n.d wait, while some passer-by, r e s p o n d i n g to your signals for help, promises to deliver a message to the nearest service station may be twenty miles down the pike.

So I was much interested when a man carrying a burlap bag and a stick with a spike on it, slowly working his way up the shoulder of the highway, spearing the trash that accumulates even on the proudest of royal routes. As he drew near, I saw he was a young man, a fine, burly lad who seemed perfectly cheerful in his job. I got out of the car to pass the time of day with him.

After a few generalities about the weather, I presumed on my age, as we old ones do, to ask:

"Now, what's a fine strong young fella like you doing on a job like this?"

Good naturedly, he told me he liked an open-air job and that he had only been at it a month, and didn't figure on staying at it much more than another month. He said the pay was all he needed. And he was moving shortly from job to job; any kind.

As I mentioned security, he set the bag down and patted me on the shoulder.

"Dad," he said, "there is security in chains. There is security in jail. There is security in a thousand jobs that hog-tie a man up like a slave. Security is the new word they have found for a dirty old idea. Me, I am a free man."

My service truck rattled up, I had to shake hands with the lad, and he went off up the highway with his bag; but I knew I had shaken hands with a poet.

Five at Madoc. For the second time within a year the Village of Madoc was visited by a disastrous fire early yesterday morning and damage to the extent of $50,000, was done in the heart of the business section. The fire started by a short circuit in the electric wiring in Gosveter's bakeshop. The flames spread rapidly to the adjoining buildings and three fireman blocks were totally destroyed. Stores occupied by Governeter's bakeshop, Dan Harry's drygoods store and Frank Thompson's store and apartments were destroyed...

On the evening of November 30th., a number of young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Judge, Victoria Street and during the evening they presented to Miss Mary McCaw a handsome boudoir lamp. Miss McCaw is leaving here to reside in Toronto.

Another of office questions in which I can tell you something, but only a doctor can answer, is: Can answer other parts of the problem, Kidney stones form for different materials. Sometimes a special diet is useful, but what helps one kind of stone does not help with another.

In all tytes, however, the best preventive you can emoloy is to drink every water, to keep the urine flowing freely and be dilute. Stones form when the urine is not enough dilution, and certain ingredients begin to crystallize as "Stones."

The discharge means you have some sort of localized infection that needs clearing up — and since the word "infection" so often is taken to mean a venereal disease, I'm hastening to say that I don't mean that. There are various types of infections of the vertix or cervix which are nulle common. They usually can be cleared up readily except for one thing: Too often the victims think they have cured themselves. Then they begin to feel something wrong," and wait until the trouble becomes chronic before it is more difficult to treat. As for as that is concerned, it isn't the doctor's business how the condition started anyway. We're doctors, not judges. I've had when perfectly innocent affections are delayed in treatment be suse of such an idea, so I'm doing my best to get the correct facts before you.

J.M.S.: Infectious mononucleosis is not a "childhood disease," although it is typically a disease of the young. Young adults (college age) are most frequently hit. It can be transmitted to others, so some precautions should be taken in such things as keeping eating utensils separate. Its principal danger lies in the fact that some other disease may come along in its wake. Therefore antibiotics are commonly given — but as a precaution against complications. For the individual, there is no known cure other than rest and good nourishment. However, the disease presently subsides of its own accord — a favorably self-limiting disease." There may by a relapse sometimes, but a relapse is no more dangerous than the original case. Not a cause for undue alarm.

Need Lakes Rescue Craft

Ottawa Journal

There is a tradition — possibly fostered by ocean-going crews of Canadian lakers — that a good and hardier, more highly-skilled and lake greater risks than seamen in the inland trade on the Great Lakes. Two recent disasters on Lake Michigan and Lake Erie are tragic reminders t h a t he lives led by lake sailors may be every bit as hazardous as those followed by their brethren on the high seas.

The swift break-up of the freighter Carl D. Bradley on Lake Michigan last November caused the loss of 33 lives. A short time ago, an oil-drill rig on the surface of Lake Erie was over-thrown by a storm with the loss of five lives. Both of these Ottawa man. Lake Superior has long been known for the treachery and suddenness of its storms.

In the case of the United States-owned freighter and that of the oil rig, it is unlikely that even the most highly-organized lifesaving service could have been of any use. Those who dis- aster's cannot fall to raise t h e question as to whether at t h e present time Canada is adequate aids to navigation and an efficient communications to deliver storm, planes are often grounded, and rescue craft must be not only powerful but fast. TODAY'S TALK

SERENITY

There are words, in themselves, that fairly flow with excellence. Serenity is such a word. I look upon the Sun's rays sweeping across a beautiful lake upon a perfect day and a sense of serenity always comes o v e r me. How quieting is the sound of a gentle breeze, and to the Soul, though it is a feeling that makes its presence felt.

Serenity is beauty. It is a medicine that never fails to cure. It is vitamin to the Soul, more potent than any "wonder drug" ever discovered. A sense of serenity always comes o v e r me. How quieting is the sound of a gentle breeze, and to the Soul, though it is a feeling that makes its presence felt.

Serenity is beauty. It is a medicine that never fails to cure. It is vitamin to the Soul, more potent than any "wonder drug" ever discovered. A sense of serenity always comes o v e r me. How quieting is the sound of a gentle breeze, and to the Soul, though it is a feeling that makes its presence felt.

Serenity is influence. Quietness always has and inspired me. Their soft texture, seen, but noticeably moving in the atmosphere, always fills me with a sense of serenity.

There are people whom to meet is to feel a new light about us. I recall reading in a life of Wendell Phillips a statement by a maid in his home, who said that there was music to his wife's footsteps. I can understand such a personality. As a young lad I was fascinated by all that I read of this great American. He was always giving of himself to all worthy causes.

How quickly the body, mind, and heart respond to the meeting of a serene person. Such a one seems to blot out all irritation and disturbance, and immediately becomes the center of attraction on the very nerves. There are so many of our friends who are good for us to be with because of their serene mind and outlook.

Believe it good for us all because there is so much serenity that is probably why birds are so happy on a sunny day looking after their small families and practising their concerts of song and happiness. Why should unhappiness be so widespread? I recently came upon a line quoted by the late Joshua Liebman: "On my head pour only the sweet waters of serenity. Give me the gift of the unTroubled mind."

Find Apples Tranquilize

Chatham News

An apple a day keeps the doctor away — so we have long been told.

The October issue of the Farm Journal thus elaborates the theme:

Feeling tense? Headache? Insomnia? Eat an apple.

Then eat a couple of apples every day.

Michigan State University researchers say that apples may be one of nature's best tranquilizers. They find that students who eat a lot of apples have fewer tensions, headaches and emotional upsets than those who eat sooner. And they do it — ratio!

Headaches, preliminary results show that those who eat apples have fewer skin diseases, attributed to allergies and respiratory difficulties," says Harold Hoffman, head of the Department of Horticulture. He has run trials on 900 students for the past three years.

Another tack: Several years ago Dr. Ira Pollock tested apple taste for Cancer Research in New York City found that extracts of apples slowed down the growth of animal tumors. We need to investigate further in this direction," Tukey says.

Lately the apple's value as a health measure has been stressed.

Now we find the apple is nature's own tranquilizer.

Yes, apples at most important in the selling slogan, however, is the fact that You can't beat the taste of an apple."

Strength for The Day

It is a terrible thing for one to awake to the realization that he has forfeited the respect of h i s fellows.

What can be worse than a conscience which leers and taunts and nests into shreds! How devastating such agony! Physical pain is nothing compared to this. This is the ultimate suffering because it is soul-suffering, and the only cure for most deeply when we suffer as spiritual beings — for such we are.

* * *

One hardly knows what to say to a person who has actually made such a forfeit. But certainly there are some things which can be said with confidence. The first is that life must go on. Sometimes people believe they can end it all, but, of course, they can-not, for death transfers them only from one form of life to another. The soul is an eternal with life from here to its immeasurable end. And we are of all life, for better or worse, we can never escape it.

Then, of course, the other thing which should be said under the circumstances is that there is life and eternal chance for everybody. Everybody! Yes, everybody. Life — on, and on, and on, in this form or some other. And always a second chance.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Costumes for the Santa Claus Parade are in readiness for next Saturday. Rocque Davis, a parade committee member, tries on a cape for size, whilst Adam Stalker, a parade marshal, prepares to crown Mr. Davis with one of the many comic heads available. Fire Chief Gerald Vance, committee chairman, views the proceedings with a critical eye.

The Santa Claus Parade committee was in full session last evening finalizing the many arrangements which are necessary for that honorable and jovial gentleman's annual visit to Belleville. Clearing up a few of the last minute details are (left to right), Len Burfoot, Chief Vance, Lloyd Doran and Ted Post, four of the twenty persons in attendance at last night's meeting in No. 2 Fire Hall.

Final Arrangements Made For Santa's Visit Saturday

Last night the Santa Claus parade committee met in Fire Hall No. 2 to discuss final arrangements for this coming Saturday morning's event. About twenty persons were present to iron out some of the many problems which confront those organizing a major display such as Belleville's annual procession promises to be.

Costumes, make-up, ponies, horses, floats, wagons and bands are but a few of the many problems which come up. Commercialism is another problem which is usually an annual recurrence when firms wish to enter floats containing or displaying advertising for their company. The policy and guiding principle for the committee is that the parade "is for the kids" and no advertising of any nature is allowed outside of a small placard on the rear of each float to show who has contributed it.

All but three of the floats for this year's procession have been completed. It is expected that they will be finished by tomorrow. Meanwhile, the other floats are being stored in various garages or warehouses around the city until marshalling time on Saturday morning. Then they will congregate at No. 2 Fire Hall along with about 250 people who will be participating as clowns, cowboys, Indians, comic strip characters, Santa Claus helpers, Eskimos, majorettes, Christmas heralds and float drivers. Ten bands from the eastern Ontario area and about forty majorettes will also participate.

Costumes have been obtained and anyone over the age of 34 years who desires to participate in the parade is asked to register at the No. 2 Fire Hall on West Moira Street between 2.00 and 9.00 p.m. this Friday afternoon and evening. High school students, boys, girls and adults can all participate.

According to Fire Chief Gerald Vance, chairman of the Santa Claus parade committee, nearly everything is ready and all the parade needs to ensure its success is good weather.

World Literacy Rallies Held at Albert College

Three rallies in eastern Ontario for World Literacy (Canada) were held a week ago at Albert College, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Trenton and George St. United Church, Peterborough. Mrs. Welthy Honsinger Fisher, New York, founder and director of Literacy Village, near Lucknow, India, addressed the rallies and gave inspiring addresses on the great call to meet the needs of the masses of illiterates in many lands.

Mrs. Fisher was invited by Ghandi to a community development project instituted by the government of India. She saw that Literacy work was vital and that it could spread throughout the country. World Literacy (Canada) Inc. has supported the work of Literacy Village and staff houses known as Canadian units have been built with contributions received from the various provinces in Canada.

Dr. C. McKenzie, principal, presided over the rally. Rev. T. W. Middleton, president of the Belleville Ministerial Association, assisted and pronounced the dedicatory prayer for the offering received.

Rev. D. McClelland, pastor, conducted the rally held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Trenton. Mr. A. Ward, Trenton, assisted during the evening.

VISITED BATAWA

Mrs. Fisher was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kern Batawa, during her tour and she visited the Batawa United church W.A. bazaar held in the recreational hall at Batawa. She toured the plant of the Bata Shoe Company and was welcomed by Mr. Thomas J. Bata, president, Dr. C. K. Hsu, vice-president and managing director and Mr. Anthony Cekota, director of technical research for the Bata organization.

Herbert Kern is the trustee for Eastern Ontario for World Literacy and arrangements for the rallies were made with the cooperation of the ministerial associations in the various areas.

Mrs. Fisher who is a Toronto-ad widow, has recently returned to North America from six years' work in India where she established the Literacy Village. Every month from this Centre, which is situated on the outskirts of Lucknow, about 40 forty young teachers go out to various parts of India, equipped to train local teachers who can in turn teach ABC's to the masses of common villagers, too long forgotten. By giving the trainees a concentrated one month course, the Centre in its five years of existence has sent out 2,200 teachers of teachers. These are educated young men and women who have been sent to the Centre by Government Departments, Industrial Projects, churches, social welfare boards and other private agencies. They have all attained literacy, all languages, all social castes and all economic levels.

Mrs. Fisher will shortly return to India to take up her work of Literacy Training, which is expanding not only into many of the 14 States of India (and its six territories) but into other countries of South East Asia from which students have already come for training.

The simple buildings for the Village Campus, half of which are built and in use, have set a new pattern for service to the forgotten men and women of the villages of India and the world.

Reeve Chas. Buskard, Deloro, Honored by Smelting Co. After 43 Years of Service

A former Belleville resident and reeve of Deloro for the past 13 years, Charles H. Buskard was honored last night by fellow employees and company officials of Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, Deloro, Ont., at a banquet held in the Club Canara.

Mr. Buskard, manager of the company's Cobalt operations, will officially retire after 43 years of service at the end of this month.

Approximately 100 employees, company officials, and their wives attended the gala testimonial dinner to pay tribute to Mr. Buskard and to wish him and his wife many happy years of retirement.

Chairman for the evening was Mf. J. N. Cram, who welcomed the assemblage and introduced the head table guests.

Among the guests were Senator George S. and Mrs. White.

Senator White, in a brief address, paid tribute to Mr. Buskard. "Deloro was fortunate in having as one of its officials, Charlie Buskard. He was a great asset to the company," the senator stated.

The senator also mentioned the leading active part Mr. Buskard took in civic affairs (as reeve of Deloro and member of county council), in his church, lodge, and school, and his great interest in sports.

In conclusion he wished Mr. and Mrs. Buskard many years of pleasure and enjoyment.

Congratulatory messages were also read from Deloro president Mr. B. A. O'Brien, and Mr. J. A. O'Brien, who were unable to be present.

A short address was also given by general manager R. G. Walsh, who noted that Mr. Buskard was born and educated in Belleville, and graduated from Queen's University, Kingston, as a mining engineer in 1914. He traced briefly Mr. Buskard's early career which began in a mine at Cobalt, Ont. From there he went to Cordova as a mining engineer, and in 1915 he commenced work at Deloro as a chemist in the laboratory.

PRESENTED WITH WATCH

Mr. Walsh then presented Mr. Buskard with a gift of a lovely watch from the company. Mrs. Buskard was presented with a bouquet of roses by Miss Marjorie Lahey.

In his response Mr. Buskard thanked the company, and then, in an interesting address, recalled the early days of the cobalt industry in Canada. He traced the various processes of separating silver from cobalt developed over the years, and noted that between 1920 and 1925, until the Belgium Congo was opened up, Canada was the world's leading producer of cobalt.

He also recalled his early career when his take-home pay was only $75 a month, for which he worked 11 to 13 hours a day.

In conclusion he stated he and Mrs. Buskard are leaving for California to visit one of their three children. Upon their return they will reside in Cobourg.

Mrs. Buskard also expressed her appreciation to the company for "being so good to my husband," and to those in attendance for the lovely bouquet in their honor.

Entertainment was provided by the "Charlie Chaplin of Magic," John Foley, who delighted the audience with his sleight-of-hand feats. John, a senior student at the Ontario School for the Deaf, was introduced by Mr. Don Kennedy of the school staff.

Mr. Allan Bell then welcomed and presented pins and certificates to two new members of the Deloro Quarter Century Club, Mr. Gordon H. Rennie and Mr. William E. Meehan. Mr. Rennie and Mr. Meehan are employees of Deloro Stellite, Belleville.

Mr. Scott proposed toasts to the active and retired members of the club and read their names. Mr. C. T. Dickinson responded on behalf of the active members and J. A. Paquet responded on behalf of the retired members.

Chairman J. N. Cram then proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies of the CNR Auxiliary who prepared and served the dinner. Following this the Canadian Dickie majorettes presented an delightful demonstration, and the evening was concluded with dancing to music provided by an orchestra.

Demonstration in Sound Provides Interesting Program at Rotary

Belleville Rotarians were treated to a demonstration in sound at their meeting Monday by Mr. Lucien Moise of the Bell Telephone Company. In the premiere performance of his "Sounds of Our Times", the speaker said that the "science of sound", converting sound into electrical energy and then back into sound began with Alexander Graham Bell's invention of the telephone. A model of that Canadian's first telephone was shown and those present heard a reproduction of Bell's first telephone message transmitted between Brantford and Paris, in Ontario.

A demonstration of stereophonic or binaural sound was also given, using the sounds of a jet plane, a passing train, and a symphony orchestra to demonstrate the principle of three dimensional hearing. A number of unusual noises was also reproduced. The first sound of a straight razor shaving a board, an underwater recording of a school of porpoises, and the sound of coffee percolating were among those which were not readily recognized by the audience.

The speaker was introduced by Grant Proctor, manager of the local Bell Telephone office, and Bob Lanning expressed the thanks of the club. Jack Yanover, club president, presented the speaker with a travelling kit.

Bob Hamilton introduced the guests for the meeting. Birthday greetings were in order for John McArthur, Roscoe Robson, and Gordon Robertson. Art Francis was queried by Harold Legate concerning material in the current issue of the Rotarian but, despite a gallant effort to uphold the club's honor, went down to defeat under the inquisition; the result being that all members mentioned were fined on the grounds of ignorance.

Belleville Unit Cancer Society Holds Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Belleville Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society was held Tuesday, at the new headquarters in the Stobbs Building, Pinnacle Street.

Following the business meeting, Dr. C. H. Sisley, the president of this Unit, outlined the aims and purpose of the Cancer Society with special reference to the work of the Women's Services and the purpose of an educational program.

What is the Cancer Society? The Cancer Society is a national organization of volunteer workers with provincial groups in all ten provinces, and the purpose of the Society is to support cancer research; to provide welfare services to cancer patients; and to carry on a cancer education program in order that early treatment might save lives.

Mrs. Spence Smith is chairman of Women's Services for this unit. Her role is a major one. She, with the assistance of women volunteer workers in the community will make dressings for cancer patients and look after distributing and providing dressings. The dressings will be supplied free of charge anywhere in the district if recommended by a doctor or a nurse; make arrangements for transportation of patients wherever this is required for diagnosis and treatment. It is hoped that this service will be inaugurated in the near future; provide comforts and help for cancer sufferers where needed. The chairman of a sound educational program was also emphasized by Dr. Sisley.

The aim of having a sound education program is to save lives by teaching the public to recognize the symptoms and obtain early treatment. It is needed in this district the public may be reached through special organizational meetings.

It was also stated that many of the local industries in Belleville have given permission to place pamphlets holders in their "medics" art on bulletin boards. It is only with co-operation and assistance of this kind that the Cancer Society will be able to maintain and carry on this important work.

EXECUTIVE MEMBERS

Members of the executive of the Belleville Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society are as follows: president — Dr. George H. Stobie; vice-president — F. C. McGuire; treasurer — W. St. Pierre; secretary — Miss Margaret J. Peart; chairman Women's Services — Mrs. J. Lacy Rose Smith; chairman education — Miss M. L. Kilpatrick; public relations — Miss Elinor Boyce.

Beauty Care Topic at Carmel W.I.

November meeting of Carmel Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. S. Homan.

Mrs. A. Gowsbury reported on Area Convention held at Belleville. Her report was interesting and well given. Brief reports were given by some of the other ladies.

Conveners reported on various subjects. Mrs. A. Allison on Citizenship and Education; Mrs. W. Rodberg on health and home economics. Mrs. J. Homan on Agriculture; Mrs. C. Brintnell reported for Historical Research. Her topic was "Belleville in the Nineties". A Rifle Band in 1898 travelled 440,000 miles around the world. Twice they held a command performance before Clive Edward VII. A picture post card of the band was passed around the group.

The meeting later was turned over to Mrs. A. Pitt. A contest "Return", by Mrs. Pitt.. Mrs. Brintnell gave a humorous reading entitled, "Fred Joke".

At this time, Mrs. Pitt called on her daughter, Mrs. Whalen, who is a hairdresser, to speak on "hair grooming and beauty care". Mrs. Whalen explained the course of hair dressing for any girl who is interested. She showed picture of hair styles and answered many questions on manicuring, facials and care of hair.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Pitt and Mrs. Whalen.

Refreshments were served and social time spent.

BETHEL-ZION W.M.S.

BETHEL-ZION — The regular meeting of Bethel-Zion W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Glen Ish with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. Clarence Ketcheson, opened the meeting.

Nineteen cards and 13 calls were reported. The roll call was "A Moment of Silent Prayer."

Mrs. Laurison Ketcheson was in charge of the devotional, followed by prayer by Mrs. Ralph Sills and Scripture reading by Mrs. Clifford Ketcheson. A reading, "High Destiny," was given by Mrs. Laurison Ketcheson and Mrs. Harry Ketcheson closed with prayer.

Mrs. Murney Simmons was leader for the afternoon and opened with a reading on "Peace," followed by a "Prayer for Peace," by Mrs. Don Sills. "Now Is the Time" was given by Mrs. Doug Sills; Mrs. Frank Benion also gave a reading "For Perfect Peace We Must Understand."

Mrs. Simmons gave a paper, "Have You Keep Your Heart in Cold Storage?" Mr. Middleton closed the meeting and a social half hour followed.

Christ Church EBWA Holds Business Meet

The final business session for the year of the Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church was held on Monday evening in the parish hall.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. A. Bongard, who was assisted by Mrs. G. Cherry, Mrs. J. Ling, Mrs. H. Ingram, Mrs. A. Swain, Mrs. C. Reid and Miss M. Moon.

The secretary, Miss F. Reid and treasurer, Mrs. W. Edwards, presented reports.

Notes of appreciation were read from Mrs. A. Hibbard and Mrs. W. McLaughlin for cards of sympathy followed by their recent bereavements, and from Mrs. G. G. Wright, when shut-in.

The W.A. had recently sent a bale of linens and towels to the Mary Potters of the church of St. John the Evangelist, at Breecebridge;: this was acknowledged in a note of thanks. A number of money is sent each year to assist with the upkeep of a boy at sea letter, describing life in the ing letter,d escribing life in the Indian village, was received from the bishop of Amritsar.

Mrs. L. Mason, Mrs. B. Wells and Mrs. Swain reported for the Dorcas work, Sunshine Fund and Little Helpers, respectively.

Each year, at this time, it is the custom of this missionary group to make cash donations to many worthy causes, some of which are: Sunday School Post; Cowley Fathers; church army, upkeep of Indian boy, Christmas baskets, social service, Little Helpers, the Girls' and Junior branches of the W.A.

Mrs. Bongard extended a warm welcome to Deanery president, Mrs. A. Watson, of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill, who, as the guest speaker, delighted the group with the account of her trip, as delegate, to the Dominion annual in Toronto, this fall. Mrs. H. Stevens thanked Mrs. Watson and expressed the opinion of all when she said the talk had enlightened the members on many aspects of the W.A. work, and had been thoroughly enjoyed.

A question and answer period was followed by refreshments, served by hostesses, Mrs. E. Green and Mrs. J. Miles.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Going shopping?

Maybe you are just making up the list. Maybe you've been asking for Aunt Jessica, that fun Uncle Fred, etc., etc., if there is a time in the whole year when you should know what you want to get before you start out, this is it. Make your list out, clutch it in your hand and sally forth. Of course, the easier the better.

Today we will throw out some random suggestions, hoping that they will be of some benefit to the planner or maybe even save the life of a distraught shopper. Do you need a gift for a feminine person who is fussy about grooming? How about a professional type manicure tray, packaged with an automatic polish remover and a set of manicure equipment; or perhaps a personalized purse organizer with nine roomy pockets to hold keys, pen, compact, wallet, lipstick, nail file, comb and coin. Almost any woman would love a revolving "lazy susan," a variation of the old-fashioned "lazy susan," with seven compartments for nail rings, earrings, necklaces, bracelets, pins and clips, which could be another grooming-aid bound to be welcomed is a dainty ladies' electric razor which comes in its own leather case.

It is always a dilemma when you simply must go out just when you have your hair all done up in pin curls. Believe me, it is hard on the viewer, too. Well, there is now a very clever cap of broadcloth and jersey designed to be worn at such a time. The cap has a "bang" of real human hair to cover the pins in front, with a choice of blonde, brunette or auburn.

HOSIERY EVER POPULAR

Hosiery is always a happy choice mainly because it is necessary and useful. Gifts of this nature can now be embellished to ofrm a true glamor gift since hosiery has gone fully colorful in rainbow colors, lr. lace, and with fanciful clocks. Imagine black lace stockings, sheer as gossamer; or stocking sprinkled with sparkling glitter. From the extreme to the other, there are the bulky, useful stockings in vogue now with the younger gals.

We always hear stories in humorous vein about men trying to buy gifts for women. It may be that women are not so humorous, but they do have their problems, too. Buying something a man would like. Does he fish? Give him a pocket-sized gadget which weighs fish up to eight pounds and contains a measuring line which measures up to 25 inches. We understand that there are golfmetsers which tell the golfer the distance to the green, and the length of his drive; and automatic golf-scorers designed to be worn like a watch, automatically records each stroke.

If these are not practical enough, he might like a car vacuum cleaner which takes up and dirt for car's interior and operates from the wiper live. It can be stored in the glove compartment.

ROAD FLARES HANDY

For the friend or friend husband who likes gadgets for the car, there are road flares, the size of a long firecracker and able to burn in both wind and rain. These are handy safety precaution for that flat tire changer at night. A little more elaborate is the fish, which plugs into the cigarette lighter and flashes a red beam, marking the roadside repair site.

Something good for motorists with children — a metal clamp that slips down between door frame and window, can be used to hold a glass, baby's bottle, or soda bottle firmly in place. For the after-dark traveller a map viewer that clamps onto the sunshade and contains a light for help in reading roadmaps could be a useful item. First-aid, for those who really love everything,—there's a portable refrigerator or a portable sir-conditioner that plugs into that all-purpose cigarette lighter.

Good shopping!

There is a little mentioned but nonetheless vital change going on about the world and it is one whose outcome depends in part on how successfully women meet it. This is the challenge of the changing family pattern." It is a challenge meeting Canadian women, but with what there is in the same impact as that felt by our sisters in Asia and Africa. Perhaps the trend is toward our ways from customs that have existed from time immemorials. Woman is becoming an 'individual rather than a chattel. How some of these changes are silering family life will be covered in more detail in future columns of T and T.

ANCIENT PLANT

Mops were a garden plant of the ancient Romans. Even at be-young shoots as asparagus is eaten today.

Weddings

GREEN — RUSH

Point Anne Anglican Church was the setting on Saturday, November 29th for a quiet but pretty wedding, when the Reverend L. Arthur Page, rector of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill united in marriage Jean Annie Louise Rush, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rush, of Belleville R.H. No. 2, to Gordon Ray Green, of Point Anne, youngest son of Mr. Murrey Green and the late Mrs. Green.

The bride was becomingly attired in blue nylon over taffeta with white accessories, feather headband, and corsage of white carnations. She was attended by Mrs. Audrey Chisholm, sister of the bridegroom, who was dressed in orange lace with matching accessories, feathered headband, and corsage of white carnations.

Mr. Gordon Chisholm, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Green will reside in Point Anne.

WRIGHT — SCRIMSHAW

On Saturday, November 29th, at 11.00 a.m. a quiet wedding was solemnized in Christ Church, Belleville, by the Reverend Everett P. Smith, assistant rector when Ellen Blaze Scrimshaw, of Belleville, was united in marriage to James Alfred Wright, also of Belleville. The chancel and altar were adorned with basket of white and mauve chrysanthemums.

The bride was attended by Mrs. W. A. Morgan, and the bridegroom by his son, Mr. Harold Wright.

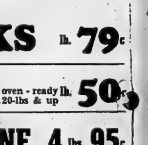
Miss L Riggs Heads Concert Group Again

The annual meeting of the Belleville Community Concert Association was held Tuesday evening at the YMCA. The president, Miss Leona E. Riggs, acted as chairman.

Reports were submitted by members of the executive. The chairmen of the various committees reviewed the planning and successful culmination of the association's observance of its 20th anniversary. Mr. F. E. Moore and Mrs. W. B. Vandervoort were again appointed auditors.

Mrs. W. L. Langlois, chairman of the nominating committee, presented her report which was accepted. The new slate of officers is as follows: past president, Mr. C. E. Templer; president, Miss Leona K. Riggs; 1st. vice-president, Mr. R. H. Turner; 2nd. vice-president, Mr. J. G. Demess; 3rd. vice-president, Mr. G. B. Cameron; secretary, Mr. W. B. Vandervoort; treasurer, Mr. W. D. LaFrance; campaign chairman, Mrs. J. G. Demess. The five incoming directors are: Lieut.-Col. R. Chapman, Mr. T. Y. Wills, Mr. R. W. G. Freestone, Mr. Sydney Rose and Mr. John Wilson.



The artists' selection committee will consist of Mr. C. E. Templer, Mrs. E. O. Butler, Mr. F. E. Moore, Mrs. Egerton Boyce, Mr. Eugene Hubbs, Dr. J. C. Locke, Mr. Jack Deacon and Mrs. A. T. Wills.

Miss Riggs concluded the meeting by reading from a New York Times review on Theodore Letvin, pianist, who recently received headline notice on his Town Hall recital. She felt the Association was fortunate to have this top-ranking artist included in the current concert series. Mr. Letvin will play in Belleville on February 9.

Mrs. G. L. — She has the wrong idea about it.

* * *

Cynthia L. — I am 25 and single and I live with my parents in the community where I was born and brought up. I have a fairly good job here, but it is not as good as what I could get in a large city. I have a lot of experience and have taken courses to improve my skills.

I would like to move to the city, not only for better job opportunities, but because I feel that I need a change. I have known all of the people here my whole life through and I'd like to meet others. I was always somewhat of a misfit here because I don't enjoy the usual social activities. I love music and other cultural things that are more available in the city.

My parents and my older brother and sister are in an uproar at the idea of my leaving home.

* * *

Mrs. G. L. — Like most young girls, Cynthia dreams of finding all kinds of glamor in the city. She has visited some of the biggest cities in the country on her vacations and she gets the idea that life there is one constant round of excitement.

I have been trying to make her understand this isn't so. People have told me small-town girls are just wasting away with loneliness in cities. They are so desperate they go out on dates with anyone who asks them and men take advantage of the situation.

We realize that Cynthia is finding it a problem to get settled with a suitable young man. Nearly all of her friends are married and she feels left out of things. But we aren't isolated. There is a lot of social activity going on and she can find happiness here.

* * *

The Council: All of Mrs. G. L.'s points are valid and well worth serious consideration. Nevertheless, Cynthia is old enough to make a stab at this adventure. If she feels a strong desire for it and is aware of the problems she'll face.

Most young women "wasting away with loneliness in cities" come totally unprepared for what they must face. They move into a woman's residence where they meet hundreds of girls like themselves or they take tiny apartments where they meet nobody. They expect to make friends through their jobs, but find the opportunities more limited than they expected. City dwellers tend to be rather impersonal on the job. The girls find that there are lots of shows, concerts and lectures — but in these events cannot subsist for warm human relationships.

The out-of-town girl living in a city overlooks the obvious fact that these warm human ties are vital to mental health. City residents really live much the way people do in small towns. Their circle of friends and relatives, their important home life, their most intimate ties, are basic. The bright city life around them is something to be taken from time-to-time when they crave excitement. Most seasoned city dwellers would fall apart emotionally and psychologically if they had to live, for an extended period, the life of the out-of-town girl.

If Cynthia's desire to go to the city is strong, we would suggest that she make up her mind to board with a family as much like her own as possible and that she join a church group immediately. Then she'll be off to a reasonably good start. She'll have a chance of enjoying city life.

Evening Glamor

By VERA WINSTON

A short - skirted evening dress that is simple yet striking is a find. This one is of jewel toned, dull - finish satin with a simple square - cut neckline. What sets it apart is the flower - like look of the dress, achieved by deftly arranged folds that taper to V's in the center.

Hamburg Dressed Up For Parties

by Mary Moore

It is my hope that you start giving with hostessing intentions will clip today's little talk for I am trying to save you money.

You and I know very well that regardless of firm resolves, entertaining always costs more than you plan or hope.

Frankly I am giving you recipes for using hamburg meat for some of your parties. I'm depending on you to garnish and decorate them holiday style.

PARTY MEAT LOAF

Two pounds ground beef, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, ½ cup milk, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, 2 teaspoons salt, 1½ teaspoons monosodium glutamate, ½ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup catsup. Combine all ingredients; mix well; shape into oval loaf about 1½ inches thick. Broil, with surface of meat 4 inches below source of heat for 15 to 30 minutes. (bottom burner should be on too.) Do not turn. Remove to hot platter. Surround with parsley potato balls. Top with

WATER FRIED ONIONS

Slice 3 large sweet onions thin, place in frying pan. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and MSG. Place over low heat. When onions begin to brown on bottom of pan, stir with fork. Add 3 tablespoons water; cover frying pan; cook over low heat until onions are soft and golden and water has evaporated, stirring occasionally.

OLD COUNTRY MEAT PIE

(Courtesy Kathleen M.) One lb. lean minced beef, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon sage or rosemary, ¼ cup tomato juice, ½ cup boiled onion, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 cup flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder. Mix meat, salt, seasoning and tomato juice(or gather. Put in greased pan, cover with onions and melted butter. Bake in hot oven 10 minutes. Beat eggs and milk together and add flour, baking powder and pinch of salt. Beat well (can be done in mixer). Pour this batter over hot meat and bake in 400 deg. Fahr. oven until batter is cooked — about 30 minutes. For a Christmas party garnish top with a "Christmas tree" made of thin crescents of canned pimiento.

SAVORY HAMBURGERS

One pound ground beef, 2 tablespoons milk, 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1 teaspoon each prepared mustard, catsup, Worcestershire sauce, salt, 1-3 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 beaten egg. Combine meat, milk and seasonings; add crumbs and egg, and mix well. Shape into 6 meat cakes. Place in baking dish and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. (These may be fried if desired.) Serve in centre of large platter and surround with colorful border of Hamburg trimmings: sweet onion rings, sliced tomatoes and water thin dill slices — overlapping alternately.

West Hastings WI Sponsors Tweedsmuir History Workshop

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

A Tweedsmuir history workshop was held in Marsh Hill United Church on Thursday with 30 ladies in attendance. The workshop was sponsored by West Hastings District Women's Institute under the direction of the president, Mrs. Harry Coulter, R.R. 1, Foxboro.

Pine Grove branch were the hostesses with Mrs. Grace Bartlindale, Mrs. Farley Lindenfield, and Mrs. William Slater in charge of the preparations, assisted by Mrs. Harold Detlor, Mrs. Fred Campbell, and Mrs. Coulter.

Mrs. Robert C. Walker, R. R. 1, St. George, Ont., provincial curator of Tweedsmuir history books, was in charge of the two sessions. She was accompanied by Mrs. James G. MacDougall, R.R. 1, Fullerton, Ont.

The workshop commenced at 10.15 a.m. with the introduction of Mrs. Walker, of Brant County, by Mrs. Coulter.

ABUNDANCE OF HISTORY

The speaker opened with a brief resume of Canadian history and then told of the travels of Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir during their sojourn in Canada. They both felt there was an abundance of history to record, and thus Lady Tweedsmuir suggested to the Women's Institutes of Ontario that a competition be inaugurated in order to interest the various branches in their own local history.

In 1940 F.W.I.O. set up an original set of rules and by 1954 it was necessary to set up more suggestions for the compilation of the books. Then came the idea of a Tweedsmuir Workshop where direct help could be given. One hundred and five branches will receive individual help this year.

She stated the branches are doing splendid research work in their own area, and now schools, libraries, and various organizations throughout the province are keenly interested.

The Tweedsmuir book should record all local history, with everything that pertains to that community. There should also be kept a historical scrapbook and this would give much needed information to students and members of families who are preparing their own data, she suggested.

The book should be original in construction and distinctive in design, but it is not necessary to compile a book for competition, she said.

Mrs. Walker suggested many helpful ideas and stressed that every branch should have at least three members on the Tweedsmuir history committee. Very often an older person, probably a man, would be glad to give assistance, she said.

"Draw a map of your county and have definite border lines, then compile your book accordingly," Mrs. Walker stated.

Each delegate was given a printed leaflet which contained full information regarding purchasing of suitable materials, and instructions for compiling the book.

COMPILE ACCURATE ACCOUNTS

The speaker advised members to compile an accurate account of each farm and not try to do too many in any one year.

"The main thing is to have all data authentic and be sure that each family has previously read your account before it is typed for the book," she said. "Good pictures are essential and give the book more interest."

During the afternoon session, Mrs. Walker gave many helpful ideas regarding old photographs, church history, and pioneer cemeteries. She suggested that original pioneer burial plots on farms throughout Ontario should always be fenced and kept sacred. They should be preserved and written in deeds when the farm changes ownership.

She said branch institutes should have a small cupboard in the local school for their institute library. Then everyone in the community knows where to obtain the books.

Put names on all pictures, then the article is valuable.

Farm histories should always contain list and concession. Record all community farms in alphabetical order, and show no partiality, she said.

"If you are going to put in wedding pictures and obituaries, be sure to insert them all," she stated.

The duties of the convener and her committee are heavy. Therefore there should be a bulletin board at the branch meetings and it should be kept up-to-date.

Mrs. Walker stressed the importance of acquiring only a few well-written and authentic histories each year.

The Tweedsmuir histories of the various branches were then shown and discussed. There were many splendid articles and pictures.

Since 1949 Mrs. Walker has been a member of the Glen Morris Tweedsmuir History Book committee and after two years of intensive work they won first place honors in Ontario and in 1953 they won first place in both Ontario and the Dominion. This group now has the treasurer-keeping of the famous Tweedsmuir cup from the F. W. I. C. Board.

This outstanding book with its various compilations, pictures, and such, was shown page by page to the delegates; also the silver coffee spoon from the F. W. I. O. and the silver trophy from F.W.I.O.

The book contained, among other things, an old letter which was readable and well preserved.

W.A. Holds Successful Tea, Bazaar

Mrs. W. McMullin and Mrs. Douglas Thompson, president of the W.A., welcomed the guests and Mrs. Barton Hinchliffe, the treasurer, collected the fees for the tea room.

The hall looked lovely with the tables laden with everything from the touch and take table to bake table with pies, cakes, tarts and cookies and the farmers' table filled with all kinds of vegetables; while the miscellaneous table had many useful articles, not forgetting the apron table with many pretty ones.

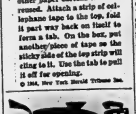
The tea tables were pretty with their little white tablecloths, centred with a little vase of evergreens with little red berries in the centre.

Pouring tea for the afternoon were Mrs. J. Chisholm, Mrs. S. Nicholson, Mrs. I. Ketcheson and Mrs. F. Harris.



Mrs. Thompson wishes to thank all who helped to make the bazaar and tea room a success.

Little Helpers Enjoy Party

WELLINGTON — The Little Helpers of St. Andrew's church held their annual party in the town hall on Saturday afternoon.

Due to the severe storm many were unable to attend. There were 13 members their mothers and a number of W.A. members present. Also the Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Rogers and their two small sons. The party opened with Mr. Rogers offering a prayer. Hymns "Jesus Loves Me" and "Away in a Manger", were sung followed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. E. Robinson, who was taking Mrs. Spriggings place, called the roll and each tiny member took his or her mite box up and emptied it onto a plate. The proceeds of these boxes go to W.A. missions.

A special prayer was then repeated. Mr. Rogers closed this part of the meeting.

Mrs. Blower led the children in several games while the ladies prepared the lunch which was enjoyed by both the young and their elders.

Sidney and Trenton Council Of Christian Education Meets

Delegates from Stone United, Centenary United, Alexandria United, White's United, St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Grace United, King St. United, Batawa United and Frankford United churches attended the annual convention of the Sidney and Trenton Council of Christian Education held Saturday at Grace United Church, Trenton.

The morning sessions were opened with a devotional service arranged by Grace United Sunday School, with Miss Gladys Park, Arthur Melarkey, Sam Wilson and Martin Boese taking various parts. Rev. G. Puttenham extended a welcome to the delegates on behalf of Grace Church.

Rev. Horace Burkholder, Toronto, general secretary of the Ontario Council of Christian Education, presented "The Words of God in the Words of Men." After a discussion on this message, Mrs. J. A. Murray, Toronto, chairman of children's work of O.C.C.E., reviewed the books which were displayed. The delegates divided into two groups for Bible study under Rev. Burkholder and Mrs. Murray. The convention theme, "Understandeth Thou What Thou Readest" unveiled a spiritual topic for "A Day with the Bible."

Herbert Kern, Batawa, president of the Council, presided at the dinner hour. The ladies of the W.M.S. of Grace Church, under Mrs. A. Sills, provided a bountiful repast and the thanks of those present were extended by Rev. E. M. Beach, Batawa United Church.

The president's report for 1958 outlines the activities of the council and included a spiritual advance service held in April at Bethel Temple, and an outdoor rally gathering at Oak Lake arranged by Walter Lindenfield, representative for one area representatives Willard Morrow, Wooler, and Walter Lindenfield, Stirling, were reappointed for two years. Arthur Melarkey was appointed area four representative for a similar period. The Council supported the work of the Ontario Council through Mother's Day offerings taken in the various Sunday Schools in the area under the Council.

A resolution was passed thanking the board of Grace Church for opening the church for the convention. A report on the elections held recently for the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament was given by Sid Martin, of Frankford. The closing address on "The Bible According To You," was given by Mrs. Burkholder. He pointed out that from the beginning the Word of God has been Dependability, Understanding, Confidence, Justice, Truth and Love.

He asserted that we can rely on God's promises and on His love. We must study our children so that we can make the Word of God real to them. We must also learn to listen to our children. We should look for those who need a sense of belonging and of love. Jesus gathered His life that men would come to love one another. Jesus is still available on each of us and our actions will affect the future of others as well as ourselves.

Messrs. Lloyd Myles and Bob Fitzsimmons, Trenton, assisted during the day.

GOOD MANNERS

WHEN TO CROSS OFF LAST NAME ON IMPRINTED CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have a problem about my Christmas cards. Please help me. Last month I ordered our Christmas cards, ordered our name imprinted on them, our first names and our last name: I or example, Mary and John Robinson. Including our last name was, I'm now quite sure, a big mistake, and when I think of sending these cards to relatives and close friends, they just don't seem right, seem too "formal." Mrs. Beeckman, did I make a mistake? If so, is there anything I can do about using these cards?

R.

No, Ria um . . . you made no mistake. As a matter of fact, the form of name you ordered imprinted on the cards is the form usually chosen for a tenant's order. You can send them with the name as-is when it is appropriate to include the last name . . . so often necessary as identity to not-close friends, acquaintances, and so forth. The last name is particularly necessary when the first names are not unusual.

Then, on the cards to be sent to relatives and intimate friends:

1. Cross off the last name.

2. Write above the names "Devotedly" or "Lovingly" or "Affectionately" or whatever is appropriate.

3. If you wish (and I hope you do wish), write a cordial, personal message, with perhaps a news-item, below the names.

See how easily and gracefully you can adapt these cards to all your relationships?

B.G.H. 'Stardust Ball' Held by Alumnae

The theme for the annual dance held by Belleville General Hospital Nurses' Alumnae, was "The Stardust Ball."

An interesting feature of the evening was the crowning of Mr. and Miss Stardust by Mayor Gerald Sykes. The award was won by Miss Judy Holgate and Mr. John Hinchey.

Those who assisted with receiving the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. Finkle, Dr. and Mrs. F. Kennedy, Miss Margaret L. Peart and Miss Marion Coutant.

Prizes for the spot dances were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Connors; Mr. Jay Enright and Miss Kay Wright; Mr. Denby Ellis and Miss Fern Edwards; Dr. and Mrs. D. Scott; Mr. and Mrs. Morley Connors; Mr. Fred Bowman and Miss Keitha Hutchinson.

Those who won door prizes were as follows: 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vardy; 2nd., Miss Shirley Meyers; 3rd, Carol Quisey and 4th., George Fredrick.

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. George Bilham, Mrs. Everett Nicolson and Mrs. Leonard Young attended the Sunday School convention at Grace United Church, Trenton, on Saturday. The Rev. J. Burkholder, and Mrs. Murray of O.C.C.K., Toronto, were guest speakers.

Mrs. Casey Ketcheson opened her home the past week for a quilting for White's Woman's Association.

Mrs. Wilbur Jones of Aiken's district spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones.

Mrs. A. Skaarup opened her home for choir practice on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Trice, Stephen and Cathy, Belleville, were last Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Curtis.

Mr. Raymond Ghent of Detroit, spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Orval Ghent.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bilham, Sylvia and Larry were Saturday evening dinner guests of her sister, Mrs. William Hunter, Mr. Hunter, Robert and Barry Walter.

Church and Sunday School services were held at White's Church on Sunday morning with the Rev. Roy Rickard speaking on "Missionary and Maintenance." The choir rendered an anthem, "If Jesus Goes With Me." A White Gift service is to be held on Sunday, December 7th. These gifts are to be sent to Miss Elsie Hunt, Reg. N. Stationed at Burns Lake Mission Hospital, in British Columbia. The offering is for local church missionary and maintenance funds. The Sunday School offering will be used for the Mission Band. The Junior Choir sang "Away in a Manger," Mrs. A. Skaarup was pianist for both services.

Mrs. Vera Sine spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Maurice Bird, and Mr. Bird of Frankford.

CREATE HUGE WATERFALL

LONDON (AP) — Soviet engineers in Siberia are creating an artificial waterfall twice the height of the 167-foot Niagara Falls, Moscow radio said Friday night. It said the fall will be formed by the dam of the Bratsk hydroelectric station now under construction on the Angara River.

GLEN MILLER

Interested Adults Attend P.S. Open House

GLEN MILLER — More than 30 interested adults gathered at Glen Miller School last Thursday night at the first "Open House" held in the school this year.

Display of art, writing and other scholastic activities were available, report cards were distributed, and Mr. G. W. Thompson of the Senior room and Miss E. Melvin of the Junior room were on hand to discuss the progress of the pupils with the parents.

A tape recording of a grade six play entitled, "Paul Kane—Adventurer and Artist," was well received. Acting in this play were Wayne Moore, Paul Lomas, Kathleen Everson, Paul Ireland, Basil Van Allen, Don Palmateer, Jim Lawrence, David Valyear and Bruce Sickels.

A recording of "Meg and Molly," under the direction of the music supervisor, Mrs. Margetson, completed the evening.

GIANT MOSCOW RINK

TOKYO (AP) — A giant rink with room for 15,000 skaters was inaugurated at Lenin Central Stadium in Moscow Sunday, Radio Moscow reported. The broadcast said the 1,300,000-square-foot rink is the largest in the Soviet Union.

The St. Lambert lock, first of a series of seven locks by which ships will travel from the ocean up the St. Lawrence Seaway to the Great Lakes, is completed. The lock, shown in this aerial view by Hans van der As, lies on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River opposite the city of Montreal. This view, looking west, shows the southern end of Victoria bridge from Montreal, part of the Montreal suburb of St. Lambert and the great sweep of the seaway channel which follows the river to Cote Ste. Seaway Officials Expect New St. Lawrence Waterway Will Be Ready Next April

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian seaway officials say they have every expectation that the new St. Lawrence waterway will be ready for deep-draught ships next April—as promised four years ago.

Just five months remain before the first freighters are expected to roll North America's biggest inland water highway, and about seven months before the Queen is to come to Canada to open it formally.

Thousands of workers have been toiling for the last four years to complete the 135 - mile system of seven locks, four canals and other deep channels that will gradually revolutionize shipping patterns to and from the continent's land-locked interior.

WILL BE READY

"We have every expectation that as soon as the first ship approaches the seaway for passage next spring, we will be ready to put it through," says Bennett J. Roberts, seaway president.

But the seaway won't be fully finished by April, he said in an interview.

Remaining work includes some dredging to widen channels along the new route and completion of a turning basin at the seaway entrance in Montreal harbor.

Mr. Roberts, third man to head Canada's St. Lawrence Seaway Authority in four years, said the unfinished work will not create any bottlenecks to slow down navigation once the seaway is opened.

"Barring unforseen events," he added, "there will be a 27-foot channel from Montreal to Lake Ontario."

His statement refutes fears expressed in some shipping quarters that the seaway would not be dredged to its full depth by 1959.

PICTURE TODAY

1. Three locks in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence, 65 miles west of Montreal, have been operating since July 4 for 14-foot navigation. All three, Canada's Iroquois lock, and the two United States locks near Massena, N.Y., across the river from Cornwall, Ont., are ready now for 27-foot draught ships.

2. The four other locks, all within 30 miles of Montreal, have been completed and tests of the lock mechanism and gates started this fall. The four are at St. Lambert and Cote Ste. Catherine, in the Montreal area, and at the entrance to the Beauharnois ship channel, 25 miles west of Montreal.

3. Ten new bridges for railway and road traffic crossing the seaway route are almost finished. Tenders are to be asked next year for construction of a $6,000,000 high-level bridge at Cornwall to link up with a new bridge already built from Cornwall island to the U.S. mainland.

With major facets of the $475,000,000 project out of the way, seaway officials are turning from the construction phase to preparing for operations. This involves hiring men to work the locks, setting up the administrative machinery for collecting tolls and shifting most of the seaway staff from the Ottawa and Montreal offices to the Cornwall headquarters.

Talks are also under way to write a formal agreement with American seaway officials on the final toll schedules, which need to be ratified by the Canadian Cabinet and approved by President Eisenhower before going into effect.

Jean Claude Lessard, vice-president of Canada's seaway administration and the leading Canadian toll planner, said the final schedule would substantially follow their eliminary toll levels announced this summer.

The two seaway countries agreed then to charge six cents a ton on the gross registered tonnage of ships, plus 42 cents a ton for bulk cargo and 95 cents a ton for general cargo. This total applies to ships using the seaway and the Welland canal; there are partial tolls for partial transit.

Both countries have passed laws requiring that the cost of the seaway be paid back through tolls over 50 years. The Welland canal, built in 1932 by Canada to get around Niagara Falls, is being deepened to 27-foot navigation at a cost of almost $30,000,000, which also must be repaid by toll income.

The federal government is expected to move soon to centralize operation and administration of all main-line Canadian canals under the seaway authority. Under this proposed arrangement, the authority would take over from the department of transport the responsibility for working the Lachine and Cornwall canals for local traffic, and operating the Canadian locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The seaway is being construction-tested, after decades of indecision and dickering with the U.S., to replace a series of 11 locks from Montreal to Lake Ontario — all built before 1900 and too small for big ocean ships and lake bulk carriers now.

The deeper seaway, with the huge 800-foot locks, will be capable of handling almost 75 per cent of the world's present cargo ships, most of which are barred from the Great Lakes by the old locks, only 250 feet long.

But shipping experts say the most significant impact of the seaway will not be on ocean vessels but on the giant lake carriers with a carrying capacity of 25,000 tons. These great ships have space for eight times as much cargo as present "canal-ers".

Thus, the biggest impact will be on movement of iron ore in mills, and shipment of western grain to Upper St. Lawrence elevators for ocean trans-shipment.

THANK YOU

My sincere thanks to the electorate of our City who voted for me on Monday last, and particularly to the grand people who worked so zealously on my behalf during the past week.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL WEDDING OF THE YEAR

Announcing

THE NEW FORD Galaxie

It's Thunderbird in looks! The smart, straight-line Galaxie roof and dramatic see-it-all rear window say Thunderbird unmistakably. So does the classic simplicity of its clean, low-swept body lines. Here is the most perfect match yet of the Thunderbird's own silhouette.

It's Thunderbird in luxury! New Galaxie appointments—like the plush, deep-pile carpets—are so very Thunderbird in taste. There's Thunderbird V-8 power and performance, too. A surpassing luxury that tells you how superbly these Ford newlyweds "GO" together.

Just Married in Style to the Thunderbird!

It's the newest and most exciting of all the 59 Fords—the elegant new Galaxie. A bright new personality in cars—and more. The Galaxie is a full "fine car" 6-passenger expression of Thunderbird grace, spirit, style and luxury in an altogether new line of Fords. The Galaxie, as you'll quickly see, is as wonderfully all-the-way Thunderbird as a low-price Ford can be.

Reception now—you are invited. The Galaxie Series—a sedan, two hardtops and two convertibles including the world's only hardtop convertible—brings a new measure of elegance to the low-price field. True, Ford owners are accustomed to luxury—and at the low Ford price. But never in any Ford, nor in cars costing far more, have you seen anything as sweet, smart and glamourous as this. The Galaxie reception's being held at your Ford Dealer's now. Bring the whole family.

You'll want to honeymoon again in a 59 FORD

Safe Disposal of Radioactive Wastes From A-Power Plants Big Puzzle Facing Scientists

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Safe disposal of radioactive wastes from atomic power plants is one of the most formidable problems facing Canada's nuclear scientists.

The wastes must be stored safely to prevent their deadly radioactivity from becoming a hazard to human, animal and plant life. This must be done cheaply to keep the cost of producing electricity by atomic means as low as possible.

Scientists at this Canadian atomic centre 135 miles northwest of Ottawa think they have solved the problem through development of a method for containing the wastes in a glass solid.

NOW STORED IN STEEL

Radioactive wastes now are stored in stainless steel tanks and placed in underground concrete pits lined with stainless steel. This method so far has proved satisfactory for this atomic establishment.

However, a better method is being sought because these tanks will not last indefinitely. There also is the danger that a tank might fail, releasing radioactive products which could be carried away by underground water movements.

Minute quantities of radioactive materials have leached out of the underground storage pits used for solid wastes at Chalk River due to the action of underground water. However, the amounts detected are far below those permissible in ordinary drinking water.

Present storage systems also will not cope with the large quantities of wastes which will be produced in future by atomic power stations. They must be stored safely until science some day can devise means to put even the energies of wastes to work.

CONDUCT TESTS

Dr. Colin Mawson, head of environmental research for Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, crown company which operates the Atomic project, said in an interview that glass bricks containing wastes now are being tested under actual storage conditions.

The glass retains the radioactivity so well that its escape rate is almost negligible. The rate at which glass — a waste solid dissolves in water — one thousandth of an inch in 1,000 years.

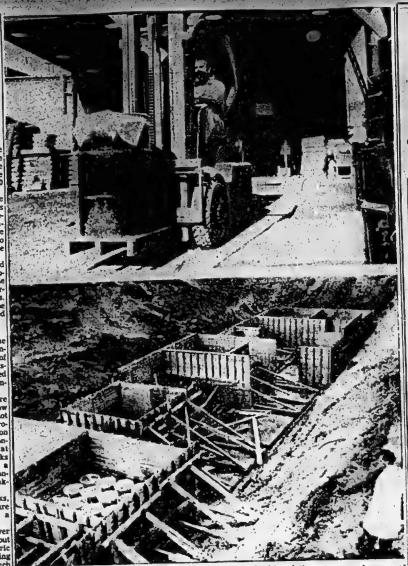
The tests will determine the rate of escape after the glass solid has been subject for a period to leaching by ground water and to irradiation by the wastes. If the leaching is too great the glass solid could be coated with a protective glaze.

If the glass bricks are stored in a vault-like structure it probably will be necessary to provide air cooling to offset heat generated by the radioactive wastes. A cooling system might also be needed if the glass were stored underground.

CONTENTS OF BRICK

Dr. Mawson said each of the glass bricks now being tested contains wastes with the strength of 20 curies—the unit used to measure radioactivity. It was hoped later that each brick would contain 10,000 curies.

The glass bricks, which are really six-inch hemispheres, now are being produced in a pilot plant at Chalk River. If the process is adopted, Dr. Mawson said, it will be possible to convert all high-active wastes at Chalk River into glass bricks over a period of six months to a year. This would require construction of a small glass-making plant.



Even with the glass bricks, storage of wastes from future atomic power plants will be a major problem.

By 1973 Canadian atomic power stations may be producing about 4,000,000 kilowatts of electric energy. Glass bricks containing the annual wastes from such plants could occupy up to 180,000 cubic feet, about the size of four three-apartment triplexes.

WELLINGTON
Conservatives Elect Officers

WELLINGTON — The guest speakers at the Conservative meeting held in the town hall last Thursday evening were Mr. Clarence Milligan, M.P. and Mr. Norris Whitney, M.L.A.

Election of officers for 1959 was held with the results being: president, W. Thompson; vice-president, Norman Foster; secretary-treasurer, Reta Thompson; roll chairmen, Leo Vanduren, W. H. Morton and Herbert J. Patton.

Radioactive wastes at the Chalk River, Ont., atomic power project are stored in stainless steel tanks and placed in underground concrete pits lined with stainless steel. Low-activity wastes and cement mixed in steel drums are being moved to disposal area (top.) The drum is covered with polythene to prevent escape of dust. The steel drums then are placed on concrete pads (bottom) and forms erected for pouring of concrete. A new system of storage, using glass bricks, now is being tested. (CP Photo).

Capt. Ovila Pregent, 58-year-old skipper of the 253-foot Metis, faces an uncertain future when the giant St. Lawrence Seaway replaces the old 14-foot canal system from Montreal to Lake Ontario. His ship is a canaller, small enough to squeeze through the locks of the Lachine and Soulanges canals. There are another 190 like her, their future in doubt when big ocean ships and sleek lake freighters will be able to make their way along the new international waterway. (CP Photo).

'Canallers' Facing Uncertain Future When St. Lawrence Opens for Business Next Year

The Lachine and Soulanges Canals, both more than 50 years old, soon will close for winter, to be replaced in the spring by the new St. Law rence Seaway. A Canadian Press staff writer tells in this story of one of the final trips of a typical "canaller" from Montreal to Kingston, Ont.

By ROBERT RICE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Come sail a voyage of discovery along a long black stretch of water, a lost voyage through an old-time concrete corridor along the St. Lawrence River.

Come aboard the MV Metis, a squat, snub - bowed, 253 - foot "canaller," and sail from Montreal to Kingston, Ont., up three locks, through 13 locks, under 16 bridges, over a highway tunnel, across three lakes, all in 186 miles.

Meet Capt. Ovila Pregent, 58, master of the Metis, a short roly-poly man who pulls years and years of experience as a fresh-water sailor, men who sail a fresh-water sea almost 1,000 miles from the open ocean. They take their ships and cargoes of salt, sulphur, ore, newsprint and coal to land-locked ports that ring with landlubber's sounds, to Chicago, Cleveland, Port Arthur, Buffalo, Kingston, Toledo, Ashtabula.

As winter approaches, they are navigating through thin ice along the narrow, factory - rimmed channels of the Lachine Canal, first built 258 years ago and deepened to 14 feet back in 1883. And with winter soon to throttle all inland navigation, they are making their final runs down the winding, 14-mile Soulanges Canal into Lake St. Francis.

When spring arrives next year, these two canals, long significant in Canada's economic growth, will cease to exist for lake-bound ships.

APRIL OPENING

The new seaway, a five-year, $75,000,000 undertaking of Canada and the United States, is to open next April, offering a deeper, faster water route to North America's industrial heart.

Capt. Pregent has witnessed the vast changes of the last four years — construction of seven locks, excavation of canals and channels, flooding of a new 36-mile lake near Cornwall, Ont.

"It is amazing," he says, looking his head at what 15,000 men created in four years in a river he has traversed more than 10 times as long.

His ship is small enough to squeeze into the old rock-lined locks of the Lachine and Soulanges. It can carry 2,800 tons of iron ore, or 106,000 bushels of wheat in the cargo holds. Easing the ship into the old locks is like threading a needle, compared with the smooth entry into the 80-foot wide seaway locks.

WATER STAIRWAY

Once, there were 21 locks between Montreal and Iroquois, Ont., 135 miles west. They were a water stairway, lifting or lowering ships 225 feet from the level of Montreal harbor to Lake Ontario.

Last July 1, a muddy, man-made lake submerged 11 of the locks around Cornwall, Ont. Three new seaway locks, each almost 800-feet long, 80-feet wide, with a 30-foot draught, replaced them.

The old and the new—you see them both as you sail aboard the Metis of Canada Steamship Lines in the last icy days of the 1958 navigation season, which ends early in December.

Your voyage of discovery starts in Montreal harbor, one of the world's greatest inland ports, some 900 miles from the Atlantic. Surrounded by downtown traffic, the ship swings into the first of five locks in the Lachine Canal, a nine-mile carpet of oily water laid across the western loop of Montreal Island.

You sail past grain elevators, flour mills, factories, past back yards and front doors. From the wheelhouse you hear Capt. Pregent say:

"A short life is not for me. I'd feel like a prisoner, working ashore in a shop."

LIFE OF WAITING

And you sail slowly westward, waiting at bridges for the right-of-way, waiting in a queue of ships to enter a lock. It is a life of waiting—life of four hours on watch, eight off, around the clock, of seven - day weeks for months.

"I like this life, but it's hard on the wife," says red - haired Robert Joly, first mate of the Metis. He's 33 and a veteran of salt - and fresh-water ships.

The Metis, two years old and trim, sails on into the darkening gloom. Five locks and 52 hours later, it edges into Lake St. Louis, passing ships moored in the night. Then it moves into the Soulanges, first started in 1779 by the Royal Engineers and deepened 40 years ago to 14 feet with five locks lifting ships 84 feet to Lake St. Francis.

You see tiny farmlands and beside a highway as moonstruck dogs bay at the ship and buses bound motorists roar by. Lake St. Francis, a 30-mile widening of the St. Lawrence, lies ahead, the channel marked in the night by a necklace of buoy lights.

The sound of a ship's horn, mournful and nasal, oozes across the water and the Metis replies. Three new seaway locks, each almost 800-feet long, 80-feet wide, with a 30-foot draught, replaced them.

The sound of a ship's horn, mournful and nasal, oozes across the water and the Metis replies. The ship's radio crackles with static and odd distant messages emerge freakishly amid the local canal calls.

INTERNATIONAL WATERS

Dawn breaks, 18 hours and 50 miles out of Montreal, as the ship enters the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence—rapids that have been tamed beneath deeper waters of a new lake flooded for a $600,000,000 power dam at Cornwall, Ont.

Without a signal or a flag, the ship crosses the International boundary, pressing at 11 miles an hour into American waters, passing turbulent Polly's Gut Channel on the starboard, gliding under the new high-level U.S.-Canada bridge to Cornwall Island.

And then there it is—the new part of the seaway, the big U.S.-built Snell Lock. The Metis has 20 feet to spare on each side as she enters the lock, compared with seven inches in the old narrow canals.

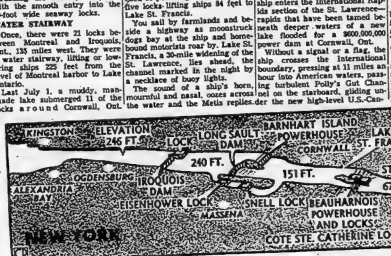
Even Capt. Pregent shakes his head as the Metis rises 40 feet in seven minutes, going up like an elevator in a concrete canyon. The lock is big enough to accommodate two canallers at once.

He sounds the ship's whistle and sails into the Wiley-Dondero ship channel, cut across old meadows on once-dry land. Then into the Eisenhower Lock—"Ike's Dike" they call it—and another fast lift to the level of Lake St. Lawrence, the new power pond that flooded 20,000 acres of Canadian soil, 18,000 on the U.S. side.

LANDMARKS VANISH

"All the old landmarks have gone," says Capt. Pregent, still puffing his cigar. He takes his ship across the lake, back to Canada, to the seaway's Iroquois Lock, finished and tested a year earlier, and then through to steer a course for the Thousand Islands section of the St. Lawrence.

Night curtains the river again, and second - mate Jean Denis Charrier, 26, grandson of an old sidewheeler sailor on the same route, takes command to guide the Metis through the narrows.



You sail past millionaires' mansions, summer homes and spooky castles built during the giddy 1920s and now dark, unused and eerie. You sail silently down a rock-bound channel.

In the event of fog, this is not a nice place to be," says the chief engineer, Scots-born William Lander, 48, who came to Canada 12 years ago. "There's nothing soft around here."

He has the job of keeping the Metis' engines running smoothly. They are two marine diesel engines in the aft portion of the ship.

Ahead the lights of Kingston sparkle, Capt. Pregent takes over the helm and berths the Metis alongside the Kingston grain elevator.

Deckhands sweep the holds clean of coal dust, the previous cargo, and prepare to load grain early in the morning. And the Metis rests for the night. Soon it will rest for the winter. Next spring the new seaway will be in operation, and a new kind of voyage awaits the ship and his crew.

North America's biggest inland water highway will begin operation next April carrying deep-draught ships along a 27-foot channel between the ocean and Lake Ontario.

Two locks at Beauharnois, by-passing a series of rapids, will raise the ships another 84 feet into Lake St. Francis.

Two locks on the United States side of the river will raise the ships another 89 feet, by-passing the great power installations of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission and the New York State Power Authority near Cornwall, Ontario. The last lock before Lake Ontario is at Iroquois, Ont.

The new system replaces the old St. Lawrence system of 21 locks, most of which now will go out of service. The Lachine Canal, by which ships have by-passed the Lachine Rapids, will remain in use for local traffic. (CP Newsmap.)

Frozen Body Of Woman Found

THE DALLES, Ore. (AP)—The frozen body of a woman was found Tuesday in the Mount Hood National Forest where she, her husband and daughter had gone to fast.

The body of Charlotte Elnora Durbin, 45, was found on a bed in a crude shelter by state police. With the woman, they said, was the husband, Dudley H. Durbin, about 46, and a daughter, Polly Jean, about 17.

Police quoted Durbin as saying the family had come to the area from their Yakima, Wash., home about Oct. 1. They had only on water from a nearby mountain stream.

Durbin was held in jail without formal charge. His daughter was taken to a hospital.

When a reporter asked why he had gone up on the mountain, Durbin replied: "The Lord told me to go."

Anglican Church Furnishings Topic at Meet

GLEN MILLER — An address by Rev. R. Gale, of Stirling, was the feature attraction at the recent meeting of the Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen held in Glen Miller Community Hall. Mr. Gale spoke on the meanings of the various furnishings used in the Anglican Church of today. Following his speech he answered many questions on the subject.

The president of the Brotherhood, Mr. R. Coombs of Stirling, spoke on the subject of the Brotherhood and what it means. Also Mr. Orvil Patrick showed slides he had taken on a trip through Algonquin Park this summer.

Dart games were played, and a sing-song under Mr. Edgar Ellis and Mr. Fred Hutchin, were enjoyed.

The entire program was under the direction of Mr. James Ireland and Mr. Jack Steenburg.

Following the program, refreshments were served by the Christ Church Guild.

A Russian nuclear aircraft is now flying, according to a U.S. aviation magazine. Weighing 150 tons, 185 feet long, it is described as being able to fly several times around the world without refuelling. The atom-power units are suspended from the delta wings of the craft, giving it a speed of 1,000 mph.

ICE CAUSES JET CRASHES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The crash of a B-52 jet bomber Feb. 11 at Rapid City, S.D., which claimed the lives of five men, was caused by ice in the bomber's jet fuel, Marvin Miles, space-aviation editor of the Los Angeles Times quoted unnamed sources close to the problem" as saying ice in jet fuel systems had caused the B-52 and 36 other jet crashes in the last 20 years. The rapid city crash unlocked the cause of the other mishaps, the Times said Sunday.

The car created for Canadians

MONARCH MARK II

A thrilling new blend of beauty, performance and luxury . . . priced to invite you to the adventure of fine-car ownership

Monarch Mark II is a new edition designed to meet the needs of today's Canadian motorists. It is an impressive car; a distinctive and broad-shouldered car that is exceptionally handsome.

See that majestic sweep of glass. It gives you a new horizon-wide outlook—a new feeling of spaciousness. The crisp and functional styling has the timeless look of good taste—without the extremes and excesses that go out of fashion so fast.

Wide, wide doors make this an easy car to enter. And inside, you are immediately aware that Monarch Mark II is a remarkably roomy car. Monarch Mark II is a true six-passenger car in every respect. The wide floor plan and the new low centre tunnel mean that passengers in the middle seat have full knee and leg-room to stretch out and enjoy the ride—mile after relaxing mile. Interiors are frankly luxurious and elegantly appointed, with deep-cushioned seating to cradle you in supreme comfort.

Underneath the gleaming hood are new advances in big, deep-breathing, economical V-8's. You sense, rather than hear, the power of these efficient V-8 engines. Unseen, but most important, there's a wide, strong frame which surrounds you with solid steel for extra safety.

There are so many things you'll like in Monarch Mark II. The eager response. The precise arrangement of instruments and controls. The outstanding handling ease. And you'll like the smoothness of the automatic transmissions and new self-adjusting brakes—two of the many engineering advances.

Your dealer will be delighted to have you drive this fine car. You'll find Monarch Mark II offers you more of the things you want—more value—and a new choice of fine cars for 1959.

Three superb series:
LUCERNE—Brings you today's most economical fine-car value
RICHELIEU—Brilliant performance and distinctive styling
SCEPTRE—Finest expression of Monarch Mark II luxury

Two distinctive rooflines:
Above: the sedan roofline shown in the Richelieu 4-door Sedan

Denies Reports East to Get All Cup Games

TORONTO (CP) — Harry McBrien, secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union, Tuesday denied reports that all future Grey Cup games will be played in the East.

He said that while he was in Vancouver for this year's game he heard rumours the classic would in future be held only in the East.

"There has been no indication that such a thing would be," he said in an interview.

He added there is no specific pattern followed in selecting the site for the annual game. It would be played wherever there would be the best deal for the fans and the game itself—East or West.

McBrien, who returned from the West coast Monday night, said:

"Vancouver did a marvellous job of correlating all various details. Everything came off like clockwork and was never more spectacular."

Tuesday, the Canadian Press erroneously quoted McBrien as saying the game will te alternated between East and West.

Portable Court Answer to Pro Tennis Ban

MELBOURNE (AP) — Jack Kramer's answer to the ban imposed on his professionals by the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia is a 24-ton portable court, which he says may revolutionize the game.

"The action of shutting me out of the big tennis stadiums down here may prove a blessing in disguise," the American promoter said Tuesday. "We now are working on something which may change the whole face of the tour."

The "something" is a special plywood court which will be painted with a special plastic substance to simulate a concrete surface.

The cost is close to $20,000.

"When I was told we could not play in stadiums at Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane I decided to look into the feasibility of a portable court," Kramer said.

"I went to a man named Ralph Symonds, who is called the plywood king of Australia. He said not to worry, he would build me the court I wanted. This was 16 days ago. The court will be ready for testing next week."

Files Protest With Ladies' Golf Union

EDMONTON (CP)—The Highlands Golf Club of Edmonton has filed a protest with the Canadian Ladies Golf Union in connection with the exclusion of Mrs. Betty Stanbrae Cole from Canada's team in the 1959 Commonwealth matches.

The team, announced last week in Toronto, is made up of Captain Mrs. J. H. McCarter, Rosemond Port and Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto; Montreal's Judy Darling and the Calgary pair of Rae Milligan and Mary Gay.

Mrs. R. W. Laing of Toronto, chairman of the CLGU selection committee, said the group decided against sending Mrs. Cole to England because "she married recently and needs some time to herself."

She also said: "We are looking for experience and are sending what we consider our best team."

On the Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Racing Commission is believed investigating use of "buzzers" on race horses.

The commission chairman, Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, said Tuesday the investigation into certain phases of racing "has nothing to do with narcotics."

Asked whether it concerned electricity, he replied:

"In a way, yes."

This was taken as a reference to "buzzers"—also called "joints" and "batteries" — flashlight-sized objects which contain batteries and contact points and shock a horse when applied to the body.

Asked whether there are any other aspects to the investigation, Magistrate Bigelow said:

"That we don't know. We'll see what comes out of this one. These things can mushroom." He was reluctant to say anything further because the matter was "sort of sub — judice." The magistrate added:

"We do hope to clear up this particular investigation at a meeting Thursday."

The commission met last Friday with three grooms and jockey Doc Hale appearing before it. Also on hand was an undercover policeman who worked as a groom during the summer.

Trappers Dump Greyhounds 5-3 In Senior Fray

Whitby Dunlops have dispelled all doubts about who's boasting the Ontario Hockey Association's Eastern Senior A division.

Dunlops turned back the second place Belleville McFarlands 5-4 at Belleville Tuesday night to deal the latter a setback they gave them at Whitby three nights earlier.

On both occasions McFarlands were in a position to tie Dunlops for first place if they had won.

On the other Ontario Senior A front, the OHA - NOHA race, North Bay Trappers clamped Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds 3-3 in one of their best showings of the season. The win moved last-place Trappers to within four points of the fifth-place Sudbury Wolves.

Pete Babando, former National Hockey League player, sparked Whitby with three goals, all of them set up by linemate Bobby Attersley, who also picked up a goal of his own. Tom O'Connell fired the winner.

Goaltender John Henderson drew one of the game's seven penalties, a 10-minute misconduct for coming out of the Whitby net to protest a goal that tied it 4-4 in the third period.

The crowd of 1,800 jeered when referee Al Pearce refused to allow a Belleville goal that would have made it 5-5. Protestations said he had blown his whistle before the scoring shot.

North Bay and only 11 men available for the Soo game — they packed all their scoring into a second period burst that Greyhounds couldn't match.

A record deal which sent forwards John Ulendale and Bernie Cote to Windsor Bulldogs in exchange for goalie Ray Edwards helped dimlaish the Trapper scoring circuit. Edwards wasn't on hand, either.

George Gosselin scored twice and Cleland Morrison, Jim Mikol and Ches Konecony added singles to run up the Trapper count. Soo scorers were Jim McBurney, John Offidoni and Gary Venas.

Multi-Million Hatch

N.H.L. Egg Laid in Montreal Forty-Nine Years Ago Today

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Forty-nine years ago today a hockey meet was held at 267 James Street office building in downtown Montreal. Little did those men know at the time that their meeting would be the foundation for today's multi-million dollar National Hockey League.

Central Canada's two senior leagues — the Eastern Canada Hockey Association and the Federal League—were undergoing a period of unrest during the fall of 1909. An explosive situation developed when the ECHA's Ottawa was opposed the giving of a franchise to Montreal Nationals and a team representing the Jubilee rink interests in Montreal.

The result of an ECHA meeting held Nov. 24, 1909, was the dissolution of the league and the formation of the Canadian Montreal Shamrocks, Quebec, All-National and Montreal Nationals formed the new league.

FORM NHA

Meanwhile, because of the exclusion of Montreal Wanderers and Renfrew by the ECHA, a group of businessmen from both cities called for the Dec. 2 meeting at Montreal. Out of that gettogether was formed the National Hockey Association with Renfrew, Wanderers, Cobalt and Haileybury represented. Montreal Canadiens were admitted a few days later.

For the next couple of weeks a player was of considerable proportions developed with salary figures skyrocketing. Renfrew signed Lester and Frank Patrick for $3,000 apiece to play an eight-game schedule. Renfrew also signed defenceman Fred "Cyclone" Taylor from the CHA Ottawa team and Canadiens raided Didier Pitre from Montreal Nationals.

Both leagues launched their schedules, the CHA on Dec. 30, 1909, and the NHA on Jan. 5, 1910. But both leagues were burdened with some weak teams. Representatives of both leagues sensing disaster, met with the NHA doing all the dictating.

The exit of the ill-fated CHA followed almost like an obituary. A press dispatch from Montreal, Jan. 17, said:

"The King is dead. Long Live the King. The CHA goes out of business while the NHA for which a brief history was prophesied continues, and with the pick of the CHA clubs included."

12-GAME RUN

The NHA, reorganized with the addition of Ottawa and Montreal Shamrocks, adopted a schedule totalling 12 games, beginning Jan. 15 and ending March 15.

The NHA continued until the end of the 1916-17 season, Toronto entering a team in 1912. The team owners faced trouble at the end of what proved to be the league's final season. The Toronto team, which dropped out after that season, bombarded the league with threats of suits and actual court actions.

Frank Calder, secretary of the NHA, called a meeting of magnates for Nov. 22, 1917, at Montreal. Delegates representing Ottawas, Wanderers, Canadiens and Quebec organized the National Hockey League with Calder as president and secretary - treasurer. These four teams plus Toronto Arenas formed the league but Quebec decided not to operate during the 1917-18 season. It entered the next year.

Wanderers, the flashy "red-Bunds" who had evolved from the old Montreal hockey team led by Dicky Boon and known because of their remarkable endurance and prowess as "the little men of iron," disbanded after the team's rink burned down.

Trimble Won't Comment on All-Star Game

HAMILTON (CP) — There's nothing like a Grey Cup upset to put a spring in Sarnia all-star game predictions betwee they are uttered.

The classic, bringing together the finest professional football players of the Big Four and the Western Interprovincial Football Union, will be played here Saturday.

The Hamilton Tiger-Cats' Jim Trimble, coach of the eastern team, was asked who he thought would win.

"No comment," said Jim, who had called the wrong shot in the Grey Cup game which Ticats lost 35-28 to Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Coach Bud Grant of the Bombers was asked the same question.

ETCHEVERRY AT QUARTER

Trimble will start with the East's all-star quarterback, veteran Sam Etcheverry of Montreal Alouettes. He'll also have Ticats' Bernie Faloney available.

Grant has Winnipeg's Jim Van Pelt, 23-year-old hero of the Grey Cup game, together with Edmonton's star quarter, Jackie Parker, and Winnipeg's Kenny Ploen. Parker and Ploen likely will see action as halfbacks with Van Pelt plotting the western strategy.

Each team will conduct daily practices from now until the last minute.

St. Pats, Hamilton Tigers, New York Americans, Pittsburgh Pirates, Montreal Maroons, Philadelphia Quakers, Ottawa Senators and St. Louis Eagles entered and dropped out of the league until, in 1924-25, the present six-team circuit was left.

Good, Healthy American Girl Would Like Neurotic Roles

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Patricia Smith is an actress who "looks like the good, healthy, all-American girl."

She added, "I can't help it. I love that way. I am good and I am healthy and I was born in New Haven, a Connecticut city within the continental limits of the United States. But . . ."

Her expression changed and she did no look as good or as healthy. "But I'd like to do neurotic things, cuckoo things."

She was speaking, of course, of her roles as an actress.

Miss Smith is forever being cast as a bride. She'll be a bride again on television next Monday when she appears in a western on Desilu Playhouse (CBS-TV) entitled Silent Thunder. This time she'll be bride of a guy who doesn't like Indians.

She has been a bride, though never a bridesmaid, on more TV dramatic shows than you could remember. She was NOT a bride in the Broadway presentation of Point of No Return — and she loves to talk about what a grand role it was. But she was a bride in the movie, The Bachelor Party.

WHAT IT TAKES

Now what have you got to be for casting directors always to maintain you're a bride?

"Warm," she replied promptly. "You always have to look as if you love the groom. You may really hate his guts, but you always have to seem to love him."

Since she has so often been a bride in her acting roles, isn't it a bit curious that she's never been one in her personal life.

"Not at all, I'm such a professional young wife, why should I try to become an amateur?"

Miss Smith's wry complaint about the casting business is simply this:

"So much casting is done on the basis of the way you look yourself. If you dress and behave in a certain way that is usually more or less the way you're cast."

Dutchies Give Blair Plan Cold Shoulder

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen turned thumbs down Tuesday on Winnipeg Blairite proposal that the two hockey clubs pool their resources to build a Canadian team for the 1960 Olympics.

The suggestion came from Dunlop coach Wren Blair in announcing his team was withdrawing an application to represent Canada in the games.

Oscar Wiles, Dutchmen president, said Blair's plan had been discussed by the club directors and "we decided that we would either do it alone or not at all."

Wiles said Whitby has a half-dozen reinstated amateurs who would not be able to play in a world tournament but the Dutchmen were not in that position.

"We are well-fixed for players with only two former pros," Wiles said.

'Y' Basketball

In "Y" basketball last night, the Hawks overcame the Trojans 48-27, while the Highlanders out scored the Senators 56-36. Both games were refereed by Dave Deacon.

Captain Brian Mackenzie led the Hawks to victory by scoring 19 points. Brian was followed closely by team mate Wilson, who hooped 16 points. Other scorers for the Hawks were Skinner 3, McMahon 8, and Hemphill.

In losing cause Captain Parkhurst led his team by scoring 9 points. Other scorers were Roberts 7, Box 7, McFarlan 2, F. Smith 7.

In the second game, John Baker sparked the Highlanders to victory by scoring 16 points. He was followed closely by McGuire with 12 and Morton with 10. Other scorers were Lucas 6, Parker 8, Fancy 4.

Ron Dulmage again led the Swisters in a losing cause by potting no less than 19 points. Other scorers were McMartin 9, Hallam 8, Blakely 2, D. Smith 4.

Handsome Negro Henry Scott Actor, Writer and Producer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Henry Scott, who served with distinction as a fighter pilot in wartime, is finding success not only as a movie actor but as a writer, director and producer in TV.

Henry is a Negro, a handsome, articulate man of 32, once a promising student of the American Theatre Wing and the Actor's Studio. But promise doesn't always mean a payoff, and Henry had plenty of lean days before enjoying his present success.

He was born in East Over, S.C., and grew up in Jersey City. A bright student, he won a chance to train as a fighter pilot with a pioneering all-Negro squadron that won honors in the Mediterranean.

Henry had had a taste of dramatics in Jersey City, and he wanted to try his hand at acting when he returned. He was lucky at first, being cast in such stage successes as Deep are the Roots, Anna Lucasta and Member of the Wedding. But there were periods when he couldn't find work as an actor.

DROVE TAXI

"Then I took other jobs," he said. "When I was studying at Columbia, I worked in its fundraising drive. And for several months I drove a cab.

"I was a whiz. I'd drive up on the sidewalk if it meant getting there a few minutes sooner. I made as $41 on a Saturday night, which was a big total for a cabbie."

Two years ago, he decided to try his luck in Hollywood. He signed to recreate his stage role as the romantic lead in the film Anna Lucasta. And he hooked into Howard Hawks Productions as writer - actor on the Citt.

Now he's writer, actor, director and associate producer on Police Station, which appears on KTLA, a local station, and is being syndicated to other stations.

"As a Negro actor, I have certain limitations," he said. "There are just so many jobs for Negro actors because a large part of the population in certain areas won't accept them. But as a director and producer, I find there are virtually no limitations for me, and I am excited about the future."

Quebec's Lucille Wheeler Top Woman Amateur Athlete

By BO BTRIMBEE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lucille Wheeler of Ste. Jovite, Que., Tuesday night was named Canada's outstanding woman amateur athlete by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

The 20-year-old ski champion was the first Canadian skier to gain an Olympic medal, winning a bronze medal for her third-place finish in the slalom event at the 1964 Winter Olympics.

It was her double victory in the world ski championships last winter in Austria that pushed the petite Quebec skier into national prominence. She won the downhill and the giant slalom and placed second in the combined.

TOP MALE

Gordon Dickson, 26-year - old Hamilton Athletic Club marathoner, was named Canada's outstanding male amateur athlete and the outstanding performer in track events, winning both the Norton H. Crowe and the Davies trophies.

Jack Smyth, 22, Winnipeg, was named winner of the Howell Trophy as Canada's outstanding field athlete; and Richard Rau, 19, Windsor, Ont., the Viscount Alexander Trophy as the top junior amateur athlete.

SUBMIT COACHING PLAN

In other business at the general meeting of the AAU a plan was submitted designed to develop athletic coaches of international standards. A draft of the plan is to be placed before the annual convention for ratification.

The program, financed in large part by student fees, is similar to that now used in Great Britain.

Candidates, who need not be amateurs, would enroll for one of three coaching degrees and upon completion be granted a national, senior or coach's certificate. One national certificate holders would be qualified to coach international or national teams.

A SLEEPER!

In theatrical language a "SLEEPER" is a picture that comes along without fanfare and without ballyhoo, catches the public's fancy, and turns out to be a smash.

'IN LOVE AND WAR' is such a picture.

Here, indeed, is a big, colorful, explosive drama of love and war—starring seven of Hollywood's brightest young performers —that just about every member of every family in the city is bound to enjoy.

AT THE McCARTHY — Chuck Connors is about to fight a gun duel with Gregory Peck while Burl Ives seem to it that the fight is a fair one. Scene is from the dramatic western, "The Big Country," filmed in Technicolor and Technirama. The picture, a United Artists release, opens Thursday at the Gideon McCarthy Theatre, performances daily at 2.00-6.15-9.00.

Tribe Loses Vic Wertz, Avila Gets Jimmy Piersall in Deal

In a few hours Tuesday he shipped first baseman Vic Wertz and outfielder Gary Geiger to Boston Red Sox for centrefielder Jimmy Piersall and shunted infielder Bobby Avila to Baltimore Orioles for pitcher Russ Heman and a reported $30,000 in cash.

Avila, 32, may wind up at second base for the Orioles because Billy Gardner had an off season in 1958.

Wertz, 33, will be the Boston first baseman, perhaps alternating with Dick Gernert, a right handed batter. Geiger will battle with Marty Keough and Gene Stephens for the centre field job with the Red Sox.

Joe Cronin, Cleveland manager, said Piersall will be his centrefielder, a job split among Larry Doby, Woody Held and Geiger last season.

He said the Indians had good scouting reports on Heman, a six-foot-four righthander who had a 9-12 record last season with the Orioles' farm at Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League.

Detroit Tigers kept the trade mill busy by sending pitcher Herb Moford, a righthander, to Boston for catcher Lou Berberet, formerly with Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

When the Kelowna Packers disembarked at Vancouver from their five-game tour of the Soviet Union, recently, one of the loudest balalaikas to twinkle a homecoming tune was that strummed by the twirling fingers of one Russ Kowalchuk.

The Vancouver Sun carried a front-page three column cut of the ex-ace wild and woolly Russian, strumming his balalike instrument on the deck of the home-docked steamer.

The cut shows Russ leaning back with his tonsils exposed to the good Canadian air warbling a ditty that could possibly have been "Home was never like this."

But in a news-page story Jack O'Reilly, coach of the Packers, sounded a note of caution to the Canadian people, after fathering his Packers over a ten-day tour of Russia where they played five exhibition games winning two, losing one and tying two.

Reilly's words of caution, however, were more of an economic nature, not athletic.

After reading the impressions of O'Reilly and other members of the Packers' team as given to west coast newspapermen, it might not be a bad idea for the Mazo to jot in their notebooks a reminder to carry a few steaks and chops in their duffle bags just in case they are invited to play an exhibition tilt or two with the Soviets inside the Russian borders.

O'Reilly said: "We cannot afford to look down our noses at Russia and think of them as backward."

He said if it came down to a war right now, "I don't think Russia could take us. But they are not thinking in terms of war. Their idea seems to be to outstrip us economically and their entire living is geared to that end."

"There are no luxuries at all in the life of the average Russian, not even the barest comforts. The government spends millions on Sputniks but the Russian people have only coarse black bread and their clothing is shabby.

O'Reilly said he saw "women old enough to be my mother working on buildings at nine o'clock at night carrying bricks. Their clothes are black and poor, their eyes are read but they complain very little because they seem convinced that they are working toward a better life."

"And that is what we have to fear," the Kelowna coach said. "They have a dedication that is impossible to comprehend unless you see it."

The Packers' manager, Bob Giordana, who covered the games for Vancouver papers, told of a young Russian he met.

"I got to know him quite well and the poor guy wanted to buy my shoes. I felt sorry for him and invited him up to my hotel room. He said he would not dare be seen coming into our hotel."

Defenceman Harry Smith said the Canadians were talled wherever they went. "I was afraid to go out of my room for a week. Everywhere we went we were followed by these Dick Tracy types in long black overcoats."

Veiersa centre Moe Young, who took motion pictures of the trip, said the Russian people were kind to the Canadians. "They treated us just as well as they could with what they had. Unfortunately they haven't very much. Their hotels are terrible and the food is not too good. They tried to give us steaks but they didn't know how to cut them or how to cook them."

Kennedy, Broda, Conacher Mentioned in Same Breath But Imlach May Carry on Job

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs, who haven't managed to create much excitement on the ice since the National Hockey League's 1958-59 season began, are having better luck with their front office management.

Leafs fired coach Billy Reay last Friday after spending the early part of the season fumbling around in last place.

Left-winger Bert Olmstead was named playing-coach of the club in the interim between firing Reay and hiring a new man, but it was no secret that general manager George (Punch) Imlach was coach in everything but name during the Leafs' two weekend games.

Tuesday night, Toronto rumors had it that no new coach would be hired until next season.

NAME FIKE

But in Montreal, where Leafs ing their successful campaigns Thursday, it was reported that part will be played by Alf Pike of Winnipeg Warriors in the Western Hockey League. Brown handing block might be a Warrior demand for one or more players in return for the Leafs' services.

Among other names being bruited about as contenders for the unenviable task of trying to better Leafs' present third-from-the-old-time Leaf stars — Walter (Turk) Broda, Charlie Conacher and Ted Kennedy.

Broda the Leafs' netminder during their successful campaigns in the '40s, is coaching Toronto Marlboros in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series while Kennedy, a hard-working defenceman who favors baldlite, last season coached Peterborough Petes in the same league.

Conacher is no longer active in hockey.

SHAKY POSITION

Whoever is picked will be inheriting one of the toughest positions in the NHL. Since Clarence (Hap) Day retired in 1950 after nine full seasons the Leafs have had four coaches.

Joe Primeau, who took over from Day, gave the Leafs a Stanley Cup in his first season, staggered through two more and was replaced by King Clancy, who lasted for three seasons. Clancy was followed by Howie Meeker who was rather summarily dismissed after one season and the mantle fell on Reay.

A check-up on another, Broda or Kennedy would be in the pattern of Primeau, Clancy and Meeker. all former greats the management apparently hoped would bring order at the arena of past success with them.

But the achievements of Primeau, Clancy and Meeker were negligible as the great Leaf teams of the late '40s which won three successive championships began to disintegrate and no new stalwarts appeared to fill the gaps in the ranks.

The story has been the same this season—no potent scorers, a woeful defence and only adequate goal tending; three insuperable obstacles for any mortal coach.

But, as Stafford Smythe, Leafs' chief executive, put it last Friday "we either had to have a new coach or a new team, and it's cheaper to buy one coach than 15 players."

TRAPPERS TRADE

NORTH BAY (CP) — North Bay Trappers of the OHA-NOHA Senior A league have acquired goaltender Roy Edwards in a player deal with Windsor Bulldogs. Johnny Utendale, Negro right-winger who joined Trappers recently from Quebec Aces, and Bernie Cote, a centre, have moved to Windsor.

Three Canadians Mentioned in Ring Ratings

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two boxers from the Maritimes and four from Montreal were the only Canadians mentioned today when the National Boxing Association issued its monthly rankings.

The NBA's heavyweight crown award went to Chicago's Spider Webb who stopped Joey Giardello in the seventh round at San Francisco Nov. 20.

Yvon Durelle of Sale Ste. Anne, N.B., training at Montreal for his Dec. 10 title fight there with light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore, retained his third-contender ranking, the only Canadian actually ranked in the top 10 in his class.

The NBA listed lightweight Jackie Hayden of Westville, N.B., and bantamweight Pat Supple of Montreal among a handful of "outstanding prospects." Hayden went 19 rounds to a draw with Frankie Ippolito of New York last Friday night.

ADVANCES FOUR PLACES

Webb's victory boosted him from seventh to third place in the middleweight ratings, Giardello moved from third to fourth.

The December ratings:

Light heavyweight — Champion, Archie Moore, San Diego, 1, Tony Anthony, New York; 2, Harold Johnson, Philadelphia; 3, Durelle.

Bantamweight—Champion, Alphonse Halimi, France; 1, Piero Rollo, Italy; 2, Mario D'Agata, Italy; 3, Leo Espinosa, Philippines.

SECOND DEFEAT

DETROIT (CP) — Windsor's Assumption University Lancers went down to their second straight defeat of the 1958-59 basketball season Monday night, dropping a lopsided 77-50 decision to the University of Detroit Titans.

Browns' Brown In Slump But Still Leader

PHILADELPHIA (CP)—Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, who holds the National Football League's rushing record, is in a slump and the word is that the defences might have caught up with him.

However, despite the fact he didn't score in last Sunday's Cleveland Browns-Washington clash and picked up only 13 miscable yards along the ground, he's still the NFL ground - gaining leader.

The brilliant Brown has a record 1,341 yards, 95 better than Steve van Buren's old record, but still leads the individual scoring with 102 points.

Baltimore's Lenny Moore scored once last Sunday to take second place with 78 points.

AMECHE WELL BACK

Back in ground gaining, Alan Ameche of Baltimore is way behind Brown in second place with 985 yards, five more than Joe Perry of San Francisco, according to league statistics released today.

Perry, incidentally, has gained 985 yards during his 9-year career, the most for any player in NFL history. Like Brown, his average is 5.4, but Brown has carried the ball 210 times and Perry 183.

Tom Tracy, ninth last week, jumped to fourth with 611 yards after gaining 156 yards in Pittsburgh Sunday, the best effort of his pro career. Joe Arnett, Los Angeles, dropped to fifth with 564 yards.

One of the more interesting races is that between Washington quarterback Eddie Lebaron and Pittsburgh's Bobby Layne. In two weeks Layne has jumped from eighth to second place in the passing department and is only six yards behind Lebaron. Lebaron's average gain is 9.23 yards, Layne's 8.41.

Owners' Angry United Front Greets Players' Bid for Cut

By JOE REICHLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball magnates today formed an angry, united front against the major league players' bid for a part of the owners' income and minor leaguers' demands for a pension plan.

The big league players, already bulwarked by a pension plan supported by world series radio and television money, jolted their employers Tuesday with a salary proposal calling for 20 per cent of each club's gross revenue.

At the same time, International league executives were shocked by the threat of a strike by their players following the officials' refusal to buckle to an ultimatum by the athletes' lawyer.

"You will accept the pension plan or we will have International League baseball," attorney James Durante was reported to have said.

"The International League directors are fully sympathetic to the players' request," said Frank Horton, president of Rochester Red Wings, who reported Durante's words.

But Horton added the directors "could find no way within the economic framework of the league to raise the more than $250,000 to underwrite a pension plan."

Durante had informed the league that players would not to sign 1959 contracts nor to report to spring training until the pension plan was accepted.

Horton's reply: "We intend to operate the league and play baseball in the 1959 season. But we cannot agree to a pension plan."

"There is no question about that," said Frank Shaughnessy of Montreal, league president.

$35,000 PER CLUB

The proposed plan, as outlined by Durante, would cost $282,000 annually. The blueprint called for the players to pay $77,000 ($1.50 a day for each player), with the league putting up the remaining $205,000.

Horton said Durante claimed about 100-per-cent membership in the players' association although there have been many changes in player personnel since last season.

It was reported players suggested exhibition games with big league teams to help finance the plan.

If the players make good their threat it will mark the first all-league strike in the history of baseball.

MAJORS' PROBLEM

Although no such threat hovered over the major leagues, owners were seething over what they called "unthinkable and unreasonable demands" by players.

Tom Yawkey of Boston Red Sox hinted he might pull out of baseball if players continue to press for what he termed exorbitant demands.

General manager Frank Lane of Cleveland Indians said there isn't a chance owners will give in to the demands.

Earlier the players changed tactics when their attorney, J. Norman Lewis, and their 16 team representatives, withdrew their original request for 25 per cent of the regular-season radio and television receipts of the two leagues. They then shot back with their plan of 20 per cent of gross receipts.

The owners, not ready to this new attack, asked for time to consider it at their league meetings today and Thursday.

The players' argument for a share of the owners' receipts was buttressed by figures produced by Lewis. These were said to show that players' salaries since 1950 had not increased in proportion to owners' income.

EXTEND LAUREL

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Laurel Race Course is wasting neither time nor money to keep its Washington, D.C. International a world wide attraction. It will build a new turf course for the eighth running of $100,000 International next Nov. 11. Improvements altogether will cost $1,000,000. The turf course will be expanded into a full-fledged mile once another is fitted in and the stretch run extended to more than one-quarter of a mile.

Roaring Last-Heat Rally Almost Clicks For Macs

Score 3 in Sizzling Third After Trailing Pair in 2nd; Dunnies Open Gap to Four

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Trailing 3-1 going into a wild and woolly high-scoring third period, the Macs' fighting comeback barely missed the boat and they emerged on the short end of a 3-4 score in a sizzling battle with the Whitby Dunlops here last night.

Actually the Macs tied the score three times in that wide-open third frame, but one goal was disallowed. Their last-second goalie-out attempt also failed. The teams split the only two goals scored in the opening period. The Dremen now trail the league-leading Dunlops by four points.

The Babando-Attersley-Samolenko line were the howitzers of the Dunnies, accounting for ten scoring points with Babando scoring three times and Attersley once. The latter had three assists, as did Samolenko. Tom O'Connor scored the other Whitby goal.

Paul Payette and Wiener Brown each had a goal and an assist for the Macs, with Hildebrand and Moe Benoit also scoring. Frank Bathgate had two assists with Marineau, Bradley, McLellan and Jones getting singles.

The hard-hitting, close-checking battle was singularly clear of penalties, seven being assessed by Referee Al Promaine, five to the Dunlops, one being a misconduct to Long John Henderson.

Goalie Bell had to be and was on his best toes in the scrambly first period when the Dunlops outshot the Macs 14-8 despite the fact they held a 3-3 edge in penalties.

Both sides power plays failed to click when with manpower advantage especially the Macs when they had a two-man edge for a brief session.

Etcher, Air and Treen were the Whitby sinners with Smrke and McLellan cooling off for the Macs.

"Wiener" Brown crashed the scoring column after 16 minutes of play his low drive catching the far corner after a pretty passing play with Paul Payette and Bathgate.

The lead was short lived for less than a minute later Attersley tied it up when he poked his own rebound past Bell during a goalmouth passing scramble with the Macs defence looking sloppy on the play.

Too much around the net finish earned the Dunnies their two goal edge in a brilliantly hard-checking second period with the Dunnies having an 11-10 edge in shots on goal.

Both goalies stood out and both teams missed chances from close in with Paul Payette and Frank Bathgate hitting the post or missing when in the clear on breakaways.

At the 13-minute mark Attersley, Babando and Samolenko the most effective line on the ice to this point worked in close on a smooth passing play with Babando blinking the light and his mates getting assists.

Henderson checked out three shoestep drives from the pressing Macs and with less than three minutes to go Attersley broke into the clear from McCleland drive, bell kicked out his hard drive to a corner, but Babando racing in for the rebound got his stick on the puck and pushed it over the goal-line for the score. There were no penalties in the period.

Paul Payette brought the crowd to its feet after a minute of play in the final frame, his hard drive beating Henderson to cut the gap to 3-2. The Macs drove hard at this point but Smrke robbed them close in. Dave Jones had the chance of a lifetime when he broke in the clear but Long John deolly slid out and smothered his bid for a goal.

Moe Benoit tied the score after seven minutes when his blazing slapshot from the blueline blasted past Henderson. The long goalie bitterly protested the goal and drew ten minutes for his tonsilar tactics.

Less than a minute later Babando scored his hat trick when the best Bell on a three-way drive with Jones and Glen Sloden. Midway through the period the Macs again tied the score with Hildebrand scoring a pretty goal on a passing play with Jones and McLellan.

The goals continued to come thick and fast and it was but a minute or so later that Tom O'Connor scored the go-ahead with Smith and Smith helping.

Sloden got the gate at 14.46 and the Macs poured on the pressure but they failed to beat Henderson and the closely-patterned Dunlop defence.

Bell was pulled out of the Belleville nets with 40 seconds to play but the Macs power attegy failed, and the Dunlops did everything but park the puck in the open net.

The teams:

Whitby: Goal, Henderson; defence, Treen, Sinden, McBeth; Chasenwald, Ted O'Connor; forwards, Attersley, Etcher, Samolenko, Smith, Tom O'Connor, Youngberg, Babando, Kane, Air, Horne.

Referee — Al Promaine, Richmond Hill; linesmen — Goyer, Hurst, Belleville.

Swedish Boxer Won't Fight Eddie Machen

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Sweden's Ingemar Johansson is aiming for a title fight with world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and has no intention of fighting Eddie Machen again, Johansson's adviser said Tuesday.

Swedish promoter Edwin Ahlquist reiterated that any contract the International Boxing Club has for Johansson, the undefeated European champion, to meet Machen in Chicago, is invalid.

The Illinois Athletic Commission Monday approved the IBC's contract for Johansson-Machen rematch for the Chicago Stadium, Feb. 6.

Ahlquist said he signed a contract for the fight "under duress."

McFarlands Sign Star Defenceman Jean Lamirande

Jean Paul Lamirande, former National and American Hockey Leagues star, and more recently of the Quebec Hockey League was signed to a Mc-Farlands contract last night, Manager Drury Denyes said today.

Lamirande, a 169 - pound, five - foot - seven lineman will be recalled was one of the players called at the last minute to bolster the Whitby Dunlops, a week before they sailed for Europe and the world title last year.

The husky defenceman was rated one of the best blueline players in the world tournament and was one of the chief factors in the Dunnies' ultimate world title success.

Lamirande has been connected with the Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League for the past few years. He has not played any games this winter with the club's training camp.

Teepees, Bilts Play 8-8 Tie; Petes Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guelph Biltmores don't care much for operations in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series judging from the way they treat the league-leading St. Catharines TeePees.

Biltmores were the first to beat TeePees this season, then were defeated by St. Catharines in their second meeting, Tuesday night they rocked TeePees with five goals in the third period to gain an 8-8 tie.

The deadlock left Bilts in fourth place, two points behind Toronto St. Michael's.

Peterborough Petes claimed undisputed second spot with 22 points in the night's other game as they beat Barrie Flyers 6-2. Petes still trail St. Catharines by 11 points.

COME FROM BEHIND

Biltmores trailed 4-0 at 15:21 of the first period after Fred Hill, Don Grosso, Bob Corupe and George Harris scored. Jean Raville registered the lone first-period goal for Bilts.

Larry Jones and Bob Eriel put Guelph back into the picture early in the second but TeePees answered with singles by Jean Mongean, Pat Stapleton and Ted Wright and Harris's second to take an 8-3 lead into the third. Jones and Eriaki led Bilts to their third-period rouser as he fired the first goal, assisted on the next by Sandy McGregor and netted the equalizer with five seconds remaining. McGregor's second and Kingsley Paul Andrea rounded out the Guelph scoring. Biltmore outshot TeePees 39-23.

LINE SPLURGES

The Bill Mahoney-Wayne Connelly-Larry Babcock line again led Petes to victory and pitched up 12 scoring points. Connelly registered a pair and one assist to increase his first-place lead in the individual scoring ranks. Mahoney also scored twice and assisted on three goals. Babcock netted one goal and assisted on three others. Wayne Boddy scored the other Peterborough goal.

An estimated 600 fans, smallest at Barrie for many years, saw their team battle gamely to contain the gaudy Petes but Flyers' scoring bids were thwarted by Jacques Caron, outstanding in the Peterborough net.

Defencemen Wayne Haig and Ed Westfall scored for Flyers. Petes outshot Barrie 30-27.

Moore Due in Montreal Today I'm Ready Anytime--Durelle

By JOHN YORSTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Archie Moore was due in Montreal today to start his final week of preparations before putting his world light-heavyweight boxing championship on the line Dec. 10.

The Montreal Athletic Commission gave its blessing to the title fight Tuesday night, ending any doubts that it would not come off.

And, as the commission deliberated and Moore winged his way north from the United States, Canadian challenger Yvon Durelle went through his second day of training here, stolidly and confidently.

SLIGHT DELAY

Moore, the champion with the quick wit and the flashing fists, was to have arrived Saturday, the same time as Durelle did. But a combination of airline strikes and uncertain weather postponed the arrival until today.

Durelle, about 20 years younger than Moore, whose exact age is a secret—he once said he was 49, went about his training program unimpressed with Moore's proven prowess and the experience he's gathered in 204 professional fights.

"I'm ready anytime," Durelle said Tuesday in the gym-at-the-end gym he and Moore will share. "I'll with the fight was tomorrow. I'll take him."

Durelle, the Canadian and British Empire light - heavyweight champion from Bale Ste. Anne, N.B., is going through a daily routine that includes early-morning roadwork, two hours of boxing, calisthenics and skipping at noon, and plenty of rest in his midtown hotel room.

SPORT IN BRIEF

JAWS UNLOCKED

BOSTON (AP) — Doctors removed the wire Tuesday from the fractured jaws of Boston Bruins' Bronco Horvath and Doug Mohns. The two had been confined to a diet of strained and mashed foods, soup and liquids since their jaws were fractured in a National Hockey League game at Toronto Oct. 28. X-rays showed both injuries mending properly. Horvath and Mohns resume skating today and may be back in the lineup in a fortnight.

Petes' Connelly Leads Junior Scoring Race

TORONTO (CP) — Wayne Connelly of Peterborough Petes took advantage of St. Catharines TeePees forward Stan Mikita's absence of one game this week and as a result now leads the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring parade by three points.

Connelly has scored 13 goals while accumulating 23 assists—tops in the league—in 17 games for 36 points.

Mikita missed Thursday night's encounter in Hamilton while serving with the parent Chicago Black Hawks. In 17 games with TeePees he has collected 11 goals and 18 assists for 35 points.

Official statistics and covering games of last Sunday show Bill Mahoney of the Petes in third place on 16 goals and 14 assists for 31 points while another TeePee, Chico Maki, is fourth with 31.

SUSPEND DEFENCEMAN

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—Defenceman Fred Creighton left New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League Monday and promptly received an indefinite suspension. Coach Hal Laycoe said Creighton left a practice session, packed his belongings and left town. Laycoe said he had a disagreement with Creighton over the defenceman's training methods.

County Council Given Chair By Legislature

Hastings county council chairmen at Shire Hall will be graced by a discarded chair from the legislature building at Toronto, following provision of new chairs for members of provincial parliament.

Yesterday at council, W. Elmer Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West, officially presented one of the old chairs to Hastings county.

"At the last Legislature members were provided with new chairs and it was decided to present the old ones to counties as souvenirs of the county seats," he said.

"The chair had been in use for 65 years and had seen many battles."

Former member for East Hastings and now county sheriff, Mr. Roscoe Robson was on hand to lend moral support to Mr. Sandercock during the presentation. He said the chairs had a sentimental value and he hoped that eventually the chair would be presented to a county museum.

Reeve Charles Burkard of Deloro moved a resolution thanking the Ontario government for the gift of the chair and assured it would remain in the county council chamber "until there was a better place to keep it."

Warden Sidney Price, new M.L.A. of East Hastings, added his thanks, stating that council was much honored to receive the old chair.

YOUTH HELD ON SLAYING

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y. (AP) Richard C. Marriott, 18, was charged Sunday in the slaying of his 21-year-old aunt, mother of two. She was found battered and strangled Saturday night in her apartment. Police said Marriott told them he killed Mrs. Mary Lou Wright, an attractive brunette, "because of a sudden urge I can't explain." Marriott was charged with juvenile delinquency.

Astrological Forecast

By CAROLL RIGHTER

Thursday, December 4

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Be certain you exercise real care and caution in travelling, gardening, buying supplies, selling property, etc. Don't be forceful and you eliminate danger and expense. Be sure you are co-operative with fellow workers.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Consider well today just how favorable an impression you make upon other persons. Are you the type they'll want to go with their troubles and needs? P. M. take care you do not spend too much money for entertainment.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Make sure that your surroundings are immaculate, but not to the point of extreme fussiness, or your friends become uncomfortable. Rest and relaxation are fine this evening so you restore your energies for the weekend ahead.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — A day for real caution while driving or walking, and particularly so for steering clear of persons whose nerves are jangled. Wonderful time to clear up odds and ends of work to clear the slate for the approaching week.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Here is a peculiar day when one moment you feel very penurious and overly magnanimous the next. Find the happy medium and listen carefully to the advice of experts. Consider well before you invest your money and commit yourself at a later date.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — You are in a mood to criticize severely several of your friends because you believe they are not being absolutely loyal or as efficient as they might be. This would hurt them very much, so concentrate on self - improvement instead.

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22) — Since you are burdened with many private worries, steer clear of crowds today or you will very easily feel hurt and abused. Concentrate on prayer and be kind to those who lean on you for help.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — An overly punctilious comrade could certainly make you nervous today if you permit it. Avoid him or her and concentrate on clearing the decks for action in the early future. Wind up all loose ends.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Imperative you obey every law applicable to you not only literally but in the proper spirit as well. Take care not to annoy executives or those in power over your affairs. Get your indebtedness out of the way.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — It is possible now to know why you are not working according to the inspirational reason which first activated you. Get back on the beam through intelligent handling. Then dig into your paper, other periodicals for incentives, ideas.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — By giving your creditors what is their due in the proper spirit, you save your credit today and make future security possible. P. M. be kind to bosom comrade rather than add to his or her burdens by some thoughtless remark.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Many small, irritating matters come up now with regard to associates and daily ties, but see that you are kind, for none, not even you, are perfect. Let there be only constructive criticism, or you may one day feel the lash of their tongue.

If your child is born today ... the remarkable child born today will have inherited many talents, but it is your early duty to guide his or her activities in the proper channels and most wisely or there may be a veritable bedlam. The ability to criticize most strongly is very dominant here, but you must point out how to use this tool wisely and constructively. Then the child develops a wonderful personality and is a boon to humanity.

"OIL HEATING"

OFFERS YOU THESE ADVANTAGES

★ AUTOMATIC HEATING with the flick of a wrist.

★ SAFE, CLEAN HEAT that will give you and your family unequalled peace of mind.

Quinte District Fuel Dealers' Association

BEAT, ROB MERCHANT

WINDSOR (CP)—Two masked bandits escaped Saturday night with $6,250 in cash and cheques after forcing entry into the suburban Sandwich East Township home of a Windsor merchant, leating him with a blackjack and terrorizing his family. Nicholas Stumpilich, 39, owner of Sandwich Sausage Co., and three Windsor district meat stores, said the men, one of them armed with a shotgun, gained entry through the locked back door of his home.

New Courthouse To Be Discussed During Session

The proposed new Hastings county courthouse to replace the present 120 year-old structure, will be up for further discussion at the current session of council, it was learned at the commencement of the Dec. session yesterday.

Among the correspondence read by County Clerk Treasurer Eric S. Denyes, was a resolution from the Hastings County Historical Society protesting the planned demolition of the old courthouse structure, asserting that it should be preserved for its historical value.

There was no discussion on the resolution it being tabled to be dealt with at the time of the report of Reeve J. H. Brown, of Sidney, chairman of the finance committee.

Also scheduled for hearing at the session is a representative of the architectural firm of Strynadka and Hamman, who are drawing plans for the new courthouse. Councillors will then be brought up to date on the progress made with the plans.

Vote at Deseronto

DESERONTO — Despite the inclement weather, the hardworking qualification of civic supporters got out in almost record vote for Monday's municipal election. Over 60 hundred votes were cast and the net result was an almost entire new council with one exception, Herbert Howarth and Mayor Sweetman and Reeve Alford were returned to office.

The town hall was packed with ratepayers before 8 o'clock to hear the results but there was little or no rejoicing or jubilation over the outcome. However, Mayor Sweetman was host at a chicken dinner at his motel for the 1958 council and his supporters shortly after the results were announced.

4,000 Starving Brazilians Loot Stores, Houses

Send 3 Supply Ships To Drought-Hit District

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters)—Three shiploads of military supplies were being sent today to northeast Brazil where 4,000 starving victims of a drought were ravaging Caninde City in search of food.

Other cities in the stricken states were preparing to defend their stockpiles against mobs of women and children swarming in from country areas where foodstuffs are barred and settle have died from thirst and starvation in the two years of drought.

The mayor of Caninde—population 50,000—appealed for federal and state help to protect the local police as the marauders, known as Flagellantes (The Beaten Ones), sacked stores, homes and markets.

The desperate Flagellantes were trekking toward the coast and the bigger Brazilian cities in hope of finding employment and food there.

Meanwhile, Congress investigated alleged misappropriation of $3,000,000 relief funds allocated to the national highway department and ordered anti-corruption courts department to provide emergency jobs for the Flagellantes.

The funds, which have been piled up in Rio awaiting the political campaigns in October's elections.

The government now is putting thousands to work on the construction of the new capital Brazilia, and others are being employed on government projects and plantations.

PHONEY DOCTOR TAKEN ON STAFF NORTH HOSPITAL

Now in Jail Charged With Theft of Car

SUDBURY (CP)—A tall, soft-spoken Texan posed as a doctor in a hospital here for three weeks, it was disclosed Wednesday.

William Kearby, 26, was admitted to the roster of physicians at Sudbury General Hospital Oct. 9 on the basis of phoney credentials, although his only qualification was that he once studied medicine in Iowa.

He was asked to leave Oct. 29, the day he was arrested for the theft of a car he had rented in Toronto a month earlier. But the full story didn't come out until Wednesday.

Toronto police said Kearby was in jail—and he told them he declined extensively on indigent patients during his stay."

Medical authorities here don't agree.

LOVELY FAMILY

The hospital's administrator, Rev. Sister Jane Francis, said Kearby moved into a home with his family—"four very lovely children and a very nice wife"—after appearing with three references and photostatic copies of a medicine degree from the University of Iowa in the name of Dr. Donald Raymond Miles.

A hospital spokesman said medical and administration staffs were "very unhappy with Dr. Miles' work and felt his background was not too good." The three references were checked. One letter was returned unclaimed and the others went unanswered.

Obviously the names were fictitious.

Kearby was arrested the same day that a meeting was held by the hospital's medical staff concerning his work, said the spokesman.

Dr. R. Orange, chairman of the hospital's medical board which normally examines credentials of applicants, declined to comment.

JUST FLOATED AROUND

The president of the Sudbury branch of the Ontario Medical Association, Dr. E. E. Pearsall, said Kearby was "brought in as a student." He added: "We found out that he was an imposter soon after that he didn't do anything but float around the hospital."

Dr. Pearsall said the impersonation is "not a criminal matter" and any charges would have to be laid by the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Kearby, a 60-day jail term in Toronto when he appeared before a magistrate on charges of fraud; one of false pretences and another of car theft.

Dies of Injuries

TORONTO (CP)—Major Frederick Morrell, 35, of suburban Scarborough died in hospital Wednesday of injuries received in a four-car collision Monday.

He was driver of a car in which a passenger, Mrs. Ada Bird, 50, also of Scarborough, was killed when it collided with another car.

Today's Chuckle

Canada and the United States unquestionably have the highest standard of living in the world. Too bad we can't afford it.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Colder air is on its way from the Prairies and will reach Southern Ontario tonight. Friday will be cold and windy across the province. There will be considerable drifting in the northern regions tonight and Friday. Some snowsqualls are expected in the snow belt area southeast of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.

LIVING COSTS INCREASE AGAIN DURING OCTOBER

All Index Segments Expect Food Rise

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs rose for the fourth consecutive month during October, pushing the consumer price index to a record 128.3 on Nov. 1, up three-tenths of a point from 128 on Oct. 1, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported today.

Virtually all segments of the index, except in the food group, showed increases. Some foods were cheaper, but others offset declines in other food items.

All told, the price index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, climbed by 1.6 points over the Aug. 1-Nov. 1 four-month period. It was the most protracted rise since last winter.

Prices rose during October for rents, home ownership, new cars, other commodities, hospital rates, theatre admissions, drugs, tobacco, haircuts and costs of personal care along with fuel, bananas, oranges, tomatoes, potatoes, cotton goods, textile piece goods, coal, household utensils and equipments.

Some indications of possible further retail price increases were found in the November rise in the wholesale price index for 30 industrial materials, based on prices in 1935-39 which increased to 234.7 in the week ended Nov. 21 from 230.6 in the preceding week and 231.3 a year for Canadian farm products, also based on 1935-39 prices, increased to 213.1 from 211.3.

The peak was 220.3 in the consumer index compares with 123.3 on Nov. 1 last year and 123.1 two years ago.

With some food price declines offsetting rises in others, the food group dipped by one-fifth of a point to 123.3, following a steady increase since June.

The shelter column, covering rents and home-ownership costs, climbed by one-fifth of a point to a high of 139.8.

The miscellaneous group, considered the most potent factor in October price rises, climbed by an unusual 1.3 points to a peak 133.1, partly because of the higher prices of 1959 model cars and other scattered boosts.

Degree of Force 'Unjustifiable' Says Coroner

PAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (Reuters) — A British coroner declared "unjustifiable" degree of force was used on some persons arrested during Oct. 28 raid on headquarters of Greek Cypriots conducted by British troops.

Coroner James Traynor, presiding at an inquest into the deaths of one of two Greek Cypriots who died during the action, said: "I am following the most ghastly and brutal murder it has ever been my lot to listen to. . . . The shot-in-the-back slayings of a British serviceman while still on stabbing duty."

The coroner, recalling the vain last-arrest bid to catch the killer of Mrs. Catherine Cutbush, said: "I am trying to understand the horror, disgust and anger which filled the minds and hearts of everyone that day."

"But," Traynor went on, "nothing can justify the assaults on the police and the unjustifiable force for the shootings of Mrs. Cutbush and another woman and nothing can make nothing to warrant such assaults."

PLAN MOBILE STAGE

TORONTO (CP) — A 200-ton mobile theatre-in-the-round seating by electric motors is planned for the centennial celebrations in Toronto's grandstand. The stage will be 80 by 100 feet and capable of being moved about on 24 fixed-base five minutes. Cost is estimated upward of $500,000.

Licence to Loot Chicago Stores Nets 4 Lucky Children Big Haul

CHICAGO AP) — Four children — cheered on by mobs of Christmas shoppers — were arrested after they looted a world of downtown toy department stores with permission to "take all you can in five minutes — free."

The four — bicycles, dolls, trains, balls and a wagon, amounting to more than $1,379 retail.

The kids, three boys and a girl, won a State Street council contest to name the elf-like figures atop new lightpoles down the loop thoroughfare. The council footed the bill.

One boy, 11-year-old Dennis Gray, lost a few seconds untangling two bicycles from a rack but made up by grabbing boxes 10 deep in his arms.

Gayle Loughery, 10, who two weeks ago had her arm in a cast, clutched six dolls at one counter and made several return trips.

In another store, Leonard Belanger, 12, benefited from some advance planning.

He entered and mapped out the toy department during recent visits to the store.

Young Belanger first petted a bicycle and wheeled it to a cart. All the toys had to fit in the wagon, according to rules.

Then came dolls for his sister, two sets of trains, two more bikes, toy guns, games and a record player.

When it was over, one parent posed this question:

"What will we get them all for Christmas now?"

Sudbury Strikers Head Home With Gifts of Food, Clothes

TORONTO (CP) — Eight hundred striking Sudbury miners who came to Toronto seeking government aid at the International Nickel Company prepared to head home today with food and clothing for their families.

Premier Frost told a delegation from the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) the government "has no intention whatever" of taking over Inco's Sudbury and Port Colborne plants as a method of ending the walkout, in its 72nd day.

The food and clothing were solicited in handbills distributed by 200 union members at plants of 15 major industries here after a two-hour meeting with Mr. Frost at Queen's Park.

The 200 brought sleeping bags and spent the night in the union halls. Today they were to retrace their steps, picking up the donations. Two 15-ton trucks had been obtained to transport the material to Sudbury.

The premier said in a statement after the meeting with the union delegation:

"I at once say that the government has no intention whatever" of taking over Inco at the union demanded. "It has no intention of departing from the rules of Labor Relations Act, namely that this dispute be settled by the parties themselves by agreement."

It appeared likely that Labor Minister Daley might once again offer the government's good offices to the union and Inco in the disputants around the bargaining table once more.

The union chiefs who met the premier and other government officials today included a delegation into the city early Wednesday in an auto cavalcade from Sudbury and Port Colborne. Provincial and Metropolitan Toronto police were geared around the legislature buildings but there were no disturbances.

The last time the union and Inco met in Mr. Daley's office, the company was given an offer of a 2.5 per cent increase spread over a two-year and third year of a three-year contract.

College Education for All 'Profound Error' Says Frost

WATERLOO (CP)—It would be "a profound error" and a physical and economic impossibility to provide university education for everyone, says Premier Frost.

He was speaking here Wednesday night to 1,000 industrial, civic and business leaders from the Twin Cities and district.

The next university course hours after he officially opened the $781,000 chemistry and chemical engineering building of Waterloo College associate faculties. It is the first of a new $2,000,000 group of buildings the college hopes to construct on a 20-acre campus in Waterloo's northwest section.

After outlining figures which he said showed a tremendous increase in Ontario's universities, the premier asked his audience: "Should the cost of this education be available?"

"Should it be available to all? Should it be limited by an individual's economic circumstances? Should it be available to only those who can pass exacting high academic standards?"

The premier said there are many arguments for and against each of these criteria. He said no one has yet established a satisfactory formula.

Attempting to provide education for all, he said, would be practically and economically impossible, but "a profound error."

And yet to limit it by individual economic circumstances as a matter of right, he said, is to be told his audience.

"Our country would indeed lose the services of many brilliant minds as a result."

The premier also frowned on the use of unusually high academic standards as a university entrance requirements.

"This would impose a rigidity on many that would also reduce the number of competent people available to our expanding economic life."

"Didn't overlook the young man who showed himself worthy, second class honors," he said.

Mr. Frost said the problem of education is the fact that the population of Ontario's universities is expected to double its present size by 1971.

Test by Lie Detector Shows Confession by Indian False

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A lie detector test shows that a Miami Indian who confessed a Canadian slaying for which another man was hanged was "positively not involved," a Miami detective reports.

Warren D. Holmes, a polygraph expert, said Wednesday that Francis Jones answered specific quies to questions showed he had nothing to do with the killing of three American hunters found shot to death in the Highland section of Quebec's Gaspe Peninsula.

"He was positively not involved in any way, shape or form," Holmes said.

Even before the test, Thompson had said during a television interview: "I don't know anything about it."

Holmes said the Indian — who has declared he has been mistreated — told him he made the confession "to get rid of the responsibility for the killings after being arrested here on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny. He is to be prosecuted on that charge.

A prospector, Wilbert Coffin, 43, was hanged two years ago at Quebec City for one of the hunters from Pennsylvania. He protested his innocence to the end.

At Quebec City, Deputy Attorney-General G. A. Lamontagne-Martin said in a statement issued Wednesday:

"Today the last page of this sad episode in our judicial annals has been written.

"Following this retraction . . . it is unnecessary to pursue this matter further."

Quebec authorities were quick to doubt Thompson's confession when there were facts in it at odds with those established at Coffin's trial. They sent a list of questions to Miami police and, following a report on Thompson's replies, said his tale seemed "pure invention."

Mr. Martin said that by obtaining answers to specific questions the department "proved the invalidity of the confession and exposed the imposter."

Britain Plans Assault on Rich American Market

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (CP) — In a hall decorated with four-foot high dollar signs, leaders of British industry are gathering here for a conference designed to draft a vigorous new assault on rich North American markets.

Sir Harold Eccles, president of the board of trade in the United Kingdom, said Wednesday night in a keynote address opening Britain's Dollar Export Council conference that more British sterling free world must organize the United States market and increase trade in order to meet the economic challenge of the Sino-Soviet bloc.

"The response we all have to make to meet the challenge from the Communists is to prove that the West can raise living standards faster than the Communists infla they can. How can the West afford it? Who can afford all willing to buy more of each other's goods?"

NORTH AMERICAN SALES

Eccles clearly indicated he thought the best way for British industry to expand was for the free trade started was "by a sustained and concerted bid for the United States and Canadian markets. North America is a special and the United States in particular is "potentially the greatest free trade area for British goods both in relation to its size and to the untapped buying power of selling more there than we have already."

YOUNG PILOT KILLED

GROS TENQUIN, France (CP) — The 21-year-old pilot of an RCAF Sabre jet fighter was killed Thursday night shortly after taking off from this Canadian air division fighter wing base in Northern France. The pilot, FO Michael Fill, born in India, joined the RCAF at Leaside, Que.

LAW ON CARELESS DRIVING RULED INVALID IN ONT.

Attorney-General To Appeal Decision

TORONTO (CP)—The attorney-general's department prepared today to fight an Ontario Supreme Court judgment which could outlaw the careless driving charge, one of the most widely-used sections of the Highway Traffic Act.

Chief Justice J. C McRuer said in a ruling handed down Wednesday that the province's careless driving law is invalid because it trespasses on criminal legislation passed by the federal Parliament.

The decision came as a complete surprise. W C Bowman, director of police prosecutions in the attorney - general's office, went to Osgoode Hall to read the judgment and announced immediately that it would be appealed.

ASK QUICK RULING

Mr. Bowman said a hurry-up session of the Ontario Court of Appeal, this week if possible, would be sought to rule on the appeal. He called it "a matter of utmost significance."

"If this judgment stands, the offence of careless driving no longer exists."

During the last year about 14,000 persons were charged with careless driving and 6,000 convicted.

The chief justice said in his written judgment that the section describing the careless driving section could be prosecuted under the criminal negligence section of the Criminal Code of Canada "even where death occurred."

"It is not within the power of the province to provide a means of escaping punishment provided by the federal Parliament by substituting a lesser offence with an alternative but lesser punishment," he said.

CARELESS DRIVING

Careless driving provides for fines ranging from $10 to $500 or three months in jail and licence suspension. The criminal

OPP Delegation Presents Brief On Wage Hikes

TORONTO (CP) — Wage demands of 1,400 provincial police, who claim to be the lowest-paid major force in the province, were presented to Ontario attorney-general's office Wednesday.

Fifty members of the local OPP association delegation were unable to see Attorney General Roberts, who was busy with striking nickel workers from Sudbury and Port Colborne. But he said later the request would be given "sympathetic consideration."

The police association has a six-day week against Toronto's five days and the RCMP's 5½.

The police association was headed by association president Cpl. John Pelz of Kitchener.

Freighter Caught By Heavy Ice In Lachine Canal

Movement of 25 Ships Toward Ocean Halted

MONTREAL (CP) — The 1,900-ton Wheatcon was trapped in the ice in the Lachine Canal this morning, halting the movement of more than 25 ocean-bound freighters toward the Atlantic.

The ship was trapped at the Cote St. Paul Bridge, roughly the same place as the freighter C. H. Moore was brought to a halt by ice Wednesday.

Lockmasters said it would take "at least two or three hours and maybe longer" to free the Wheatcon.

Two government tugs were steaming to her rescue shortly before noon.

TUGS MOVE IN

The tug James Battle was sent to the river from the Montreal harbor, while the tug Simac came from the opposite direction in an attempt to free the vessel.

Until she is freed and taken through the canal, 25 ships—including eight ocean-going vessels—are caught in the ice floes. About 25 other ocean vessels are reported somewhere west of the locks.

Ten ocean-going freighters were tied up today in Kingston, awaiting pilots to go down the St. Lawrence. Ice and fog on the river and ice jams in the canals make it necessary for river pilots to guide the vessels.

"Everything at Cote St. Paul is at a standstill," said Paul St. Jacques, superintendent of the Lachine Canal.

He said the present high temperatures of 35 degrees offers some help, but that thawing snow is forming slush in the water.

SPEEDERS GATES

He described this as more trouble than the ice which formed in the frigid temperatures of recent days. The slush packs around the lock gates and hinders their operation.

"If it freezes it will get really bad," he added.

"We are doing our utmost to get the ships through."

Veteran lockmasters were hopeful they could clear all shipping before the freezeup.

CONDITIONS "VERY BAD"

Deanery Bertrand, superintendent of the Soulanges canal, said conditions on that waterway were "very bad," but he expected all ships would be finally cleared.

Fifty-one-foot canallers of some 2,000 tons each, Canadian and some headed for Montreal harbor, were trapped in the locks of Ice before them as they inched past the factories and homes of St. Lambert, a canal that takes ships past the treacherous Lachine rapids.

Canal crews stacked the fast-forming ice around the locks and piers with pike - poles, long poddies, compressed air, steam and diesel tugs.

About 26 ocean freighters and canallers were tied up in the Welland canal, another bottleneck since this city was split by the ice piede to vote the Communist ticket was made by the Labor-Progressive party in Nanos Deutschland.

SEE SETTLEMENT SOON BETWEEN GM AND UNION

Report Both Sides Make Concessions

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of the United Auto Workers (CLC) and General Motors of Canada were to resume their contract talks today amid hopes of an early settlement.

The negotiations were adjourned Wednesday night and observers said a wage agreement affecting General Motors' 15,000 Ontario employees may be signed today, sixth day of the bargaining session.

A union spokesman said today the UAW is "very hopeful of a settlement in the next few days."

Both sides indicated they have made some compromise on their initial positions on the company's last offer and the union's last demand. There were only a few issues to settle, spokesman said.

The company has offered six cents an hour or 2½ per cent, whichever was greater, in each year of a three-year agreement. It also offered a revised pension plan, improvements in supplementary unemployment benefits and five cents extra for skilled tradesmen.

The union had asked for an eight cent an hour increase for skilled tradesmen to bring wages more in line with United States wages.

The bargaining involves workers at Oshawa, Windsor, Toronto, London and St. Catharines.

East Germany Urges Red Vote In West Berlin

BERLIN (CP) — East Germany today urged West Berliners to vote the Communist ticket in next Sunday's city election in a way of approving the Soviet proposal to make Berlin a demilitarized free city.

The East Berlin government already has said the voting for the East Berlin parliament would be a plebiscite on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal and that it would be resoundingly rejected. The Communist ticket in East Berlin is known as the West German parliament since this city was split by the Reds.

The plebiscite vote the Communist ticket was made by the East German Socialist Unity Party.

Radiation May Make Poles Termini For Space Rocket Ships of Future

OTTAWA (CP) — The Western world's first true space traveler probably will start his journey into the unknown from a site in the Canadian Arctic.

It would be, but no one really can say definitely right now," Dr. D C. Rose, head of the engineering section of the National Research Council, said in an interview.

Dr. Rose was referring to what he called the "ultimate in escape" from the intense radiation pool that envelopes the earth. Lacked over the poles, they were discovered by Dr. James A. Van Allen, University of Iowa physicist.

Dr. Van Allen told a scientific meeting in San Antonio, Tex., last month that the radiation which surrounds the earth becomes dense at 400 to 600 miles and extends into space for 20,000 miles except at the two poles.

He said evidence gathered by the Russian satellites and the recent moon rocket suggests the radiation intensity over the poles is not so great as to permit space ships to travel through this area with a minimum amount of heavy shielding to protect the space travelers from radiation.

Dr. Rose said no one as yet knows the exact degree of radiation which may be found at the poles. He suggested the best way to find out would be for some country to launch a research satellite that would follow a north-to-south course around the earth. Satellites shot into orbit by the United States and Russia have followed an east-to-west path, except for one Soviet satellite with a course 65 degrees off the equator.

Dr. Rose said he hopes the U.S soon will plan a north-south satellite. It also would enable a further study of the northern lights.

COUNTY COUNCILLORS TAKEN ON TRIP BY COLORED SLIDES

Hastings county councillors were taken on a trip around the world yesterday following their Wednesday afternoon session.

They took the trip by way of colored slides shown by a son of one of the county council members.

Mr. Royden Davis, son of Reeve William Davis told of his experiences in Pakistan while stationed there as a Canadian agricultural official under the Colombo Plan program.

The pictures covered a complete globe circling trip with stop-offs at London, Paris, Rome, West Africa, Pakistan and home by way of the Pacific.

IMPRESSED BY ADVANCES

HAMILTON (CP) — Miss Elisabeth Sense, who will be 100 Saturday, says the most remarkable change in a century of living has been in appliances for the home. Miss Sense has lived in Hamilton for 77 years. She still helps keep house, assisting her sister, Ada, a mere 82.

Santa Claus Will Phone Children Here

The "Telephone Santa Claus" program under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Recreation committee and the Belleville Chamber of Commerce will be held this year December 8th, 9th, 10th.

Santa will be phoning from 6.00 to 8.00 p.m. on these three evenings.

A large number of boys and girls have already submitted their names, addresses and phone numbers to be called the night, Monday, December 8th. It is hoped that Santa will be able to call all these children this first night, but if it is impossible, calls will be made the following nights.

Mailing cards have been distributed to schools and some retail stores in the City of Belleville. If cards are wished they may be had by phoning the Belleville Recreation office or the Belleville Chamber of Commerce — or — merely drop a line to Santa Claus, Box ??, Belleville, with name, address and phone number and Santa will call.

Santa will write a letter to all boys and girls he has the privilege of talking with. Last year, over 2,000 boys and girls in the city talked to Santa.

New Infirmary Wing Needed At County Home Council Told

Construction of a new infirmary wing at the Hastings county home, has been recommended by Dr. K. Stuart, of the Ontario Department of Welfare.

This was learned by county council yesterday at their December session with the reading of the county home report by Reeve Chas. Long, chairman of the county home board of management.

With 206 residents registered at the home, the report indicated the only complaint the inspector had with the home was that it was overcrowded. There was no detailed recommendation however as to the size of an infirmary wing addition which might be required.

County Home superintendent Kenneth Yorke, however, told council that in his opinion anything less than a 25-bed infirmary addition would be useless to the home, and this would take care only of present requirements. The present infirmary was built to accommodate 24 beds, he said.

However, by utilization of other space there were 52 infirmary beds occupied now at the home, this department making do for half the staff and half the expense of the home operation.

Mr. Yorke noted that with the high cost of hospitalization the idea of an infirmary in connection with Homes for the aged was getting more and more attention.

He said that during the past two years at least 20 delegations from centres all over Eastern and New York State had visited the Hastings home. Members of these delegations were impressed only in the infirmary.

Reeve Irwin McCoy noted that "a view of crowded infirmary wings conditions at the home council should think in terms of a 50-bed addition.

In reply to this Mr. Yorke said his suggestion of a 25-bed wing had been based on the fact that present kitchen, heating and other equipment of the home would take care of a wing of this size.

Both Reeve James Sprackett and Reeve William Davis said the wing should be given serious consideration with the latter noting it would be cheaper to accommodate old people in the county home than to pay maintenance at a nursing home.

It would be better for the old people and there would be less administration costs, he said.

Council formally authorized payment of the average daily grass cost for county home patients at Belleville and Trenton. Previously all county home patients had been charged the one rate. The change is being requested by the Ontario Welfare Department.

IN MEMORIAM

EMPEY. — In loving memory of my dear sister, Pte. who passed away December 3rd, 1957.
Sweet memories linger around her grave,
Sweet memories fill the heart,
Memories of a loving sister,
Whose memory will never depart.
And today from us a shining light,
We miss that light, and mourn her still,
Her vacant place there is none to fill.
Gone here we mourn, but not in vain,
For we shall meet her again,
In our heaven we will meet
Each other remembered and loved Pearl.

EMPEY. — In loving memory of Pte. Ernest Empey, who died suddenly December 4th, 1954.
Just when your life was brightest,
And hopes were high and fair,
You were called from this world of sorrow
To a home of eternal rest.
— Inserted by Mom, Dad, sisters and brothers.

CARRISON. — In fond memory of a dear friend, Gisele, who passed away December 4th, 1957.
The pearly gates were opened,
She passed in with prayer,
And with farewells unspoken,
She gently entered there.
— Ever remembered, Pearl.

Mass TB Survey To Be Conducted In Near Future

A recent survey of Grade 9 and 12 school students taken by the Hastings County T. B. Association has revealed that 69 of 1778 students had tests required as positive.

This was told to Hastings county councillors yesterday by Frank Lang, chairman of the county Christmas seals organization, when county council expressing appreciation to that body for financial assistance in the way of grants.

Mr. Lang noted that although positive tests were returned in the case of the 69 students, it did not mean those children had tuberculosis. Nevertheless the germ was there and regular tests would have to be carried out for the next few years to see that the germ do not become active.

He noted that a mass T.B. survey of the county would be undertaken in either 1959 or 1960.

In addition to surveys Mr. Lang said the association did much work in rehabilitation of patients recovering from the disease. During the year 41 medicines had been provided for as many patients at the Kingston Sanitorium.

Walter J. Holgrove, representing the Ontario School Trustees and Ratepayers Association addressed council seeking stronger membership in the organization to press for greater financial assistance in educational costs.

He said the costs of education were becoming such a drain on municipal finances that other services such as roads were being neglected.

Deputy Reeve Pound Gives Report on Plowing Match

A detailed report on plans for the 1961 International Plowing Match to be held in Sidney and Thurlow townships, north of Belleville, was given to county council yesterday by Thurlow Deputy Reeve Harry Pound, chairman of the agricultural and reforestation committee.

He said that last fall he, with Reeves James Spry, Charles Long and Kenneth Mumby, and Clerk Frederick Earle Dyer had attended the plowing match at Chesley and gained much information as to what should be done at Belleville.

"We learned much which will be of assistance when plans are further advanced for our plowing match," he said. "We investigated the formation of committees for various activities such as parking and sanitary facilities."

PROPERTY SELECTED

Mr. Pound noted the Ontario Plowman's Association selected the property on the Arthur and Farley Vermilyea farms, south of the road for the tented city with the understanding the County would remove any fence, trees, farm buildings south and east and west; and that Mr. Vermilyea would seed the land down and have a good sod by the time of the match. North of the road, from the tented City is contemplated for parking facilities, and there will be stages and brush there, and it was felt by the Agricultural Committee that a good parking area adjacent to the tented city would mean considerable revenue for the local organization, and the County, it was decided, to do some work there. $817.48 has been spent on approximately 70 acres, so that a good sod will be available by the time of the plowing match in 1961. In addition to this, free use of machines and operators has been donated by the Townships of Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga, Rawdon and Hungerford, the County, and by Wm. Latchford.

With a good year in 1961, the county should realize the amount spent, back from the revenue of the parking lot.

It is well the thought of the County to spend much more until the Ontario Plowman's Association makes an inspection prior to the 1961 plowing match.

Eight public school farms and financial assistance from the Belleville Kinsmen Club attempt to allow plowing on their farms, and no plowing has ever been done at a plowing match unless the owner did not agree to it.

DEPUTY REEVE PRAISED

Sidney Councillor Ross Agricultural representative for Hastings, complimented Deputy Reeve Pound for his untiring work in planning for the big plowing match and outlined the work of his junior department during the year.

He said that although registration in junior events had been down this year, the completion of club projects had been up.

Mr. Mumby reviewed the successes of Hastings Juniors at Ottawa Winter Fair, noting that they had carried off top honors in swine, this being particularly creditable when it was realized that all swine shown had been bred and raised in the county.

New Senator Member Has Resignation Letter Returned

WINNIPEG (CP) — Further developments may come soon in the dispute over firing of Prof. Harry S. Crowe by United College.

Rev. Stanley H. Searle of Brandon, a member of the senate of the United church institution, said Wednesday night a letter of resignation he sent as a result of the college handling of the case has been returned.

He said he was told "events might take place in the next two days" that might result in him change his mind. However, he said nothing so far has occurred which changes his mind and if something does not happen soon he will resubmit the resignation.

Prof. Crowe was dismissed from the college as a result of the dismissal.

Ewart MacPherson, a member of the college board of regents, said Wednesday night he had no comment on reports that settlement of the dispute was near. However, he indicated further developments might be expected.

Prof. Crowe said in a statement he has not been offered full statement or assurances regarding academic freedom and job and tenure. The CAUT report said such assurances should go with an offer of reinstatement.

"The executive of the Association of the Academic Staff of the University of Manitoba issued a statement Wednesday declaring that the action of the college's board of regents in "stigmatizing the CAUT report as biased and incomplete on such grounds as that the committee did not hear the whole evidence and could not subpoena witnesses."

The staff group said the only evidence that CAUT committee could not hear was that "which the regents or their adherents said he regents were only able to withhold evidence because they could not be subpoenaed.

NEW METHOD

Age of a deer now is estimated by examining the teeth, not by the points on the antlers.

Two workmen stand on top of a lock-gate in the nine-mile-long Welland Canal, near Montreal, as they slush away from the gate-hinges to keep the lock machinery operating and let a canal freighter through. An early cold snap has raised fears that more than 30 ships may be caught in the Great Lakes and the inland canals. (CP Wirephoto).

A veteran of both World War I and World War II, Arthur S. Young, 63, of 61 Watson Ave., Riverside, died Monday at Grace Hospital after a lengthy illness. Born in Belleville, Ont., he had lived in the area for six years, coming from Kingston.

Mr. Young was employed as a clothing salesman with the F. G. Clayton Co. in Detroit for the past 12 years.

Mr. Young was an Anglican. Serving overseas in both World Wars, Mr. Young enlisted in Kingston during World War I and in Windsor for his service in World War II.

He is survived by his widow, Ruth; a sister, Mrs. E. Fleming (Bess), of St. Thomas, and a niece in Detroit.

The funeral services were held this Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the Hunter & Kelly Funeral Home, 1069 Wyandotte St. E. St. Ernest Prayer of the Salvation Army will conduct the service.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Canadian Cancer Society, 545 Victoria Ave.

WILFRED D. RICHARDSON
Cobourg - Belleville

Wilfred D. Richardson of Cobourg, former resident of Belleville, passed away suddenly on Wednesday, December 3rd, at his home, 314 University Avenue. Mr. Richardson was in accountant with the Lorne McDougall Insurance Agencies of this city, moved to Cobourg several months ago, where he had purchased an insurance business.

Mr. Richardson, age 41, was born in Windsor, Nova Scotia. He was the son of Mrs. James S. Hamilton and the late Hedley Richardson. He was also educated in Windsor and joined the staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at the age of 17. In October 1942 he enlisted with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and on demobilization in 1946, he continued his employment with the bank. In 1947 he resigned from the bank to accept a position with the Lorne McDougall Insurance Agencies at Belleville.

Mr. Richardson was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Belleville, where he served as an elder and as Sunday School superintendent for some years.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, formerly Mabel McDougall, two children, Carol and Robert; his mother, Mrs. James S. Hamilton of Portland, Maine, and one sister Mrs. Fred H. Barton (Gerry) of Belleville.

Deer Hunters' Opinions Sought On Two Points

Hunters of the Tweed district will be asked limited opinions on (1) permanence of the deer-hunting opening date and (2) extending the season from two to three weeks.

A questionnaire to this effect is being drawn up by Ontario Department of Lands and Forests officials at Tweed. This will be mailed to hunters whose names appear on the district hunting list and have camps under "land tenure" permits.

If a one hundred per cent response, officials say, would mean the opinion of some 4,000 hunters will be submitted.

The questionnaire stemmed from recommendations received by the department from sportsmen groups, requesting the opening day of the hunt be set permanently as the Thursday next into the act. The opening date they selected was the Monday falling between the 9th and 11th of November. If this suggestion is followed it would mean that the season would open on November 9 in 1959.

The three-week season, as pointed out by the groups, would be on a trial basis only and in any way it proved to be detrimental to the deer population or the hunt itself, the season would then revert back to a permanent two week season or as desirable for good management.

Department officials say the proposals have merit. However, of the number of hunters who hunt within the forest district of Tweed, less than 20 per cent have as yet voiced their opinions.

The department is anxious to get the opinion of as many hunters as possible. Hence the questionnaire.

High School Activities

The BCIVS Radio Club is presenting a High School Talent Contest on Studio 7 Party on Saturday. The radio audience will be able to cast their vote by telephoning the number given during the show. Studio Party is heard Saturday from 4.05 to 5.00 p.m. over radio station CFRG.

On Sunday afternoon, December 14, the two Glee Clubs and the Band of BCIVS will present the second Christmas Musicale. All reports hint of a fine program of Christmas carols, choruses, band music and solos. A candlelight procession of the eighty choristers will precede the program which will last about an hour and a quarter. The Musicale, which is open to the general public, drew a full house for its first presentation two years ago. It is hoped that similar support will be received this year.

Colin Box scored the first penalty goal of the season. The 100 was fired on a Department of Education competition target.

Rising Butter Surplus Seen Creating Crisis

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian butter surplus is rising to such an extent that the federal government may have to use "drastic measures" to overcoming the surplus problem, E.A. Lee, president of the National Dairy Council, said today.

While butter consumption had declined 10 per cent or by about 8,000,000 pounds, production had increased by 20 per cent over 1957 and margarine consumption had climbed by 11,000,000, Mr. Lee told a meeting before the Ontario Creamerymen's Association.

The Canadian butter surplus has been officially stated at 50,000,000 reaching 60,000,000 pounds by next May 1, the end of the butter year.

HEADED GROUP

Mr. Lee said he headed a delegation which conferred with Prime Minister Diefenbaker on the problem and while the meeting was "off the record," Mr. Diefenbaker was impressed with the complexity of the situation in which we find ourselves.

"He also appeared aware as to the problems which devolves upon the government as a result of the continuing low butter prices and its holdings approaching 90 per cent of total stocks, as well as its obligations on foreign sales giving rise to international trade difficulties," Mr. Lee added.

He recalled that at last month's federal - provincial agricultural conference, Agriculture Minister Harkness emphasized the gravity of the situation, and pledged: "We are threatened with a mounting surplus of butter."

MAY CHANGE POLICY

Mr. Lewis said it would seem that Mr. Harkness' remarks indicate if current trends continue, "it is almost certain that changes in government policy can be expected."

"What these changes may be, I am not aware, but I think we should be less than candid if we did not anticipate some new approach designed to reconcile the discrepancy between production and consumption."

His statements were included in the text of his speech issued to the press before delivery.

The total butter price paid by butter consumers, 77 per cent of which goes back to farmers, Mr. Lewis suggested that the trade was getting such a low price spread on butter that perhaps a royal commission should be set up to look into the situation.

INCREASING TOLL

South Africa had 1,761 persons killed in road accidents in the first eight months of 1958, against 1,467 in the same period of 1957.

Hastings County council members found Shire Hall graced with handsome new desks when they convened for their December session. The desks replace antiquated models which had been in use since Shire Hall was built. Shown at their new desks centre with Warden Lloyd Price are Reeve William Shannon of Marmora; Reeve Charles Buskard of Deloro and Reeve Byron Harder of Sidney township.

Charge Former Dictator Plotted Colombia Coup

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — President Alberto Lleras Camargo said the army ousted Colombia under a modified form of martial law today after arresting former dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla on charges of plotting a coup.

In a broadcast, Lleras Camargo said the attempt to overthrow his government was scheduled for next Sunday. He declared a state of siege and warned against public gatherings that might indicate subversion.

Numerous pledges of support were made to the president, who was elected overwhelmingly last May 4 to succeed the military junta that overthrew Rojas Pinilla.

CHURCH GIVES SUPPORT

One pledge came from Cristobal Cardinal Luque, Primate of Colombia of the Roman Catholic Church. The church had been an important factor in causing Rojas Pinilla's ouster on May 10, 1957.

Rojas Pinilla and his son, Lt. Carlos Rojas, were taken by military plane to the Caribbean port of Cartagena, the president's office announced. It did not say what would be done with them.

Other sources said the government also arrested Jaime Pinilla Pupo, a former army general and father-in-law of Lt. Rojas.

Congress approved suspension of the immunity of any of its members who might be accused of participating in the plot.

RETURNED FROM EXILE

Rojas Pinilla returned Oct. 11 from exile in Spain, ostensibly to defend himself against congressional charges of corruption, abuse of authority and misappropriation of funds during his dictatorship. His trial by the Senate was scheduled to begin Dec. 12. For weeks, meanwhile, rumors of a brewing coup have been current.

Rojas Pinilla, while a lieutenant-general in command of the army, seized the presidency on June 13, 1953, in a swift, bloodless coup.

City Chosen Permanent Site For School for Bell Engineers

Belleville has been chosen as the site of a permanent training school for Bell Telephone engineers for all parts of the company's territory in Ontario and Quebec.

Releasing details of the new establishment, Grant W. Prosser, Bell manager here, said that the school would be located in the company's former manual exchange building on Pinnacle St. Work is starting immediately on converting the building for its new purpose. Pilot courses will be run during the spring and the school will come into full operation in the fall of 1959.

The initial training given at the school will be of eight weeks' duration, for young engineers in their first year with the company. Between 25 and 30 students will be located here at a time, with about five full-time instructors, Mr. Proctor said. The company at present has more than 2,700 men and women in its engineering departments.

The school will be under the direction of Eric C. Brake, of Montreal, the company's staff engineer in charge of training programs.

MEET LONG-FELT NEED

Mr. Brake explained that the school will meet a long-felt need. It will centralize the training programs that are now carried out in various locations in the company's territory and provide a more comprehensive, more economical training ground for engineers new to the company. In addition to central location, the permanent staff and the comprehensive training material available will permit technical courses for longer-service engineers when new technological developments are introduced.

"The Bell's central engineering training school is designed to develop the qualities of active engineering personnel — particularly now people — as quickly and efficiently as possible," Mr. Brake explained.

"The initial training will enable the young engineer to get into efficient production early in his career; the other courses will bring the longer-service employees up to date in new techniques and revised methods. Establishment of the school should contribute appreciably to the efficiency of the company's engineering operations."

Commenting on the selection of Belleville as the site of the new school, Mr. Procter said that the main consideration were its central location in the company's territory, the availability of adequate accommodation locally and the suitable environment that the city provides for an undertaking of this type.

Malibu Blaze Burns Self Out

MALIBU BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A huge brush fire that ravaged the hills behind this beach colony appeared to be burning itself out today after a furious three-day assault.

Firemen were firmly in control of more than half of its 5-mile perimeter. They had hopes of completely subduing the blaze some time today or Friday.

In its terrifying eight-mile rush across the hills to the sea shore, the fire churned 18,000 acres and destroyed 29 homes.

Dept. of Transport Requested To Build Vehicular Subway Under Tracks Near Trenton

The roads and bridges committee of Hastings county council has applied to the Department of Transport for the construction of vehicular subway underneath the CNR double tracks on county road No. 4 north of Trenton.

This was asked yesterday at the December session of county council in the road report read by committee chairman James Kinlin, who said that his committee had discussed the matter with the town of Trenton and had requested construction of the subway.

He said the town of Trenton had verbally agreed to pay one-half of the costs, which would normally be paid by the county. Eighty per cent of the cost of the subway would be borne by the Board of Transport, 13½ per cent by the county and 6½ per cent by the railway.

Traffic counts over the level crossing during September had shown there was a daily average of 3,744 vehicles per day and 16 trains per day went over the crossing.

Application has also been made for the installation of crossing lights at the CPR level crossing on the Shannonville Road north of Shannonville. Cost of the lights is estimated at $600 with the annual maintenance and operating costs borne by the county on the same division of construction costs as in the case of the Trenton subway, would apply with maintenance costs equally divided between the county and the railway.

$13,300 IN BUDGET

The report noted that as of Oct. 31st only $15,300 of the county by-law funds amounting to $261,000 remained to be spent. Gross revenue and expenditure, including expenditures on construction of projects, to October 31st had been $376,324.

Construction during the year included the widening of Ross's Bridge on the Hollowby-Ivanhoe Bridge, the latter being on the Madoc road south of Hollowby, a mile paving job having been done in Madoc village.

Development road project included the paving of the 2 3-4 miles of the Ivanhoe-Belleville had been awarded the contract for the 50-foot bridge at Ivanhoe. The county supplying the structural and reinforcing steel and the estimated costs of the bridge is $32,000 with possibly some "extras".

Much of the work on the Tweed Sulphide road has now been completed, the report says, progress being done by J. T. Ransom of Belleville.

The report noted that Mac Vance who took over the position of general road foreman last spring had done an outstanding job while key men had also done well during the year. Mr. Kinlin noted there had been no deletions from county road system during the year but the suburban road system would be reduced following annexation January first.

RESERVE LEAVES COUNCIL

It was suggested that following annexation the Belleville-Wallbridge road through Consecrancy should have more mileage taken over by the suburban roads commission.

Much of the gravel trucked into Belleville came over this road, it was stated.

There was little discussion on the road report.

The afternoon session saw Deloro Reeve Charles Buskard take final leave of county council. He has retired and will move to Cobourg.

Speaking briefly to council Mr. Buskard assured that he had enjoyed his 15 years as county council member.

"They are a grand bunch of fellows and work together in harmony," he said.

"True each has his own opinion of many issues but when the final vote is taken the answer is always close to being unanimous.

"If I have contributed anything to county council during my years, I am happy. My only regret is that I am going to live outside the county."

Hamilton Mayor, Lloyd Jackson, Again Elected

HAMILTON (CP) — Mayor Lloyd Jackson, one of the most durable major city leaders in Canada, was re-elected by acclamation for a two-year term, with a majority over his sole opponent, William Harris, a former councillor.

The 72-year-old mayor, who has held the post longer than any other man in Hamilton's history, was favored 5 to 2 by the turnout of fewer than 50,000 of the city's 123,128 eligible voters.

Mayor Jackson was first elected in 1949 after a chance remark at a Rotary Club meeting prompted him to contest the race for the seat being vacated that year by Sam Lawrence. He took over without council or board of control experience.

BACK ON BOARD

In the board of control contest Jack MacDonald led the polls in his return bid after unsuccessfully opposing the mayor in 1956. The three other seats went to board members—Mrs. Ada Pritchard, Leslie Parker and Archie McCoy.

Four new aldermen were voted among the 16 elected, including a woman, Margaret Standen.

The 1958 mayor major contest voting Wednesday was Timmins which elected six councillors and five school trustees. Mayor Leo Del Villia was the only previously elected by acclamation.

Barrie votes Friday, Port Arthur, North Bay and Kingston, ship, which includes the mining community of Kirkland Lake, vote Dec. 8 and the windup comes Dec. 15 with elections in St. Catharines and Owen Sound.

AVONDALE M. A.

The Avondale Cubs and Scouts Mothers' Auxiliary held their Christmas party last evening at the home of Mrs. Dave McDonald, Trent Road, with a good attendance present.

The president, Mrs. T. Lee Gacey, presided. During the business period, plans were made to enter in the Cubs' Christmas party held this month, and also for the preliminaries for the Scouts' party. Appreciation was expressed to the leaders for making Avondale Cubbing and Scouting so successful.

Mrs. A. McPherson kindly consented to assume the duties of social convener for the Mothers' Auxiliary.

Following business, games, Christmas carols were enjoyed, accompanied by Mrs. Twiddy, at the piano.

At the close, gifts were distributed to all from the gayly-decorated Christmas tree, and refreshments served.

Wedding

TERRION — DONOHOE

On Saturday November 22nd, a very pretty wedding took place in St. James Roman Catholic Church, Stirling, when Donna Patricia Donohoe daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Donohoe was united in marriage to Wilfred Lawrence Terrion, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Terrion of Marmora in a double-ring ceremony. The Rev. Father O'Neil officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a ballerina-length gown of white embossed taffeta with elbow-length sleeves, bateau neckline and empire waist. She wore a crown studded with seed pearls, rhinestones and iridescent sequins with shoulder-length veil of plain net embroidered at the edge. Her bridal bouquet was of deep pink roses.

Her only attendant, Miss Gwendolyn Terrion, sister of the bridegroom, was charming in a gown of turquoise embossed taffeta fashioned identically to that of the bride's. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and pink and white baby 'mums. Her matching headdress was accented with a wreath of pink rose buds.

Mr. Jim Terrion, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were: Mr. Jack Rose, cousin of the bride and Mr. Jack Terrion, brother of the bridegroom.

The wedding breakfast was held in the dining-room of Stirling United Church. The bride's table was centred with an all-white three-tiered wedding cake, trimmed with silver leaves and topped with tiny pink rosebuds. Pink pink tapers in double candelabra, pink roses in silver vases and the brides' bouquet added much to the majesty of effect.

The bride's mother received the guests wearing a two-piece dress of royal blue lace over taffeta with matching accessories and corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a lace trimmed gown of royal blue crepe with winter-white accessories, and corsage of white carnations.

For their wedding trip in United States the bride chose a pretty blue dress with white feather hat, grey alpaca coat with black and white accessories. Her corsage was of white feathered carnations.

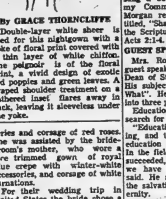
Mr. and Mrs. Terrion will reside at Elliot Lake.

Those attending were from Toronto; Peterbrough; Wooler; Marmora; Delora, and Stirling.

Previous to marriage, the bride was given a shower by Miss Patsy Fraser and her girl friends. There were about 25 girls in attendance.

Mrs. Bill Montgomery also had a miscellaneous shower at her home when the bride received many lovely and useful gifts.

The bride received an electric pop-up toaster and an electric tea kettle from office staff and employees of Quinte Machine where she was an office employee.



After returning home the young couple were feted by the River Valley community when they received a beautiful coffee table and mirror.

ADD NEW COURSE

OTTAWA (CP) — The University of Ottawa, collaborating with the provincial government and hospitals in Ottawa and Brockville, has launched a three-year post-graduate course in psychiatry. The course started this week. The university is the second in the province to train psychiatrists intending to study outside Ontario, the first being the University of Toronto.

Education For What Topic At Bridge W.A.

The president of Bridge Street Woman's Association Mrs. Dallas, welcomed the members and guests to the November meeting, held in the Sunday School room. In spite of the first heavy snow fall and treacherous driving conditions, there was a good attendance. Mrs. J. G. Demeza was the pianist in the absence of Mrs. J. Guthridge.

The reports of the various secretaries were given, also the treasurer's report, which noted the sum of $1,281.13 raised at the annual bazaar and tea.

The program for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. C. Morgan's and Mrs. Harold Robbins' group with Mrs. Harold Robbins conducting the program. A roll call for the group showed a good attendance. Mrs. V. Barclay, accompanied by Mrs. J. Demeza sang a beautiful solo, "This is my Commandment". Mrs. C. Morgan read the devotions entitled, "Grow in Grace" and the Scripture reading was from Acts 2:42.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Robbins introduced the guest speaker, Mr. J. B. Mackay, Dean of Students, Albert College. His subject was "Education for What". He spoke of education as the salvation of mankind for eternity.

Mrs. Arthur May fittingly commended Mr. MacKay's excellent work at Albert College and his devotion to his profession, and thanked him for his address. Mrs. May also thanked Mrs. Barclay for her fine solo on behalf of the W.A.

Mrs. Dallas announced the December meeting would be a joint one with the W.M.S. and would be held December 18th. The slate of officers for 1959 was read and that the report be accepted as read.

Tea was served in the ladies' parlor by Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Robbins, and their group.

Fuller Y.P.S. Presents Gifts to Young Couple

WEST HUNTINGDON — The Young People's Society of the Fuller United Church held a most successful meeting at the church on Tuesday, Dec. 2nd. Mrs. Post presided over the program and was assisted in the worship service by Mrs. Earl Wannacott, who led in prayer and Mr. Stewart reading a portion of Scripture.

Mr. W. H. Stobbart gave a short address. Mrs. James Wilson and Mrs. Borden Redcliffe contributed a solo "Great Is Thy Faithfulness".

Several helpful readings were given and Mr. Kenneth Stewart gave the special address. Later in the evening, he and his bride were presented with an electric clock and coffee percolator for which they both voiced their appreciation.

Following the benediction, refreshments were served.

Tabernacle United All-Church Bazaar, Tea a Yuletide Festival

The beautifully remodelled Sunday School rooms of Tabernacle United Church were filled to capacity yesterday afternoon for the annual Christmas all-church bazaar and tea with eager shoppers and guests looking for a special gift to gladden some heart and bring a bit of sunshine into some faraway life.

Mrs. W. D. Embury, convener of the bazaar and tea, on behalf of the ladies of the Board and James C. Eaglcliff, who is ill, welcomed the throughout guests, gave the invocation and declared the bazaar and tea officially opened.

Receiving were: Mrs. Percy Kerr, president of the W.A.; Mrs. W. D. Embury, and Mrs. A. E. Barlow, convener and co-convener, respectively.

PICTURE OF LOVELINESS

The tea room was a picture of spacious loveliness with the pale beige knotted pine walls; its white ceiling, and beige-brown and pink tiled floor; bordered with sea green. At one end was a many-coloured branching apple tree highlighted with sapphire blue, scarlet, gold and green globes twinkling beneath a frosted sky light, and with a fairy like effect created from pine sprays mingled with silver, blue and gold globes, while at each end were the dust sheet services, presided over by Mrs. Ernest Hall, Mrs. H. Fraser, Mrs. A. E. Barlow, Mrs. P. Kerr, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. E. Greenlaw, Mrs. R. Lockyer and Miss Ethel Horton.

HOSTESSES

The tearoom hostesses included: Mrs. G. Priest, Mrs. A. E. Cornish and Mrs. H. Burley, while the Keen Age Club with Mrs. Ernest Hall, as convener, were in charge. Serving were: Mesdames M. Smith, R. Aitkins, H. Knox, D. MacLean, M. Mc-Clelland, H. Lord, G. Davies, A. Groth, G. Stanton, J. Whidden, J. McAllister, R. Boldrick, U. Williamson, M. Wiley, A. Mulley, L. Boyle, W. Carmichael, R. Robinson, Johnson and R. Rackham.

Replenishing plates were: Mrs. S. Lathangue, Mrs. B. Boyce, Mrs. E. Goodfellow, Mrs. F. Douglas and Mrs. E. Stansfield.

The many booths, each in its separate room, which were presided over with neat little flooring by pinks and blues, and greens and whites, as were the various articles for sale.

The booths convened by the Mary Club in charge of Messrs Kerr, Taylor, Nayler, Irwin and Robb, displayed rocking - horse grey and white glass plant or book shelves; shaving toiletries and lotions; plastic soldiers for tiny tots; baskets of red Mcintosh apples; wooden bookends; four in the set; a bird house; a wood: record holder; collapse board; shoe polish outfit; commodious tool cabinet; screwdriver sets; gladioli bulbs; sleeve links; pearl; tie clips; mouse and child's TV stool.

PRETTY, USEFUL APRONS

The aprons, convened by Mrs. Charles Hogle and Mrs. W. May, were pretty, and useful as well. Predominating colors ranged from blues, blacks, pinks, greens, yellows, with materials of prints, rose broadcloth made in reversible shape, having pockets across the bottom on one side and plain on the other, these were also red and white striped aprons, some with blue, black and brown, and some with frills, while others were plain in design and in all-over style. Organdies in various shades were also shown. All lovely and most suitable for Christmas giving.

The Hi-C had a Christmas table filled with eye-catching table centres of birch logs, garnished with pine sprays, cones and red candles; as well as single candleholders of birch with one red candle. Miss Barbara Tourble, Ralph Dougherty and Jim Stansfield were in charge of these.

FINE LINENS

The fancy work, in charge of Mrs. Frank Shane and Mrs. Kingston was a mecca for lovers of fine linens with its embroidered pillow slips, fancy doilies, soft towels with crochet edgings, tablecloths, washcloths and many other lovely items.

The children's wear had little plaid, pleated skirts in several mixed colors, books, albums, fancy baby bibs, knitted mitts, little crocheted jackets in white, pink and blue; socks; plaid scarves, knitted slippers, tiny aprons, fancy pink organdy dresses and warm flannel night-wear in pinks and blues. Mrs. Thomas Orr was the convener for these.

The candy booth was neat and well ordered with its covered boxes of inlaid candies, maple creams, chocolate fudge, nutted creams, hand-dipped chocolates, cherry-taffy, cocoanut squares, cherry-topped cream candies and others. Mrs. Gerald Gorsline and Mrs. F. MacLean were conveners.

The gift booth, replete with all manner of articles from stuffed donkeys, cotton dogs, to doll bassinettes, wash cloths, pot holders, kitchen pads and pencils, fancy edged handkerchiefs, costume jewellery, cups and saucers, little black Scottie puppy purses, pheasant salts and peppers, African violets, fancy wooden trays, a few pieces of aged centres, was in charge of Mrs. Ernest Hall.

PANTRY SHELF

On the pantry shelf, conveners Mrs. Ernest Hall, Mrs. Lorne M. Ashley, were jams, pickles, mint jelly, apple jam, blueberry and apple jelly, mincemeat, marmalades, mustard pickles and relishes, salad dressings and tomato marmalade.

The homecooking room was filled with the scents of good things: baked sweet apples, pineapple rings, potato salads and supper dishes complete with salad and meat or eggs, salmon or tuna fish, vegetable and fruit salads, angel cakes, loaf and layer cakes, all nicely iced and most tempting; pies, pumpkin, apple, mincemeat, tarts of various kinds, muffins, date and orange breads, French pastry, TV snacks and cookies, cocoanut drops and cookies too numerous to mention. This was in charge of the Comrade Club, convened by Mrs. Laurel Wannamaker and Mrs. J. McLeod.

NURSERY PROVIDED

A nursery was also provided for the tots of the tired mothers. Mrs. John Babiak, while the mothers shopped and visited over the refreshing cups of tea.

The attractive decorating was done by Mrs. L. Andrews and her committee, to whom appreciative thanks are tendered for a fine accomplishment, also to the over-all convener, Mrs. W. D. Embury, and to all others who assisted behind the scenes.

Woman Holds Watching Brief Over Big Industry, Education

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—From behind a desk in midtown Toronto a busy woman holds a watching brief over one of Ontario's multi-million-dollar industries.

She is Nora Hodgins, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Teachers' Federation, secretary of the Ontario Association for Curriculum Development and secretary of the Ontario Educational Research Council.

The industry she is watching is education. She has her eye on all that is happening in the education world from teachers' salaries and teaching methods to the introduction of new subjects and development of new ideas.

The 44,000-member federation sponsors new teaching methods—but not if it is investigating a new system of teaching mathematics.

It also sends out questionnaires to teachers, seeking their views on controversial topics in education.

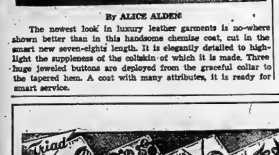
As a result of its inquiries, social studies—introduced a few years ago as a combination of history and geography — may soon be taught up to Grade VII only. In higher grades teachers want to teach the subjects separately.

"In sending out questionnaires and in arranging studies we are trying to overcome two problems," Miss Hodgins said.

"Teachers have not been consulted closely enough before new methods are introduced which has meant that unsatisfactory schemes have been put forward. They have not been adequately trained in new methods and so teach unsatisfactorily."

The Educational Research Council will be a clearing house for information.

"Research by small groups of teachers is going on all over the province," said Miss Hodgins. "We need to pool information."



Improving the status of teachers is a job that may involve a so-called black list, used only twice since the Ontario Teaching Profession Act was passed in 1944.

A school board that refuses to negotiate about wages or working conditions can be put on the black list, and it would then be "unprofessional" for any teacher to accept a job with it.

"We do not deal with the wage question, merely with the principle that a school board should negotiate," said Miss Hodgins. There is nobody on the black list now."

Born in Seaforth, Ont., Miss Hodgins is a qualified teacher. She studied at Victoria College, Toronto, and the Ontario College of Education.

The depression was in progress when she graduated and she worked as a stenographer for the Secondary School Teachers' Federation, and got her present job in 1944.

Now blue for bathroom windows covering is louvered shutters instead of curtains. They provide plenty of air and privacy in addition to their decorative quality.

The newest look in luxury leather garments is no-where shown better than in this handsome chemise coat, cut in the smart new seven-eighth length. It is elegantly detailed to highlight the new slim silhouette of mid-season fashion. Three huge jeweled buttons are deployed from the graceful collar to the tapered hem. A coat with many attributes, it is ready for smart service.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Frank R. — Mother should retire.

Mrs. M. R. — I'm afraid to let go.

* * *

Frank R. — I am the only son of a widowed mother and I am concerned about her. Mother has a small apartment near me and my family and at 67, she goes to work every day.

I feel that she is getting a bit too old for this routine. I realize that she has to keep active, but I feel that her work is too much for her. She works with m u c h younger women and I know that it is often a struggle for her to keep up with them. On weekends she is so exhausted she doesn't want to get out of bed.

Mother has a very small nest egg and could get Social Security. It would be no burden to me to help out a bit. I would like to see her get among people socially and to enjoy herself. She is always too tired for that.

* * *

Mrs. M. R. — What Frank says is true. My work is very exhausting and leaves me with little energy for anything else. But I am afraid to let go of my job. I feel that it keeps me young.

My own mother had a depressing old age because she had practically nothing to to. We all took care of her and she just wasted away from lack of activity. Basically she was in good health until her last illness.

It's all very well for Frank to talk of social activities, but I can't go gallivanting around all day. I would be left with time on my hands that I don't know how to fill. I want, to do something worth while.

The Council: In general, Mrs. M. R. is on the right track in her idea that activity will help X e to hold on to her youthfulness, but she is being a little too rigid when she sees her present exhausting job as the only buffer between her and old age.

Today, there is a great deal of interest in the idea of lifetime planning for old age. Certainly a little more planning at this time on Mrs. M. R.'s part would be in order. It is evident that she will not be able to hang on indefinitely to a job that is now straining her to the utmost. She should try to find ways and means of tapering off her physical activity while preserving an active life mentally and emotionally.

Once she turns her thinking toward the right goal, Mrs. M. R. may find that there are m o r e possibilities than she now sees for meeting her needs at this time. There may be part-time work at her present place of employment or in some other organization. She may be able to go into some small enterprise on her own or with other women. She should think in terms of something she can keep up as long as she enjoys reasonably good health.

Mrs. M. R. would undoubtedly enjoy sociability and hobbies if she had the time or energy. If she makes an effort to find some pleasure in both, she will feel less dependent upon her job for keeping her from a dreary old age.

Dramatic Contrast

Alpha Lambda Sponsors Black And Gold Ball

The Black and Gold Ball was held on Friday evening at the Club Commodore and proved to be an outstanding event of the winter season.

This dance was sponsored by the Alpha Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and the convener was Mrs. W. Simpson.

Miss Joan Bronskill and her committee transformed the club with attractive decorations on a musical theme in the symbolic black and gold of the sorority.

All ladies attending were presented with yellow roses imaginatively displayed on a model of an artist's pallet in the club's foyer. Also in the foyer was an unusual model of a still life picture.

This year the Sorority departed from the procedure of past years and provided its guests with a complete and delicious buffet supper, which was planned and prepared under the direction of Mrs. G. Thompson.

Mrs. C. Ryan publicly welcomed the guests and Mr. R. Smith acted as master of ceremonies. Among his other duties he announced the winners of the door prizes and spot dances, and were Mrs. W. Mills, Mrs. G. Sanderson (Toronto), Mr. C. Nicholls, Mr. E. Richards and Mrs. J. Musgrove and Mr. F. Bradley. Delightful music was supplied by the Commodore orchestra.

Despite Friday's inclement weather attendance was gratifying.

Cookies For Christmas Callers

by Mary Moore

On November 14th, I gave two recipes to Elizabeth C. These were tea cookies and sandwich cookies — dainty little numbers that would be perfect in an assortment of Christmas cookie baking. On November 24th travelling cookies were given.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

THURSDAY

SUNDAY

Mixed Pineapple and Lime Jules; Chicken Pie with Puff Paste Crust (see Monday); Tossed Salad; Jellied Tomato Salad; Old-fashioned Tapioca Pudding with milk or cream (see Saturday); Coffee.

Now I am ready with some more. One is a new ice-box cookie, another is a cut-out type that takes to decorating well and the third is the ever-popular Kipferl.

ICE-BOX OAT COOKIES

Three-quarter cup shortening (part butter); 2 cups brown sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs, 1 cup ground seedless raisins, 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups rolled oats, ½ cup chopped nuts. Cream the shortening well (part butter). Add sugar, creaming all the time, then eggs. Beat well and add flavoring and raisins. Sift dry ingredients, add rolled oats, and add to first mixture. Mix well. Form into rolls and wrap in wax paper, chill in refrigerator overnight. With a very sharp knife cut into ¼" slices, place on greased cookie sheet and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until delicately browned, about 10 to 12 minutes.

COOKIE MEDALLIONS

Three and two-thirds cups sifted cake flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cups butter or best quality shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 2 eggs, unbeaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 teaspoons (these must be measuring tea spoonfuls) milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt twice. Cream butter or shortening till light and fluffy, add sugar gradually, creaming well. Add eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Add vanilla. Then add flour alternately with milk. Chill. Roll ⅛" thick cut with floured 2¼" scalloped cutter; sprinkle with white or colored sugar or arrange clover drages. Bake on greased cookie sheet at 400 deg. Fahr. for 8 minutes or till done. Makes about 10 doz. cookies.

KIPFERL:

One-half cup butter, ¾ cup powdered sugar not sifted, 3 egg yolks, ¾ cup ground blanched almonds, or ground raw cashews, 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour (¼ teaspoon salt. Work the shortening with a spoon till fluffy. Add the sugar gradually continuing to work with spoon until light. Add egg yolks one at a time and stir well after each addition. Add almonds (or cashews), flour and salt and mix well. Break off small pieces of dough and roll on lightly floured board into pencil-shaped pieces about 2" long and tapering at both ends. Arrange on greased cookie sheet and curve ends in to form crescents. Bake at 375 deg. for 10 minutes.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

CHRISTMAS CARDS TO THOSE IN MOURNING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper to send Christmas cards to people in mourning? This year we seem to have an unusual number of friends who have lost loved ones in the past several months, and I know how difficult Christmas will be for them this year. I'd like to have them know I am and will be thinking of them devotedly, but I don't want to do anything not in good taste. What do you advise in these circumstances?

— W.

Yes, it is proper to send Christmas cards to people in mourning . . . if we choose the cards we send and the words we send with tender thought of their special mission. People in mourning, generally speaking, have very real need for the human touch that we can express in Christmas cards, and, with the suitable card and with the right words, we can thoughtfully express our loving kindness, or tender understanding.

For this mission it is quite natural for us to consider cards of religious inspiration: perhaps a lovely reproduction of a Madonna or other religious masterpiece, or a traditional message of the holy Christmas story. Or we may prefer to choose a very simple card with a small, conservative design (perhaps a radiant star) on the first page, and on the inside page (with so printing on it) write our brief, from-the-heart message of comfort: "Margaret dear, I do want you to know that I am thinking of you these days with loving affection and with tender understanding."

Note 1. Instead of sending a card, we may, with exquisite taste, write our message of devotion and understanding on a plain white card or white semi-conservative design (perhaps a radiant star) on the first page, and on the inside page (with so printing on it) write our brief, from-the-heart message of comfort: "Margaret dear, I do want you to know that I am thinking of you these days with loving affection and with tender understanding."

Note 2. Instead of sending a card, we may, with exquisite taste, write our message of devotion and understanding on a plain white card or white semi-conservative design (perhaps a radiant star) on the first page, and on the inside page (with so printing on it) write our brief, from-the-heart message of comfort: "Margaret dear, I do want you to know that I am thinking of you these days with loving affection and with tender understanding."

Note 3: Never should we stoop to sending a card printed "With sympathy to you at Christmas" or any similar, canned message. Certainly a chilling idea, grim and brutal, to send printed words rather than your own. You make your words personal by writing them yourself . . . a few blessedly reassuring words to reach the heart of a friend in sorrow. With loving thoughts, with tender understanding."

SPECIAL QUESTIONS ABOUT HOUSEWARMINGS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I recently bought a "brand new" house, and will move into it very soon. We built the house we now live in, and have already sold this. When we moved into this house we did not give a housewarming. But we are so excited about our new house that we want very much to give a housewarming.

1. Is it proper for us to give a housewarming if we have owned a house before? (We have been told it isn't proper.)

2. If you say it's proper for us to give the housewarming, would it be permissible for us to give two separate parties? There are so many relatives and friends we want to invite that we just could not handle them all at one time.

— E. R.

1. Yes, certainly. This housewarming you are planning to give is a salutation to this new house, a welcoming invitation to your relatives and friends to cross the threshold of this new home of yours. It makes no difference whatever that you owned a house before, not even if you had given a housewarming for that house.

2. Yes, entirely proper to have two housewarming parties. As a matter of fact, sometimes, in order to take advantage of preparations, one party is given on, say, Saturday afternoon and the other is given on the following afternoon, Sunday. Occasionally a series of parties is given, on three or four succeeding Saturdays or Sundays . . . this procedure is done by those people who prefer smaller groups, particularly convenient when the idea is to show a new house.

EXCELLENT SERVING-TECHNIQUE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine, who is an excellent cook and who sets her dining table most attractively, very often serves certain foods in deep ovenware glass dishes: soufflés, for example, and baked macaroni-and-cheese. When she serves in this way she always wraps the glass dish in a folded napkin. Is this considered necessary. — A. E.

This is excellent serving-technique . . . and is really necessary when the glass ovenware dish is at all darkened or discolored by the oven heat.

BIG INCREASE

The Union of South Africa had 775,000 telephones in use in 1958, compared to 480,000 in 1952.

Mother's Helper

FLOWER pots for that dull's house can be made from the tops of toothpaste tubes. The red or blue ones are most effective, but any kind that stands up will do. Fill them with clay, stick a sprig of evergreen and/or an artificial blossom in each. Fun to do, pretty to see.

W.A. ENTERTAINS

THOMASBURG — Last Saturday Thomasburg W.A. entertained the pupils of the public school junior room to a delicious dinner, followed by the general meeting, in charge of Mrs. Henry Morton, vice-president.

The devotional portion, led by Mrs. G. Dyson, included "Forgiveness," as topic; Scripture reading by Mr. Dyson and an interesting reading by Mrs. Dyson.

The reports of the treasurer and flower conveyer were given, and the conveners of the nominating committee brought in full slate of officers for 1959.

Birthday donations were also received. It was decided to have an exchange of Christmas gifts among the members of the W.A.

Letters of appreciation were read for cards and flowers received by those who had been ill.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dyson on December 17.

Mrs. Henry Morton extended thanks to all who had assisted in making the meeting so interesting.

2nd THURLOW

Neighbors' Aid Presents Slate Of Officers

2ND THURLOW — The Neighbors' Aid held its November business meeting at the home of Mrs. Corah Howard, on Wednesday afternoon, with about 25 adults and several children present. The president, Mrs. J. Chumbley, presided with Mrs. M. Mitchell acompanying the singing on the accordion.

Mrs. M. Dent acted as secretary for the meeting and read the correspondence. The treasurer, Mrs. R. T. Boldrick, gave the year's report on donations to "Salvation Army"; "Institute for the Blind"; "Plainfield Home for Retarded Infants"; "Burnt Out Families", and various other organizations.

Mrs. Harry Thomson, Mrs. J. Chumbley are to convene euchre on the night of November 28th at S.S. 4, Thurlow.

The executive to look after Christmas boxes for the shut-ins, and money and gifts for children at Christmas time whose parents lost their home by fire recently.

Mrs. Everett Jeffery invited the Aid to her home for the Christmas meeting. Mrs. C. Howard will arrange the program. Mrs. William Lazarik, Mrs. S. Ray, Mrs. Earl Grills, Mrs. J. Craig will bake and serve the lunch.

Mrs. Fred Mitchell arranged and conducted the following program and read a prayer, "Oh God".

1958 OFFICERS

Mrs. M. Mitchell, Mrs. Robt. Atkins presented slate of officers for the coming year and gave as follows: president — Mrs. J. Chumbley; 1st vice-president — Mrs. Gerald Stratton; 2nd vice-president — Mrs. Everett Jeffery; secretary — Mrs. Wm. Lazarik; treasurer — Mrs. R. T. Boldrick; pianist — Mr. M. Mitchell, assistant pianist — Mrs. Robt. Atkins; flower committee: Down Road — Mrs. Bruce Ford; Mrs. Stewart Ray; Up Road — Mrs. Cecil Keens and Mrs. Don Leeming; press reporter — Mrs D. Atkins; auditors — Mrs. F. Jeffery, Mrs. M. Dent; slate of officers for next year — Mrs. M. Mitchell, Mrs. Robt Atkins.

Community singing, with Mrs. M. Mitchell accompanying, Mrs. Arnold Mitchell read an "Old Ladies' Aid Meeting" and program of year's ago, which was very interesting and a reading "My Life's Story."

Mrs. Archie Greatrix gave a talk on a recent conducted tour to Boston of the United Empire Loyalist celebration. She told of the many historical places visited and interesting happenings.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Greatrix for her instructive talk.

A music and electrical contest was held with Mrs. Turpah,

Madoc Junction

MADOC JUNCTION — Mesdames Bruce Stapley, William McMullen, Maurice Clancy, Clarence Pitchett, Forde Stapley, Warren Harlow, Harold Chambers and Miss Joyce Stapley attended St. Paul's afternoon tea and country carnival in Stirling last Thursday afternoon.

Sorry to report that Master Billie Stapley recently underwent an appendectomy at Belleville hospital. His friends and schoolmates are all wishing him a speedy recovery.

Mr. Carl Bridges spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bridges and family at Oshawa and also visited at the home of his brother, who is seriously ill, in Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dowler of Harwood spent a couple of days last week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow.

Mrs. William McMullen and Mrs. Clarence Pitchett met at the home of Mrs. Bruce Stapley on Thursday evening to prepare the slate of officers for the 1958 W.A. and WA for the year 1959.

The teacher, Mrs. Bert Reide and pupils of S. S. No. 24 Sidney, are making plans for the annual Christmas concert.

The attendance at Sunday school and church service at Eggleton United Church on Sunday was rather small, owing to the heavy snowstorm during the weekend.

Mrs. C. Summers, of Mount Pleasant, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Forde Stapley and family.

Mrs. M. Mitchell receiving a gift.

The president thanked Mrs. Mitchell and all who helped with the program.

Refreshments were served by hostess and Members: J. Mitchell, Robt. Atkins, M. Mitchell.

There will also be an exchange of Christmas gifts for adults and children.

Meet Duplessis About Aid for Needy Students

QUEBEC (CP) — The presidents of the students associations of Quebec's six universities came out of a two-hour meeting with Premier Duplessis Tuesday uncertain about the exact terms of proposed provincial legislation to increase aid to needy university students.

The meeting climaxed a series of attempts by students for nearly a year to obtain an interview with the Quebec government about the dilemma financial aid for higher education.

In a 250-word statement issued after the talks with the premier and three provincial cabinet ministers, the student presidents said the premier told them their suggestions would be taken into consideration.

The proposed legislation for needy students, announced in the speech from the throne inaugurating the annual legislature session recently, is not yet known in detail.

In their statement, the student presidents said Welfare Minister Paul Sauve, one of the ministers attending the meeting, told them he would propose to the cabinet an increase in the reimbursable portion of the youth bursaries. Under existing legislation aid-to-youth bursaries can be as high as $200 and half of the amount is reimbursable.

During a press conference they called after issuing their statement, the student presidents said they considered the meeting "a first step" and agreed with Mr. Duplessis that education "should not be a political issue."

SHORTER KISSES

SEOUL, (Reuters) — Kissing scenes in imported movies are to be limited to 10 seconds in South Korea. The present limit is 20 seconds. It is part of a campaign against "provocative influences" in foreign films.

Symbol of hope to West Berliners is the sight of soldiers of the three Western occupying powers on duty in their sectors. Left to right are military policemen from France, the U.S. and Britain. People and leaders of the isolated west section of the city have asked that force be used if necessary to save them from absorption by the Reds.

Transplant Gland Successfully

BOSTON (AP) — A parathyroid gland — necessary to produce calcium — was transplanted successfully at New England Deaconess Hospital last week from an embryo into the groin of a Lewiston, Me., woman.

A joint announcement by physicians at Deaconess, the Duke Clinic and Duke Hospital in Hospital described the operation as medically significant. Reporters were told it could lead to a major break-through in solving the problems of transferring human organs from one body to another.

A far as is known, physicians said, this was the first time in medical history that an organ of any size whatever has lived and functioned in a person not an identical twin of the donor.

The transplant parathyroid for the woman came from a 17-week foetus cast off in a miscarriage.

Bracebridge, Ont., has a new club which appears to have generated a lot of enthusiasm among the young fry as well as adults. It's a police boys' club, supported by citizens and service clubs, and operated by local law enforcement officers. At the club the boys can work off their excess steam—and if it's boxing they like, there's expert supervision. P.C. Tony Jackson hopes that in Malcolm Stockton, left, and David Kingstott he has a couple of future champs.

Sidney Twp. Council

Wallbridge, Ont

The Council of Sidney Township met on Dec. first pursuant to adjournment. All members present. The minutes of the meeting of Nov. and nomination meeting as read were adopted.

Road voucher No. 12 for $681.60 and relief account $491.86 and December pay sheet were paid as passed and numbered:

(1) A by-law authorizing the borrowing of $22,000 upon debentures for Public School purposes.

(2) A by-law to accept all that portion of roadway in sub division plan 282 Lot 20 con. 1.

(3) A by-law respecting licences for nursing homes in the Township of Sidney in the County of Hastings nomination meeting held at Wallbridge on November 21st, 1958.

Mr. J. Byron Harder Reeve resigned as a candidate for the office of reeve and announced his intention to retire from municipal office and was thanked by members of council and electors for his untiring efforts in the interests of Sidney Township.

Three council members were accorded acclamation, Harleigh A. Hamilton, Reeve, Gerald Irvine, Deputy Reeve and Elwin Hart Councillor.

Due to insufficient candidates being nominated for councillors it necessitates calling a second nomination meeting for Monday evening Dec. 8th at 7 o'clock p.m.

Council adjourned to meet on Monday forenoon December 15th at 11 o'clock a.m. at Orange Hall Wallbridge, Ont.

Rawdon

RAWDON — On Thursday evening a number of friends in the Bethel community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs John Ryan and tendered their daughter Bernice a miscellaneous shower previous to her marriage last Saturday.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bruce Murray, Mrs. Kenneth Broadworth and Mr. Jim Barron.

Bernice received a lovely assortment of gifts for which she expressed her thanks.

Guests included the bride's aunt, Mrs. Daniel Forrestell, of Coanlston.

The conveners served lunch and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Bernice was married Saturday morning and she will reside in Nova Scotia.

WORKERS' COURSES

The Norwegian Workers Educational Federation had 1,007 study circles with more than 16,000 participants in 1958.

SUDBURY

Mine-mill had reduced its original demand for an eight-per-cent boost—the equivalent of 17 cents an hour—but the company said the demands still were comparable to those granted by Inco in its last sales year. A slump in the nickel market cut Inco sales sharply this year.

Premier Frost, after his meeting with the union delegation, issued a general appeal to management and labor to avoid strikes during the recession.

NOT PUBLIC INTEREST

"It is not in the public interest that large numbers of our workers should be out of work by reason of strikes and thousands of others out of work because of these strikes," he said.

Nels Thibeault, mine - mill's Canadian president who headed the delegation, said union officials assured the government it will continue to investigate "every possibility of settling the strike."

The Sudbury workers had two 15-ton trucks which will be used to transport any clothing and food collected back home.

The United Electrical Workers in Peterborough, Guelph and Toronto shipped 10 tons of food to the strikers following an appeal a few days ago.

"We are sure the Canadian people are not going to permit Inco to starve or freeze out a strike," Mr. Thibeault said. "The weatherman has been with us so far. That's one thing Inco can't control."

DEFY INJUNCTION

While the strikers paraded in Toronto, about 200 pickets in Port Colborne defied a court injunction limiting pickets to four at each gate of the Inco refinery.

Police said there were no incidents and no action would be taken unless the company complained to a crown attorney.

Inco officials declined comment on the matter. The company obtained a temporary injunction after office workers were unable to cross picket lines. A hearing for a permanent order is to be held Friday.

HONOR SCOUT LEADER

LONDON (Reuters)—A movie of the life of Lord Baden-Powell, who founded the boy scout movement 50 years ago, will be made by Cecil B. deMille in conjunction with the Paramount Company, the Boy Scout Association announced Monday night. Lady Baden-Powell said that "since the death of my husband in 1941, it has been my dream that a film of his life would be made."

Takes Issue With Statement On Whole Milk

WOODSTOCK (CP)—President E. A. Lewis of the National Dairy Council was criticized Wednesday for saying Canadians seemed to be drinking less milk while the spread between prices paid farmers for fluid milk and that used for other dairy products keeps increasing.

The criticism was from Alan Lishman of Woodstock, president of the Ontario Whole Milk Producers Association.

Mr. Lewis suggested in an address at Toronto Wednesday before the Ontario Milk Distributors Association that farmers might even be asking too high a price for bottled milk and "it would appear prudent not to price fluid milk out of the market."

Mr. Lishman took issue with Mr. Lewis' price-spread figure of 51.87 a hundredweight nationally and more than $2 in Ontario.

The former said the difference isn't as great as the figures most commonly quoted.

"Such factors as extra haulage costs and the proportion of milk which is paid for at the top price must be considered," he said. In the Woodstock district, for example, the spread would be about half the figure given by Mr. Lewis, he added.

Leader of Dairy Processors Assails 'Monopolistic' Plans

TORONTO (CP)—The leader of Ontario's dairy processors said today "monopolistic marketing schemes" could force his group to "look elsewhere" for some raw materials it uses.

H. A. Thurston, president of the Ontario Dairy Processors' Council, delivered a sweeping criticism of dairy industry "regimentation" in an address before the annual meeting of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association.

The text of his speech was released to the press prior to delivery.

He said that even though the milk producer was paid at established rates for his product, the distributor wasn't always permitted to develop and introduce new ideas in his business. A provincial board set up "to police the dairy industry in Quebec" had forbidden a Montreal dairy to use a different bottle cap although the new design was "more attractive and sanitary."

"WOULD LIKE TO"

"Dairy boards in some of the other provinces may not go quite as far as this but many of them, apparently, would like to do so."

Mr. Thurston said regulations to prevent abuses might be all right "as long as we make sure that government or government-appointed bodies do not take over our business."

He added:

"We would appear imperative, if we are to minimize encroachment on the promotion and marketing of dairy foods by unfair competition, a substantial and compulsory legislation, that consumer groups be made aware of the restraint of trade inherent in monopolistic marketing schemes and that they be given a clear understanding of the importance and efficiency of the present system and of private company and co-operative processors of dairy products.

"Sound thinking producers, I sincerely hope, will appreciate that one of the probable consequences of any expansion of this type of action may be that processors, rather than comply with unreasonable regimentation, will be compelled to look elsewhere for certain of their raw materials."

LAW ON CARELESS

Mr. Bowman said his department expects police will continue to lay careless driving charges in the usual manner and magistrates would adjourn cases now before them pending the result of the appeal.

One Toronto lawyer commenting on the judgment said it would work a hardship on crown prosecutors. He said it would mean laying criminal negligence charges in all cases involving what is now referred to as careless driving.

"I don't believe evidence in every such case would merit a conviction for criminal negligence," he said, suggesting Parliament should take steps to correct the situation if the judgment is upheld.

Chief Justice McRuer's action came in his ruling on an appeal launched by David Yolles of Hamilton. Yolles was fined $50 and costs by Magistrate Kenneth Langdon of Toronto on a careless driving charge after the magistrate learned he was travelling at 80 miles an hour along the Queen Elizabeth Way.

The chief justice found the magistrate was wrong in convicting under the careless driving section and erred by ruling that a motorist driving at 80 miles an hour was automatically guilty of careless driving.

The appeal was presented as a stated case to the Supreme Court, an alternative to going to the appeal court. It involved certain questions presented for the court's decision.

An attorney-general's department official said he believed Chief Justice McRuer had introduced the constitutional matter himself in ruling on the questions.

Inflation Not Inevitable Says Bank President

HALIFAX (CP) — Inflation is not inevitable, but responsible attitudes are required to prevent it, C. Sydney Frost, president of the Bank of ova Scotia, said at the bank's annual meeting.

Such attitudes and actions, he stated, must be taken towards wages and prices, and towards government fiscal and monetary policy. He indicated that the upward pressure on prices in the months ahead is not likely to be great—even with a strengthening in business activity — and food prices in particular seem likely to level out or even decline.

The danger lay in the longer term—perhaps the next two or three years.

Mr. Frost said the Canadian level of business this year had been fairly-well maintained—considerably better than in the United States.

PROBLEMS AHEAD

We are not yet, however, "out of the woods;" unemployment will be a serious problem this winter; exports, which have held up well, may show some decline and private capital outlays are expected to contract further.

Mr. Frost's comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

In his remarks on inflation Mr. Frost said the post-war price rise in prices is not in itself a valid reason for believing there must of necessity be a further rise, for in greater part it was caused by the war and the Korean conflict.

"But," he added, "the large government deficit, the difficulty of financing it in the face of lack of interest in government bonds, the consequent increase in the money supply, and the 'inflation psychology' that is obviously one element in the stock-market boom, could lay the basis for another inflationary surge . . . .

MAY BOOST INVENTORIES

"With some signs of recovery in business volume and profits it is conceivable that business men might feel impelled to assure themselves of inventories and fixed assets in advance of the expected price rise.

"If this occurred while business remained sluggish, other things besides stock prices would get out of line: Unneeded inventories would be accumulated, more excess capacity created and property values inflated. All sorts of distortions would develop which might lead eventually to what we used to call depression . . . .

In a stabilization program, Mr. Frost said, people must be willing to accept periods of credit restraint when necessary and governments must have the courage to budget for surpluses in active periods in order to be in a position to run necessary deficits in times of recession.

Over - all wage increases, he stated, should not exceed over-all gains in productivity.

Beneath its true big car classic styling are so many new advances in Mercury design and engineering that you have to see and try the '59 Mercury to know how much better it really is. Here, in one fine car, is real six-passenger comfort and convenience—with spirited new performance to match.

The '59 Mercury is designed for easier access. Doors are bigger and open wider. Ideal for everyone, but especially for ladies wearing the new tailored fashions of today.

And when you settle into a Mercury, you notice a new elegance in interior styling and a new comfort from deep foam rubber seating, front and back.

The 20th anniversary Mercury brings you a decisive step up in quality. And size. The '59 Mercury is so generously proportioned inside that it opens up a whole new world of motoring enjoyment. You can have five join you for a drive—and know all six of you will ride in uncrowded comfort. The new Mercury instrument panel is nine inches further forward for extra roominess. The new Mercury centre tunnel is so low—and seats such a comfortable height—that, like everybody else, middle passengers can now enjoy real stretch-out room.

You'll notice Mercury's greater all around visibility, too. Sixty percent more windshield area adds safety to your viewing. Thanks to new overlapping windshield-wiper action, all-weather visibility is greatly increased.

On a longer, 126-inch wheelbase*, Mercury brings you all the better, big car features. It's heavier, for a firmer stance and a smoother, road-sure ride. And the '59 Mercury's spirited performance brings to life all you've ever longed for—in a true, six-passenger design.

Compare the 20th anniversary Mercury and you'll know you've moved up. Everyone else will, too!

Certain features illustrated or mentioned are standard on some models, optional at extra cost on others.

NEW EASE OF ENTRY . . . because the '59 Mercury has a new out-of-the-way windshield pillar design that offers you more entry room than ever before.

NEW COMFORT INSIDE . . . especially for the "middle" man! Mercury's 50% lower centre tunnel provides more legroom. Extra foam rubber, too!

NEW OVERLAPPING WIPERS . . . give you five feet of viewing on bad weather days. Mercury offers 60% more windshield area for better seeing in any weather.

Royal Yacht, Britannia, Gets Extensive Overhaul for Trip To New World Next Year

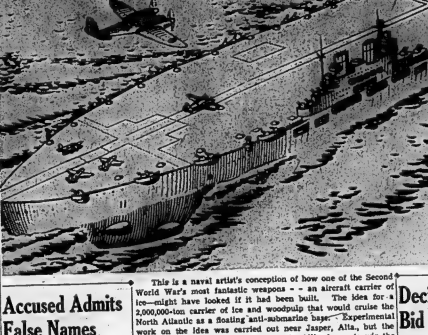
PORTSMOUTH, England (Reuters) — The Britannia, a regal and expensive royal yacht, is getting an overhaul for its trip to the new world next year.

It will sail into the Great Lakes in June carrying the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh to the official opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The Britannia, which weighs 4,715 tons, is getting two of its three masts lopped off to enable it to pass under the seaway's bridges with some degree of dignity.

An extensive—and expensive—refit also includes having the Britannia's hull scraped, its engines and electrical equipment overhauled and its paintwork smartened up. The bill for the work is expected to come to about $70,000.

The Britannia cost $5,989,200 to build and just keeps the yacht in the style to which it's accustomed costs $1,400 a week.



Britannia has another job before it transports the royal couple. Early next year, it will take the duke to the Far East.

Britannia's numerous expensive refits have had their of them so far—have been criticized by politicians and press as extravagant. One refit cost $448,000. Naval experts say that the Britannia does not get enough use than other ships and their cost is not unduly high.

In between royal trips, the yacht has been used in naval exercises and as a hospital ship. It would assume in wartime. The late King George VI, who died in 1952, built just before his death in 1952, wanted the country's man made ready. Should that ever become necessary, the cost would be between $420,000 and $560,000.

Britannia carries a crew of 250 men.

Aboard the royal yacht all decisions are made jointly. All commands are passed by signal, verbally or even by writing to ensure a relaxed atmosphere. There

This is a naval artist's conception of how one of the Second World War's most fantastic weapons - - an aircraft carrier of ice—might have looked if it had been built. The idea for the 2,000,000-ton carrier of ice and woodpulp that would cruise the North Atlantic as a floating anti-submarine base. Experimental work on the idea was carried out near Jasper, Alta., but the project was abandoned in 1943 when the Allies began to win the upper hand in the Battle of the Atlantic. Accused Admits False Names Given Police

MONTREAL (CP)—A 32-year-old manufacturer, charged with possession of $15,000 worth of bonds which formed part of the loot in a trust company robbery in Brockville last May, testified Wednesday that an anonymous caller had warned him he would be "riddled" with bullets if he talked to police.

Alfred St. Yves, a sash and door manufacturer, told the court the threats, made on the eve of his arrest, impelled him to give police false names — up names by when they asked him who had given the bonds to him.

Police spent months searching before concluding that the names were false.

Wednesday, St. Yves, who had testified he did not know the bonds were stolen, gave three other names he swore were real ones.

SUBPOENA FIT OUT

He said he knew where one of the men could be reached and his trial was postponed until today after Judge T. A. Fontaine issued a subpoena for the man.

Earlier, St. Yves testified he knew the men as employees of a used-car company and took the bonds from them to raise a $10,000 loan at a bank in suburban St. Vincent de Paul.

He admitted that he thought the men's offer at a $5,000 commission was "a bit rare," but said they told him they could not use the bonds as collateral themselves because they would cause income tax problems.

St. Yves was arrested after the manager of the bank where he got the loan left for verification found they were part of the multi-million dollars in bonds stolen from Brockville Trust Company.

Board Approval Not Needed for Works Projects

TORONTO (CP) — Municipal Affairs Minister Porteous said Wednesday municipal board approval isn't needed for a community to borrow for construction of sewage disposal plants.

Mr. Warnock told the legislature's standing committee on municipal affairs Wednesday after Ottawa Controller Paul Tardif said it is "extremely difficult" to get municipal board approval of sewage disposal plants. Provincial and federal grants worth 75 per cent of the labor involved—

Mr. Tardif accuse the provincial government of just doing this for political purposes but it certainly looks like that," said Mr. Tardif.

The municipal board and municipal committees can finance the special projects out of current revenues or add the costs to next year's estimates pending payment of debentures.

Municipal board approval was needed only for expenditures over five years beyond that or in the case of debenture issues. Even then the department's provincial approval of the project was necessary before an application could be made to the board.

Most Fantastic Project Of Second War Was Start on Aircraft Carrier Made of Ice

OTTAWA (CP)—Habakkuk, a book of the Old Testament, recorded in chapter 1, verse 5: "For I will work a work in your days, which ye will not believe, though it be told you."

From the book was taken the code name and from the quotation the verse for one of the most fantastic projects of the Second World War.

Habakkuk was to have been a 2,000,000-ton aircraft carrier made of ice which would cruise the North Atlantic as a floating anti-U-Boat base.

Probably the first drawing of this projected vessel ever to become public has recently been published in the Crowsnest, monthly magazine of the Royal Canadian Navy.

BRITON'S IDEA

Habakkuk appears to have originated in the mind of the late Englishman who served on the staff of Earl Mountbatten of Burma, then chief of combined operations and now Britain's first sea lord.

Mountbatten took Pyke's idea to Sir Winston Churchill who ordered the military to undertake urgent research.

The project was the subject of Anglo-American discussions and Canada became the site for development. Canada's National Research Council took over the project in the fall of 1942.

Because ice is not a particularly good building material, scientists looked for something to add to it to obtain the necessary answer. The answer, supplied by Dr. Herman Mark of New York, was wood pulp.

The mixture of ice and pulp was called Pykerete, after Geoffrey Pyke.

ARCTIC EXPERIMENTS

Mountbatten has related that he took a chunk of Pykerete to the Churchill - Roosevelt confer-way of all icebergs.

ence at Quebec City in 1943. A bullet fired at it bounced off and, Mountbatten said, persons outside the room thought the British and United States chiefs of staff were arguing so bitterly that they had started shooting at each other.

Pykerete was as strong as concrete, was melted only slowly even in warm water.

The Habakkuk carrier was to have been 2,000 feet long, 300 feet wide and 200 feet deep. It was to have been built from melting by refrigeration units and driven by electric engines followed by tugs.

It was planned to build Habakkuk along the northern Newfoundland coast where plenty of pulp was available.

In his book Scientists at War, Wilfrid Eggleston says the floating airfield would have been holelow and the bulkheads surrounding the floating air- kept permanently frozen by artificial means.

"FORTRESS MENACE'

Eggleston says Habakkuk was vulnerable to torpedoes because it was a three-foot hole would have pierced the skin and led to eventual melting.

Estimate of the cost of the 2,000,000-ton aircraft carrier was —was roughly $10,000,000.

It appears the main reason for the abandonment of the project in 1943 was that the Allies began to win the upper hand in the Battle of the Atlantic in that year.

Also, it was realized that it would take as long to build Habakkuk as a conventional aircraft carrier of steel.

The fact remains, however, that the project was undertaken and seriously. If the German U-boats had continued to hold the upper hand Habakkuk probably would have actually sailed the North Atlantic.

There would have been no problem of disposal after the war. With refrigeration removed, Habakkuk would have gone the Decision on CPA Bid Likely Within Month

OTTAWA (CP) — A decision likely will be given before the new year on the application of Canadian Pacific Airlines to compete with Trans-Canada Air Lines on cross - country passenger routes.

Hearings on the application concluded before the air transport board Wednesday and chairman Clarence Shepard said the board will make what haste it can with a decision.

The cabinet must then review this decision and instruct the board on what procedure to be taken.

CPA contends it should be licensed now to compete with TCA on a transcontinental basis between Montreal and Vancouver. In hearings that started Oct. 6 in Vancouver, it argued that it can make the operation profitable.

TCA, on the other hand, argued that competition now would result in deficits for both airlines through higher fares and end in subsidization of the airlines by the government.

TCA WANTS TO EXPAND

The government-owned airline said it should be allowed to go ahead with its planned expansion program, which would result in a new jet service, providing faster, more comfortable travel and an improvement in service.

CPA charged, and TCA denied that TCA is an inefficient operation. TCA said CPA did not meet requirements laid down by the government for competition on cross-Canada routes, among them active competition. This would rule out the type of competition CPA envisioned by CPA.

In reply CPA said its definition of competition proposal was only for a brief period of transition while it was intended to lead back to TCA of introduction of competition.

To Hold Inquest

HAMILTON (CP)—Basil Gray, 63, of the Sarnia Indian reserve, died in hospital Wednesday of injuries he received Nov. 16 when the car in which he was riding collided with a truck on Highway 6 at Chapdion's Corners.

His wife Evelyn, 41, also injured in the accident, is under coroner's order to remain in hospital. Driver of the car, Albert Nahdee of Sarnia Indian reserve, and the Gray's son Albert, 15, suffered less serious injuries.

An inquest will be held.

St. Lawrence Seaway Project Head, Bennett J. Roberts, 66, Admits Being Poor Sailor

MONTREAL (CP) — A Newfoundlander who admits he's a poor sailor turned—almost by accident—from administering Canada's largest ports to running Canada's biggest canal system.

After a lifetime career in the public service, when many others are thinking of retiring, Bennett John Roberts, 66, took on the job of managing Canada's $340,000,000 interest in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

As president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, Lord Mayor of London, his four years, Mr. Roberts will play a key role in next year's opening ceremonies—the April opening of navigation and the mid - June formal dedication by the Queen.

A husky, heavy-set man with a ruggedly handsome face, he has appearance with a soft voice and a slow, friendly smile. He's at home behind a desk, but after 20 years with the National Harbors Board in general agency that administers eight Canadian ports including Montreal, Vancouver and Halifax, he knows a boat from a ship.

Born at Twillingate in 1892 within sight and smell of the frontier off Newfoundland's northeast coast, he went on to Dalhousie University in Halifax to study law and wrote business news on the side for the Financial Post.

"That was a valuable experience," he says of the years of reporting. "It helped me to develop a wide general knowledge and they learn to write concisely as well whatever they do."

Turned down for medical reasons at the outbreak of the First World War, Mr. Roberts swung to patriotic work on the home front, and that led him in 1917 into government service. His became—at 25 — private secretary to the then minister of finance, Sir Thomas White.

A capable administrator, he became secretary of the finance department in 1922, comptroller of the treasury in 1939, and assistant deputy minister in 1935. The following year he was appointed a member of the newly-formed National Harbors Board, a field in which he remained until his appointment this year to the seaway job.

During the Second World War, his administrative talents were used to help set up the financial end of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan and, on the lighter side, to establish a wartime hostel for 350 unmarried girl office workers in Ottawa.

Two sons were killed in the Second World War while he served on the home front selling Victory bonds in the civil service, where the money was badly needed for war demands. For his work he was made a CBE.

He has the $25,000-a-year job of finishing the seaway on time and then operating the 66 projects about 800 employees, works from two offices, one in Ottawa, the other here. He commutes between Ottawa, Montreal, Cornwall, where the seaway's chief quarters will be, and Massena, N.Y., the American United States agency, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation.

He recalls that in 1919 he took part in another project with progressmen, state governors and senators on a trip through Lake Ontario and up the St. Lawrence to show them what a deepwater seaway could mean.

But it took many years, and a shotgun wedding between Canada and the United States, to launch the $75,000,000 project that provides seven locks, three canals and deep channels leading to the lakes.

"Building the seaway," he says, "is something like skinning a cat—overcoming every hurdle by a broad two-way highway."

Telephone Bids Under Study By Ontario Hog Producers

TORONTO (CP) — Telephone bidding may be the answer to fears by Ontario hog producers that establishment of auctions would result in "secret agreements" on buying tactics among meat packers.

Agriculture Minister Goodfellow disclosed Wednesday the possibility of telephone bids is under study by the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board and will be discussed at a meeting with packers scheduled for Dec. 11.

Mr. Goodfellow issued a statement on secret talks held during the last six weeks with the hog board and others in the Canadian Meat Council and the Domestic Producers' Association.

The meetings were called by Mr. Goodfellow to consider a proposal for establishment of auctions basis at Kitchener and Toronto. The proposal came from the packers in the meat council and was countered by a hog board proposal for telephone bids.

Mr. Goodfellow stated the marketing board said auction would be acceptable if approved by members at a provincial convention by representatives of the province's 78,000 hog producers.

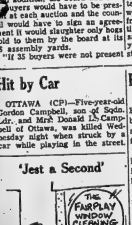
In addition, the board had said buyers would have to be present at each auction and the council would have to sign an agreement it would slaughter only hogs sold in that way by the board at its 16 assembly yards.

"If 32 buyers were not present the agency would be permitted to sell hogs to buyers or members not present by telephone," the statement said.

The packers feel that it is impossible to guarantee the presence of 32 buyers at every sale. They pointed out that many buyers only bought about one hog a week.

"No objection was raised by the council to the principle of accepting telephone bids, but it was felt that the proposal as presented by the marketing board would give some buyers a definite advantage as it would assure them of the last opportunity to bid.

"We of section would be registering buyers for telephone bids if all buyers, both those present and those on the telephone list, were on equal basis. Representatives of the council were confident that the efficient operation of telephone bidding could be worked out without too much difficulty.



"Members of the Hog Marketing Board are now studying the proposal for combining an auction and the telephone system of bidding. Their findings will be submitted to a further joint meeting of the board and the council.

Under the proposed auction system, buyers would be relayed by telephone from the marketing agency the number of hogs and confirmation of sales sent by teletype to the buyer together with shipping instructions.

Bleeds to Death

HAMILTON (CP) — Mrs. Vera Harrison, 55, bled to death in her bedroom Wednesday when she suffered a deep throat gash after falling into a mirror.

Her husband, Stanley, said he heard a crash of glass and rushed to find his wife unconscious and bleeding badly.

Police said she apparently fainted and fell into the wall mirror, smashing it. Glass cut the jugular vein.

APPLICATION FAILS

WALLACEBURG, Ont. (CP)—Wallaceburg's application to annex 940 acres of Chatham Township, representing an assessment of $1,000,000 and a population of 1,355, was dismissed Wednesday by the Ontario municipal board. Board members ruled the town failed to show need for the land at this time.

12 Centres Across Canada Reach Objective for Funds

OTTAWA (CP) — At least a dozen of the 60 would-be centres across the country picked up a total of $761,697. Its goal was $8,750,000. conducting community fund drives this fall have reached their objectives and many others are nearing their goals.

The information was drawn in a survey by The Canadian Press of Community Chest and United Appeal campaigns which were seeking a combined $28,000,000.

The most spectacular showing was by the United Appeal in Sault Ste. Marie, which reached $232,346 in a lightning two-week drive, going far beyond the objective of $150,000.

Second Canadian centre to top its goal was Chatham, which in three weeks reached its target of $80,000.

Toronto, Ottawa and Brantford finished in a virtual dead heat for third spot, all surpassing their objectives within about a month and by their campaign deadlines.

Toronto, which has the biggest

The Canadian Community Chest and United Appeal campaigns are conducted in 60 communities across Canada. Most of the drives are scheduled for completion in November or December.

Here is a list of communities which have reached their objectives, with the amount collected and the objective:

Sault Ste. Marie, $232,346 ($150,000); Chatham, $80,111 ($80,000); Toronto, $6,092,150 ($6,000,000); Ottawa, $1,000,000 ($1,000,000); Brantford, $251,000 ($250,000); Kingston, $91,777 at Nov. 30 ($103,750); Sudbury, $175,000 at Nov. 25 ($175,000); Oakville - Trafalgar, $69,000 ($68,200); Peterborough, $170,000 ($170,000); St. Catharines, $231,407 ($255,739); Niagara Falls, $90,065 at Nov. 26 ($107,000); Stratford, $42,500 at Nov. 24 ($49,000).

QUEEN OKAYS BADGE

CLINTON (CP) — The Queen has approved a badge for the Royal Canadian Air Force No. 1 radar and communication school here. Depicting an Indian buttery fly with the face of raven inset in its forehead, the badge is symbolic of the school's role in the field of electronics.

Stormy No-Quarter Battles Lie Ahead for U.S. Congress; President's Position Declines

WASHINGTON (CP)—Stormy, no-quarter battles lie ahead in the new U.S. congress.

It appears it will be a year of relentless pressure, including presidential prestige in the White House and the full weight of legislative accomplishment.

The battle lines and the Republicans can be expected to go into the new session, which opens Jan. 7 in January, with their eyes more on the political future than on the task of getting on the legislative problems immediately at hand.

POLITICAL PLUM

Both parties will be manoeuvring for the best position from which to launch their respective drives for the most glittering political prize in the U.S. political realm —the presidency of the United States.

The Democrats go into the fight with a decided advantage. The string of stunning victories in the off - year congressional elections fall gave them undisputed command of Congress — a 64-seat majority in the House and Senate and a margin of 283 Democrats to 153 Republicans in the 436 - seat House of Representatives.

The 68 - year - old President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 1959 may mean a year of uncertainty and political power and a series of fresh trials with Congress. He is barred by law from seeking a third term in 1960, so the American people know that his pressages an automatic decline in his influence with Congress.

This throws the Democrats already have an impressive list of possibly popular candidates for youthful Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts and the 61 - year - old Democratic Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson, Governor Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Though it shattered their congressional representation, the Republicans with a mid-term election, have a solid core of leadership with a new and possibly popular candidate for the presidency — Nelson Rockefeller, the 50-year-old multi - millionaire who shot into national prominence when he toppled Democrat Averill Harriman in the struggle for the New York state governor's chair.

Depending on how he handles the New York governorship in 1959, Rockefeller may stack up as a formidable rival to Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, who has been gunning for the presidency since he lost to President Eisenhower's running mate in 1952.

Farm and labor legislation will be among the first on the list of legislative business next year.

A farm bill with strong Democratic support appears to be guaranteed by the heavy inroads the Democrats made in the November election in the farm belt, the so-called "heartland" of the United States where the Democrats now must return the favor by pushing farm-endorsed legislation.

Labor, too, can be expected to push hard for a labor reform campaign support it gave Democratic candidates. It was mortified in some areas and legislation to nullify the right-to-work laws — which make the shop—never fully effective in 19 states.

Integration, to integration, a festering problem ever since the Supreme Court ordered the southern states to admit Negro children to their public schools in 1954, is expected to crop up during the year in two key southern states—Virginia and Arkansas.

Virginia as the year-end approached, some possible modifications in the state's massive resistance laws appeared likely in Virginia, where the first Negroes to enter white cities have been locked out of schools which the state closed rather than admit mixed negro pupils. With the anti-integration governor, Lindsay Almond, Virginia Governor J. Lindsay Almond said he would appoint a commission to study the problem if key provisions of the state's massive laws were struck down.

In Little Rock, Ark., scene of integration violence in 1957, approximately 4,700 students, including 700 Negroes, were dismissed by Federal Judge Orval Faubus shut down the city's four public high schools rather than integrate them. Some 600 transferred elsewhere while others were absorbed by segregated schools set up to circumvent the federal anti - segregation laws.

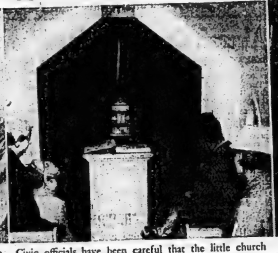
UNEF BUDGET

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The General Assembly's budget committee has voted a $19,000,000 fund for support of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East in 1959. Detailed contributions by individual countries will be worked out after the assembly, as is expected, approves the committee's recommendation.

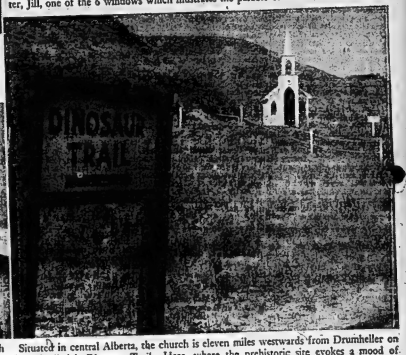
A Church in the Badlands

Nestled in lonely isolation, among the wind-mauled badlands of Alberta, is a trim white structure believed to be the world's smallest church. Its diminutive dimensions (7 x 11 x 12) embrace a multitude of faiths from Presbyterian to Greek Orthodox; it is kept in sparkling repair by nearby Drumheller's hot-rod enthusiasts who call themselves, appropriately, the "road angels".

Mrs. Donald McVeigh curator of the Drumheller Museum unearths hip-bone of dinosaur which roamed Drumheller valley more than 90 million years ago. Strange rock formations which dot much of the surrounding area are known as "hoodoos".



Chapel was the inspiration of 3 Drumheller citizens: a pastor, a painter and a carpenter who donated their time and talents. Local merchants supplied everything from light bulbs to insurance without charge. Above, Mayor Eneaus Toshach shows his daughter, Jill, one of the 6 windows which illustrates the parable of the Fisher of Men.



Visitors to the unique church may, simply by pressing the button of their faith, listen to a hymn, together with a 3-minute sermon, and spend a few moments in quiet meditation. There is no collection plate; the church neither asks nor receives any money.

National Film Board of Canada Photos by Gar Lunney.

Civic officials have been careful that the little church should not become a mere gimmick to attract tourists. Within 2 months after its dedication on July 9th, more than 12,000 came to worship in the faith of their fathers.

Situated in central Alberta, the church is eleven miles westwards from Drumheller on the fossil-rich Dinosaur Trail. Here, where the prehistoric site evokes a mood of reverence and the hand of the creator lies heavily over the hoodoo-studded landscape, men come to reflect on the mysteries of creation.

WELLINGTON

St. Andrew's Guild Christmas Tea, Bazaar Most Successful

WELLINGTON — The air was chilly but the day was bright as many ladies made their way last Thursday afternoon to attend St. Andrew's Guild annual Christmas tea and bazaar.

The town hall never looked prettier than on this occasion when it was gay with colorful Christmas decorations, including a lighted Christmas tree.

Greeting the guests at the door were, Mrs. Herrington, the Guild president, assisted by Mrs. J. J. Rogers, wife of the new Rector, who was also present.

The domestic table was in charge of Mrs. Wm. A. Davern, assisted by Mrs. W Klag and Mrs. Alfred Ogilvy. They did a land-office business with all the tempting varieties of delicious home baked food one could name.

Attractively displayed were large, small, tall, short, fancy or plain, aprons, dozens of them! The ladies in charge here were Mrs. W. F. Thompson, and Mrs. Thomas Boyle.

Mrs. Mildred Way sold the novelties, fancy work, crocheted articles and knitted goods. All ideal for Christmas gifts.

At the "Touch-and-Take" table were: Mrs. Godfrey Upton, and Mrs. Sam Tripp, with such attractively wrapped parcels it was hard to make a choice.

Popular with the children was the "Fish Pond": Mrs. Springings and Mrs. Post were busy tying on fish. Later, they were assisted by Misses Judy Bryans, and Joanne Herrington.

Mrs. Nellie Russell was in charge of the fruit cake.

Tea was served at quartet tables centred with pretty Christmas candles.

Busy in the kitchen were: Mrs. Dayton Murphy; Mrs. B. A. Evans, and Mrs. Jim Callow.

The servers were: Mrs. Bernard Burley; Mrs. Colin Lane; Mrs. Joe Lavender and Mrs. Delbert Boyle.

The president and members of the Guild wish to thank all who helped to make this annual event such a wonderful success.

Issue Warrant For Arrest on Fraud Charge

REGINA (CP) — City police have issued a warrant for the arrest on a fraud charge of a man who worked for three weeks as an interne at Grey Nuns Hospital here, using the name D. W. van Haevrand.

Fred Zimmer, a switchman at the CNR yards here, said he was admitted to the hospital and placed under the care of an interne. He told police the interne persuaded him it would be better for his health if he changed his job and said he could get Zimmer established as western distributor for a Toronto medical supplies firm. Police found later the firm did not exist.

Zimmer said he was asked to put up money for ventures and on Nov. 5 gave the doctor his savings of $3,000 plus $500 he was able to borrow. He called police when the doctor did not keep an appointment at the hospital two days later.

Zimmer's cheque for $3,000 was cashed at Napa, Calif., near Los Angeles Nov. 13 police said.

Mrs. Blanche Reid, president of Stirling Womens Institute, attended the Tweedsmuir history workshop at Marsh Hill United Church on Thursday, Mrs. W. Slater, president of Pinegrove W.I. and her assistants were the hostesses.

HOLD LAY SERVICE

St. Pauls United Church held their lay service on Sunday morning with Mr. Don Williams in charge and he introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Phil Spence of Streetsville. Mr. Spence is associate secretary for the Board of Men in Toronto.

He gave a graphic picture of what the Men's Club, known as A.O.T.S. meaning "as one that serves", can do in the church. The speaker outlined what personalized service means.

The men of the congregation formed a male choir with Mr. A. Bond as organist. The Bible lesson was read by Mr. Claire West.

At the close of the service a short meeting was held. Several committees were appointed which included one to bring in a slate of offices for the new club.

Mr. J. L. Good, principal of King George High School, is a patient in the Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. T. C. Hay-Ellis is acting principal and Mrs. Earl Eggleton is supplying as an assistant on the staff.

Mr. Rupert MacConnell, Georgetown, was a recent guest of Mrs. C. A. MacConnell, Front Street.

ASK O. HENRY PARDON

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Eisenhower has been asked to write a happy ending to the life story of author O. Henry. The Texas Heritage Foundation appealed to the president Tuesday to grant a full pardon for the short story writer, who served a five-year sentence on a charge of embezzling $854.06 from an Austin bank. He died in 1910 at the age of 48.

River Valley W.I. Holds Fourth Euchre

STIRLING — The fourth euchre party sponsored by River Valley Women's Institute was held at the school house. Due to weather conditions there were only 10 adults in attendance.

The prizes were won as follows: ladies high — Mrs. Morley Ayrhart; hidden score — Roy Tucker, (playing as a lady); men's high — Claude Tucker and hidden score — Bert Bedford.

The conveners, Mrs. Gerald Brooks and Mrs. Roy Tucker, served refreshments.

REPORTS ON SLEEP GAS

NEW YORK (AP) — A U.S. army general said Wednesday the army is experimenting with a gas that it hopes will put an enemy to sleep without serious harm. Maj.-Gen. August Schonsburg, deputy chief of tedmaco, emphasized that the army is a long way from such a goal. He discussed the attempts, along with the army's basic research program, before the American Ordnance Association.

Ticket Tolls Reported Good For Shrine Game

By CANADIAN PRESS

HAMILTON (CP) — Ticket sales were reported today to have picked up for Saturday's Shrine all-star football game which the sponsors hope will attract between 17,000 and 19,000 fans.

Jim Trimble of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, the East's coach, told a sports meeting Wednesday he plans to start Sam Etcheverry, veteran quarterback of Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, Trimble, who has a 1-1 all-star record, also has Hamilton's Bernie Faloney available.

Meanwhile, Bud Grant, coach of the West all-stars and the Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has been conducting practices using Jim Van Pelt at quarter. Van Pelt starred in Bombers' 35-28 Grey Cup win over the Tiger-Cats. Grant says he hasn't decided whether to start Saturday with Van Pelt or Jackie Parker of Edmonton Eskimos.

BIG BACKFIELD

With Etcheverry in the backfield will be such stars as Alouettes' Pat Abbruzzi, Dick Shatto of Toronto Argonauts and Gerry McDougall of Hamilton.

Grant, in addition to Parker and Van Pelt, has Winnipeg's Kenny Ploen and Saskatchewan Roughriders' Frank Tripucka who could work in as quarters but will probably play at half.

A rally was held in downtown Hamilton Wednesday night to boost enthusiasm for the game.

Saskatchewan's Ken Carpenter and Red O'Quinn of the Alouettes took part in a pass-receiving contest—a football heaved out of a 10th storey hotel window.

Study baseball

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National League has decided on a study by an independent research organization of the struggles of baseball and all its ramifications.

This organization will be asked for recommendations on reorganization of the baseball structure, including expansion, realignment of leagues and league classifications, and revision of baseball procedures and practices.

Peter Ustinov Shaving Beard For Drama on 'Omnibus'

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Some day somebody is going to tell the truth about the state of wigs among television performers.

But if you think you're going to get the whole truth here, you're mistaken. Suffice it to say that you seldom see a baldheaded performer, although plenty of people have worried themselves bald by hair-tearing burnings.

On the other hand, men are most candid about their beards. In fact, men love to raise them mighty proud of 'em. One of the most distinguished performers in the medium is bearded Peter Ustinov.

Ustinov is shaving his long beard in order to star in a drama he wrote himself, The Empty Chair, Sunday on Omnibus (NBC-TV, 5 p.m. EST). In the drama, concerned with the theme of power and set in the French Revolution, Ustinov plays the revolutionary leader Georges Danton.

Ustinov, who will make no sacrifice for art, originally grew the beard to star in his own highly successful play, Romanoff and Juliet, in which he now is appearing on the road. What impelled him to write a TV play requiring a clean chin at the same time he was appearing in a play requiring him to be bearded is a question he cannot answer.

FLIES TO SHAVE

A bearded Ustinov will fly in from his road tour on Saturday to undergo ordeal by razor. On Sunday night a clean-shaven Ustinov will fly back and wear a false beard for the remainder of his road tour.

Last year when he scored a great success playing the life of Dr. Samuel Johnson on Omnibus, Ustinov disguised his beard with a $1,000 plastic mask—a worse ordeal, he says, than shaving a beard.

In The Empty Chair, Ustinov's wife, Actress Suzanne Cloutier, plays the role of Danton's pregnant wife. Mrs. Ustinov is seven months pregnant, as was Madame Danton at the time of the drama.

SPORT IN BRIEF

TRADE AMARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—St. Louis traded Outfielder Leon (Daddy) Wyrben Amaro to Philadelphia Phillies for outfielder Chuck Essegian. Amaro 23, a shortstop, batted .224 after he was brought up from Rochester of the International League where he hit .300. He is known as a good fielder but poor hitter. Essegian, right-handed-power hitter, batted .246 for the Phillies last year before being optioned to Miami where he hit .348.

TOUR CANADA

WINNIPEG (CP)—West Bromwich Albion, first division English soccer team, will tour Canada and the United States during May and June next year, says George Anderson of Winnipeg, secretary of the Canadian Soccer Football Association announced today. West Bromwich, only one point out of first place in league standings, will play in most of the major cities in Canada and likely in New York, Anderson said. It will be the club's first trip to North America. Dates and sites for the tour will be announced later.

TO PRESENT TROPHY

OTTAWA (CP)—One of Canada's most decorated army officers will present Edmonton's Jackie Parker with the Jeff Nicklin Trophy Saturday at halftime in the shrine all-star football game at Hamilton. Parker will also receive the award, "at the most valuable player in the Western Interprovincial Football Union," from Lt.-Col. V. Roger Bolduc, deputy commander of the Immediate Delivery

Ring Magazine Gives 'Spider' Monthly Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Spider Webb's knockout victory over Jerry Giardello earned the Chicago middleweight contender "fighter of the month" honors in Ring magazine's latest monthly ratings.

In addition, the fancy boxer-puncher was boosted to third rank from fifth in the standings of the 160-pound division. Giardello was dropped to fifth from third.

There were no changes in the heavyweight and light - heavyweight rankings. Yvon Durelle of Belle Ste. Anne, N.B., who meets champ Archie Moore in Montreal Dec. 10, remains No. 3 light-heavy and is the only Canadian in the rankings.

Among the welterweights, Cuba's Isaac Logart went from fourth to third in a swap of positions with Mexico's Gaspar Ortega.

On the Tracks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bonastar, owned by J. Graham Brown of Louisville, Ky., won chosen 1958 United States champion of the filly and mare division today by the selections board of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations.

Brown bought the five-year-old mare in 1954 for $25,500. He has picked up $245,448 in winnings since then.

RENT OLDER HORSE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Round Table was voted the champion older horse of 1958 by the Thoroughbred Racing Associations's board of selectors Wednesday in a nose finish with Bold Ruler. Round Table, the world's greatest money winning horse, was named champion in the four-year-old and up division by a single vote over the Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler.

Says Fiery Junior Manager 'On Thin Ice'

REGINA (CP) — Fiery manager Scotty Munro of Estevan Bruins, recently suspended for one year as coach of the club, is skating on thin ice in the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League, "Munro is just at the borderline this year," Lou Wilbers, secretary-manager of the SJHL, said Wednesday in a telephone interview from Saskatoon.

"If he continues to make the headlines as he has been doing he could be stopped from managing the Bruins."

Munro made news Tuesday by announcing that his wife, Rose, would coach the Estevan club in a game Tuesday night against stand. Answer Ernie McLean coached, but coach Paul Bozak of Melville claimed Munro was giving him signals from a broadcasting booth situated opposite the players' bench.

Estevan's coaching problem was solved Wednesday when Howie Milford, part - time defenceman with Saskatoon Quakers, was appointed as coach.

NO COMPLAINT

Wilbers said he has heard no official report on Tuesday night's game and that Bozak has not complained to him about Munro's conduct. But if Munro was helping coach the club it will probably be stopped.

Munro is in his second year at Estevan after long years pearly with Humboldt Indians. Always controversial, he was fined and suspended last year for abusing officials.

"He has aroused our indignation numerous times," Wilbers said.

This year's offence, striking a referee in the face, is the most serious yet, Wilbers added.

Skins' Quarter May Quit Pro Football

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eddie LeBaron, 28, Washington Redskins' quirk of a quarterback, is giving serious thought to quitting pro football after another season. He says his wife don't bet on it.

LeBaron, smallest competitor in the National Football League at five-feet-seven and 161 pounds, has said right along he probably will retire for a law career in 1960. He went to the Redskins after playing in 1954 for Calgary Stampeders.

Coach Preston Marshall, Redskin president and a LeBaron admirer, said today he knew no more than the rest he follow planned to play next year.

LeBaron receives his law degree from George Washington University next June. He has opportunities to join firms here, in New York and on the west coast.

Tim McCoy, Western Star, Finds New Field in Circus

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I know it could do pictures again, but I also know I could never convince the producers of that. So I've found another field for myself—the circus."

This was the realistic view of Tim McCoy, Hollywood's only authentic Western star. He's a real colonel, but not the Kentucky kind. Before coming to Hollywood in 1922 he actively served in the west with the U.S. cavalry.

McCoy is 67, looks 40, and could outdraw and outride most of the younger performers on the TV range.

Tim was one of MGM's brightest stars (one of his leading ladies was Joan Crawford) later made western series for Columbia and Monogram.

"I walked out of Monogram to go into the army during the war," he said. "When I came back, everyone had forgotten me. So I decided I wasn't going to fight them. So I got a place in Bucks County, Pa., and decided I would retire."

It turned out otherwise. He met and married Inga Arvard, then a magazine beauty editor and once a Hollywood correspondent. When they had the first of their two sons, Tim decided to come back to Hollywood and brave the new adventure of television.

He made a rousing success of a local show in which he demonstrated his vast knowledge of western lore. He even won an Emmy from the Television Academy.

"That was the kiss of death,"

he sighed. "Three months later, I was without a sponsor."

Then came an offer to go with the Carson-Barnes circus. Tim had toured three years with the Ringling Brothers - Barnum and Bailey outfit but didn't think he wanted to go back under the big top. His wife persuaded him to give it a try.

"And I've had the time of my life," he said.

Tim makes a grand entrance on a white palomino, dismounts to execute a 12-foot somersault, is hit out of the air with a shotgun and performs other crowd pleasers. During the summer months, Inga and the two boys join him. You can imagine how a 10- and 12-year-old like travelling with a circus.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARLER, Sports Editor

Careful rebuilding in the right spots and the proper attitude on the part of all players will bring about a Belleville and Canada victory in the forthcoming world hockey tournament at Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Adding to his interview predictions, with this department yesterday, Wren Blair, manager of the world champion Whitby Dunlops, said the reason for the Belleville McFarlands present league second-place showing is that a lot of the players who helped win the Allan Cup are not taking their responsibilities for world honors seriously enough. They are taking too much for granted.

"I am not criticizing the Macs. I want to help them because Manager Drury Denyes and Coach Ike Hildebrand are close friends of mine and I would not want them to say, If they are defeated overseas, 'Blair could have told us this and that.'"

"Besides," the dynamic manager added: "the Macs are my second love in the Eastern Ontario senior "A" league. They have followed my Dunlops all the way. First, the group title, then the Allan Cup, and now they face the strongest challenge in world hockey."

Stating he had a lot to do with the first Belleville senior "A" club, Blair said, "What should I not want the Macs to win. I want that if only for the fact I am a down-to-earth Canadian."

"The McFarlands," Blair said, "are as good as any senior team in the province today, but under the circumstances this is not good enough, nor are they good enough yet for world tourneys. They must forget so-called league problems and concentrate on the bigger thing."

The Dunlops, he said, after given last-minute additions were far beyond Allan Cup calibre. Veteran hockey men said they were as good when they left as any American Hockey League club.

"Look at what happened in Russia in that final game. I stood on a bench with three minutes to go and the score tied 2-2. One shot could have ruined all my hopes and sent Canada's dream down the drain. I was scared as anything, but confident."

Blair warned the McFarlands to pay no attention to what happened during the Kelowna tour in relationship to what lies ahead. "I believe the Russians played possum with the Packers like they did with us before they met the Dunlops in the final game.

"It is the tension idea of psychological warfare. I believe the Kelowna tour, and this with all deference to Jack O'Reilly and his Packers, was part of the plan to lull the Canadian world tourney club into a sense of false security. But O'Reilly was not alone in this. He said Belleville would have to be plenty good to beat Russia."

But the Packers did not meet the Russian national team in their five-game jaunt, Blair said. "There is a twelve-team league in Moscow with two or three national players on each club. The only team the Packers defeated decisively was a junior club."

"Then the Russians came out loud in their praise of the Canadian play and players. This was said mainly for the benefit of Belleville to lull them again into a sense of false security. They knew it took the Macs seven games to defeat the Packers.

"It was their psychological strategy," he said, "to lose two games, win one and tie one, then drop the fifth game by a 5 to 1 score. It would sound good to Canada, Canadians, and especially the McFarlands.

"And do not forget," the Whitby manager added grimly, "all these games were played in enclosed arenas, something to which the Kelowna were accustomed. The McFarlands will play in snowy, stormy, outdoor rinks, which gives the Russ a 25 per cent advantage right off the bat."

Blair said Jean Paul Lamirande, who was signed by the McFarlands a couple of nights ago, will help the Canadian champions a lot. Basically he is a skater who stays out of the penalty box and is well adapted to international rules.

"I believe the McFarlands have what they have not shown yet, the potential to win the world title with the addition of Lamirande and perhaps two more players. They have got to forget they won the Allan Cup and fighting the team that was good enough to do that is good enough to win at Prague. It is not a problem of Coach Ike Hildebrand and Manager Drury Denyes.

The problem lies with the players of proven ability who need to be shaken out of their lethargy and brought to realize the seriousness of their responsibility if they are to bring home the world championship bacon, Blair said.

Pete Babando Fires Winner As Dunnies Shade Merchants

KINGSTON (CP) — Pete Babando found a new line spot to his liking Wednesday night and fired the winning goal as Whitby Dunlops edged Kingston Merchants 4-3 in their Ontario Hockey Association Eastern Senior A game.

The veteran winger, also got an assist as he filled in for Fred Eicher on the world champions' No. 1 line. Eicher has a knee injury.

The first-place Dunlops have 30 points, three times the total of the Merchants who are in last place.

Babando's helped his linemates add to their points in the scoring race. George Samolenko scored twice and playing-coach Sid Smith added the fourth to keep his league lead in goals with 17 in 19 games.

Whitby's Bob Attersley, the leading scorer, picked up two assists to make his total 25.

Ted Toppazzini went the length of the rink to count for Kingston in the second period when Whitby was leading 3-0. Playing-coach Bus Gagnon and defenceman Red Olsen scored in the third. Thorold outplayed, Whitby held on in the final minutes with long John Henderson making great saves.

Sullivan Sparkles for Blues In 4-2 Win Over Chihawks; Bathgate Garners Two Points

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Led by captain George (Red) Sullivan, the sparkling that fires their hockey machine, New York Rangers have climbed another rung in the National Hockey League standings.

Sullivan, now in his second season as Ranger captain, scored a third-period goal that broke the back of a Chicago Black Hawks rally Wednesday night and gave New York a 4-2 win that moved them into a third-place tie with Detroit.

The 28-year-old Sullivan got the goal that crushed Chicago hopes at 17:59 of the third after Eddie Litzenberger and Earl Balfour had scored for Hix to cut the Ranger margin to 3-2.

ALSO AN ASSIST

He also collected an assist, his 15th this season, on the first Ranger goal, scored by Andy Hebenton in the first period on a 25-foot shot while Pierre Pilote was sitting out the Hawks' only penalty.

In the second, Larry Popein and Jim Bartlett knotted the score to 3-0.

In the third, Hawks really turned on the pressure, and things looked bleak for the slim crowd of 6,000 at Madison Square Gardens before Sullivan came through.

Sullivan came to Rangers from Chicago three years ago. He had two good seasons with the Hawks after having matured as a playmaker while bouncing back and forth between Boston Bruins and the AHL's Hershey Bears.

THREE THEN TWO

The slim, 160 - pound Peterborough native has gained recognition as the burning spirit of the Rangers, a fact pointed up by their miserable showing in the NHL semi-finals last season after they lost Sullivan in the first game.

Andy Bathgate, Rangers' right-wing ace, up both Popein's and Bartlett's goals for his 16th and 17th assists and now has a total of 34 points. Camille Henry also collected two assists.

Press Names All-America Football Team

By TED SMITH

NEW YORK (AP) — Randy Duncan of Iowa, the 1958 No. 1 draft choice of U.S. professional football, heads the backfield of the Associated Press all-America team announced today.

Teamed with him are Pete Dawkins of Army's undefeated team; Billy Cannon of Louisiana State, the top-ranked ball-toter in the country, and Bill Austin of Rutgers.

First team ends are James Houston of Ohio State and Buddy Dial of Rice. At the tackle slot Bob Strom, the key man of the surprising Duke team, is teamed with Ted Bates of Oregon State. Zeke Smith of Auburn and George Diederich of Vanderbilt are the guards, and Bob Harrison of Oklahoma is at center.

The Associated Press all-America squad is selected on the basis of the recommendations of 12 sectional boards composed of newspaper men and newscasters.

SECOND TEAM

The second team is composed of Carroll Dale of Virginia Tech and Monte Stickles of Notre Dame at ends, Ron Luciano of Syracuse and Don Floyd of Texas Christian at tackle; Jerry Stalcup of Wisconsin and John Guzik of Pitt at guard; Jackie Burkett of Auburn at center, and Don Meredith of Southern Methodist. Dick Bass of the College of the Pacific, Jim Swink of Texas Christian and Bob White of Ohio State in the backfield.

Duncan, who led the Big Ten in passing with 66 completions in 144 tries for 898 yards and a .595 percentage, is called by his coach, Forest Evashevski, "by far the best passer I have ever coached." He was drafted by Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Draft, Bonus Payments Face Major Leagues' Bosses Today

By JACK HAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — The major leagues were to take up many problems today, running from the unrestricted draft and huge bonus payments to expansion.

The minors were to formally close their convention. They completed their heavy work Wednesday.

Their most important action was passage of a watered-down version of the unrestricted draft, a compromise proposal by the Los Angeles Dodgers' farm at St. Paul of the American Association.

Beaten 10 to 14 was a New York Yankee-sponsored plan to reinstate the bonus rule that would radically restrict movement of players who get $5,000 or more for signing.

The Dodger-backed plan was adopted by a 20 to 4 vote, two more than needed.

MAJORS HAVE LAST SAY

Now the majors must decide whether they want to go along. The National League is said to be in favor and the American split. If it comes to a tie, commissioner Ford Frick would vote in favor.

Under the St. Paul plan any minor leaguer can be drafted at the end of his first year. However, it he is left in the minors and escapes USP-draft, he will not be eligible again until he has completed his normal draft period. This period varies from two to four years, depending on the classification of the league in which he plays.

As things stand now a minor leaguer must have four years experience before he can be drafted from a triple A or double A roster.

PLAN RESEARCH GROUP

The National League said it plans to set up a research bureau outside of baseball to probe the ramifications of baseball's future, including expansion and realignment. The bureau is to recommend a course of action.

An expansion committee that included Lou Perini of Milwaukee Braves, Bob Carpenter of Philadelphia Phillies and Phil Wrigley of Chicago Cubs reported after a five-month study that it couldn't cope with the many problems and suggested the research agency approach.

The National League renewed the contract of Warren Giles as its president for a five-year term running through 1963. Giles is said to get about $50,000 a year.

ELECTED BY WRITERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nell Maccari, sport writer for the Toronto Star, was elected to the board of directors of the National Association of Baseball Writers Wednesday. Cy Kritzer of the Buffalo Evening News was re-elected president.

Jack Kearns Says

Clean-Living Ageless Archie Should Whip 'Young Durelle'

MONTREAL (CP) — "Archie is a clean-living fellow who has a trouble keeping in shape. He doesn't drink or smoke and food and entertainment are his only vices, if you can call them that."

The author of those immortal words is none other, naturally, than Jack Kearns, the glib veteran manager of glib veteran world light - heavyweight boxing champion Archie Moore.

Kearns pointed to Archie's "clean-living" antics as one of a number of reasons while the champ should successfully defend his title here Dec. 10 against "young" Yvon Durelle, the British Empire and Canadian light-heavyweight titleholder from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B.

The contract came out Wednesday at the east - end 6?m where Archie and Yvon are training for their 15-round go.

THE WORDS FLOW

Archie, smiling, cut in on Kearns:

"I hear Durelle's a fisherman. I hope he doesn't get me with his hook."

"You mean you don't intend to take the bait," a newspaper man chimed in, trying to match Archie's word game.

"Oh, I may take the bait alright, but if he'll try to bring him downstream with me."

Archie said he's "never seen this Durelle fight, but I imagine that in my long career" (304 bouts) I have experienced an opponent with the same style." He heard Durelle has the same slugging style as Rocky Marciano, the retired world heavyweight king.

CLAIMS TO BE 48

The subject then changed to age and Archie scoffed at a claim that most athletes are over the hill when they pass 30. Archie claims to be 48.

"If a man's story in condition, there's no telling how long he can last. Some of the greatest athletes in the world have reached their peak long after 30."

There was not much comment from Durelle's corner. The 29-year-old Canadian, confident he will be crowned world champ next week, scaled 174½ after a workout.

Moore is the favorite, 13-5, but the betting odds are expected to narrow down before fight time.

TEST DRAW

BOMBAY, India (Reuters)— The first test match in a series of cricket games between India and the West Indies ended in a draw Wednesday. Stubborn batting by P. Roy, who made 90, and G. Ramchand, 67 not out, helped India clear of defeat.

A.A.U. Approves Program Designed To Assist Junior Canadians

By BOB TIDSBURY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A junior Olympic program designed to find and develop future Canadian Olympic competitors was approved Wednesday at the closing session here of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada annual meeting.

The plan, to involve athletes under 17 years, is aimed at mass participation in every sport. Begun for the next year at least it will involve only track and field.

It will enrol, train and stage competitions for midget, junior, intermediate and senior boys and girls. However, each athlete will be limited by his age in the number of events he may enter.

Cost of the program will be recovered from membership and sanction fees and donations from private individuals.

REPORTS ON GAMES

Jack Davies of Montreal, president of the British Empire Games committee, reported on Empire Games achievements by Canada's team at Cardiff, Wales.

"I don't know why people think our team did so poorly," he said. "We won 59 medals and 51.1 per cent of the team won a medal. Only one of our women athletes failed to get a medal and only three athletes finished out of the first six in their event.

"There was no one swimmer who failed to win a medal and I don't think the Canadian team or even the entry which won the original 1911 Empire Games, can boast a better all-round record."

Neil Farrell of Hamilton, national track and field manager, said "the value of using standards as a means of selecting Canada's team is a debatable one, although they may serve a useful purpose as a guide to the selection committee."

CHASTISE BOTH

The Empire Games committee chastised "a very few of the boys" on Canada's team who did not exhibit the deportment expected of a Canadian team representative.

Bob Osborne, team manager, said he recommended to the AAU national track and field committee and the British Empire Games committee that an eastern Canada.

He said the boy, not named this means no more than a Canadian track star be kept off Canadian publicity, would certainly make any Canadian team, but his actions at Cardiff revealed he was not mature enough to wear the stripe. The offence was not revealed.

The entire slate of officers, headed by president Jack Halstead of Hamilton, was re-elected and Windsor was named as the site of next year's meeting.

Pros Form International Rugby League

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sun says it has learned that Los Angeles professional football promoters have formed an international rugby league which will open in January and use pro football players.

Vancouver was being considered as an entry, the paper said, "together with England, Australia, New Zealand and France are to visit the Pacific Coast each year and play four games," the newspaper said.

"Clubs expected to comprise the American Rugby League are the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 'Gers of the National Football League, and Anaheim, Eagle Rock and Venice, all members of a California semi - pro league.

"Reports indicate there is tremendous interest in the Los Angeles area. The promoters expect to gross $100,000 the first year. Eight Canadian players already have been signed."

The Sun says there are rumors that the league is proposing to expand to Portland, and Los Angeles officials have made inquiries about Vancouver.

"The idea of a rugby league is successful the first year, chances are excellent that Vancouver will join the league."

Herb Capozzi, general manager of the British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football League, said he knew nothing about the report, but added that the team would "certainly have to consider an offer to join."

Capozzi said he will retain imports here all year, because there will be no trouble in year-round employment." Capozzi told the Sun, "The proposed game would include 13 players per team—against 15 on amateur rugby unless teams used would be similar to the game played in the United Kingdom's Rugby League.

The game was adopted for football teams, the North American players would presumably be learning a vastly different game, despite the main differences between rugby and football are the absence in rugby of downs, most of the protective equipment worn in North American football, and much of the tackling techniques.

In rugby, the ball is usually in continual motion, with players scoring through kicks or throws on the run, and the emphasis on speed.

Joe Cronin May Head American League

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joe Cronin, 52-year-old general manager of Boston Red Sox and a member of baseball's hall of fame, is the leading candidate to become new president of the American League.

Will Harridge, president for 28 years and a league employee for 47, resigned Wednesday with eight years to go on a contract calling for a $50,000 annual salary.

The 72-year - old executive is stepping down, as he put it, "to give the league the benefit of new thinking by a young man to handle the many problems facing baseball." Harridge will continue to serve until a successor is named. Cronin acknowledged interest in the job.

There were strong rumors that Cronin had the job and Bucky Harris would take over as Red Sox general manager. The league named a six-man screening committee to consider candidates and indicated the decision probably would be made in several weeks.

Among those mentioned prominently were Bill DeWitt, administrator of the majors' $500,000 minor league fund, Frank Lane, general manager of Cleveland Indians, and Earl Hilligan, public relations man for the league and Harridge's longtime assistant.

Find Bomb on 50-Yard Line Of Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A homemade time bomb was found Wednesday under the cheerleaders' platform on the 50-yard line at Memorial Coliseum.

Detectives said the cigar box device was professionally made. It was filled with high explosive of an undetermined type. It didn't go off because of a malfunction in the triggering device, police said.

Police said the bomb could have killed anyone within 50 feet had it exploded.

Eastern Senior A League Scoring Statistics

Whitby's Bob Attersley collected six points in his club's only two games this past week to open up a ten-point lead in the OHA Eastern Senior "A" scoring race. Attersley has 27 points on 14 goals and a loop-leading 13 assists. In the runner-up spot is teammate Sid Smith with 27, including the league's top goal mark of 16.

Five players, from Belleville and Kingston, are closing in on Smith. Bus Gagnon with 26 points and Moe Savard with 24, both of Kingston, are close on Smith's heels. Belleville's Ike Hildebrand with 25 and Paul Payette and Johnny McLellan are also gaining with 23 each. Belleville has five players in the top list, Whitby and Kingston three each and Hull one. Cornwall is not represented while Hull's Claude Richard dropped out of the circle despite his 14 goals. He has but five assists.

Long John Henderson of Whitby has the top goals-against average of 2.61 while the McFarlands' Gordie Bell leads in shutouts with a pair. Belleville's Johnny McLellan tops the loop in penalties with 54 minutes, one more than Al Dewsbury and Kingston's Vigor Gendron.

Says Canadians Had Edge Over Russians

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Gordon Juckes, second vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, says European hockey "sparkles" but Kitchener Packers came through in fine style during their recent overseas tour.

Juckes made the trip to Sweden and Russia with the Packers. Packers had two losses in their eight-game tour.

Juckes said Wednesday: "It is to the Packers' further credit that they set up such a record while travelling some 18,000 air miles in a very short period of time, while having to adjust to some 11 hours difference in time and while being housed and feted at every turn . . . .

He said when the chips were down the Canadians showed they "still have just a little bit of an edge in skilful, drive and finish."

"But that edge is very small today, indeed. Observers, including myself, expect European teams to be tough in all future international competitions."

Newfie Huntress Shoots the Bull, Moose, That Is

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)— A woman has local nimrods talking about the 1,200-pound bull moose she shot recently in the Millertown area of central Newfoundland.

A tourist bureau spokesman said Margaret Walsh's feat is outstanding among moose kills reported in the province this year.

FLU BOUT ENDS BOUTS

MILAN, Italy (AP) — The flu has knocked former bantamweight champion Mario D'Agata out of Italy and two possible fights in the United States. D'Agata's manager, American-born Steve Klaus, said his deaf-mute boxer has been ordered to bed for at least two weeks. Klaus said D'Agata was booked for a 10-rounder in Los Angeles against Joe Brecero for Dec. 18, and also had a tentative match with Leo Espinosa of the Philippines for San Francisco, Dec. 8.

Phillies Swap Sanford for Two Giants

WASHINGTON (AP) — San Francisco Giants Wednesday traded pitcher Ruben Gomez and catcher Valmy Thomas to Philadelphia Phillies for pitcher Jack Sanford.

It was a straight player deal with no money involved.

Gomez, Puerto Rican right-hander, had a 10-12 record with the Giants last season as compared with righthander Sanford's 13-11. Thomas, a battery mate of Gomez' with the Sanhzree club of the Puerto Rico winter league, batted .259 in 63 games.

Sanford, 29, broke in brilliantly with the Phillies in 1957, winning 19 while losing only eight to gain rookie-of-the-year honors. Gomez, 31, has been a brilliant pitcher at times. He got off to a good start last season but tailed off considerably and finished with mediocre 4.37 earned run average.

Sanford, too, enjoyed a sub-par season in 1958. His strikeout total fell off from a league leading 196 to 106 and his ERA figures soared from 3.08 to 4.45.

Leafs Lead With Punch For Pike

WINNIPEG (CP) — General manager George (Punch) Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs will meet coach Alf Pike of Winnipeg Warriors in Vancouver next week to talk about the possibility of Pike becoming coach of the Leafs.

The Warriors announced Wednesday night that the Leaf general manager called Pike Tuesday, but the Western Hockey League coach refused to negotiate for th job on the telephone. Pike will leave for the coast with the Warriors that are game here tonight. They will be in Spokane Saturday and Seattle Sunday and Imlach is expected to confer with Pike when the Warriors move into Vancouver Monday.

Imlach is expected to fly to Vancouver for the meeting.

Johnson Wins Over King

QUEBEC (CP)—Moe Mantha's goal at 5:48 of overtime Wednesday night gave Montreal Royals a 3-2 victory over Quebec Aces in a Quebec Hockey League game.

The win stretched the Royals' lead to four points over the second-place Aces.

Wants Job As Coach Of B C Lions

VANCOUVER (CP) — Abner Wimberley, assistant coach of Louisiana State Tigers, says he has "turned in an official application" for the job of coaching British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football League.

He said Tuesday night in a telephone interview from his home in Baton Rouge, La., that he would like to have Dan Edwards, Lions' personnel coach, as an assistant.

Wimberley was approached when Clem Crowe was dismissed as coach midway through the 1958 season, but couldn't get out of his contract at Louisiana State.

The former Green Bay Packers end said he is tied up for another month. LSU is scheduled to meet Clemson in the Sugar bowl game at New Orleans Jan. 1.

"I can't even think of anything until after the Sugar Bowl," he said. "But there would have to be a lot of things discussed with the Lions if I took the job, such as organization of recruiting and things like that."

Suggests Whitby, Hull Ottawa Form Canada Olympics Team

TORONTO (CP) — Wren Blair, manager of the world champion Whitby Dunlops of the Eastern OHA Senior A series suggests Whitby and Hull-Ottawa, as the same league, form an amalgamated team to represent Canada in the 1960 Olympics.

The suggestion was made following Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen's refusal of a similar proposal.

"An amalgamation of two clubs in the only answer to the Olympics setup which bans all forms of professionals," said Blair. "No club can do it alone, least of all the two Dutchmen."

Blair said the amalgamation proposal probably would be put before the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for consideration if it receives a favorable reception by hockey officials.

Hull - Ottawa's manager, Sam Pollock, expressed interest in the scheme.

Earlier Blair took a whack at Canada's entry in the world hockey championships, which don't allow reinstated pros. This year's representative is Belleville McFarlands, currently in second place in the league behind Whitby.

He said last year's Allan Cup champion McFarlands should pay no attention to the recent Russian victory in their 5-3 win.

Russia was probably playing possum by losing to the Soviet Five exhibition games to Packers he said.

It is the Russian idea of psychological warfare. I believe the Packers have, with all deference to Jack Reilly and his Packers, was part of the plan to lull the Canadian hockey tournament club into a false sense of security."

Yesterday's Stars

George Sullivan, New York Rangers' rookie centre, had one final goal and assisted on another as Rangers downed Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 in the only NHL game played Wednesday night.

Quebec Hockey

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Johnson, No. 2 light heavyweight contender, piled up points Wednesday night with a savage attack to take a unanimous 10-round decision over Howard King of Reno.

Johnson gained his eighth straight victory in as many fights in the last three years by a lopsided margin. But his company was distinctly showed, and not once could he land a shaking right on his gaugling opponent.

In the infrequent flurries, however, the Philadelphian came out ahead as he dug rights and lefts to King's midsection.

King outweighed Johnson 183 pounds to 180.

"FELT TIRED FROM THE TIME I GOT UP IN THE MORNING"

Stomach Upset by Indigestion, Gas, Sour Acidity, Nagging Backache, Headaches, Nerves all on Edge. Tells of Relief by Taking Syntona.

"I was feeling miserable for a long time and it wonderful what good results I got by taking Syntona Herbal Compound" said Mrs. Minnie McCall, 279 Greenwich St., Brantford, Ont., in a recent report.

Lived Mostly on Liquids

"My stomach was so upset that I could hardly eat any solid food. I suffered from awful gas, sour acid raising and heartburn. I would get a full heavy bloated feeling, dark stomach and nausea. I was subject to throbbing headaches, had a nagging pain across my back and felt nervous and worn out. Many nights I couldn't get any proper sleep and would get up mornings feeling as though I hadn't slept at all.

"As I had tried so many things without getting relief, I was hesitant when I read about Syntona, but decided to give it a trial. I was surprised how quickly I began to feel better. I noticed that my food was digesting in me, so, encouraged, I kept on taking it and now it's wonderful how I can eat anything I like and enjoy it. Headache are relieved, I am able to get a good night's sleep, all that gas, heartburn and sourness gone. Also my nerves are calmed down, so I sleep ever so much better and I have more pep and ambition now to do my work."

Syntona has brought similar relief to thousands of men and women in this district. If you suffer as they did, this wonderful Canadian herb tonic may help you. It is pleasant to take and results are quickly felt.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

Thieves Steal Swimming Pools

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — Thieves broke into a warehouse of the Lancer Pools Corporation here Monday night and stole 21,000 one-piece fiberglass swimming pools. They weighed 900 pounds apiece. The weather outside at the time was in the low 30s.

Carmel

CARMEL — The community is enjoying a splendid fall season and hope for a white Christmas, Santa Claus parade, is to be in town on Saturday next.

Church service on Sunday was well attended in spite of snow and cooler weather which hindered some.

Rose Mary Hopkins is spending the week at Picton with her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kingston, Belleville, spent Sunday evening with Mrs. S. Dafoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lawrason and family spent Sunday evening at C. L. Dafoe's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ingram, Mrs. Vaughn, London and Mrs. Henry Ingram, all from Cold Hill, spent the lunch hour with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Anna Wilmore. They all also attended the funeral of Mr. Irvin Ingram, of Belleville.

On Wednesday evening Miss Marilyn Wilmore, Corbyville, Mr. Donald Lee Vance and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vance, Shannonville, attended the Shur-Gain banquet, at Havelock

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Vader spent last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Wilmore.

Mrs. Zella Hoosenan is spending a few days visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Pitman were callers at the home of Mrs. Rose Rowswell, Sunday afternoon.

All are enjoying with Mr. Harvey Homan his coming trip across the ocean to other countries. He is a man of eighty months' experience, which will mean much to Harvey. He will be missed at home and in the community. All wish him well.

FIGHT JUVENILES

EAST LONDON, South Africa (Reuters)—Many persons are injured in as African village near here Tuesday in continuing violence between African gangs and residents. The fights started when a gang of youths decided to deal with "tootsies," the African equivalent of juvenile delinquents. No Europeans were involved.

PLAN TO DO IT NOW

Shortage of Iron Ore Slows Red Plan to Outproduce U.S.

By GUSTAV STEVENSSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Iron is a key—and a formidable problem—in the Soviet master plan to outproduce the United States.

Where it once was available, iron ore now is scarce.

While the shortage is speeding Russia's approach to the age of the plastics, iron ore still occupies a dominant role in the seven-year plan.

Laying down the terms of this plan for Soviet industrial expansion, Premier Nikita Khrushchev rejected to the Communist party central committee that the iron industry—"especially its iron ore base"—ranked first among the tasks ahead.

KERENSKY'S DWINDLE

The iron content in the ores of Krivoi Rog in the Ukraine and of the Urals, once the backbone of Soviet heavy industry, has been dwindling steadily. Mining Journal, a periodical for the industry, says:

"The quality of (Krivoi Rog) ores poses an acute problem, since the iron content of commercial ore has dropped from 60.3 per cent in 1935 to 55.3 per cent in 1955."

The government has conducted a campaign for stepped-up collection on a scale unparalleled since the war.

NEW DEPOSITS FOUND

Prospecting recently turned up huge new iron ore deposits in the Kursk area of central Russia, in Siberia and in Kazakhstan. But most of the new deposits in European Russia are difficult to exploit. Much of the Kursk ore must be hauled from beneath a watery layer as much as 400 feet down, requiring enormous drainage operations.

Soviet planners apparently feel they must take advantage of the new deposits in Siberia and Kazakhstan, suitable to fast open pit mining, even though far from industry centres of European Russia.

Under the seven-year plan, new deposits will form the base for large industrial combines in an eastern Soviet industrial area. The plan earmarks 40 per cent of its total investment for development of those areas, where Iron will play a leading role in the effort to bring the plan to fruition.

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE — Mr. and Mrs. Ken Acker have been the guests for the past week of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rubble were also Friday night tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer.

The first fall of snow which fell on Monday makes one think Old Man Winter is arriving rather early.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Langabeer and daughters, Marilyn and Gail; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rowswell and Duncan, were Monday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris.

Mrs. Cecil Sise and family moved to their new home on Fort Motra St., Belleville, on Saturday. They will be greatly missed in the community.

Owing to anniversary services at the Stone United appointment, there was no service at Wallbridge on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Ketchison called on the latter's mother, Mrs. Kemp, who is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

TO EXHIBIT IN RUSSIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has earmarked $1,298,000 for a six-week national exhibition in Moscow tentatively scheduled to start next July 4. The exhibit will be the first major one ever held in Russia under U.S. government auspices.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, December 5th, 1958.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) A splendid day for coming to better understanding with all whom you feel are vital associates in any sphere of your active life. Discuss ideas, plans, practical operations thoroughly, yet pinpointing them wisely. Don't neglect civic affairs.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Spend this day intelligently putting your working quarters in more efficient order as you discuss way and means of working more efficiently and happily with fellow workers. Get benefit of their down-to-earth ideas. P.M. rest and neatness is vital.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Let your airy nature be expressed most effectively through cheering items today, the proper grooming. Then oil to a delightful social and sport whirl. Get your fine talents before vital persons, too. Capture that elusive joie de vivre.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Give your specific attention to vital matters concerning home and family, finances and investments today. Show real love and regard for closest ties. Begin a definite uptrend in all important spheres of endeavor.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Perfect day for shopping, visiting and being good to others so that they really appreciate you. Later is fine for constructive study and gathering important information. Read your paper for good ideas, too. Grow.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) You are overly careful of detail at times, but today you must concentrate on making those additions and eliminating those flaws that will get the approval of others and streamline your daily habits.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) A rare day for thinking of self almost exclusively, your wardrobe, personal needs, desires, etc. Groom yourself beautifully, then off to see the people who can help you materially—and make your life less tedsome.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) A good day for utilizing your powers of detection and investigating what puzzles you. But be very secretive about this. Then satisfied, you can plan your future operations more wisely.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) Good pals are cognizant of the best methods to use in order to achieve earlier and greater success, so follow their advice today and accept support they give. Also, meet new and interesting personalities.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A fine day for increasing abundance and raising prestige through the influence of important people. Call upon them and be courteous, respectful and honest. Follow ideas given you to the letter. Put your finest abilities across.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) How is the day to acquire that data that is so vital to your early progress and which has eluded you for some time. Also, be sure to meet and make important contacts as many as possible. Set your goals and head straight for them.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) A delightful day in which your loved one shows increased affection and devotion, and those in authority will also come through with splendid co-operation, as well as financiers and business moguls. Play your hunches. Expand.

If your child is born today . . . The child born today will have a wonderful combination of rare ability and drive yet be gentle and almost helpless when such qualities are best utilized. An excellent chart for political professions or the all-important ecclesiastic work requiring humane understanding and infinite love. Ambition here is tremendous, as well as inherent faith. Do your best to send your child to college.

East German Red Threatens Move Against Airlines

Say Planes Lack Right To Fly to West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The threat of Communist interference mounted today against American, British and French airliners shuttling in and out of isolated West Berlin.

One of East Germany's leading Communists, politburo member Hermann Matern, told a West Berlin election rally Thursday night that the airlines — Pan American, Air France and British European Airways—have no legal right to fly over East German territory.

The situation must be brought in order," he said. He did not say what action the Communists have in mind.

ADENAUER'S VIEW

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who addressed an election rally in another part of West Berlin, said the Western powers would hold the Russians responsible for keeping open all routes to Berlin, including the air corridors.

Matern told the rally of 3,500 Communists and their behind a police line in the heart of West Berlin, that the Communists "will make giant profits" on their business with Berlin and "I know of no agreement which legally supports these fears."

This was the latest speckle attack on the Western airlines.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's threat to hand over Soviet occupation controls in Berlin to the East German state has caused the East Germans have declared that the West must bend knee to negotiate with them for access to the city.

AIRLIFT CONTINUED

During the blockade of 1948-49 the Russians closed down the West's road, rail and water links but did not interfere with the airlift that broke the blockade.

One reason the Communists would like to control airline operations in Berlin is they are a bridge to the West for about 19,000 East German refugees who pour into West Berlin every month.

Pawed by Dog, Regains Sight

BRUSSELS (AP)—Mrs. Marie Therese Merveille, who had been totally blind for many years, has recovered partial vision after being pawed in the eye by her guide dog.

The 34-year-old woman said the dog was trying to get her out of sofa. He jumped when the doorbell rang and his paw landed in her eye.

"It hurt terribly," she said. "Then later I realized I could see shapes and colors."

Doctors said her restored vision might not last long.

Bicroft Miner Loses Foot in Explosion

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A Hungarian - born miner, Laszlo Szegedi of Bicroft Township, had his left foot blown off when a shot of dynamite exploded while he was working underground at Bicroft Uranium Mines, a hospital spokesman said today.

Tomori was brought to hospital in Peterborough where the remainder of the limbb was amputated above the ankle. He is reported in "fairly good" condition today.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Cooler air is gradually moving southeast across the Great Lakes this morning and snow squall activity which has developed over the Georgian Bay has ended and threat of the cold air mass.

This latest storm is expected to spread south of the lakes today bringing snow to areas just south of lakes Erie and Ontario, but causing a minimum of effect in Southern Ontario. There will however be snowflurries, particularly in the snow belt adjoining Lake Huron and Georgian Bay. Much cooler air will flood south of the lakes behind the storm and Saturday shapes up as a cool day in all areas.

OTHER PROVINCES WATCH APPEAL ON JUDGE'S RULING

Careless Driving Law in Dispute

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ontario announced Thursday it will fight in the courts to restore the good name of its careless driving law.

At least two other provinces—Alberta and Saskatchewan—will be keenly interested in how the validation campaign works out. Their careless driving legislation is roughly the same although it hasn't yet been challenged.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court precipitated the consternation Wednesday when he ruled the careless driving section of the Ontario Highway Traffic Act is invalid because it invades a field of criminal law open only to federal legislation.

STRONGER PENALTY

He said such cases should be prosecuted under the criminal negligence section of the federal criminal code. But to carry that out "would have to be a rather much more evidence. And the penalty would be much more substantial" if convicted.

Attorney-General Kelso Roberts announced Thursday the province would seek leave to appeal Chief Justice McRuer's finding next week. The government case will be argued by Hugh Bowman, director of public prosecutions.

Mr. Roberts said he felt "confident our provincial legislation will stand up."

A spokesman for the Alberta attorney - general's department said he was waiting for a copy of the McRuer ruling. Its import was elicited Wednesday by the fact the Alberta and Ontario laws were almost identical.

Regina Magistrate S. L. Elliott said it looked as though the Saskatchewan law also could be challenged. Attorney-General Walker said he preferred to wait until he received a copy of the McRuer finding. Attorney - General Lyon of Ottawa withheld comment aside from saying he didn't think the careless driving sections of the Manitoba and Ontario acts could be compared.

Keep Wary Eye on Mercury As Ships Push Through Canals

MONTREAL (CP) — Canal officials and ship captains kept a wary eye on a chilling mercury today as they continued the arduous task of bringing freighters through the ice-clogged Lachine and Soulanges canals.

The latter canal, which had become desperate during a cold snap earlier this week, improved Thursday with milder temperatures and worsened overnight as fellow-freezing weather moved in.

Canal officials were quietly confident they would get all ocean - bound freighters cleared before the mercury dropped to zero Saturday, though it will likely mean working past the official closing date Saturday.

Twenty-one ships waited Thursday night at the western entrance to Lachine Canal when weary canal men finally called it a day. More were expected to join the queue by morning after sailing through the Soulanges canals on their way down from the Great Lakes.

Many of them are ships which normally spend the winter plying ocean routes but were diverted to Montreal's ice-bound harbor when it became a serious loss of revenue.

But J. A. Crichton, of the Shipping Federation of Canada, said ice conditions are not much worse than usual at this time of year "it is not critical at any rate."

Canal superintendent Leo Lemaire said five men on each lock on the Lachine Canal instead of the normal complement of two. Three more canalmen were kept busy breaking up ice. It is a cold, raw battle.

Normally a ship can go through a lock in less than one-half hour. But the ice chokes them for one to four hours.

For example, the H. L. Wyatt, 250-foot freighter from Port Colborne, entered the lock chamber at 10:30 a.m. EST Thursday shoving an ice pan in front of its bow — nose down. The ice was jammed into a jagged mass against the lock gates.

The ice groaned, cracked and reformed as the water level in the lock chamber was lowered, jamming the gates and stalling the machinery used to draw the gates open.

The freighter—a 253-foot "canaller" that just fits with inches to spare into the lock chamber—dropped its anchor in the lock to keep itself in the cake. Still the lock gates refused to open.

Then from the ship's winch was finally used to help pull the gate open, the steamer and lock crew shoved the ice through the widening gap in the gate. Three hours after the H. Wyatt entered the lock—it was able to leave.

"We entered the Lachine last Monday," shouted Capt. Robert Holland, 47, of Carlisle, England, from the wheelhouse. "It's been a long time. We've taken to go through ice."

UN BODY FAVORS 3-POWER PARLEY ON CYPRUS ISSUE

Assembly Rejection Of Plan Anticipated

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The United Nations political committee ignored Greek objections and yesterday Thursday night for a second time overwhelmingly took a decision in strife-torn Cyprus.

The vote was 51 in favor with 22 abstentions. The narrow margin pointed to a rejection of the proposal when it comes before the General Assembly.

It also is extremely doubtful whether Greece would take part in the proposed conference of Britain, Turkey and Greece on Cyprus' future.

Britain rather reluctantly went along in the political committee with the three-power conference idea. The British government has been that's a long-term plan being worked out by Britain, Greece and Turkey. It is the interests of the Greek majority and the Turkish minority and at the same time preserve Cyprus as a British and NATO defence base in the eastern end of the Middle East.

CANADA SILENT

Canada did not participate in the debate.

Turkey seconded to the plan but Greece maintained silence. It has put its efforts into canvassing for support for a debate in the assembly. Greece is speaking here in the interests of the Greek Cypriot people. Turkey has come to the aid of Britain for complete independence on the island.

The strife has resulted in scores of deaths in the last three years. The battles have been with Greek extremists, the Turkish separatists and the British authorities.

The Greeks want either independence for Cyprus with Athens, the Turks oppose both proposals, saying that any independent Cyprus would leave them an oppressed minority. Britain has favored the three-power case on the grounds that only continued British rule can prevent the minority group until some long-term solution is achieved.

Despite Laws Many Residents Will Find Bottle Under the Tree

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

No two provinces in Canada have the same approach to liquor control but five are agreed on one point: Bottles gifts at Christmas.

A Canadian Press survey shows that from Saskatchewan, Ontario, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland there are no restrictions on gifts of liquor.

Among the four other provinces with similar laws, Newfoundland has a handy rule of thumb: whether a bottle has been purchased by the possessor or received as a gift, it must bear the permit number of the bottle.

Alberta, New Brunswick and British Columbia have restrictions—the province with Canada's most liberal liquor laws.

Permissible gifts of liquor in Manitoba's situation is complicated by the fact that public dispensaries are permitted, but in Ontario and other provinces, gifts of breweries, distilleries and wineries are not allowed. In addition, Manitoba's liquor control government commission employee is classed as bribery and is punishable.

In all the provinces where gifts of liquor are permitted, the donor must have obtained it lawfully. Bootleg or smuggled liquor, usually—and he must be of legal age and not on an interdict list.

But no matter where you live, you'll find a bottle of gift in small. Federal post office regulations forbid it.

Former Convict Kills Self After 10-Hour Siege

PRINEVILLE, Ore. (AP)—An ex-convict brushed aside pleas to surrender and killed himself today after a 10-hour siege that began when he briefly held six persons captive.

Stanley Robinson, 27, shot himself in the head as 14 policemen crunched across the frozen lawn minutes after midnight to pump tear gas into his house.

Minutes before, a psychologist who had gone into the house to persuade him to surrender emerged to tell Robinson to surrender walked out and said: "Well, boys, I think it's all over."

TRIED TO SERVE WARRANT

The siege began when state policeman Vern Boyer went to the house to serve a warrant on Robinson, released from the state prison Oct. 31.

Robinson, a Marine Corps veteran of the Korean War, then stepped through the screen door with a rifle.

"I thought I was a goner," Boyer said.

Boyer was kept, prisoner 30 minutes, while Robinson's former wife and their four children, whose ages ranged from 3 months to 11 months.

Then state police Sgt. Lowell Herlin persuaded Robinson to let his captives go unharmed.

SETTLE DOWN TO SIEGE

Police evacuated every nearby house and began a long vigil. The temperature sank to 5 degrees overall and Robinson came out onto the porch. Once he accepted cigarets from Herlin, who said: "He told me that he made up his mind that he wasn't going back to prison."

Robinson had been in the prison a year on a bad-cheque conviction. The new warrant police tried to serve also concerned bad cheques.

Diefenbaker Asks Co-operation in Handling Wheat

MELBOURNE (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker called today for Canadian-Australian co-operation in marketing wheat to prevent disruption of normal commercial markets.

Mr. Diefenbaker have so much wheat we don't know what to do with it," the Canadian leader told at a businessmen's luncheon in the major speech of his Australian visit.

It was necessary that "we take reasonable and practicable arrangements so that in selling our wheat we do not find ourselves nothing to interfere with commercial markets of other countries, including Australia.

During his recent visit to Geneva Diefenbaker said it was his intention to seek greater shipments of wheat and flour to Communist countries. Plan contributions in South and Southeast Asia, he said, Australia also has a wheat surplus—15,000,000 bushels to 18,000,000 bushels. Informants said today that in Thursday's Canberra talks Mr. Diefenbaker will ask cabinet s...ggested to Diefenbaker that the two countries cooperate in surplus-disposal programs.

The prime minister told this newspaper that the Commonwealth must take action to meet instability in the world economy and for primary products to ensure producers a reasonable profit. Canada already is a member of the international commodity agreements on sugar and tin.

"I believe the time will come when stability has been proved by now subject to world price fluctuations," he said.

Jilted Lover Shot Girl Friend, Her Father, Then Shot Herself

TORONTO (CP) — A jilted lover shot down his girl friend and her father today, phoned his mother about it and then turned the rifle on himself.

Ronnie Haslett, 26, died instantly as did his girl friend, Mrs. Barbara Ann Manning, 21. Her father, Howard S. Hutchison, 42, died two hours later in hospital.

Police said Haslett returned to the west-end King Street residence with a rifle half an hour after he had shot Mrs. Manning.

"If you won't take me back, then I'll kill you."

SEPARATED FROM HUSBAND

Mrs. Manning had been seeing Haslett since she became separated from her husband a year ago.

This was the latest execution of Haslett's attempts to persuade her to marry him. Mrs. Manning, when he left shortly before 1 a.m.

Then Mrs. Manning's father, came home from work and answered the door when Haslett arrived at 1:30 a.m. They argued and the father closed the front door.

SHOT THROUGH DOOR

Seconds later a bullet crashed through the glass, striking Mr. Hutchinson between the eyes. Haslett waited for the prostrate man climbing to stairs to a room where Mrs. Manning was hiding.

Another argument ensued, overheard by Barbar's cousin in the next room, Grant Lee, 24. Three shots were fired. One struck Mrs. Manning in the jaw and passed through her head.

Haslett next went to a telephone outside the bedroom. He dialed a number and said:

"Mother, this is me, I've just shot Barbara and her father and I'm going to shoot myself. Don't be mad at me. Stop crying and don't call the police."

FOUND IN BEDROOM

Haslett was found on the floor of the bedroom with a bullet hole in his head.

Mrs. Manning's mother was not home. She was sheltered in a bedroom on the third floor above.

Lee, the cousin in the room next to Miss Manning's said he was terrified to lay in bed for an hour before running into the street in his stocking feet to police.

Detectives found five spent cartridges and a .25-20 rifle. Among Haslett's belongings at his room were 15 unused cartridges.

The rifle and bullets were identified Killers are my Meat.

Special Group Named to Draft New Treaty

GENEVA (Reuters) — The East-West conference on banning nuclear tests ended today after it appointed a special group to draft a treaty, the first sign of substantial progress since the three powers started meeting here 35 days ago.

The group was to meet today. It is informed sources believed that the conference still faces the basic issue of whether Russia will accept an international control system of policing any East - West agreement on banning tests.

5 Kingston Children Forego Gifts So Near-Blind Grannie Can Visit

KINGSTON (CP)—Five district children are foregoing Christmas gifts so they can help to ll have decided the thing they want most for Christmas is a visit from their grandmother.

The five youngsters, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jones of Glenburnie, six miles northeast of Kingston, have learned that their grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hodgson of Bradford, Yorkshire, England, will be blind in a few months as a result of cataracts on her eyes. She has seen only two of the children.

Mrs. Jones, a war bride who came to Canada in 1946, has been working one day each week to

May Relocate Some Track at Niagara Falls

TORONTO (CP)—A three-man team of government experts is to go to the Niagara Falls area to examine the possibility of relocating some track of the New York Central Railway.

Niagara officials, plagued with about 40 level crossings in the area, appealed Thursday to the Ontario government for assistance.

After a one-hour conference with Premier Frost they met with officials of the planning department and J. D. Millar, deputy minister of public works.

Mr. Millar said representatives of the Ontario Hydro - Electric Power Commission, the highways department and Niagara Parks Commission will visit the area for a survey and talks with local officials.

The experts would "go over details" in a plan to move the rail line around a broad bend at Niagara Falls.

Thomas Russell, consultant to Planning Minister Nickle, said the experts would also "determine what studies are necessary and who should share in the cost of relocation."

The delegation comprised Niagara Falls Mayor Gurney W. Dunn, Alderman George Martin of Niagara Falls, W. B. Gunning of Niagara Falls Chamber of Commerce, Stamford Township engineer Conrad Eist and A. B. Robertson of Niagara Falls.

Posy for Daddy Killed Year Ago In Train Wreck

LONDON (AP)—A little girl walked out of the swirling fog on a railway station platform Saturday. She strolled along through the mist and a year ago was a mess of tangled wreckage when three crowded trains piled into each other.

The little girl wandered into the station with her daddy a year ago. A year before that room had been used as a morgue for some of the 90 people killed in the crash.

The tiny figure stood there for a moment, then disappeared. Then she turned, walked out of the station and climbed into the fog.

The ticket collector said he never saw her before.

But at 5:30 p.m., the time of the crash the year before, the station staff found a small posy of purple forget-me-nots on the bare wood table of the deserted waiting room.

A black-bordered card said simply:

"Dear Daddy, I miss you very much. Love, Christine."

TWO ACCIDENTS IN PLAINFIELD AREA

Separate accidents on No. 37 Highway in the Plainfield area were reported by Provincial Police this morning.

One mishap at O'Brien's Bridge saw a car driven by Rita Palmer of Roslin crash into the bridge. Property damage was considerable, while at least one of the occupants was also treated at the hospital.

In the other mishap a big gasoline truck slid off the highway and went into the swamp. The driver escaped injured, and the truck was not damaged.

New Post Office Will Be Built At Marmora

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A contract to build a new post office in Marmora, 38 miles east of here, has been awarded to Colt Contracting Company Limited, Scarborough, for $28,251.

The federal works department said the company submitted the lowest bid. Completion date is June, 1959.

Mining Grants Could Cost North Municipalities More Money Then They Receive

Government mining grants such as received by some northern municipalities can result in those municipalities paying out more money than they receive, it was noted in Hastings county council yesterday.

The discussion arose after county assessor Cecil Geen advised that the amount of such grants could be deducted from assessment and in turn the municipality pay a portion back to the county to share according to its equalized assessment.

This was questioned by Reeve John Horsepool of Faraday township, who said if this was done it would mean that his municipality would pay out more than it received in mining grants by way of increased county payments and in high school taxes.

Reeve J. N. Brown admitted that the act seemed difficult to understand and if other instances appeared unworkable. He agreed that some of this grant money should come back to the county, but said something was wrong if it took more money than was to be paid out than was received.

County Assessor Geen agreed that in the case of Faraday the increased county payment and added high school assessment would mean more money would be paid out. "The reason for this, however, is that last year's mining grant had been used to reduce this year's mill-rate and the formula used for converting mining grants into assessment took into consideration the year's millrate," he said.

GIVEN FOR ASSISTANCE

It was noted that the mining grants were given to municipalities where mining developments was taking place. Mine buildings and machinery used for taking out ore were exempt from taxation and the mining grants were given to assist the municipalities.

The county assessor was authorized to have the mining grants and their application to county equalized assessment fully explained by government officials.

Thursday's session of council also saw the reading of the public library report by Reeve James V. Holt. He noted 13,000 paperback booklets had been printed and had proved so popular that they had to be rationed at the various distribution centres.

He stressed the importance of publicity in bringing tourists to the area, noting that in some municipalities the ratio of vacation and resort assessment was very high.

He recommended action by council on purchase of a seven-acre lookout property in the Hermon area and also development of a section of the shoreline at Moira Lake as a swimming area which he said the Marmora Rotary Club was prepared to supervise.

No action was taken by council on either project although a recommendation to have the old county road property at Moira Lake revert to Huntingdon township was scheduled for discussion later in the session.

Reeve Elmer Wilson of Huntingdon said cottage owners in the Moira Lake area would object to the sale of a public beach.

INFRACTION BY-LAW

County councillors learned there has been an infraction of their tree cutting by-law the instance occurring this fall in the 7th concession of Sidney where a Campbellford man had cut down about 50 trees contrary to the by-law.

County tree commissioners Clarence H. Graham and Leslie McLaren reported that apparently the operator had carried on without the operator being aware of the country tree cutting by-law.

Council moved that "appropriate action" be taken in the matter.

Reeve James Taylor, new district forester for the Tweed district, and James Keenan, forest manager, attended the council on the department forestry program noting what was being done to encourage proper conservation.

Mr. Taylor noted that healthy forests were the basis of good economy. Their program covered proper land use planning whether it be for "trees, cereal grain crops or huckleberries."

Mr. Keenan in his detail on timber management noting that their program was aimed at sustained yield which in turn meant keeping on the ground at least the annual growth.

Timber conservation was important as at least 100 persons in Tweed forestry district obtain at least part of their living from the forests.

He said that his department was ready at any time to assist private owners in proper timber operations and that woodlot trees for cutting is so desired.

Introduced at the Thursday session were the two representatives who will take seats in council next year. They were Reeve elect Carl Whittemore of Deloro who is succeeding Charles Bunkard who retires from municipal life, and Deputy Reeve Gerald Irvine of Sidney township.

Unitarians Will Hear Talk on Indian Religion

Unitarians of the Quinte district are embarking on a special series of programs during the remainder of the fall and continuing into the spring of next year entitled "Other People's Religions."

Special guest speaker for the first in this series will be Orville S. Mathews of Belleville. The subject of his address will be "The Challenge to Christianity in India."

Mr. Matthews is eminently qualified to talk on this topic since he was born in India. He received his B.A. from the University of Calcutta and B.Ed. from University of Bombay. Lahoratia of Theology of Bangalore. He has an extensive background of teaching both in India and Canada and is at present teaching mathematics at Quinte Secondary School.

The public will be invited to this special meeting to be held in the Belleville Public Library, Belleville at 8 p.m. Sunday December 7.

Islam, Hinduism, and the caste system will feature prominently in the address and the informal discussion which will follow during the coffee hour.

Since the basic principle of Unitarianism is the individual freedom of belief it is clear that Unitarians hold in unity of spirit a variety of convictions. They believe a knowledge of other people's religion helps to enrich and broaden the character.

Free Skating For Students Will Resume

Free skating sessions for public and separate school pupils, sponsored by the Belleville Recreation Committee, will be resumed at the Memorial Arena, Dec. 8th.

Free skating sessions will be held each Monday and Wednesday afternoon from 4.00 to 5.30 p.m. through the months of December, January and February, except during Christmas school holidays.

Free skating for public and separate school students was started a few years ago by the Recreation Committee, because the winter months are usually impracticable to maintain outdoor rinks. The free skating sessions have been very successful, usually with full attendance at each session.

The Recreation Committee, through the co-operation of manager, Walter Geron, and the Arena Commission, also announced that all facilities will be made available for these sessions, such as canteen, skate sharpening and supervision of children while they are skating.

Eight Marriage Licences Stolen From City Hall

TORONTO (CP) — Eight marriage licences were stolen from the city hall magistrates' office Wednesday night. They included one to be issued to two accused in a court case.

Police think the theft may have been by someone opposed to one of the marriages. Nothing else is missing.

The robbery affected William Mays and Irene Reginbald, who were fined $10 or 10 days each Thursday for creating a disturbance at a Jehovah's Witness meeting last week.

They said in court they had "been trying for four years to solve our marital problems" and only in the last few weeks had the way become clear for their marriages.

Officials of the licence bureau said they will try to see no marriages are delayed. They can use duplicate copies after getting approval from the legislative buildings.

RUSSIAN GOOD WISHES

CONAKRY, Guinea (Reuters)—Guinea President Sekou Toure Thursday received a Russian delegation which had come "to congratulate the Guinea government on its accession to independence." Among the delegation were Pavel Gucrassimov, counsellor at Russia's Cairo embassy.

'No Parking' On Front Street During Parade

No parking will be in effect along Front Street Saturday morning during the annual visit of Santa Claus.

This was noted today by Chief Police Walter Peabody who said no parking will be in effect along Front Street from the Upper Bridge to Dundas Street until after the parade which gets underway at 10 o'clock.

Co-operation from adults in standing back to allow the kiddies an unobstructed view of Santa and his helpers is also asked by the police chief.

"If parents or guardians will just advise their youngsters to stay put during the parade there will be no confusion and everyone will be able to see the parade," noted the chief.

Revised Plans For Court House Are Presented

Revised plans for the construction of a proposed new court house building were presented to Hastings county council on Thursday by architects Bregman and Hamann of Toronto.

Last fall at a special meeting council tentatively approved of plans for a two-story court house and authorized detailed drawing.

However, on advice from justice department officials certain changes were recommended which would leave existing jail facilities intact.

As result plans now call for the proposed court house to be constructed in front of the present building, and to be a three-storey structure instead of two. On completion of the building the present court house would be torn down to provide additional parking space.

New plans call for the registry office on the first floor, a courtroom and offices on the second floor and a main courtroom and council chamber on the third floor.

The proposed new court house is to be further discussed today when the finance committee is read by committee chairman Reeve J. N. Brown of Bancroft.

Committee Will Explore Sites For New 'Y'

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Belleville Y.M.C.A., a site-selection committee was nominated from board members to explore suitable locations for the proposed new building announced earlier this month.

The committee consists of D. C. Williams, chairman, G. B. Hyde, W. L. McDougall, J. D. Templeman, military representative, well-as J. A. Ireland, president of the Y.M.C.A. and D. G. Diamaniedes, general secretary.

Its function will be to study, in general way, the site and direction of the City's expansion. From this study, they will assess the most suitable location for the sizeable building and grounds needed to provide the vastly improved recreational and community services to be offered by the YMCA to Belleville and its surrounding area. Finally, they will be responsible for making a recommendation to the board of directors of the particular site which can best meet the exacting standards required.

Weekend Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle prices were fully 50 cents a hundredweight higher this week at the Ontario public stockyards.

Replacement prices were firm. Veal calf prices advanced $4 to a hundredweight. Heifers were in broad demand with numerous heifers, weighing around 1,000 pounds, selling over the $23 mark.

The slaughter cattle trade was lively at prices close to the week's advance. Cow prices regained all of last week's loss and closed firm. Bulls were active throughout the week with good daily cleanups. Hog prices were unchanged and sheep and lamb prices were steady on a dull market.

Cattle receipts were some 400 head less than last week and some 1,200 head fewer than the same week in 1957. Cattle receipts from Western Canada totalled 1,700 which is a 15-crease of 50 head over last week. Receipts from other provinces 26 cattle and 17 calves off the Montreal market, 25 cattle and nine calves out of Quebec and 20 cattle and 10 calves from New Brunswick. There were no shipments to Eastern Canadian slaughterers and no exports to the United States.

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers $24-27 with a few tops at 27.25; good 25.50-26.50; medium 23.50-25.50; common and choice heifers 23.50-24; good 23-23.50; medium 21-23; common 19-21; choice fed yearlings 26.50-27.50 with some steer calves at 28; good 25-26; good cows 18-19.50 with sales at 17.50 and an odd top at 18; medium 15.50-16.50; common 14.50-15.50; canners and cutters 13-14; good heavy bologna bulls 22-22.50 with a few tops at 21.75; common and medium 18-20.

Calvest Good veal calves 31-33 with choice to 33.50; medium 27-30; common 19-26; heavy calves 15.

Hogs: Grade A 19.50; heavy sows 17.50; light sows 19.50; stags 18 a hundredweight on a dressed weight basis.

Sheep and lamb: Good handyweight lambs 20.50 with some choice at 21; bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight; good heavy lambs 17-17.50; with medium lambs to 18; most feeder lambs 17-18.50; common sold down to 14; sheep 4-9 according to quality.

Will Try Again To Get Signs Placed on 401

TRENTON — A request from the John Howard Society of Ontario for support was read at the council meeting held last night in the board room of the Municipal Building and the councillors decided to take it over until 1959. All councillors but one attended the council meeting last night. There will only be one meeting now for the present council. Town clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry, town engineer Eric Abbey and town solicitor Rod Campbell were at so present. Two members of next year's council, Howard Ash and William Bradshaw also attended.

A letter from the Imperial Oil Company concerning the building of a service station on the corner of Sydney and North Murray St. was read in the council meeting. It was decided that this be referred to the planning board and the incoming council. The councillors felt that it may be allowed after the Ontario Municipal Board holds its hearing on the new zoning by-law.

A notice from the Belleville Fire Fighters Union was read, asking that a meeting be arranged concerning a contract for the new year. Councillor Campbell, chairman of the protection to persons and property committee, told the council the Trenton firemen came under this section but said the Trenton department would now have seven men on staff and it was quite likely they would form their own local.

SEEK HIGHWAY SIGNS

A letter from the newly formed Retail Merchants Association in Trenton was read at council and asked that the signs on the 401 Highway leading to Trenton read "Trenton Business Section" with an arrow pointing towards the turn-off. The council instructed the town engineer to take it up with the highway department again and the mayor also agreed to write a letter to Premier Frost about it, on the matter.

Councillors agreed that, although they were in sympathy with the families in Springhill, Nova Scotia, where recent disaster in No. 2 mine, they felt they could do little to help by no money-wise. As one councillor said, "We have had a few disastrous fires here this year."

A letter from the Canadian Legion branch in Trenton was read in which the president of the group, Jack Lyttle, asked that the council present the thanks of the veterans for the council's decision to free the building of taxes for the next 10 years. This is allowed under the Ontario Municipal Act for buildings used by and for the purposes of returned personnel. The Branch also pledged co-operation with the town in anything it may ask.

Council approved a request from Fire Chief Cecil Ellis that Charles Foshay be taken on as permanent fireman to fill the vacancy left when Mr. Ellis was promoted to chief of the department. Councillor Worrell recommended in his committee report that the Fire Chief's request be granted, as he said he and the chief had interviewed 22 candidates for the position.

Town council also empowered Mayor Ross Burt to proclaim Friday, December 26 (Boxing Day), a civic holiday. It was agreed that Friday, January 2, 1959, be also proclaimed a civic holiday.

Beaver Lumber Firm's Mill Razed by Fire, Loss $50,000

TRENTON — Roaring flames completely levelled the mill of the Beaver Lumber Company in Trenton last night in the town's sixth major fire of the year. Damage was unofficially estimated at $50,000, with the greatest loss being machinery, rather than the building itself.

The cause of the blaze was not known, although the possibility of spontaneous combustion being responsible was being considered.

It is not known if insurance was carried on the building, or contents.

The call first came in to the Trenton fire station on the 10.18 via two children. The police immediately called the firemen and the trucks were on the scene less than two minutes later. By that time the building was rolling out a roaring mass of flames, with great clouds of white smoke and hot sparks hurling skyward.

Knowing Fire Chief Cecil Ellis said no amount of water could have put the fire out and he instructed his men to concentrate on containing the flames to the building itself. Many of the onlookers were rich in their praise of the way the local firemen kept the fire from spreading, even to buildings which adjoined the mill. Fire raged for a short time than it takes to tell the story, and the mill came tumbling in and from then on it was just a matter of putting water on the ruins.

The building was situated on Sidney Street to the south of the main buildings of the lumber yard, and was about 40 feet wide and 100 feet long. The walls and roof consisted only of heavy-four framework covered with sheet metal. The floor was concrete and underneath the floor, as well as in the workshop, was a mass of shavings and sawdust. It was this that accounted for the quick spread of the flames.

Inside the building was lost and the machinery was reported to be considered fireproof by planers and saws. Windows and door sash and frames are made here for the lumber company.

AIR FORCE HELPS

Fire Chief Ellis called in the help of the RCAF firemen as a precautionary step and Chief Ellis stated that all in Fire Chief Gerald Vance and his experienced crew fighting from Belleville if the fire threatened to get out of control. However, once the metal on the roof and walls fell in on the flames it helped to smother the blaze and further aid was not considered necessary. The Air Force sent down a pumper truck under the command of its fire chief, Wilfrid Neil. They manned one of the four lines of hose which had been laid by the Trenton volunteers.

The water line in the burning building was broken, apparently by the falling timbers, and for a time the water was shooting straight up into the air in the middle of the building, and red fabrik like a single spout fountain.

This morning nothing but charred wood and twisted metal remained where the building was. Only one or two items of machinery could be seen in the debris, with the others apparently buried in the still smoldering embers. A pile about 10 feet from the south side of the

(Photo by Georgeson)

With the roof caved in and the walls buckling, flames can be seen in the above photo as they shoot through the roof of the Beaver Lumber Company on Stewart St. The spectacular flash-fire was Trenton's sixth major fire of the year and damage last night was estimated at $50,000. Firemen laid four lines of hose to bring the blaze under control. One hose was kept on the fire until about 3 a.m. this morning, nearly 10 hours after the alarm was sounded.

Unauthorized Call for Outside Aid Brings Wellington, Madoc Firemen

TRENTON — Acting Fire Chief Cecil Ellis received the "shock of his life" last night when firemen started to arrive from Wellington and Madoc to help fight the blaze which levelled the mill portion of the Beaver Lumber Company on Stewart Street.

The out-of-town firemen told Chief Ellis they had heard on the radio and television news that the main street of Trenton was ablaze and burning out of control while being fanned by high winds. They said the newscast had also stated a call had been put out for all available firemen to go to Trenton to lend a hand in fighting the fire.

Fire Chief Ellis was at a loss to explain why such a thing had been done and said the appeal most certainly did not come from him or his men. He also said that anything he may have to call for outside aid it will be done through Fire Chief Gerald Vance of Belleville who is coordinator for the Mutual Aid in this area.

One firemen from Wellington said he called his friends when he heard the news broadcast and his wife had informed him the department there had been asked to stand by for Belleville as an entire Belleville Department was in Trenton helping to fight the flames. No Belleville firemen, apart from Chief Vance of Belleville who is coordinator for the Mutual Aid in this area.

The six firemen from Wellington and the four from Madoc expressed their surprise when they arrived in Trenton to find the fire under control and only smouldering.

Another rumor making the rounds, while the fire was burning, said that local police had picked up a man connected with the blaze. This police report was also unfounded although a man had been charged with being drunk and in the city while firemen were busy. He was lodged in the town lock-up. He had no connection at all with the fire.

Police Forced To Shoot Dog

TRENTON — Local policemen were called on early Wednesday morning to shoot a mad dog that had followed the night watchman at the Hinde and Dauch Paper Mills into his office and then refused to leave. The watchman, at the time in calling the Trenton Police Department.

The dog, he told police, had followed him into the office and was howling his wounds and when he tried to chase the animal out it flew at his teeth and refused to leave. It was then that one of the police officers.

Bert Libling, owner of the Theatre Bar, made coffee and had it taken to the firemen and police men on duty during the height of the blaze. Mr. Libling also had his hands full serving a banquet at the Canadian Legion Hall, but a quick message to his establishment had the coffee ready in short order.

Trenton Flyers Lose to Combines By 5-2 Score

TRENTON—The Flyers went down in defeat again on Wednesday night when the Cobourg-Port Hope Combines, known as the Rockets, slapped them with a 5-2 decision at Trenton Ice.

The loss leaves the Flyers deep in the cellar of the Eastern Ontario Intermediate "A" Hockey League. They have had one win and one tie game this season, and have played eight games.

In the opening frame Freeman took an early pass from his team-mate McDougall to beat Trenton's goalie at the :34 mark to give the Rockets a lead that the Flyers were unable to even threaten. The first period ended 2-0 after Finlay scored unassisted at the 17:22 mark.

In the second period the game went on much the same as the first and ended 4-0 for the visitors. Freeman and Finlay scored on passes from Campbell and Bailey at 1.18 and 8.45.

Trenton made a feeble comeback in the third period when Jackson outscored the visitors 2-1. Burley got the first Trenton goal on a pass from Gill and Foster at 11.05. Wesse and Finlay of the Rockets teamed up less than two minutes later to get the only marker of the final frame for the visitors. Trenton's second goal was holly protested by the Rockets when the puck apparently went into the net and bounced out again to the right of goaltender Gill. The goal judge had failed to see it and the red light did not go on. However the referee apparently had his eye on the puck at the time and ruled it a goal. Taylor was credited with the goal and the assist by Bailey.

Trenton's goalie was again the most outstanding player on the team as he made 39 save after drive by the Rockets. The visiting scribe reminder also made some brilliant saves when called upon to do so.

TRENTON — Danny Metzer, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pfeifer of 73 Henry St., was admitted to Trenton Memorial Hospital Tuesday evening after he had injured his arm while playing hockey.

At the hospital it was found he had fractures in his left, arm and it has been placed in a cast. He was released from hospital yesterday and returned to his home. The lad told his parents he was playing hockey at school when the accident happened. His mother said she wasn't quite sure how it happened but said it was to second time he had had this injured while playing the game. She said she had been told the arm was broken in 2 places, both fractures being to the forearm and that the cast would have to stay on for six to eight weeks. She said Danny has always been lucky before and loved to play sports but he will have to remain idle for the next few weeks.

WILL HOLD MEETING

The date of the "Get-Acquainted" dance planned by the Trenton Retail Merchants Association will be held on Monday, December 8 at the Quennyray Hotel it was announced yesterday by the president of the group, John Lyttle. He said it had previously been slated for Wednesday, December 10 but because the room was not available for that date it was necessary to change it. The purpose of the dance is to enable the local merchants to get acquainted and to know one another better through a social evening.

RAIN HELPS

Drizzling rain yesterday and last night went a long way in helping local crews to remove the snow from Trenton Streets. The town trucks and men have been out continuously since the snow fell plowing, sanding and combining the wintertime precipitation from local roads. Only one sander has been put to use with the second one being repaired. Lower temperatures after midnight all day today.

WHAT IS HAPPINESS?

"My school days really were some of the happiest times of my life. Not the happiest. I am fortunate in enjoying life most of the time, even now."

These are the observations of Joyce Grenfell, British actress and comedienne.

Three more interesting sentences dealing with that most interesting of all topics, happiness, it would be difficult to find.

It is a widely held belief that school days are happy days. Most of us who have thought about happiness at all have come to regard this belief as a fallacy, on the basis of our own memories of those days and of our observation of the moods of those who are now "enjoying" similar experiences. Indeed, questioning of this belief has itself become so widespread that there is a danger of eventual general acceptance of an equally fallacious theory, that school days are miserable ones. Joyce Grenfell, in her first sentence, appears to recognize both these extremes and to select middle ground. These days, she says were "really" some of happiest. The "really" denies the growing belief that youth is a period of stress and discontent. "Some of the happiest" and the following sentence, "Not the whole happiest" give the lie to the older theory of paradise in "the house where I was born," deny that there was ever a time when the sun "never came a wink too soon, nor brought too long a day."

It is difficult, too, to believe in the theory that the happiest days are the last days, that "the best is yet to come, the last of life for which the first was made." There is a sadness about sunset, unless one be a lover of the night, or a hater of the day.

When, then, are the happy years? Do they come in the first flush of manhood and womanhood? For some, perhaps, for they should be years of physical well-being, but they should also be years of mental unrest, of the examination of beliefs and attitudes in the light of personal experiences, of the testing of theories, the sorting of facts, years of the selection of goals, of striving and of dissatisfaction with the results of effort. Does happiness come this way? The answer probably is that in such an atmosphere is born the highest kind of happiness, but that hopes of achievements must be left unrealized by resignation to occasional failures, the joy of effort must be wedded to an appreciation of relaxation, before this happiness can be enjoyed.

Of course, much depends on what we mean by happiness and there is probably a difference in what makes different people happy.

There are some who seem to achieve their greatest happiness merely by watching the happiness of others they love. This is popularly regarded as being indicative of the most admirable character.

Some may cannot accept this theory. This is much too passive a form of happiness to warrant elevation to the peak. If we all depended on the happiness of others to make us happy, we should find ourselves on a perpetual merry-go-round, each depending on some other person and if there was a first cause at all it could be something as trivial, and as ephemeral, as the happiness generated by a toy soldier or a first kiss.

There is the happiness generated by work, by a difficult task undertaken and accomplished. Probably this is the basis of all true happiness, but, like a cake, it needs icing, laughter and a feeling of belonging and being liked.

Sometimes, for success in work, we substitute success in what we like to term play, deriving satisfaction from skill in some game which puts a heavy demand on our physical or mental powers. For some unfortunate persons whose work never presents a real challenge, this substitution is imperative. The reality, though, is likely to be inferior, unless the icing is thicker and sweeter.

It may seem strange to suggest laughter as one of the ingredients of happiness, rather than as one of the by-products. Here, perhaps, is a puzzle as difficult to solve as the order of precedence of the chicken and the egg. The truly happy person, though, laughs a lot and perhaps whether that is cause or effect is immaterial.

More important than laughter, though, is the belief that, besides liking one's fellow men, one is also liked. It is possible to be content without this feeling of belonging, but not to be happy. Even the illusion of belonging helps, which is why some people join clubs and others like a drink. Both courses may help promote true fellowship, but dependence on them as an end results only in addiction and the joiner and the alcoholic, alike, are essentially unhappy people.

THE REPORTER

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

He's the maker of fortunes,
A builder of fame;
A prop for the weak,
And a crutch for the lame.
He's a nurse to the sick,
A friend of the poor;
Wherever he rings
There's a man at the door.

Though proud, he's a slave,
But in duty allured,
He'll dine with the rich
Or sup on a bone.

He's never at home
When work's in the air;
But you'll find it is true,
He's at home everywhere.

Well might the proudest,
The richest of men
Envy this dare-devil
Knight of the pen.
In life 'tis his fate
Ne'er to capture the prize,
But a noble man's missed
Wherev'er one of them dies.

Education for Workers

By James Wells in UNESCO Features

An English office clerk and his wife, fired with the idea of bringing education to millions of working people who had no more than elementary schooling, held a formal meeting to set them on the road. In 1903 and launched the Association to Promote the Higher Education of the Working Men. This organization, later renamed the Workers' Educational Association, today provides higher education for 100,000 people in both Britain and has spread throughout the world.

The historic "meeting of two" elected Albert Mansbridge provisional secretary, and his wife contributed the new association's first annual subscription of ten shillings and for three h s housekeeping allowance. In 1905, the association became the WEA, and in the same year Mansbridge gave up his job with the Co-operative Wholesale Building Society to become the first full-time secretary at a salary of one pound a week.

The WEA filled an urgent need. At the beginning of this century most working people in Britain had only a few years' schooling, followed by work at the age of 13. Mansfield himself left school at 11 to start living. The bulk of such adult education as existed was provided by the local extension lectures arranged in many towns by the older universities, Oxford and Cambridge, but these attracted mainly t h middle class. Part i n the teaching of this kind, learned that was then known w i t h privilege, a training or recreation for those who could afford it.

Mansbridge conceived his association partly as an offshoot of the university lectures, partly as a reaction against them. The help of the university was sought, welcome, but aimed at education for working people which would be democratic in character. a democratic movement whose members would choose the subjects they wished to study in co-operation with university teachers. Hence the name, the WEA, by virtue of liberal studies for their own sake, and the independence of the control to the movement. Education was not to be training for professions, however, even in these fields of sociology and politics. Many of the students attracted by many WEA pupils, but a way to a wider personal life and a greater enjoyment of the common wealth of humanity.

The first branch of the movement was formed at Reading in 1904; by the next year there were branches and in 1908 fifty. Mansbridge himself was forced to travel almost constantly. In 1915, he later founded, among other bodies, the Australian and Canadian WEA, and was a prominent worker in the field up to his death in 1952.

In 1908 also the form that WEA teaching was to take began to show itself. The first classes were started at Rochdale, Lancashire, and Longton, Staffordshire, by the Reverend Arthur Jackson and R. H. Tawney. The three-year course of study, which at the movement over the next 20 years, and though, today almost all the less exacting courses have been added, it still remains i h a basic form. The tutor has a class fifteen to twenty members who choose both the subject they wish to study and their tutor; they undertake to study three years and to keep to the heavy programme of reading and written work.

No national standards are imposed, there are no formal examinations, yet many classes, attended by working people after a hard day's work, reach a standard equal to that of a university honours degree. The measure of success by the level of discussion achieved, the quality of private reading, and the papers and essays produced. Often the class itself becomes a community in itself, the members and t h e tutor forming a personal and social contact, working out new ideas and joining in the summer schools and week-end excursions during the summer.

A high proportion of the early WEA pupils people of great ability who had been denied the opportunity to study themselves, and many of these sought education as a means to achieving social change. Paradoxically much of WEA's fame rests on the rise of such pupils to high office, though this was explicitly not its aim.

Ellen Wilkinson and George Tomlinson, Ministers in the British Government of 1945-50, Professor Mansfield-Cooper, the Chancellor of Manchester University, Sir Ben Bowden, who became editor of the "Manchester Guardian", and many others were introduced to labour politics through tutorial classes, and acknowledged the debt as a source of pride to the movement, and it is hardly surprising that those who have the ability and application to follow a strenuous course of study, and to use their ordinary work should rise in the world. Nevertheless, this success is irrelevant to WEA's main aim: humane learning as a part of adventurous life.

The traditional WEA approach to its pupils is as human beings, of whatever level, whose l i v e s may be widened by learning for its own sake. The true "popular education" is that from all who are willing to enter it, and ideally to make no distinction in worth between their purely academic qualities.

The boilermaker whose study of musical appreciation and interpretation leads him to write and build up a record library a d form a greater understanding of the concerto, and there is no less one of WEA's successes than the laborer whose study of history leads him to the university course in psychology, and then to a film with his writing. In an age of greater educational opportunities for distinguishing the kind of progress is rarer, but its very rarity highlights the value of the work that is leading to purely personal emancipation.

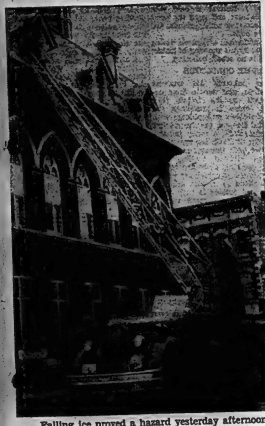
A recent survey of students included a housewife aged 59, forbidden by grandparents, for whom the literature class created "a welcome diversion in the life of an industrious world". It also included a married woman aged 28 who had been refused as a "housekeeper, cook, laundress, seamstress, cleaner, kitchen maid, tweeny and mug-about". She had attended school up to the age of 14. She had since the past six years been studying psychology, world history, music and war. Psychology students in the survey included a vet, a nursery nurse, a t e a c h e r of university studies, and a postman aged 25 who had formerly been a seaman.

As a large London chemical works classes in art appreciation are run for the employees, leading to broadcast an outlook confined by early specialization. Convinced by graduates may seek some knowledge of science, for a b r o a d e r view of the world, comments in these days not to know the chose how to read literature is not to be educated.

WEA today is based on 21 districts, each having close contacts with a local university. These provide for 40 different centres of classes, but there are many other types of class, and many shorter courses there are weekend, weekly, and summer schools, organized at the request of trade unions or sometimes employers, classes for visions and lectures, courses on English life for immigrants, and much else. Nearly half of the classes of all kinds deal with literature and allied subjects, but there is a move away from politics and economics to those which provide a new view of man and society, social anthropology, psychology, and general psychology. Literature and appreciation of the arts, and the appreciation of the quarter of the total, and physics, the chemistry of everyday life, and nutrition are growing in importance.

"There have been m a n y changes in the direction of WEA's work, but the more equitable education system since Mansbridge's day has made WEA's work less and more difficult to achieve. Even when it should be, WEA's aim and task will remain much the same. This, as stated by Professor Mansfield-Cooper, is "to build up and still a leading figure in h e movement and to keep it alive to provide educational opportunities for workers of every kind — for long enough to be sufficient continuity "to leave a real mark on the minds and characters". It is to "the management of affairs by common consent, by the method of discussion, and agreement" — in short democracy — that this education is essential."

TODAY'S TALK



By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THAT INNER VOICE

I am dominated by a voice. It as the sky, as eternal as t h never leaves me. It haunts me, challenges me, and laughs to scorn the ways and means that my lesser plans. It is my great voice that knows me, and knows me. In the main it is "My Better I."

Where would I go? Where would I hide? Where would I step? How should I think? What should I do? And what? That i d voice tells me — "My Better I" No errors too great, no pain too deep, no burden too heavy — "My Better I" comes in to suggest and save.

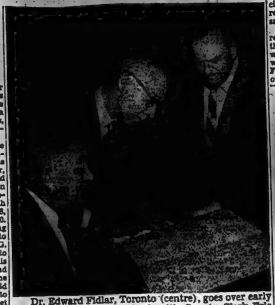
Bigger than time, broader than age, mightier than all who oppose, it stalks ahead immovable

Falling ice proved a hazard yesterday afternoon to pedestrians and vehicles along MacInnany Street as the temperate weather loosened the deposits of snow and ice on the roof of the City Hall. Belleville's Fire Department showed up with their ladder truck, however, and Fireman Bill Lake shovelled the remaining accumulations off the slate roof and eaves. (Bottom) Fireman Bob Emerson can be seen operating the controls at the base of the extension ladder.

Senior Citizens Club Observes Fifth Birthday

The Senior Citizens held their regular meeting at the Kiwanis Centre on Wednesday. The club's 5th birthday. There was a record attendance of members, as well as visitors from Peterborough and Trenton.

President Brennan opened the meeting with singing of the National Anthem followed by the birthday song for one member, Mr. Cooke. Lloyd Doran and Wm. VanTassel spoke briefly on the growth of the club. On November 24, 1953, it started with 70 members. In November 1958, there was a membership of 150.



A special event of the evening was a presentation of wallets to past presidents. Mayor Mr. G. Hyde presented the wallet to Mr. Cooke and expressed his pleasure that Belleville had such a wonderful club. In the absence of Past-President, Field Mrs. Drummond was asked to accept and forward the wallet to him at his new home in Burlington, Ontario.

Mayor Hyde cut the birthday cake, Mr. and Mrs. Scales were called to the floor by Mr. Donan, who congratulated them on their first wedding anniversary. Mrs. E. Plumpton of Corbyrilla sang two beautiful solos, "Holy Night" and "White Christmas," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. L. Adams. Mrs. Plumpton also led in a sing-song which everyone enjoyed. Mrs. Neilson, leader of the Golden Mile Club, Peterborough, spoke on activities of that club. She said that Belleville had a wonderfully lively club and wished it many more birthdays. Mr. Preston was re-installed as treasurer.

The rest of the evening was spent playing euchre and the winners: ladies — Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Robinson; men — Mr. Wright, and G. Sargent. The lucky draw was won by Mr. H. Taylor. Refreshments were served under convenership of Mrs. F. Cooke, and Mrs. Haley. About 100 sat down to the beautiful decorated tables with a huge birthday cake in the centre.

Dr. Edward Fidlar, Toronto (centre), goes over early Hastings County minute book with County Clerk Eric S. Denyes (left) and Reeve James V. Holt of Stirling. Dr. Fidlar's grandfather, also named Edward Fidlar, was the first Hastings County warden back in 1850.

Councillors Greet Grandson Of First Warden of County

Hastings county councillors took a look at some of the county's early history Thursday as they greeted the grandson of the late Edward Fidlar, first warden of the county back in 1850.

The grandson is 75 - year - old Dr. Edward Fidlar, retired Toronto university lecturer, who visited the council session to tell a few bits of his grandfather's early life. Dr. Fidlar was introduced to the council session by Reeve James V. Holt, council publicity committee chairman.

Dr. Fidlar said he had no personal recollection of his grandfather who had played a prominent part in the organization of Hastings county out of part of the former Victoria district, but while overseas during the first world war he had dug into records and learned he had been born in a Scottish town back in 1784.

His grandfather's father had been a boatbuilder and carpenter. He didn't know why his grandfather had come to Canada, although he presumed it was through the Hudson's Bay Company, whose last port of call in Scotland was near his grandfather's home.

"Maybe he came over as a sailor and left the ship in Canada."

ON MOTHER'S SIDE

But Dr. Fidlar said he also had connections with Hastings county on his mother's side with Captain Meyers and other early Belleville district families being connected on the maternal side.

Dr. Fidlar urged county councillors to hang on to their early records. "They are priceless," he said.

County Clerk Eric S. Denyes read from an early record book the minutes of the meeting at which Edward Fidlar was named warden back in 1850. Later Dr. Fidlar had the pleasure of going over the early records with Mr. Denyes.

C.G.I.T. Will Hold Annual Vesper Service

In big city churches and in small centres too, this month, groups of teen-age girls are getting ready for the annual Christmas Vesper Service of the Canadian Girls In Training. It is a service which has become a symbol of the national strength and unity of the C.G.I.T. Movement.

Groups everywhere in all the ten provinces will take part in this rededication to the ideals and purposes of the movement. Dressed in the white middies and navy skirts of the C.G.I.T. uniform, the girls will sing the familiar Christmas hymns and join in the readings and prayers.

In most churches, the climax of the service comes with the lighting of three candles to symbolize the meaning of the C.G.I.T. Purpose. Sometimes the processional is also in candlelight. Many groups are assisted by a choir with special Christmas music, and some have a speaker.

But, all of them follow the same order of service which is prepared by the National C.G. I.T. Committee to give thousands of members this opportunity of worshipping together during the Christmas season.

Canadian Girls In Training is an interdenominational movement under the Canadian Council of Churches. Its activities are many and varied, but its chief purpose is to present the Christian way of life to teen-age girls.

The Christmas Vesper Service is not for members, alone, in any community where this beautiful service will be held, the public is invited to attend and take part.

The local service will be held Sunday, December 7 at 7 p.m. in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville.

Princess Grace Makes Sudden Exit From Ball

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco gave high society a surprise sample of royal displeasure Thursday night — with abrupt flight from the dance floor.

Caught in a milling crush of spectators, guards and photographers at a ball in her honor, the former movie star made her indignant exit just 15 minutes after she and her prince had arrived. She and trailing a slightly bewildered escort, her husband, Prince Rainier III of Monaco.

A spokesman at the royal box explained that the princess had found the throng just too much when someone stepped on her white satin slipper.

The royal wrath subsided swiftly, however, and the pair from Philadelphia remained for the midnight "beauty and the beast" tableaux, and presided at the drawing of grand prizes for lucky ticket-holders.

FORSAKES DANCING

But although she smiled, she danced no more.

Six mounted police and a dozen patrolmen tried valiantly to hold back a crowd of about 1,000 spectators who jammed outside the hotel entrance a closeup peep at the Cinderella girl.

REVELL — PURCELL

In a recent pretty wedding ceremony, Dorothy Teresa Purcell, daughter of Mrs. Michael Purcell, of Kingston, and the late Mr. Purcell, became the bride of Frank Vincent Revell, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Revell. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Monsieigneur, the Reverend J. P. Sullivan in the chapel of St. Mary's Cathedral, Kingston. Tall standards of white Shasta 'mums adorned the altar and white satin bows the guest pews.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Bert Purcell, of Kingston, was radiant in a ballerina-length bridal gown of nylon net over satin fashioned with molded bodice having a Peter Pan collar studded with sequins and seed pearls, and long, lily-pointed sleeves. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was held by a Juliet-type cap encrusted with seed pearls and sequins, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of red, garnet roses, and white stephanotis.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. L. Cross, of Kingston, as matron of honor, who wore a ballerina-length gown of aqua marine blue net over taffeta.

Mrs. R. Probert, also of Kingston, as bridesmaid was attired in strawberry nylon over taffeta. Both attendants were white feathered hats, mitred gloves, and brocaded shoes. They carried cascade bouquets of 'mums.

The two nieces of the bride, Dorothy and Mary Cross, eight and six years respectively, of Kingston, were frocked in pink and blue, with matching floral headdresses and carried baskets in white filled with pastel colored flowers.

Mr. Richard Probert, of Kingston, was groomsman, and Mr. Joseph Purcell, of Kingston, brother of the bride, and Mr. C. Robinson, Toronto, brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

Switzerland 'Paradise of Peace', Delightfully Portrayed at W.C.

Last evening Aston Lendi of the Consulate of Switzerland, Toronto, internationally known commentator, presented to the women's Canadian Club at Queen Alexandra school, a colored film portrayal of Switzerland of the Alps, Switzerland, the "Paradise of Peace."

Mr. Lendi, a Swiss by birth, possesses a dual citizenship, that of his native land, and of his adopted country, Canada. He was educated in Europe, and as an ambassador of good will took his audience by plane to view the beauties of his native land that has for seven centuries adhered to the principle of peace.

SIZE OF LAKE ONTARIO

The country, which has a population of 5,000,000 is 126 miles in length; 136 miles wide, and in area about 15,940 square miles, the size of Lake Ontario. It is a confederation of 19 entire and six half cantons, with an altitude of 15,000 feet above sea level. There are four different languages but in spite of this the Swiss refer to each other as "My fellow countryman," there is loyalty, understanding, human tolerance and the use of good common sense. For 150 years Switzerland has been a democratic country with its different racial backgrounds of French, Italian, German and European.

"Switzerland", said Mr. Lendi", is somewhat of a miracle in its history of peace, evidenced that 160 years can be obtained 5 nations work at it."

Arriving at Geneva, a city of 185,000 population, was founded 2,000 years ago, and was the stronghold seat of Protestantism. The people take life leisurely; there is no hectic rush like that of other cities. There is religious liberty; but the Protestant church is Calvanistic in doctrine; with John Knox the founder. The United Nations is situated here. Geneva is surrounded by mighty walls erected 75 feet high, a haven of refuge.

During the springtime, there are sidewalk cafes; where the people sit and enjoy their food and watch the tourists as they pass. In cold ,weather the cafe tables are moved indoors. Delicious foods are served.

SEMI-TROPICAL

Switzerland is a land of a 1000 valleys and semi-tropical in climate. Lovely flowers, including the fragrant white paper narcissus grow profusely up the mountain sides, even to the snowline in infinite variety; roses, orchids and many others cover an area of 2,000 miles.

The "Festival of Geneva", depicted lovely floral floats, with lovely maidens, all extraordinarily beautiful. Among the historical scenes was the Castle of Chillon on Lake Geneva, at the foot of a 12,000 foot mountain. The Matterhorn is the loftiest being over 14,000 feet high.

Plains trees dot the mountain sides and vineyards, planted first some 2,000 years ago, yield bountiful crops.

ZURICH, LAUSANNE

West Zurich and Lausanne were visited next. It was here that Lord Byron and Shelly spent several years. There are modern apartments and ancient buildings set side by side. A city hall was erected 450 years ago. The houses are close together, as the streets are narrow, so they extend upward rather than outward. An open air market is well stocked with cheese, the principal industry, and strings of onions.

After flying over the rugged mountains with their snow-capped peaks, a trip was made to the foot hills in blossom time, which begin to bloom in every beautiful shade and color as early as February and March when the air is laden with strong perfume.

There were also trips by the mountain train through long tunnels, over bridges, over up and down valley railway of one metre, used because of safety curves; many ravines those of sands of feet deep in a serial carriage, on strong cables with breath-taking and awe-inspiring.

COMMUNAL FARMING

Speaking of the communal farming which is practised in Switzerland, the custom is to herd the goats and cows on to the upper ranges in the mountains. Here cheese making was shown in detail, over an outdoor fire, with the attendant constantly in attendance. After the milk has reached the correct temperature, rennet is added, and stirred till the right consistency is obtained; then skimmed off into cheesecloth bags; placed under heavy pressure in crocks, and the whey run off. Finally pressed into shape, and taken to the valley by horse and stored to ripen.

The different farmers receive remuneration in accordance with the number of cows or goats he supplies, the churns are decorated with many designs. In spring a festival is held with folk dances; and even the cows are decorated with garlands, and festive bells.

In municipal affairs all voting is done by the showing of hands; there is no secret balloting.

COSTUME CONSCIOUS

The peasants are costume conscious, and denote their occupation by the clothes they wear, which is usually a red vest delicately embroidered with colorful flowers, (as the speaker demonstrated), a fancy sailor type hat of black, the crown top outlined with flowers, and fancy colored ribbons trailing out. Their smoking pipes are ornate with silver tops, which are smoked rightside up indoors, and upside down outside as they draw better and are covered with a silver lid to prevent fires. The peasant also wears a gold breast plate with a number of engraved coins; a golden earring through a pierced ear, which is supposed to prevent "disease or infection as the gold draws all poisons out.

In the National Park, animals, antelopes, and various other species were noted. No shooting is ever allowed, as they are quite tame.

The conclusion of the delightful showing was the "Fox Hunt", in which the 'fox' is a young girl with yellow sweater who takes off from the top of the high mountain, skims down the slopping sides in swirls of snow, followed by five or six red coated 'hunters' on skis. Interest and suspense were added by some trickery done by the 'fox' who doubled back; hid herself under snowy overhangings at shelf, while the hunters fly over her head; she also outwitted them sufficiently to have a snack at a ski hut, and escape again before they reached the hut. While they were feasting she tangled their skis, and again set off, later to be hidden on a toboggan, and drawn by a friend, who was later assisted up the mountain side by the hunters themselves. Finally they catch her, and carry the 'fox' high in triumph on their shoulders.

It was a superb demonstration of skiing in the Alps.

Mr. Lendi was introduced to his audience by the president, Mrs. S. E. Fairman, and thanked by the secretary, Mrs. J. G. Demesa for his delightful presentation.

The Experts Say

Teachers' Training Colleges To Have Drama Course

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A course in drama should be introduced at every teachers' training college in Canada says Dorothy Jane Goulding.

The course would precede giving lessons in acting and drama to children in Grades 8 and up.

"Acting should be taught because it is a universal form of self-expression — some children cannot master the manual techniques of drawing, painting, modelling or music—but the child who cannot give 'something to, and learn something from drama is very rare," she said.

WRITER, LECTURER

Dorothy Jane Goulding has written 25 plays, many of them for children. She also has written radio shows and lectures to teachers on dramatic training. And in private life, as the wife of actor William Needles, she is the mother of five children, aged from 11 to two.

Mrs. Needles says that all children act. Playing cowboys and Indians or throwing a tantrum is all acting.

She thinks discipline and direction can best be introduced when children reach about Grade 3 in school.

"Advanced children can start at seven, but most are ready for acting in school at about nine," she said.

"They should not be given reams of lines to learn, but should study a few exercises and then develop their own plot."

For example, youngsters can be given an exercise in crawling, falling flat without hurting themselves, or crying. Then they can invent a short play for themselves incorporating the three actions.

MANY IDEAS

"Each group will produce a different interpretation," said Mrs. Needles. "Boys in the eight to nine age group usually want a violent death in their play; others interpret crawling as sneaking up on somebody."

Mrs. Needles says groups should be as varied as possible.

"Children today tend to live in larger communities, and therefore have a tendency to play only with their own age groups," she said.

"Youngsters play cowboys and Indians, and they don't know very much else. But if the age groups were mixed, they would learn different games."

DIFFERENT AGES

She says this is true in drama, and children of different ages should be included in the drama groups, for different handling of plots will also be found among children of the different age groups.

Mime can overcome language difficulties, and dressing up is always popular with youngsters.

Mrs. Needles, who was born in Toronto, went to school in England and Australia, and then studied at Toronto Teachers' College. She says she wrote her first play "Jane" when she was four, her next at 10, and started learning her craft when she was 17.

Readers' Friday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

Question: I wonder if you would help me with a meringue that would stand up after baking and not be tough and sticky . . . when I beat the sugar in it gets tough . . . unsigned.

Answer: How to make meringue that does not "weep or become tough and sticky when cut: Allow 3 egg whites for each 9-inch pie and use 2 level measuring tablespoons of sugar for each egg white. Beat egg whites before adding sugar until they are glossy on top and when bowl is inverted they remain in place. Fold in sugar gradually. When putting meringue on filling on pie (I think filling should still be quite warm be sure to seal it carefully all around the crust edge. Pile the meringue on the centre of the pie, then work out toward the edges. Bake at 350 deg. F. for 18 minutes.

Question: . . . for a neighborhood Christmas party . . . I would like to try one or two dips for chips . . . I have some tinted glasses with rounded sides if you think these would be suitable for a drink along the punch lines. There will be approximately 16 or 20 ladies . . . I thought of having a turkey or chicken mousse, something that could be sliced and served with several different relishes . . . Mrs. G.V.S.

Answer: Kindly see "dips" featured December 16th.

PARTY PUNCHES — No. 1

Two cans cider, 2 six-oz. tins lemonade concentrate, ice cubes.

No. 2 Punch Delicious

One quart water, 1 quart sugar, ¼ cup strong black brewed tea, 1 cup ginger ale, juice of 4 oranges, juice of 4 lemons, one cup pineapple juice —raw or canned, 2/3 cup grape juice. Boil the water and sugar together for 8 minutes. Add the tea, juice of oranges, lemons, pineapple, ginger ale and grape or other fruit juice, ice cubes.

No. 3 Fruit Nectar

Juice of 4 lemons, juice of 2 oranges, 2 cups each apple juice, grapefruit juice, pineapple juice, 1 cup simple syrup (½ sugar, ½ water), 2 cups water. Mix all fruit juices, add the simple syrup and 1 chill. When ready to serve, add ice cubes.

TURKEY OR CHICKEN MOUSSE

Two cups ground cooked turkey or chicken, ½ cup sharp dressing, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 teaspoon ground celery seed, ¾ cup heavy cream whipped, salt, pepper, 1½ tablespoons gelatin, ½ cup cold turkey or chicken stock, lettuce, cold cooked mussels sprouts, tomato and parsley. Blend the turkey or chicken, salad dressing, lemon juice and celery seed. Fold in the whipped cream. Season to taste. Fold in the gelatin which has been softened in the cold turkey or chicken stock, dissolved over hot water, then cooled. Pour into a ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce. Fill the centre with cold cooked Brussels sprouts and garnish with tomato wedges and parsley. Amount serves 6 to 8.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Gloria F. — Mother wants to break up my friendship.

Mrs. L. F. — I don't think it's healthy.

* * *

Gloria F. — I am 15 and am having a lot of trouble with my mother about a particular friend of mine.

This friend is 20 and she goes to college. I met her last summer at camp. I was a junior counselor and I worked with her helping to take care of some of the younger children. This girl, Helen, is very understandin' of me — more than I can say for my own parents. She gave me some very good advice about boys and dating and how to wear my hair and a lot of things like that.

I have had her stay over at my house a couple of weekends and she has invited me to visit her at her college. My mother doesn't want me to go. She says I'm getting too wrapped up in this friendship because she doesn't like Helen. What about my boy-friends?

* * *

Mrs. L. F. — I can't understand why a 20-year-old girl should want to waste so much time on a little teenager like my daughter. Gloria is quite childish in many ways. Yet this Helen who is supposed to be a bright college student, will talk to her by the hour. They write long, long letters to one another.

The reason may be that Helen comes of a broken home and has no brothers or sisters. She told me she always wanted a younger sister and I guess she sees Gloria in that light.

But I don't like the idea of Gloria's going to an outsider for advice about dating and boys. I don't think Helen is adult enough herself to give such advice. Besides, she seems like a nervous type and I don't think the friendship is healthy.

* * *

The Council: This friendship may have elements that are not "healthy" but we don't think that Mrs. L. F. ought to express this idea to her daughter. She would do far better to observe carefully and move cautiously.

Gloria is now basking in the pleasure of getting plenty of attention from someone who must seem just as ideal to her. Mrs. L. F.'s barging in with demands that the friendship be broken up could only trigger rebellion or worse — unexpressed rage and resentment.

Mrs. L. F. should be aware of the fact that each of these girls may have something worthwhile to give the other. She would do well to avoid making slurring remarks against Helen or the friendship, but she should point out the error in any wrong "advice" Helen has given. Gradually, Gloria may get the idea that if Helen had much experience in matters concerning the opposite sex, she would probably have less time to lavish on a 15-year-old.

If Mrs. L. F. respects her daughter's rights to privacy and to personal taste in choosing friends she too is in a much better position to contain and control the situation. Since she has an uneasy feeling about the intimacy she should put her foot down on the weekend excursion. Gloria will be able to take this with more good grace if she feels that her mother is fair-minded and is not trying to sabotage a relationship that is important to her.

The most important aspect of this problem is the positive one. Gloria should have some worthwhile goals in her life and plenty of happy relationships within her own age group. If she has these she will eventually become bored and bothered by what she will begin to sense is Helen's need for her friendship.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

MARKING OF PERSONAL BELONGINGS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Speaking of Christmas, I would like to ask you two questions about the correct marking of a man's handkerchiefs, shirts, robe, and so forth.

(1) Is it really incorrect to use a monogram designed from his two or three initials?

(2) If only one initial is used, should it be the man's first or last initial? — Kay

(1) A man's personal belongings, such as handkerchiefs, shirts, robe, and so forth, should be marked with initials: usually the first letters are used, or other simple, forthright lettering. A monogram designed from the initials is not suitable for a man.

(2) When only one initial is used for a man, the initial of his surname is generally used. (For a woman's handkerchiefs and so forth the initial of the first name is used.)

Sunday School Lesson

Dispose of Unclean Spirits

By ROY L. SMITH

The principal of a great high school in a certain midwestern city wrote to the editor of a religious paper to say that "we could have a very great deal of religious instruction in our school if it were left for the churches. If we bring in a preacher who has great skill in speaking to the students, we find ourselves compelled to bring in someone else who has no skill and no message, just to satisfy the denominational pride of another religious body."

Most of us know that those who were reputed to be possessed by evil spirits in Jesus' day were actually, people who suffered from some form of mental illness. And many of us know, also, that Jesus used sound psychological principles in dealing with such cases. But we seldom take stock of our communities to discover the evil spirits that are doing us the most serious damage.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for December 7: "JESUS' MATCHLESS POWER." Mark 4:35 through 5:43.

He who introduces the spirit of suspicion into a city has done it a greater injury than the one has who has destroyed a business building. To wreck the confidence of a people in their leaders is a greater sin than to have wrecked a bank.

One evil-possessed individual in a community can contaminate the minds of an entire neighborhood. One gossip can transform a peaceful neighborhood into a battlefield.

CALLS ITSELF GOOD

There appeared in a splendid little Indiana city some years ago an evangelist who was loud in his declarations of piety. By claiming some sort of superior spiritual status he contrived to get a hearing with a group of malcontents who were critical of their pastors and of all other Christians. By preaching a series of sermons on a highly controversial subject, and by assuming a sternly dogmatic position, he managed to stir up a controversy that divided the town. At the end of a four weeks' stay he had completely disrupted the religious life of the community, set Christians against Christians, and engendered a spirit of bitterness that was destined to endure for a decade.

When he left the community, he furnished a report of his activities to a religious journal published in a distant city, in which he said, "We accomplished a great work in the town, and started a true revival of religion." What actually happened was that a man with an evil spirit had set religion back by many years, by the simple expedient of calling good evil, and calling evil good.

There are so many unclean spirits with which the Church must do battle in almost every community. There is, for example, the widespread idea that you cannot have a good time until you are at least mildly intoxicated. Then there are those who insist that gambling helps a town because it brings in those who will spend money. And then there is the spirit which says that anything goes if you can get by with it.

The first duty of any church is to call some unclean spirit out of a town.

Patent Action Called U.S. Impertinence

NEW YORK (CP)—A United States action that would interfere with patent arrangements in Canada was described as Washington's "latest impertinence", by Ian F. McRae, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

In an address to the National Association of Manufacturers, U.S counterpart of the CMA, Mr. McRae criticized a recent anti-trust suit filed in New York by the justice department. It charges General Electric Company, Westinghouse Electric Corporation and N. V Philips Gloeilampenfabrieken of Holland with conspiracy to restrain trade in radio and television sets between the United States and Canada.

Mr. McRae said the American action is a "barefaced attempt to victimize certain U.S. companies for business decisions taken, not by them, but by their Canadian subsidiaries."

"These perfectly proper decisions involved Canadian patents and in no conceivable way conflicted with Canadian law.

"This contemptuous disregard of our sovereignty is bitterly resented in Canada. We see it as flagrant dictation by Washington and a blatant attempt to throttle the autonomy of these Canadian based companies.

"If I have spoken bluntly it is because, like all other Canadians, I want to remove any doubt that my country's capital is still Ottawa."

Mr. McRae, a native of Vancouver, is chairman of Canadian General Electric Company Ltd., a subsidiary of General Electric of the United States.

His comments were contained in a text issued to the press before delivery.

The U.S. complaint charges that through Canadian subsidiaries and through 13 co-conspirators the three firms restrained trade by setting up a Canadian patent pool.

Batawa

BATAWA — Congratulations are extended to the following school students as winners of the recent Poster Contest, Batawa Public school: 1st, Mary Anne Kotek; 2nd, Terence Carpenter. Sacred Heart school: 1st, Charlie Chrastina; 2nd, Ank Rippens.

Ladies of the Batawa United Church W.A. held their Christmas bazaar on Wednesday afternoon in the recreation hall. Conveners for the novelty table were: Mrs. Donavie, Mrs. Elder and Mrs. Buck. The apron table was convened by Mrs Blair, and the candy table by Mrs. Frank Horcica. The bazaar proved a great success.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Loshaw on the birth of a lovely daughter, Tuesday, November 23rd in Trenton hospital.

The Quinte Forenicn's Association entertained their ladies on Thursday evening. The speaker was the Rev. J. Laverty of Queen's University, Kingston. Mr. Laverty, a former resident of this area, is well known in Batawa.

Mrs. Welby Honsinger Fisher, world traveller, lecturer, writer and founder of Literacy Village near Lucknow, India, visited Batawa on Wednesday.

Mrs. Steve Puchy has returned home from hospital and is progressing favorably.

Mrs. Beverley Ray of Bata personnel department, underwent surgery in Belleville General Hospital this week.

Mr. W. Picard and Mr. J. Poselli visited at the opening of Bata's 82nd store in the Bayer's Road Shopping Centre at Halifax, Nova Scotia.

NEW AND OLD LOCKS

These photos show the difference between the locks of the old St. Lawrence Canal system and those on the new St. Lawrence Seaway which is to open next spring. In top photo, the canal vessel Metis squeezes through one of the 45-feet-wide locks in the Lachine Canal with just 18 inches to spare. When the seaway opens, the Lachine canal will be used only for local traffic. In bottom photo, another canaller, the Blue River, enters the Snell lock on the United States side of the St. Lawrence River. The Snell lock is one of two in the new seaway system which will enable shipping to by-pass the great power pool and hydro installations built as part of the seaway-power system. The Snell lock is able to take two ships of the Blue River's size side by side. (CP Photo.)

One-Third of Canada's Ship Canal Fleet May Be Scrapped When New Seaway Opens

MONTREAL (CP) — Shipping patterns of the last 50 years face drastic changes under the impact of the opening of the new St. Lawrence Seaway next year.

Marine experts warn that about one-third of Canada's 190 - ship canal fleet—perhaps 60 vessels employing 1,200 men—may be scrapped next year in face of the seaway's effect on ocean and upper lake traffic.

They expect other repercussions, too, as ocean freighters and upper lake carrier competition inland shipping lanes for seaway-bound business.

Competition is expected to be fierce.

UNKNOWN FACTORS

Much hinges on as-yet-unknown factors, on the economic climate ahead, world demands for ships, the market for major commodities that stand to gain most from the seaway, such as grain and iron ore.

The railways and truckers are also involved as all eyes turn to the seaway's April opening to see what happens and how the transport business adjusts to the new condition.

The seaway, one of history's greatest engineering feats, is simply a 135-mile corridor in the 2,400-mile water highway from the Atlantic to the Lakehead. It is part of a big stairway from ocean to inland ports.

It sidesteps a series of treacherous rapids in the St. Lawrence from Montreal to Lake Ontario, and replaces 21 obsolete, shallow-bottom locks that have for years been a bottleneck to easy navigation to and from the Great Lakes.

It does this with seven locks, like steps in a staircase, that lift or lower ships a total of 225 feet from the level of Montreal harbor to Lake Ontario.

TO COST $475,000,000

It is costing $475,000,000 to build and it will take 50 years to repay the cost through tolls.

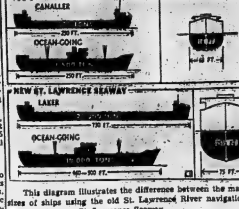
To lift a ship from the Atlantic to Lake Superior is the equivalent of raising it to the top of a 50-storey building, a height of 602 feet. Nine locks, eight of them in the Welland Canal near Niagara Falls and one at Sault Ste. Marie between Lake Superior and Lake Huron, plus the seven seaway locks will do the job that took 30 locks to accomplish in the past.

Before the seaway, big ocean ships were forced to unload their cargoes at Montreal, to be transshipped by rail, road or special canal boats to their inland destinations. Eastbound cargoes, chiefly wheat, faced the same bottleneck at the western end of the river.

The bottleneck vanishes with the opening of the seaway. Ocean freighters, big 10,000-ton ships, will be able to sail directly to inland destinations. The big lake boats, with capacity for 25,000 tons or more of 800,000 bushels of grain, will be able to sail via the seaway to the upper St. Lawrence, to Montreal, Quebec and other nearby ports.

HUGE CARRIERS

One upper laker carries about eight times as much bulk cargo as the small canal ship, a ratio that prompted one shipping official to remark:



"Why send a boy to do a man's job?"

It takes some 20,000 acres of farm land to grow enough grain to fill one laker and 47 trains of 55 cars each to transport it to the shipside. The seaway is expected to mean a saving of five to seven cents a bushel on the cost of moving the grain to ocean loading terminals.

Economists say the lakers will have a two-way cargo, taking grain eastwards and iron ore westwards. Seaway planners estimate these 2 commodities will form the largest part of the 25,000,000 tons expected to move annually through the seaway in the first years of operation.

By 1965, they predict, the seaway should reach its economic capacity—about 50,000,000 tons a year.

SEAWAY TAKES BIGGER SHIPS

This diagram illustrates the difference between the maximum sizes of ships using the old St. Lawrence River navigation system and the new St. Lawrence Seaway.

Many of the old canallers, with gross tonnage of 3,000, beam of 43 feet and length of about 250 feet may vanish. These ships were built to handle cargoes trans-shipped at Montreal from larger ocean vessels.

But with the Montreal bottle-neck removed by the seaway's larger locks, ocean-going ships of as much as 10,000 tons may enter the seaway and sail up the St. Lawrence unloading their cargoes at ports on the Great Lakes.

The laker is another type of ship which will be able to use the seaway. These ships, restricted to the Great Lakes and barred from river navigation because of their length of 750 feet, beam of 75 feet and draught of 25½ feet were too great for existing canals, now will be accommodated by the new seaway locks and will be able to sail to Montreal with cargoes of as much as 25,000 tons. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1958

Pages 11 to 20

'Twas the Night 'fore the Parade

'Twas the night 'fore the parade,
And through each fire house,
Preparations were made
For the affair so pompous.
The costumes were hung in the hall with great care,
For all of Saint Nick's attendants to wear.
Some firemen were tucked all snug in their beds,
Whilst visions of floats danced all through their heads.
But Al. Rump in his nightcoat,
And Gerald Vance in his cap,
Weren't letting George Rutledge
Take time for a nap.
For in the back of the firehalls there was a great clatter
And those in the know knew what was the matter.
Away at the back and inspired by a flash,
Two firemen, Bob and Ted, were having a bash.
Carefully they sawed, and hammered, and wired
And the parade's first mobile was that which transpired,
Which tomorrow to wondering eyes shall appear
With clowns and bands for our children dear.
And a-jolly "Red Man" so happy and quick
As Belleville turns out to welcome St. Nick.
(With apologies to Clement C. Moore)

Busy preparing the many heads and costumes which the Santa Claus parade committee has available for tomorrow's procession are Fireman Bob Fair and Fred Hoskins, both of whom are old hands at parade preparations in celebration of St. Nick's annual December visit.

Santa's Belleville Parade Has Expanded From Lone Truck to Fleet of Fine Floats

The collection of floats which Quinte district spectators will view along the Santa Claus parade route tomorrow morning had its humble genesis back in 1933 when the members of the Belleville Fire Department started down Front street using a lone truck to carry Santa Claus, his entire team and reindeer through Belleville streets. Since that time interested citizens have pitched in to help with the event and more floats have been seen from year to year. This year there is a Santa Claus parade committee consisting of Fire Chief Gerald Vance as chairman, Al Rump as secretary and George Rutledge as treasurer.

One of the major difficulties facing the committee members is the replacement of previous years' floats. Many of the floats have to be destroyed each year, since there is no place to store them for succeeding years' parades. Only a few, which have been stored in the open, have made their appearance for more than one year. This year the firemen are constructing several floats. The most interesting one is the merry-go-round which is the first mobile "action" float which has entered the annual parade. The carousel will be powered by an electric motor, run on current provided by a portable generator, which drives the turntable through a pulley system, which incorporates a slip clutch for safety reasons. The float will have appropriate festive lighting and is gaily finished in colored tinfoil.

BUILT BY FIREMEN

The floats are being built in both No. 1 and No. 2 firehalls by most of the firemen in their spare time. The casual visitor to either of these places might be startled as seeing a hook and ladder truck being backed up by Cinderella's pumpkin coach or a shiny red pumper sitting in company with a glistening silver foil helicopter but until tomorrow morning these strange composures will be stablemates.

Other floats are made or contributed by local merchants and the students at the Ontario School for the Deaf also are active in this work.

The success of these floats is apparent in the number of requests which come in from neighboring towns for the privilege of having a few Belleville floats in other Santa Claus parades. Many humorous memories come to those associated with the floats when they recall the difficulties some float-borrowers have encountered in transporting a float to an outlying town. Bob Fair recalls the night of the Girl Woman's Shoe float being towed down the street by a Cadillac for use in the Napanee Christmas parade a few years back. "It must have weighed a ton," said Bob, referring to the float, "and down the road it went in a driving snowstorm with the trailer rocking from side to side."

The Santa Claus parade committee is endeavoring to find or obtain storage space so that floats may be kept for future use. Anyone who might have information or suggestions is asked to contact Chief Gerry Vance at Fire Hall No. 2.

COMMUNIST CANDIDATE

PARIS (AP) — Georges Marrane is the Communist candidate for President of France. He may be Premier de Gaulle's only opponent in the election Dec. 21. Marrane is a former deputy and senator.

Activity has also been running at fever pitch in No. 1 Firehall. Above, working on the float put in by the Belleville Fire Fighters' Association are Gary Marriott and Bruce Diamond. Besides the horse seen above there will be at least three live ones, not to mention a group of ponies as well.

Stores Here Take on Christmasy Look As Big Day Only 17 Shopping Days Away

This is the season for colored baubles, tinkling bells, downy angel hair, glistening tinsel — and Christmas shopping.

Those who haven't started their annual yule – time forage for gifts better take heed. There are only 17 shopping days left before Christmas.

In an effort to create a Christmasy atmosphere and encourage shoppers to make their Christmas purchases as early as possible, local merchants through the Retail Merchants section of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce have inaugurated their annual decoration and promotion schemes.

The decoration of Front street with cross – street colored lights and Christmas trees started this week.

R. G. Hamilton, secretary – manager of the Chamber of Commerce, stated more lights have been secured and additional lights have been strung at the intersection of Pinnacle and Bridge streets. He added that because of criticism of the size of last year's trees, "larger evergreens will be used this year to decorate poles along Front street and also Pinnacle street."

Mr. Hamilton said a large parking lot banner will be erected on Front street at the entrance to the Front street parking area as soon as all the new lights have been installed. Since the lot will be metered there will be no need of hiring parking lot attendants this year. He noted some stores bordering on the lot have cleaned up and paved their back entrances to allow customers to enter the store directly from the parking lot.

OPEN FIVE NIGHTS

Stores will be open every Wednesday afternoon this month and the last five nights before Christmas.

Several stores have co-operated to hold give-aways such as a turkey draw to attract customers, while one department store engaged Santa Claus for the afternoon.

The Chamber of Commerce sent out letters to all local merchants this week urging them to "get on the bandwagon" and send in their contributions now to the retail merchants organization to ensure "the full benefit of the advertising dollars can be spent to the best of advantage." Cards for the "Telephone Santa Claus" program have been enclosed, through the courtesy of the Belleville Recreation Commission, to be distributed to married employees and customers with children under school age.

Mr. Hamilton stated the employment situation this winter is expected to be at "an all-time high."

He urged local citizens to do their Christmas shopping in Belleville so money can be kept in the city and "circulated properly." In this way the "National Employment Office's "winter-work program" will benefit locally, he explained.

He stated the local C of C offices have received inquiries regarding store hours in Kingston, Oshawa, Watertown, N.Y. and Buffalo, N.Y.

"When you consider the costs of transportation, hotel bills and in most cases, baby sitter's fees, it must be added to the cost of the merchandise purchased. These shopping excursions to other centres are merely a glorified holiday at a time when most people can least afford it", he stated.

Santa Claus Parade to Be Shown on TV

This year the Belleville Santa Claus parade will be televised for the first time since in its history. CKWS-TV cameramen from Kingston will be placed at points along the route to take movies of the procession as it winds its way through the downtown streets. These films will then be telecast a week from tomorrow over Channel 11, Kingston. The time will be 6:45 p.m. on Saturday, December 13th, and the program will run for fifteen minutes. The Belleville parade will be one of the few civic Santa Claus parades to be televised across Canada this year.

Radio station CJBQ will be broadcasting a live description of the parade from a position near along the route. The program will be starting about 10:15 a.m. or about fifteen minutes after the parade starts from the Upper Bridge.

Full press coverage will also be given by the news staff of the Ontario Intelligencer.

END OIL PROGRAM

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Emergency U.S. petroleum deliveries to Jordan began during last July's Middle East crisis, have ended, an American Embassy spokesman said today. The operation cost the U.S. government nearly $1,000,000 out of $3,000,000 promised in petroleum aid. The remaining $1,100,000 will be used to build 12 oil storage tanks at Jordan Red Sea port of Aqaba.

An Invitation

We would like to extend an invitation to each and every one in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties to come into Belleville tomorrow morning and see our Santa Claus parade.

We have had one hundred per cent co-operation from the many people contributing to the production of this annual event and we are sure that you will appreciate the results of their fine efforts.

Candy will be distributed to the children along the route a half hour before the starting time, which is 10 o'clock sharp, so be sure to arrive before then.

We hope that we get the breaks from the weather-man and have a fine day; but come rain or shine, Santa Claus will come to town.

We hope you are there to welcome him.

The Belleville Santa Claus Parade Committee,
Gerald Vance, chairman
Al Rump, secretary
George Rutledge, treasurer.

Requests Payment of Parade Pledges

This year's Santa Claus Parade promises to be the best which Belleville residents have yet seen but Grand Expense has been incurred in providing an absolutely top-notch spectacle. Many people have contributed much in time and labor to ensure that the parade gets on the road. Others have donated to the building of various floats.

Mr. George Rutledge, treasurer of the parade committee, in an interview with the press yesterday requested that those who have promised a donation but have not yet sent it in please address their contribution to him for the Belleville Santa Claus Parade Committee, No. 2 Fire Hall, West Moira Street, Belleville.

Anyone wishing to donate may do so by mailing or delivering contributions to the above address.

SMALL DEPOSIT

BALDOCK, England (CP) — A scheme to build 20 houses for sale with only a £1 deposit is to be carried out by the council of this Hertfordshire town.

BIG RETURN

BRAMPFORD SPEKE, Eng. (CP)—The weight of 13 marrows grown from a single stray seed root in this Devon village exceeds 235 pounds.

Great Variety Of Costumes In Parade Here

Costumes galore will also form a great part of the parade festivities. Together with rented togs and those which the parade committee owns outright, at least one hundred and fifty persons will be dressed in costume row as clowns, Beefeaters, cowboys, cooks, animals, magicians, and toy soldiers. Santa's whole characters will also be present for the occasion. Mickey Mouse, Pluto, and a host of other well-known characters will accompany the floats through the town.

Those who will be wearing costumes (and everyone over fourteen years of age is invited to do so as long as there are enough costumes), are requested to dress into the No. 2 Fire Hall between 2:00 and 9:00 p.m. today to get fitted for theirs. They are then asked to reappear at the fire hall tomorrow morning by 9:00 a.m. at the latest, so that they can have any make-up required applied and by instructed as to where their places are in the lineup.

Many local women have been busy modifying and improving on the costumes which are rented by the parade committee. Each year there are always a few to be repaired. This year clastrics have been placed in the necks of all the capes, since drawstrings were found to pull out too easily during the inevitable rush which occurs the morning of the procession.

Parking Banned On Parade Route

Local residents and visitors who will be in town tomorrow are cautioned against parking their cars on the streets along which the parade will be travelling. These include: Front street from the Upper Bridge to Dundas street; Dundas street to Pinnacle street; Pinnacle to Upper Bridge and West Moira street from the bridge to the No. 2 Fire Hall. Parking will be allowed anywhere along Front street, until after the parade has slip characters will also be passed, at which time the parking ban will be lifted.

It is requested by Fire Chief Vance that spectators not park from the top of Moira street hill to Bonwell street as that the parade can be organized and lined up without interference.

Keep Children Out of Paths Of Heavy Floats

With all the floats, marchers and spectators in tomorrow's parade there will remain a word of advice and another of caution to those who will be present to view the Santa Claus parade. With no parking being allowed along Front street there will be plenty of viewing area along the first part of the route for spectators. Parents and children are cautioned not to step off the curbs when floats come by. Kingston no longer has a similar parade due to an unfortunate fatality which occurred a few years ago.

Candy Trucks Will Precede Santa's Caravan

Tomorrow morning Belleville citizens and their out-of-town guests will view the Santa Claus parade as it travels from the Upper Bridge at 10:00 a.m. (sharp). Approximately twenty-six floats will be in the procession, as well as two band floats. The parade will be over about half hour will be two vehicles preceding Santa and his children along the route. Seven thousand chocolate bars have been purchased for the occasion so no child should go unrewarded if he or she keeps along the route by 9:30 a.m.

The parade procession to be the best for an old St. Nick between Toronto and Montreal. Not too many town and cities in eastern Ontario have such an event and Belleville's parade has gained the reputation of being the best organized and best attended procession in the area.

The procession will assemble at the No. 2 Fire Hall on West Moira street, then proceed to the Upper Bridge for the official start. The route will follow south on Front street to Dundas; east to Pinnacle street; then north along Pinnacle to Station street; along Station to the Upper Bridge and thence to No. 2 Fire Hall, where the parade will disband.

Dodgers Reach For Moon, Give Cimoli

WASHINGTON (AP) — St Louis Cardinals traded outfielder Wally Moon to Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday for outfielder Gino Cimoli. As part of the deal, the Cardinals sent pitcher Phil Paine to the Dodgers' farm club in Spokane, Wash. Moon, 28, hit .338 in 105 games with the Cardinals last year. Cimoli, also 28, is a right-handed swinger. He batted .246 with the Dodgers in 109 games.

Cougars Edge Warriors 4-3

WINNIPEG (CP) — George Ford's second goal, with less than three minutes remaining, gave Victoria Cougars a 4-3 Western Hockey League decision over Winnipeg Warriors Thursday night.

Don Blackburn added the other two goals for the Cougars. Ray Brunel with two and Dick Lamoureux scored for Winnipeg.

Toronto Soccer Team Sold

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Sparta of the National Soccer League has been purchased by Ernie Ruricksa, who formerly operated the Austrian team in the city's Continental League.

Sparta, originally a Czechoslovak team, last season drew most of its strength from Scottish imports. The deal is believed to be the first sale of a team in Canadian soccer history.

Argos Nail High School Star

TORONTO (CP) — Norm Turner, a 185-pound quarterback who sparked Danforth Tech to its second successive city high school football title this year, has been placed on the negotiation list of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four.

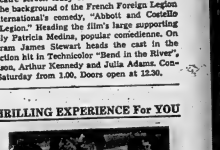
There's a hitch, though. Turner intends to get a college education.

"If he plays college ball," Argo managing director Lew Hayman said Thursday night, "then we'll just have to drop his name from our list because he's quality for the college draft."

Turner says he has rejected overtures from the universities of Michigan and South Carolina. He intends to stay in Canada and has been in touch with Queen's University and the University of Western Ontario.

Dismal weather plagued all the games.

WINNERS GET $350



Players on the losing team each get $250. The winners receive $350 apiece. Grant says the token figures prove the competitors aren't driven by money motive. If they were, "they just wouldn't be here."

Proceeds of the game go to the Shriners' Children's hospitals at Montreal and Winnipeg.

AT THE PARK — Popular Bod Abbott and Lou Costello return to the Park Theatre screen today and Saturday to provide laughs against the background of the French Foreign Legion in Universal-International's comedy, "Abbott and Costello in the Foreign Legion." Heading the film's large supporting cast is the lovely Patricia Medina, popular comedienne. On the same program James Stewart heads the cast in the great outdoor action hit in Technicolor "Bend in the River", with Rock Hudson, Arthur Kennedy and Julia Adams. Continuous show Saturday from 1.00. Doors open at 12.30.

Hollywood's Famed Club, Ciro's to Open as Private One

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Herman Hover says he's going to reopen his famed night club, Ciro's. But the public won't be allowed. It'll be privilege of dropping its dollars in the till.

Hover says he will turn Ciro's bright lights on again by the end of this month, operating the place as a private club. Among the members: Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball, Jimmy Durante, C. V. Whitney, Ethel Merman and Bob Sie, Max Factor.

The development marks a new phase in Hover's long career in the night club business, and he's convinced that his move holds portent for the future.

COMING THING

"I think the private club is the coming thing in the entertainment business," he said. "The enemy of the night club is not television or the high cost of entertainers; it's the restaurants.

"People can eat in a restaurant and not pay the entertainment tax, cover charge or minimum. When they eat at a night club, they have to go out and get stabbed for a big bill. But a private club, with a regular income of dues coming in and no federal tax to pay, can afford to operate like a night club without high prices."

If Hover succeeds in his venture, he'll have made the trip back against great odds. When he closed down Ciro's last year, he was deep in debt and involved in numerous law suits.

"What happened," he reflected, "All I can say is that you start going down, trouble piles up on you."

But he managed to dig himself out from under, settle his suits and regain possession of the Sunset Strip pleasure palace. Though the place has stood idle for a year, he said it requires little refurbishing; he invested $50,000 in redecorating in the year before closing. He sold his house to finance what improvements are needed.

Members pay a $25 initiation and $9 quarterly dues. They'll have the privileges of dining and dancing with a select clientele, playing on rummy, taking steam baths and so on.

Quarterback Kings to Meet In Shrine All-Star Battle

HAMILTON (CP) — The twain meet Saturday.

Today, Jim Trimble's East team and Bud Grant's West squad went through final practices for the Shrine all-star football game.

Trimble, coach of the Big Four Hamilton Tiger-Cats, has two of the finest quarterbacks in Eastern Canada—his own Bernie Faloney and Montreal Alouettes' rifle-armed Sam Etcheverry.

Grant, who coached Winnipeg Blue Bombers to the Grey Cup championship last Saturday with a 35-28 win over Hamilton, has four quarterbacks available for service. He will stir with Jackie Parker, of Edmonton Eskimos.

TO USE THEM ALL

Grant said the Bombers' sensational Jim Van Pelt and Saskatchewan Roughriders' Frank Tripucka will also be sent into action.

Kenny Ploen of Winnipeg may also see action as a quarterback. But his big job will be at half, replacing teammate Leo Lewis, injured in the Grey Cup game.

Trimble is expected to divide the quarterback role evenly between Etcheverry, who'll start, and Faloney.

A crowd of 15,000 is expected.

The East won last year's game 20-2. But the West routed the East 35-0 the year before at Vancouver. The first all-star encounter, in 1955, ended in a 24 tie.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

HELP WANTED: — By His Worship Mayor Gerald Hyde, six tyrists for part-time duty.

Nope, the plumbing and heating business is not that good—yet—but Hixmoor has a large community fish to fry and six tyrists who are willing to volunteer a small part of their time and services will turn the trick.

We do not believe there is a "hotter," more loyal McFarlands hockey fan in the city and district than the chief magistrate of the Old Lady of the Moira.

His has given much of his time and effort in backing his favorite senior hockey club, and they tell us that the Kelowna villagers were more than impressed with the loyalty and love-of-team spirit shown by Mayor Gerald Hyde during that now famous championship safari to the home of the Packers in the Okanagan Valley.

Some of his best friends tell us that next to a sizzling civic debate and a knotty plumbing and heating problem, Mayor Hyde's favorite topic is hockey—and the McFarlands. He can be seen any game night in Memorial Arena wearing his familiar Macs tam, with his topcoat garnished with the Booster Club's cartwheel button.

In his own quiet individual way, Mayor Hyde has been working hard for the McFarlands, with emphasis on their overseas junket come February of next year.

Now he needs a little assistance. We understand Hixmoor never graduated from a business college with a typing record of 120 words a minute. In fact, like this department's hunt-'n'-peck two-finger system, it is doubtful if the civic head's digits can produce a quarter of that number. So six little typists, blonde, brunette, or redhead, no questions asked, can do His Worship a mighty big favor with a minimum of time and effort on their part.

It seems that during the time off from his strenuous civic and business duties, the mayor has been more than interested in the raising of funds to help finance the Macs' overseas trip.

Firing a figurative shot at random, he decided to write letters to a handful of business firms of the city, district and country, and the results were pleasantly surprising. Several of them responded to his appeal for funds for the trip, and something like $1,200 rolled into the club's overseas fund coffers.

Now, he feels, a booster venture into this field of financing would be worth investigating, so he plans to contact several hundred firms after the turn of the year. The Christmas season, he feels, would not be very propitious during of monetary gifts, but after the festive celebration is over and the bills paid, even staid business men can count their leftover blessings and possibly contribute to the Macs' fund.

The mayor's present plans along this line is to prepare a letter which will be signed personally and send it to business heads over a far-flung district. From his knowledge of the addressing of envelopes and with a few thousand letters in the planning, this will prove to be quite a feat.

However, he feels there are a half-dozen typists in the city who are not too busy, who could lend a hand, or both of them, to the worthy cause of envelope-addressing.

As was mentioned before, the letters will not be placed in the mail until after the turn of the year, but the business of readying them will go on apace, providing the necessary help is forthcoming.

So here is your chance, girls, to give the mayor a hand and the McFarlands' hockey club a great big boost.

If you can see your way clear to assist in any manner please get in touch with Mayor Gerald Hyde at the city hall or at Charles Hyde and Son Plumbing on Front Street, and you will get full instructions as to what is required.

The big thing is to get your name in as soon as is convenient, so the job of readying the letters for mailing can be started and perhaps finished before the holiday rush gets under way.

In another section of the funds-raising battle front, the Rescue Club is doing yeoman service selling tickets for the two free "rides" to Prague, Czechoslovakia, for the world tournament—or is it lies, one thousand dollars in cold hard cash. The tickets are available from any booster member and at the Front Street shops of Don Stanton and Jack Diamond. There is not much time left, as the draw will be made in two weeks' time. Remember the draw will be made in two weeks' time. Remember, one lucky person will "click" for the trip, or the cash. It could be you, but it won't unless you have a ticket. Get 'em now!

Bounces Back With 4-0 Blank As Wings, Bruins Swap Spots; Backstrom Scores Hab Goals

By KENNEDY WELLS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Coach Sid Abel can relax again. Detroit Red Wings' Terry Sawchuk has rediscovered the formula for goal-tending success.

Sawchuk, who let in 13 goals in two National Hockey League games last weekend, bounced back to form Thursday night with a 4-0 shutout of Boston Bruins, his third of the season.

In Montreal Jacques Plante, Sawchuk's only serious rival for NHL net-minding honors this season, allowed two second-period goals as his Canadiens hung on for a 2-2 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs.

The win moved Detroit into second place, three points back of Montreal while Boston dropped into third.

At Detroit Sawchuk made 9,277 fans regret the continuely they heaped on him Sunday night when Canadiens beat him 7-0. He blocked 26 shots, 12 of them in the second period, and looked like the man who helped hold Detroit up early in the season.

FATAL SLIP?

Abel paid tribute to his play recently by saying "it frightens me a little." He slips explained could happen.

The 28-year-old Winnipeg native has allowed only 60 goals in 25 games—Plante has 59 in 24—seems to have put completely behind him the 1956-57 season when he led Boston a sick, embittered man.

Helping Sawchuk out was Detroit's oldest player, 39-year-old Gordie Howe. The big right winger scored his 15th NHL goal to regulate season play. The other Red Wing goals came from Nick Mickoski, Marcel Pronovost and Billy McNeill.

Howe's 200th was scored on an 18-foot shot after he had taken a pass from Red Kelly and skated the length of the ice. It came in the second period with the Bruins already down 3-0.

Ralph Backstrom, who is rapidly emerging as the league's strongest candidate for rookie-of-the - year honors, scored both Canadiens' goals as they drew with Toronto.

FILLS BELIVEAU'S SHOES

The 21-year-old left swinger moved over to centre to replace the injured Jean Beliveau and combined with Bernie Geoffrion, Ab McDonald and Maurice Richard for his sixth and seventh goals this season. Both of them came in the first period.

In the second Toronto soared back with unassisted goals by Tim Horton and Frank Mahovlich, but was all the scoring for the night.

Horton, who played an outstanding rushing game, fooled Plante with a 60 - footer and Mahovlich tied the score with a 10-footer after snatching the puck from Montreal defenseman Jean Guy Talbot in Canadiens' zone.

The third period was scoreless but filled with action as four players mixed it up.

Toronto's Bob Pulford did the only serious punching as he toppled little Henri Richard with a jolting righthand blow.

Richard knocked lineman Neil Armstrong down in an attempt to reach Pulford and the pair were given majors along with Canadiens' Don Marshall and Leafs' Carl Brewer. Who confined their battle to a little pushing and a few light blows.

Colts Clinch Division Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baltimore Colts have clinched the western division title of the National Football League and the Los Angeles Rams are definitely in the also-ran class.

Yet 70,000 or more fans are expected to crowd into Memorial Coliseum Saturday to see a game that actually means nothing.

The local heroes have won six games and lost four and are tied with Chicago Bears for the second spot in the division.

The Colt-Ram battle on Saturday, a departure from the usual Sunday games, was arranged as a national television offering.

League bestillies otherwise resume SUnday, with Cleveland Browns favored to retain their one-game lead over New York Giants in the still-unsettled eastern division race.

The Browns play the cellar-dwelling Cardinals at Philadelphia and the Giants go to Detroit to meet the Lions. Cleveland's record is 8-3 the Giants 7-3.

Groom, Trainer, Stable Boy Are Suspended After Probe

TORONTO (CP) — Evidence gathered by a provincial police undercover unit led to an Ontario Racing Commission ruling which bars for stable workers from Ontario tracks.

A trainer drew a six-month suspension in the case as the commission continued to investigate the shady dealings in the sport of kings.

More hearings are scheduled for Monday, said magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, commission chairman.

Constable Richard J. Crowley provided evidence Thursday which resulted in indefinite suspensions for exercise boy Gilmour Glassford and jockey Philip Glassford.

SILENT JOINS BUZZED

Rowntree got the gate for "improperly applying an electric buzzer to the horses' flanks" on various occasions during the racing season of 1956.

Glassford was suspended for "having a hypodermic syringe and needle in his possession on various occasions during the racing season of 1956."

A buzzer is a tiny battery-operated device giving an electric shock for purposes like that of hypodermics, is to stimulate the horse and make it run faster than the forms say it should.

Trainer E. Percy Rickard drew the six-month ban for "failure to properly protect the horse and guard it against the administration of a medicant or drug in that the analysis taken from the horse Rosalthiel disclosed the presence of a drug in the nature of amphetamine."

TEST AFTER VICTORY

Kandilstaff, three-year-old gelding, showed a positive urine test after a victory at suburban New Woodbine last month. Rickard was later suspended by the New Woodbine stewards and his case was referred to the commission.

Constable Crowley worked during the season as a groom for owner-trainer Art Halliwell, who employed Rowntree and Glassfords.

The officer was told before the season started last April to "get a groom's license and to keep his eyes and ears open. Not even the commission knew his identity.

"Although we didn't suspect anyone or anything at the start of the season, the original idea was inspired by the commission," said Magistrate Bigelow.

Hockey's Big Seven

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three members of the top seven in the National Hockey League's point - scoring race picked up single points Thursday night, but Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers, who did not play, is still well out in front.

His strongest challenger is Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion, four points back.

Virgil Akins Solid Favorite Over Jordan

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World welterweight champion Virgil Akins, risking his title for the first time, is a solid favorite to keep it in 15 rounds or less tonight against Don Jordan of Los Angeles.

The fight will be televised nationally on NBC and CBC (TV) p.m. EST).

Most experts figure the 30-year-old, hard - smacking champion from St. Louis will knock out the 24-year-old No. 1 contender — something that hasn't happened to the California hopeful in 35 fights.

TO TRY FOR POINTS

Jordan, quietly confident, predicted he would outscore Akins 15 to 13 — and capture the crown in 15 rounds.

Scoring will be 10 points round—10 to the winner, nine or less to the loser. Officials will be announced at ringside.

Akins, notorious as the tin-eared fighter, was dubbed "it" as he blasted his way to the title with two knockouts over ex-champion Tony DeMarco in Boston and a crushing win over Vince Martinez in St. Louis last June 6 to set up the championship.

Martinez, who had never-been stopped before, went down nine times before Akins cooled him off in the fourth round.

NOT IMPRESSIVE

In two subsequent non - title fights, however, Akins was hardly a tiger. He was a beaten man in Chicago for nine rounds against lanky Tombstone Smith but rallied for a 10th round knockout.

Last September Akins dropped a decision to Del Flanagan.

Akins has been to the post 67 times. He has scored 28 knockouts, won 32 decisions, lost 18 matches and drew in one.

Jordan, a thoroughly reformed no-gang for a man in east Los Angeles, has had 55 fights, won 29, by knockout, and lost 11.

The champion gets 40 per cent of the gate, Jordan 26.

Major Leagues' Players

Unworried by Owners Rebuff Predict Ultimate Victory

By JOE REICHLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The major league players appeared unruffled today by the owners' rebuff of their demands for a percentage of the clubs' gross income.

The players predicted ultimate victory in the financial tug-of-war.

On the final day of their winter meetings, the magnates rejected the players' proposal for a 20-per-cent cut of the over-all revenues.

The calm reaction of the players came as somewhat of a surprise because of their earlier threat of drastic action in the event of refusal.

"The players are far from discouraged by the owners' latest action," said J. Norman Lewis, the players' attorney and spokesman.

"The owners have made flat rejections of other player requests before and eventually reconsidered."

WON'T BE STUBBORN

Lewis said the players do not intend to be stubborn in their demands and would be amenable to a counter proposal.

No other windup action the owners decided on a three-week free trading period from Nov. 21 to Dec. 15. In this period, players may be swapped from one league to the other without first obtaining waivers. The plan will go into effect next year.

Commissioner Ford Frick frowns on the idea and said he may ask the owners to reconsider.

ADOPT DRAFT PLAN

The majors adopted the watered-down version of the unrestricted player draft passed by the minors at their convention earlier in the week.

Under the plan a minor league player who escapes the draft after his first year becomes ineligible for selection until he has completed the normal draft period.

The draft period varies from two to four years, depending upon his league classification. The amendment will be on a one-year trial basis.

American League owners followed the example set by the National and appointed a two-man committee to direct an outside research organization to explore baseball problems as expansion, realignment and television. The two committees will work in unison.

George Chuvalo To Fight In Six Weeks

TORONTO (CP) — Matchmaker Jack Allen says Toronto heavyweight George Chuvalo will meet a "name" opponent when he is ready in about a month and a half.

Chuvalo is having a bone bruise on his right hand treated. Allen figures he will be ready to box in a couple of weeks and then will need about a month of training.

The 22-year-old Toronto boxer lost a lopsided decision to Pat McMurtry of Tacoma, Wash., in Madison Square Garden a couple of months ago after stunning Johnny Summerlin in the second round. Chuvalo came out bleeding and with a damaged knuckle on the second finger of his right hand.

The loss dropped him from the top 10 in heavyweight rankings.

"People give me a pain," said Allen. "The kid lost a tough battle with the greatest fighters in the world have lost fights on the way up.

"He had a bad night. Horses

Fisherman Fashioning Hooks While Archie Sniffles, Talks

By JOHN TORSTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Archibald Lee Moore, nursing a slight head cold, went through a light workout Thursday as he prepared to defend his world light - heavyweight boxing title against Canada's Yvon Durelle.

The old ring charmer dispensed with roadwork because of the cold, but went four rounds with sparring partner Junior Washington before 350 fans. Neither he nor his manager Jack (Doc) Kearns expressed any worry about the sniffles.

"Moore's in good shape," said Kearns. "We'll have no excuses. The champ's talking good and in good spirits."

However, challenger Durelle kept up his rigorous training grind with three miles of roadwork and six rounds of boxing.

BOX OFFICE BETTER

Meanwhile, promoter Eddie Quinn said things were picking up in the box office for the scheduled 15-round fight in the Montreal Forum Dec. 10.

"It's been very strong the last three days. The fever's getting stronger."

He said he was looking for a 15,000 attendance and a gate of $100,000, plus the $75,000 television rights.

So far, about $43,000 worth of tickets have been sold, he said. "We should be able to get 15,000 people. After all, you get 22,000 at a football game, 16,000 at the wrestling matches and 13,000 at the hockey games."

The fight is to be telecast via United States channels, but so far there was no arrangement to make it available to Canadian stations. Americans chained with in 300 miles of Montreal will be blacked out. There will be no radio coverage of the bout, Quinn has said.

Betting on the fight—first world title go to be held here in five years — is almost negligible, so much that no odds are being quoted here, although Guy were reported 4-5 for Moore in New York City.

But Durelle's co - managers, Chris Shahan of Moncton, N.B., and Lew Meyers of New York, but Durelle has an even-money chance at taking the title Moore has held since December, 1952.

"He's in the best shape of his career," said Shahan. Durelle's Canadian manager. "He has really trained for this fight.

"You know what he says? He says he really hates a guy who makes him train for a fight, and that's Moore."

Boxers Like Whisky Not Milk, Work

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis says the current crop of young boxers doesn't like road work and "they like to drink whisky instead of milk."

Criticizing the young boxers' lack of training, Louis said "eggs, citron and rest are the prime essentials of boxing."

Louis, now only 18 pounds above his best boxing weight, referred a wrestling show here Wednesday night.

He said Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight champ, and other division champs are injuring the sport because they don't fight often enough. State boxing commissions and boxing associations were at fault for not enforcing title defence deadlines.

GET GLOVED

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League have obtained forward Howie Glover from the National League Chicago Black Hawks. Stampeders gave up Johnny McCreedy, who leaves for a tryout with the Hawks. Glover scored 36 goals last year with Winnipeg Warriors of the WHL.

Tough Winnipeg Line Coach Offered Kingship Lions' Lair

By BOB TRIMBLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Wayne Robinson, tough Winnipeg Blue Bomber line coach, will be offered the head coach's job with British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Club directors voted Thursday night to accept an executive recommendation to go after Robinson.

Club president Harry Spring said Lions will seek an option on Robinson's coaching services now held by Bombers, who won the Grey Cup here last Saturday with a 35-28 win over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

NOW IN HAMILTON

Robinson, 28, is in Hamilton for the East-West Shrine game. He was not immediately available for comment.

If Bombers let Robinson go, Lions will attempt to get in touch with him in Hamilton. Length of the contract has not yet been decided.

Spring said Robinson will be given a free hand to select his two assistants. Perry Burns, backfield coach at Iowa since 1954 who worked with Bombers' backfield in the last two Winnipeg training camps, was considered a top choice as assistant.

THIRD IN YEAR

Robinson would be the third coach employed by Lions in a calender year. Clem Crowe started out the 1958 season and was released after three games. Dan Edwards, former all-star end with Lions, replaced Crowe Sept. 2 and finished the season. Lions were last with a 3-13 record and left a WIFU record of 19 straight losses.

Lions received permission from Winnipeg seven weeks ago to talk to Robinson. Preliminary talks were concluded last Tuesday. A list of 12 candidates, including Robinson, was then drawn up.

Robinson was an all-pro in the National Football League with Philadelphia Eagles in 1954-55-56. He went to Bombers in 1957.

RAWDON
Bethel Rawdon M.B. Elects 1959 Officers

RAWDON — Mrs. John Mulheron, Mission Band leader of the Bethel-Rawdon group, was hostess at her home for the regular meeting.

Margaret Mulheron gave her report and Judy Reid reported on the treasury.

The election of officers for 1959 is as follows:

President, Faye Cooney; vice-president, Judy Reid; treasurer Elizabeth Trenear; secretary Margaret Mulheron.

The program consisted of a piano solo by Judy Reid and a missionary story by Faye Cooney.

Margaret Mulheron read the story of Jimmie, a little boy of Alaska.

The group participated in a few games, after which the hostess served light refreshments.

$ CASH $ FOR USED CLOTHING $

Why not empty your clothes closets of your used clothing and turn it into cash?

We will pay cash for babies', children's, girls', boys', men's and women's used clothing. Any description and in wearable condition. We require the following: Dresses, suits, skirts, jackets, trousers, slacks, windbreakers, sweaters, bathrobes, shirts, blouses, pyjamas, housecoats, bed linen, fur and leather overcoats please!), snow suits, gloves and underwear.

DIRECTION FOR SENDING
1—Put all your used clothing in a carton, suitcase, or parcel and tie securely.
2—For remittance purposes put your name and address on a slip of paper and insert in parcel, and if possible, pin your name to garments or inside coat of sleeve.
3—Write our name and address on the outside of the parcel.
World Trading Company
211 Queen St. West
Toronto, Ont.
4—When your parcels are ready, phone the Canadian Pacific Express or the Canadian National Express who will pick up your parcels at your home, free of charge. When taking the parcels to the station, tell the driver you wish to send the parcels COLLECT. Under no circumstances pay money for shipping. We will pay all shipping charges when the parcel reaches us.
Upon arrival of clothing at our warehouse, it will be appraised and a cheque sent to you. The amount of money you receive will depend upon the quality and condition of your clothing. Due to the large volume of clothing we receive please allow a week to 10 days for cheque to reach you. Please ship at once as we cannot accept any clothing after January 15th, 1959.

CONDITIONS OF SALE
It is understood that upon receipt of your money, the clothing will become the property of World Trading Company and cannot be returned. Why not send a trial shipment, large or small, to get an idea of the prices we pay.

Red Technicians Awaited in Iraq To Train Troops

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet military technicians are expected to arrive soon in Iraq as a follow-up to Russian arms shipments to Premier Abdel Kerim Kassem's government.

Diplomatic officials who reported this said Kassem has agreed to accept an undetermined number of Red experts to train the Iraqi armed forces in using Soviet tanks, jet planes, artillery and motorized equipment.

A Soviet ship is reported to have unloaded sizable quantities of such Russian weapons within the last few weeks in a move to lodge Iraq closer to the Russian bloc.

CUT WEST'S LINKS

This Iraq-Soviet deal came in the wake of Iraq's moves to restrict Western diplomatic contacts in the troubled, oil - rich Middle East nation.

The revolutionary regime has closed down the United States consulate in Kirkuk, the northern Iraqi city which is the center of Kurdish activity and also of the nation's oil - producing territory. The Kurds are non-Arab mountain people who make up a sixth of Iraq's population.

Also closed were the Kirkuk consulates of Britain, Turkey and Iran. The Russians have no diplomatic outpost in the capital of Baghdad. Mustafa Barzani, a Soviet-trained Kurdish chieftain, returned to Iraq about two years ago with government permission. He had lived in the Soviet Union since he led an abortive revolt in 1945.

NO EXPLANATION

Kassem's government ordered the shutdown two weeks ago, banning all U.S. diplomats from the Kirkuk region. It gave no explanation. Consulates in Basra, in southern Iraq, were not affected.

These moves have been accompanied by what Western diplomats regard as increased control of the personal life of Kassem's regime.

Most diplomats believe, however, that the Iraq strong man has no intention of becoming a Moscow stooge.

Even Divorce Does Not Halt Tea Service

LONDON (AP) — For six years Mrs. Margaret Lingham-French took husband his morning cup of tea in bed. She was still doing it this morning though they were divorced nine days ago.

"It's hard to break the habit of six years of marriage," explained Mrs. Lingham-French, dark-haired and 36. "Even though we are divorced, I still took his meals and do the washing up. And when I've done the washing up, I'll be darning his socks."

Mrs. Lingham-French won her divorce on the ground of cruelty and moved into another bedroom. But she can't move out of the house because she hasn't yet found an apartment she can afford on the $5 a week he agreed to give her for herself and their three children, Margaret 5, Hillary 4, and Katrina 2.

Wednesday she went back to the divorce court and got an order forbidding John from molesting her while they are under the same roof.

"I'm still very fond of him," she said. "When he's being pleasant, he can be very good company."

Three Juveniles Plead Guilty To Arson Charges

NORTH BAY (CP) — Three Juveniles pleaded guilty to charges of arson before Judge G. E. Wallace in the juvenile court here Wednesday.

One of the boys was charged with setting fire to the old public school in Sturgeon Falls Nov. 20, and two were charged with setting fire to the combined Sacred Heart — St. Joseph's Separate School in Sturgeon Falls Nov. 11.

The estimated damage caused by the two fires was $1,150,000: No lives were lost.

The charges were heard in a closed court which lasted more than an hour. After the hearing Judge Wallace issued a statement in which he said the case had been remanded to allow psychiatric examination of two of the boys, aged 11 and 12.

Judge Wallace said the intent of the Juvenile Delinquents Act was that such trials should take place without publicity. In view, however, of the publicity already given to the case and the considerable public interest involved, he felt a brief statement of what transpired was called for.

Lost U.S. Airman Becomes Pawn In Berlin Fight

Insist U.S. Negotiate With East German Reds

BERLIN (AP) — A United States flier who parachuted into East Germany was held today as a pawn in the Berlin situation.

An East German official indicated Lieut. Richard Mackin would be returned to the U.S. Army only through direct negotiations with the East German satellite regime. Mackin became lost and bailed out behind the Iron Curtain Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Communists accused West Germany of trying to prevent German unification.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met Friday with West should settle the Berlin problem before getting bogged down in other long-standing German problems such as unification. The East German Communists charged Adenauer with opposing any move to bring together West Germans and Eastern Germany state.

RECOGNITION

The Western Big Three who occupy West Berlin refuse to recognize the East German regime or have any negotiations with it. This affects both the Mackin and Powers efforts to make the United States, Britain and France deal with East German officials to get out, leaving West Berlin a demilitarized, East German-controlled city.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has threatened to turn over to East Germany in six months the Russian control agency transportation from West Germany to the isolated city 110 miles inside the Red zone. He wants the West to get out, leaving West Berlin a demilitarized, East German-controlled city.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has by Soviet and satellite troops.

The Reds also say they will stick by their pledges to protect the 2,200,000 residents of West Berlin. But both Washington and London have suggested that the Soviet pledge could be the basis for reopening discussions on reunifying Germany, which has been split since the war.

CAN'T LET IT DANGLE

Adenauer demanded, however: "It is impossible for us to allow the Berlin question to hang in the air and negotiate on other questions."

Adenauer was in West Berlin campaigning for his Christian Democratic party in municipal elections to be held Sunday.

In an earlier speech before university students, Adenauer described Russia as the "biggest colonial state of our times."

Weatherman on His Very Best Behavior For Santa's Annual Visit to Belleville

WILL POSTPONE CANAL CLOSINGS FOR TWO DAYS

Ships May Be Able To Beat Freeze-up

MONTREAL (CP) — The last of the annual struggles between ocean-bound ships and gathering ice in the Soulanges and Lachine canals has been given a two-day extension, improving odds for the ships to beat the freeze-up.

But a sudden cold snap or heavy snow could still trap up to wards of 40 ships for the winter in the waterways between Kingston and Montreal.

Some are stub-snouted, 250-foot canallers aiming upstream for their winter berths at lake ports or downstream to berth at Montreal.

But those that 20 are downbound ocean freighters which have moot to ice for if winter catches them inland.

Canal crews had been due to begin a wintertime holiday at midnight EST tonight. But canal officials decided Friday to keep operating until midnight Monday.

COLD FRIDAY NIGHT

Some ships moved through the canals at nearly normal speeds Friday. But the temperature was again well below freezing at night, and ice was forming, jamming the lock gates.

Flying squads of trouble-shooters were put on the job, special fuel from Montreal to avert crises.

An automatic steel arm which operated a lock at Massena, N.Y., part of the St. Lawrence Seaway, were in use on the downstream run from Kingston, developed a small fault Thursday and delayed a dozen ships at the Snell lock. A large crane was used to operate the gate until the arm is repaired.

Ships were reported as follows:

Bank Robber Given 12 Years At Brockville

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Rene Martin, 22, of Montreal was sentenced Friday to 12 years for his part in a Brockville bank robbery last May in which the loot amounted to at least $3,350,000.

Martin's lawyer, Raymond Daoust of Montreal, said he will appeal the sentence on the grounds of severity. The maximum is 14 years. Martin already has served seven months in the county jail here.

The court received a surprise shortly before sentencing when Det.-Sgt. Leslie Sherrill produced a parcel in the mail Nov. 28 containing $51,000 in bonds — part of the Brockville Trust and Savings Company theft.

He said the package was addressed to him from an unknown person and was delivered at the Brockville police station.

A container $20,000 worth of bearer bonds and $31,000 in registered securities.

A company official said $2,250,000 in bearer bonds normally can be cashed by the bearer with no strings. Police recovered $500,000 of them when Martin was arrested in Montreal May 4. Registered bonds valued at $1,100,000 were stolen and $600,000 were recovered. Cash and jewelry also was stolen.

Martin was arrested after a bank book was found at the scene of the robbery. He pleaded guilty.

Picton Woman Dies of Injuries After Collision

PICTON (Special) — Mrs. John Norton, 73, of R.R. 6 Picton, died in the Prince Edward County Hospital early this afternoon morning from injuries received in a car collision on the Main Street of Picton late Friday afternoon. Neither her husband, John Norton, nor the driver of the other car, William Ham, was injured, and the property damage in the collision was almost negligible.

Mr. Norton, who is 75 years of age, was driving a coupe and was coming out of St. Lawrence Street onto Main Street, when his car was in collision with a car driven by Mr. Nyman and proceeding in a westerly direction. Mrs. Norton was rushed to hospital and it is believed she suffered an uncured lung from a broken rib, when she was pushed forward during the impact. Constable George Wright of the Picton police force investigated the accident and it is understood no inquest will be necessary.

Girl's Body Found

OTTAWA (CP) — The body of a 18-year-old girl was found Friday in a downtown rooming house. Police and relatives identified her as Judith Johnston of Toronto. Police said she died of an overdose of sleeping pills.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Chilly northwesterly winds have ushered snowflurries and temperatures from five to 10 degrees below normal over most of the country's weather across most of the province. Accumulations of snow overnight has been small except for that small belt south and east of Georgian Bay which is definitely known as the snow belt for Southern Ontario.

While change is in the offing, British northwesterly winds will make already cold air feel even chillier; and although there will be periods of sunshine at times, skies will be overcast and snow will fall at others.

Youth Rescues Two From Fire

TORONTO (CP)—An 18-year-old youth plunged into dense smoke in a midtown Linden Street apartment house Friday and helped lead two persons to safety as fire raced through the building and spread to another.

Joe Walsh, who saw smoke as he walked past, tumbled his way around the first floor looking for occupants.

Two Amateur Chicago Art Sleuths Make Fortune on $2,200 Investment

CHICAGO (AP) — Two lawyers who dabble in art sleuthing and collecting have picked up $1,500,000 in masterpieces, says a Vatican cataloigt says it is worth $300,000.

Last July; Vasaile walked out of a Chicago auction house with a small 19-by-16 inch painting for which he paid $170.

That one, says Porcella, is the Raphael he called it "Raphael at his best — one of his finest works" in a letter accompanied with qualities of a masterpiece despite its small size." Valued $300,000, declares Porcella.

Advising the lawyers was Alexis Georgiouc, Chicago art restorer and sculptor.

"By cleaning, painting and see its possibilities as a great one," he said. Mirski explained how the masterpieces are buried beneath roats of paint and dirt and that the calvoles are painted by judges to the special board.

"Sometimes, it is valuable. Sometimes, the buyer does not even get back what he paid for the painting plus the cost of restoration."

Asked why he himself did not purchase the paintings he had bunches about, Mirski answered: "I cannot afford to speculate."

Delaney was termed by Porcella as "the best lost master since Bellini." The lawyer said he bought it in 1955 for $1,000. The cataloigt says it is worth $300,000.

Sudbury, Centre of Nickel Strike, Lively Ghost Town

SUDBURY (CP) — For a city that has lost a $1,000,000-a-week payroll for 11 weeks, Sudbury is the liveliest ghost town you ever did see.

When the Red-led International Nickel Co. of Mines, Mill and Smelter Workers struck the diggings and International Nickel Company, there were predictions that Sudbury would become a dead duck in the event of a long strike. It hasn't turned out that way.

There is hardship in individualt miners families. Small merchants are being squeezed financially. But nooc has gone to the poor house.

However, things could change if the battle continues for another month or two, as it could very well do.

Right now Sudbury on a Saturday night is lit up like a Christmas tree. Business is not what it has been, but the hard rock miners are still buying plenty.

It's hard to figure what keeps the neon lights glowing in this Northern Ontario city of 44,000, with 13,500 people on strike.

Striking miners are drawing on their savings. Workers from neighboring communities — including the uranium-rich area of Elliot Lake—come in for Saturday night fun. They spend a lot of credit is being extended.

"The effect on the economy is serious," says Bob Hollingwood, secretary-manager of the Sudbury Board of Commerce.

"But Sudbury is far from dying on its feet."

One reason why business hasn't been hit with a blockbuster through the strike, he says, is that merchants figured a tieup was coming and engaged in a "tapering-off" period in getting their business prepared away.

Mr. Hollingwood notes that, even with the strike, new business firms are going ahead with expansion programs involving new buildings worth about $1,000,000.

But things are different in the homes of families of those striking against the giant corporation that produces the bulk of the free world's nickel.

Wives wonder if they'll have enough from the strike fund to buy food and clothing.

Following hearings before the board, the parties would have a 14-day period for further negotiations.

If all efforts failed to produce an agreement, the board would issue its binding report.

The board of reference is called by a strike or threat of strike to create a national emergency and a demonstrated time and again in the post-war period," the railways said.

The brief also suggested that railways be allowed to hire employees other than union members; that "employee" be redefined to distinguish clearly between labor and management, and that notice of demands for renewal contracts be doubled to 120

15,000 WORKERS AT GM GIVEN 3-YEAR CONTRACT

Turn Attention To Ford, Chrysler

TORONTO (CP) — The United Auto Workers (CLC), a new three-year contract with General Motors of Canada in hand, turned attention today to the business of making a deal with Ford and Chrysler.

UAW and GM negotiators brought 10 weeks of daily meetings to an end Friday by announcing they had agreed on the terms of a contract providing, for the first time in history without a strike—big full settlement reached between the U.S. auto industry and the union.

The Canadian pact will give 15,000 GM workers annual wage increases of six cents an hour, or 2½ per cent, and an eight-cent hourly premium for skilled workmen.

That was not known when the UAW would approach Ford and Chrysler to begin the stretch drive negotiations toward a contract, or which company would be next.

LONG NEGOTIATIONS

Actually, GM and the union had been dickering for six months and locals in five Ontario plants authorized strikes before the settlement finally was reached.

But a tentative agreement was attributed to a premature burnout in the final stage, a normal affliction of long, intermediate-range ballistic missile.

Both sides had hoped to fire the instrument-packed probe into the moon and possibly out into outer space.

But in Washington, Dr. Wilbur Gleason, director of the project propulsion laboratory of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said: "We're not at the moon 230,000 miles away.

Gleason declined to estimate whether the small satellite would go higher than the 1,800 miles reached by the air force's Pioneer I lunar probe Oct. 11.

NORTH COAST LAUNCH

He said the probe definitely would not go into orbit around the earth. Another Washington scientist said the vehicle "will certainly come back and burn when it reaches the atmosphere."

At a simultaneous press conference here officials were somewhat more optimistic.

Maj.-Gen. A. R. Medaris, head of the army's missile ordnance command, said that "everything is clear" and the countdown is on the assigned goals for the probe.

Fire and ice would be further tracking and computing to determine how far into the 25-degree, 10 - inch-wide, cone might venture.

If it does, the probe eventually would fall back and burn up, Medaris said this was "highly questionable."

STOPPED TOO SOON

Medaris said the failure of the rocket-called Pioneer III — to achieve the planned peak velocity of 25,000 miles an hour by the fact that the booster engine of the Jupiter C rocket stopped firing a little too soon.

Pioneer III had as its primary goal the attainment of lunar distance in a flight of 33 hours, 31 minutes. From there it would label the effort 90 per cent successful.

Pickering was asked in Washington whether the army try could be ready in a hurry.

"Obviously it was not 100 per cent successful, from the scientific point of view," Pickering said. "But it was very successful from the engineering point of view it was not (successful).

Army Space Cone Speed Too Slow To Reach Moon

Unable to Break Grip Of Earth's Gravitation

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)— The army launched a 15-pound gold-plated cone thousands of miles into the sky today but its fate was uncertain.

Scientists said it wasn't travelling fast enough or in a high enough trajectory to carry it to the far reached of space.

However, as of 5:15 a. m. EST, space agency in Washington estimated it had reached 40,000 miles from earth.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told a press conference here three hours after the firing that the 80-foot rocket carrier failed by 1,000 feet per second to achieve the nearly 25,000-miles-an-hour speed needed to pull clear of the earth's main gravitational grip.

LOW AND SLOW

Glennan also said the four stage rocket travelled 3½ degrees below its prescribed course.

The lower-than-expected speed was attributed to a premature burnout in the first stage, a normal affliction of long, intermediate-range ballistic missile.

Both sides had hoped to fire the instrument-packed probe past the moon and possibly out into outer space.

But in Washington, Dr. Wilbur Gleason, director of the project propulsion laboratory of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said: "We're not at the moon 230,000 miles away.

Gleason declined to estimate whether the small satellite would go higher than the 1,800 miles reached by the air force's Pioneer I lunar probe Oct. 11.

Hydro Workers Ready to Take Strike Vote

TORONTO (CP) — A strike vote which would shut down industry across the province threatens the Ontario Hydro - Electric Power Commission.

A recommendation for strike action went out Friday to 19,000 hydro employees who will vote on it at meetings in the next two weeks.

Spokesmen for the Ontario Hydro Employees Union, an affiliate of the National Union of Public Employees (CLC), said power for homes, schools, hospitals and food-processing plants would not be affected.

REJECT OFFER.

The strike call—for authority to stage a walkout—came at an all-day meeting of 60 shop stewards.

The unanimously rejected the commission's offer of a two-year contract with wage increases of 3½ per cent each year. The membership will be asked to back that decision.

Following the strike vote, regional talks of which are expected Dec. 22 or 23, the union will make a bid for new negotiations. Any further offer would be referred back to the membership.

The union is not under a strike deadline and maintain essential services."

The union originally asked for a two-year contract with 3½-per-cent wage increases each year. Later it reduced this to a 3½-per cent increase this year on new negotiations next year.

Other issues in dispute include shift bonuses "to suit a working hours and commission agreement to avoid contracting out work that can be done by hydro employees.

Limit Pickets At Pt. Colborne

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Supreme Court Friday issued a permanent injunction limiting pickets to four men at each entrance of the Canada-bound International Nickel Company refinery at Port Colborne.

Justice Leonard Labor Minister Daley has met with representatives of both sides in another try to settle the 73-day strike by 14,300 inco workers at Sudbury and Port Colborne.

The Pioneer III cone contained these features:

1. A battery - powered radio transmitter weighing 11 pounds, to operate for a minimum of 75 hours on a frequency of 960.05 megacycles.

2. Two Geiger-Mueller tubes, electronic devices to measure radiation in space and report the measurements by radio to earth.

3. A device designed to tell if the cone is tumbling end over end as it revolutions. The cone should rotate slowly as it travels, the tumbling does not interfere with the ability of the radio sensor to detect the lunar glow.

Compulsory Arbitration Suggested by Two Railways

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's major railways have suggested compulsory arbitration as a means of staving off nation-crippling rail strikes when other methods fail.

They proposed to the federal government that whenever a major rail strike threatens, an arbitration board should be set up for "final determination" of the dispute.

In a brief submitted to Labor Minister Starr Sept. 30 and made public Friday, the railways said: "Public policy, as enunciated by a Supreme Court of Canada judge and two other high - ranking judges to the special board.

The 12-page submission was handed to the minister in response to his call for views of interested parties on a possible revision to the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act.

It was prepared and presented by the Railway Association of Canada, which represents 12 railways operating in Canada, including the CPR and CNR.

The brief proposes that when rail - labor disputes develop, a "cooling - off" period of conciliation attempts. If his efforts fail to prevent a strike or lockout for years likely, it says, the cabinet should appoint the special board.

Following hearings before the board, the parties would have a 14-day period for further negotiations.

If all efforts failed to produce an agreement, the board would issue its binding report.

The board of reference is called by a strike or threat of strike to create a national emergency and a demonstrated time and again in the post-war period," the railways said.

The brief also suggested that railways be allowed to hire employees other than union members; that "employee" be redefined to distinguish clearly between labor and management, and that notice of demands for renewal contracts be doubled to 120

Commonwealth Cannot Survive Half Prosperous and Half Starving

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)— Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today that whether the Commonwealth lives or perishes will depend on how well it develops the economies of its attempt to achieve prosperity more evenly among its Asian members.

"The Commonwealth cannot survive half prosperous and half starving," he told the biggest gathering of leading citizens sponsored by the New South Wales government.

In the final speech of his Australian tour, the prime minister summed up the experiences of his three-week tour of Asian Commonwealth members.

Diefenbaker said the Commonwealth must learn that "none of us can be prosperous through the poverty of others." The recent Commonwealth economic conference in Montreal began a move toward aid, greater trade and removal of barriers that prevent development.

The experience of his tour was "one of the most moving of my life."

The way in which the Commonwealth brought together people of different races, faith and distance to help assure peace with prosperity was encouraging, he said, "an answer to many of the problems of mankind."

Premier J. J. Cahill of New South Wales said Australia supported Diefenbaker's plan to promote greater Commonwealth friendship and understanding.

The premier also described Australia as one of the countries "confronting the rising tide of Asian nationalism."

Diefenbaker planned to relax for the rest of his stay in Australia before flying to New Zealand Monday morning.

The prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker will celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary Monday on a flight to Christchurch, N.Z.

DESERONTO YOUTH BADLY BURNED IN TORONTO BLAST

Paul Clare, 18, formerly of 41 Baldwin Street, Belleville was injured in the explosion of a small incinerator torch, whilst working in Toronto on a shopping centre project last Wednesday evening. He is reported to be in fair condition, although suffering from second degree burns on his face, hands and body, in Toronto East General Hospital.

Obtained whilst heating crocus out of the consistency of a stave, the burns cover about 40 per-cent of Mr. Clare's body, hospital authorities said. But Patient Constable and Mrs. Herbert Clare are now residents of Deseronto.

No Action Will Be Taken On New Court House Until Spring Session of Council

Hastings County council will not take further action until April on an earlier decision to construct a proposed new court house replacing the present 120-year-old structure.

Plans for the new building are now being drawn by Toronto architects but they will not be ready until April and Friday afternoon at the conclusion of their December session, councillors moved to lay the matter over until the spring session.

During the session resolutions had been received from both the Quinte Historical Association and the Hastings County Historical Society expressing regret that the old Hastings county court house was to be demolished.

The records also asked that the court house be preserved and that needed space for the county law administration be provided through renovations or additions to the structure.

LAY LETTERS ON TABLE

At the conclusion of Friday's session and following a short morning discussion, the two letters were laid on the table until the April session. Warden Ross Tanner said he did not consider there was any need for the matter to be considered any further.

During the year council had given the go ahead signal for renovations to the court house to cost an estimated $220,000 and detailed plans were subsequently drawn by a Toronto firm of architects.

However, during the progress of plan drawing it was discovered by councillors and architects that the renovation would not result in about 518 per square foot, while new accommodation could be provided at a much lower cost.

Then at a special meeting called a month ago a decision was made to ditch plans for renovation and declared plans for the new structure were authorized. The plans would have provided for renovation in one or two phases, the second plan to provide for accommodation of council chambers and registry office as well as court house offices.

NEW PLANS SHOWN

At this week's session architects came up with revised preliminary plans calling for construction of a three-storey building instead of the two-storey structure originally planned. The new building would cost about 20,000 square feet would provide registry office space on the ground floor, office space and one courtroom on the second floor and main courtroom and council chambers on the top floor.

The building would be located closer to Pinnacle Street with its present court house until completion of the new structure was completed when the old building would be demolished to make room for added parking space.

The two historical societies voice their opposition to demolition of the present court house claiming this is the only much Hastings county history would be destroyed.

FINANCIAL ASPECTS

Yesterday afternoon council discussed the financial aspects of both renovation to the present building and building a new structure. Reeve Jack Brown of Elzevir and chairman of the finance committee said it would cost approximately $18 per foot in renovations, when new accommodation could be secured at an estimated $13 per foot.

He went on to note that in providing facilities for council and the Administrative, of Justice a 50-year-old structure could not be expected to compete with a new building in efficiency and comfort for workers.

It was the recent meeting with the historical society that caused my mind on the matter," Mr. Brown said.

At this meeting he quoted Sheriff Roscoe Rosson, former MLA as stating that in past years he had often pointed out the Hastings county court house was a fire trap.

"But all the glamor and romance of the old building had disappeared when I moved in to work there," he quoted Mr. Rosson as saying.

COULD FINANCE PROJECT

Mr. Brown could not foresee any particular difficulty in the county financing the cost of a new court house.

Reeve Elzer Roger of Madoc township said he wanted to be convinced that a new court house was necessary before he could give approval.

Reeve Hugh McCoy referred to the need for a new infirmary wing at the county home and said that in the county had a much more urgent project at hand.

The same thought was entertained by Reeve James Sprackett of Tudor township who felt the addition to the county home should be given priority.

Reeve William Davis said that in all his 7 years on council he had never been so confused over any single issue.

"As years ago the county had great furore in council when it was said the court house was not sufficiently insured and now we want to pay someone five times the amount of rates to tear it down.

"There was a complaint that the ceiling in the court house was too high and yesterday we had Judge Deroche and County Judge J. C. Anderson) tell us that the ceiling was too low and new court house were too low."

"And there was another complaint about courtroom being on the top floor. Yet here in the county seat for the next century we have the main courtroom again on the top floor."

Reeve Ali Wicket admitted that he also was confused. He felt that the old court house and court house come down, yet he was opposed to spending $220,000 on renovations, especially in view of the fact that in a few years it would be demolished.

Three Injured As Cars Collide

Three persons were injured, one of them being admitted to hospital, following a head-on crash on Station Street Friday night, caused when one car skidded on the icy surface, striking a child who was said to have darted out from the curb.

In Belleville General Hospital with head cuts is Mrs. Lena Reid, 57, of Holloway, who was hospital, following a head-on with her husband.

Suffering a cut upper lip was Donna Pearce, 17, Thelma Smith, 18, suffered bruises. Both were passengers of the second car.

Police said that James E. Reid of Holloway was westbound on Station Street, when opposite the Belleville Creameries, an eastbound car driven by Harry Barclay, Emily Street, was said to have swerved to miss a child, colliding with the approaching Reid vehicle.

County Council Ends Year With Surplus of $30,000

Hastings county councillors wound up their business for 1958 as Friday afternoon they concluded their four-day December session.

Friday morning conclusive saw the adoption of the finance committee report read by Reeve F. N. Brown of Bancroft, who noted that in a day when municipal expenditures were unusual, the county would wind up the year's business in the black.

He said that unless something unforeseen happens, the county will end up with a cash surplus of about $30,000. The accounts would be audited and for 1957 had been $106,077 of which $23,000 had been used to reduce 1958 estimates.

The report showed that during the year the county had made its final payment of $40,000 to the Belleville General Hospital in this completing the pledge made five years ago for $200,000. This year the county had further pledged $10,000 to-ward the construction of a new nursing school, $5,000 to be paid to 1959 and $5,000 in 1960.

Under the new assessment of county road at Moira Lake was transferred to the Huntingdon township. The intimation was that the township would keep the road open during the winter months.

Council was divided in their vote on the question of purchase of such a by-law noting that it would be difficult to administer and enforced. The matter was dropped when it was pointed out that the Ontario Municipal Board decision of fund running at large in Hastings county.

The report of the Juvenile and Family Court Committee announced by Reeve Sprackett and Reeve James Sprackett revealed the cost of maintenance for the first nine months of the year had been $4,584. Division of costs had been $2,061 county and $1,650 city of Belleville.

Cost of the C.A.S. for the first nine months had been $66,168, this including the salary of the Executive Secretary. Expenditures were said running close to the budget of $90,000 for the year with receipts somewhat higher than estimated.

The Department of Justice board report showed net expenditures of $12,382 for the first nine months of the year. Of this amount the city's share was $6,813 and Trenton's share $11,549.

MRS. C. P. HEAVEN

In ill health for some time, Mrs. Pauline C. Heaven, beloved wife of Rev. C. P. Heaven, R.R. 4 Belleville, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Friday.

A native of Sunderland in Brock township of Irish and Scottish descent, she was trained up in an atmosphere of culture and refinement and for many years was active in the work of the Sunday School of Canada. In her younger days she was an enthusiastic tennis player and an accomplished organist. Following her marriage in July of 1925 to Rev. C. P. Heaven, she became a faithful member of the St. Saints' rectory at Peterborough, where Mr. Heaven ministered for the ensuing years.

She entered fully into the work of the Anglican ministry, both in the northern parts of Ontario (Moosonee Diocese) and in the area across the Anglican Diocese of Ontario. She gave generously of her many talents and gifts to the activities of the young people and was a faithful member of the Woman's Auxiliary, having had a membership in her early days in the Diocese of Toronto.

Mrs. Heaven had a winsome and charming manner, which won her a host of friends into whatever parish she was privileged to minister. Many Bishops and Archbishops of the Anglican communion and clergy have over a period of nearly forty years felt the influence of the godliness of her life when guests of Mr. and Mrs. Heaven. Hundreds of them will remember them with sincere affection.

Surviving are her husband, Rev. C. P. Heaven, who is Honorary Archdeacon and Rector of St. Thomas in Belleville and who has recently received a letter of commendation from the Lord Bishop of Gloucester (Lord Ashwith) to visit Gloucester Cathedral next summer and to attend the Diocesan Missionary Conference there; two sisters are daughter, Mrs. Arthur (Ruth) Long of Shannonville, one sister, Mrs. J. L. Brown of Benton Harbor, Michigan, and one brother, Mr. Thompson of Brooklin. Another brother, the late Dr. Thompson Sunderland served in West Africa, at a University there for many years and their daughter Dorothy, is now Mrs. (Dr.) Service of Lindsay.

Resting at the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Chapel, 38 Everett Street. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

IN MEMORIAM

HOLOWAY. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frank Holoway, who passed away December 6th, 1957.
We were not there to see you die,
Not maybe it was just as well;
We cannot try hard to say goodbye,
To one we loved so well.
We watched you fade away,
We watched you pass away,
We saw you suffer day by day,
But when we saw you sleeping,
So peacefully for us to keep,
We could not wish you back again,
To suffer so.
—Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

CROSBLEY. — In loving memory of Arthur Crosbley, who passed away December 6th, 1952.
There is no parting from those we love.

No distance can divide;
For today in Memory's Garden
We still walk side by side.
Always remembered by Louise and daughter Dona.

CHRISTIE. — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Alfred Christie, who passed away, December 6th, 1957.
Dear Lord, I'm a member of county road at Moira Lake was transferred to the Belleville General Hospital this completing the pledge made five years ago for $200,000. This year the county had further pledged $10,000 toward the construction of a new nursing school, $5,000 to be paid to 1959 and $5,000 in 1960.

Under the new assessment of county road at Moira Lake was transferred to the Huntingdon township. The intimation was that the township would keep the road open during the winter months.

Council was divided in their vote on the question of purchase of such a by-law noting that it would be difficult to administer and enforced. The matter was dropped when it was pointed out that the Ontario Municipal Board decision of fund running at large in Hastings county.

The report of the Juvenile and Family Court Committee announced by Reeve James Sprackett and Reeve James Sprackett revealed the cost of maintenance for the first nine months of the year had been $4,584. Division of costs had been $2,061 county and $1,650 city of Belleville.

Cost of the C.A.S. for the first nine months had been $66,168, this including the salary of the Executive Secretary. Expenditures were said running close to the budget of $90,000 for the year with receipts somewhat higher than estimated.

The Department of Justice board report showed net expenditures of $12,382 for the first nine months of the year. Of this amount the city's share was $6,813 and Trenton's share $11,549.

CHRISTIE. — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Alfred Christie, who passed away, December 6th, 1957.
Dear Lord, I'm a member of Thy family,
I would have like to have heard;
But when I get to heaven,
Dear Lord, I'll be there.
Our last parting words,
Our last look we gave,
The pain in the heart,
The grief we have known,
—Lovingly remembered by wife and daughter.

CHRISTIE. — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Alfred Christie, who passed away, December 6th, 1957.
Wife, I would give, if I could say,
Hello Dad, I'm glad you're home,
To hear your voice and see you again,
Sweet dreams.
Sleep on dear one and rest awhile.
So you who have a father,
Cherish him while you may,
For you'll never know the heartache,
Until you see his vacant chair.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Leona and family.

ELLIS. — In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. George Ellis, who passed away December 7th, 1954.
Words cannot tell what you've been,
Come up higher, mother dear,
You have won a crown in heaven,
By your love and kindness here.
—Remembered by daughter Ruth.
As we stood beside your bed,
And saw you pass away,
We did not think that you could die,
We miss your kind and willing hand,
Your loving smile,
Our home is dark without you.
Mother,
We miss you everywhere,
Your memory remembered by her daughter.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all my friends and relatives who visited me, and to me during my recent operation at the Belleville General Hospital; to the nurses and girls on Surgical 2, and Surgical 3; also special thanks to Dr. A. E. Miles.
—Mrs. E. Baker.

Windsor, was introduced by Bro. Earl Fox. Bro. Herbert Dawson was no stranger to Belleville, as he attended Albert College in early days and has also visited many changes in the city since that time.

Bro. Dawson is one of the illustrious welfare worker in Windsor for a number of years. The enthusiastic manner in which he delivered his address clearly indicated his intense interest in Oddfellowship.

During his stay in Belleville, Bro. Dawson visited a number of sick and shut-in brothers and sisters.

The Grand Master, during his remarks, informed all present that the program of the order has changed and that Oddfellowship throughout the jurisdiction of Ontario has moved out of the lodge hall to become a part of community life. Evidence of this is seen in the hospital bed programs and in the work of the Cancer, Polio and Tuberculosis Committees of the various lodges. This welfare work has extended to give service wherever required in the community. Instances were cited where crews of fires had been helped in rebuilding or re-establishing their homes.

BARRIE BOWS OUT

The Grand Master emphasized the importance of the work being done at the Orillia Boys' Home in Barrie, Ontario, and he urged greater personal support of this project by the members. He also stressed the importance of the acceptance of individual responsibility by members of the order.

On behalf of all present Bro. Douglas Simpson, PNG, expressed a warm word of thanks to Bro. Dawson for his enlightening and interesting speech.

Guests were present from lodges in the district, including Trenton, Brighton, Picton and Belleville.

Town Briefs

TRENTON — The local fire department will be sponsoring the annual natural gas at the fire station tomorrow (Sunday) night and will be open to the general public. In making the announcement Fire Chief Cecil Ellis said two men, from Lakeland Natural Gas Company will be present to answer questions concerning the safety in the use of gas appliances, etc. The films will get underway at about 8 p.m.

WILL CLEAN KINKS

Councillor Ray Fox asked the council for permission to have the town's snow removal crews clear the snow from a skating rink at School S.S.#4. He said the school was unable to do this on its own and as it will keep a lot of children off the streets, Councillor Fox asked the town co-operate. The council agreed to have the Public Works department look after it. Mr. Fox also recommended that a skating rink be built at the school park near the Canadian Legion Hall. He said the lights here would make it an ideal spot and that he felt quite sure the firemen, schools and PUC would all help make it a success.

RUMORS UNTRUE

Fire Chief Cecil Ellis said yesterday that present rumors going around Trenton that a "fireug is on the loose" are unfounded and most untrue. He said that all major fires in Trenton, with the exception of the last one at the Beaver Lumber Company, have been investigated by the Fire Marshal's office and the reason for these has been found, or that it has been reasonably determined that they had been set. Thursday night's fire at the lumber mill will be investigated at the first of the week to determine its cause. Some investigation is now underway but there is no suspicion or arson.

CONTINUES COLD

Residents of Trenton have been promised "continuing cold weather" for the weekend by the weatherman but he did not say how cold it was expected to be. Unofficial thermometers dropped to five above last night and the forecast said a high of 18 above is all that can be expected today. Streets in Trenton have, for the most part, been sanded, but motorists are advised to use caution on the ice-covered side streets. Few accidents were reported in the town last week by police officials despite the snow and ice.

GOVERNMENT JARRED

ROME (AP)—The Chamber of Deputies jarred Premier Fanfani's coalition government last night by rejecting a state of siege bill and abolishing an unpopular gasoline tax. The vote was 314 to 263.

Works Projects For Unemployed Fully Outlined

TRENTON — The Town of Trenton will be taking advantage of the federal government's offer to municipalities under their new set up to unemployed men this winter, Councillor Joe Gould announced at the last meeting of the town council.

Councillor Gould said the engineer had drawn up some of the ideas the town council committee felt would come under this set and announced the committee recommended the construction of a gravel sidewalk along Bay Street. Also bush and trees on town-loaned land would be cleaned up. He said there was also the possibility of doing some sewer work as well.

He said Mr. Owen Engineer, Eric Alderwy, will be in charge of the work and to handle the different projects.

In his committee report as chairman of the Public Works Department Mr. Gould brought up the matter of heating the town sheds. He said he has carried out a complete investigation of the matter and had also issued tenders asking for prices on heating the place both with oil and gas. He said he had received no answers to date.

He said he would recommend the installation of two gas units to be placed in the present furnaces in the sheds. He said they were using oil at the present and the town would save off burner had worn out and they were now using one that had been borrowed.

He told the council that the complete installation costs of the necessary gas units would cost about $1,000 and his committee had that much money left in the coffers and if they decided they could possibly get it from Sanitation and Waste funds.

He also recommended that a hot water tank be installed in the building to enable the men to have hot water to wash with and for any other purpose it is needed.

Following a discussion on the heating problem the council decided to call for tenders again and gave the committee power to act when they were received.

The town sheds will also be used as a first aid fire engine after the first of the new year and when the Fire Department received the new, combination aerial and ladder/truck.

Trenton should have to call to Belleville for repairmen when things go wrong with the gas lines.

Councillor Hilton also said he felt the chief and his men should be made familiar as to where all the valves are and that a key, which is needed to turn these gas valves off, should be left at the fire station for emergency use.

Councillor Joe Gould, speaking on the matter, said he had asked the gas company to give the Public Works Department the necessary information on where the valves, etc. are.

It was then brought up that the town had sent a letter to the Lakeland Gas Company concerning the service crews and that when informed the company had not seen fit to answer the mayor suggested another be sent with a copy going to the Ontario Fuel Board. It was also decided by the council that the letter would be registered to make sure the company received it.

Welfare Officer, E.R. Cunnell, Resigns Post

TRENTON — E. R. Cunnell, Welfare Officer for the town, has tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of the year. He was given high praise for his 30 years of service to the town of Trenton. The mayor and councillors alike join in expressing their regrets that he had decided to resign.

Mayor Ross Burtt said that the relief situation of the town is now continually getting worse and that it could almost be said it was getting drastic. He said that Mr. Cunnell has saved the town a considerable sum in investigations of the families in town who have applied for relief. He also suggested the council send Mr. Cunnell a letter to thank him for his services.

The council was also informed by Mr. Cunnell that he was advertising for a man to fill Mr. Cunnell's position.

Councillor Charles Hilton said the town should ask Mr. Cunnell to stay on long enough to train the new man coming in and to make him familiar with the town's records on the families which are on relief. He said he was of the opinion that no man could just step into this position and take over without some instruction.

He also suggested that even if it were after the past the time of Mr. Cunnell's resignation date he should be asked to stay on until whoever takes over is fully trained and that Mr. Cunnell be paid for any extra time put in for that purpose.

The councillors all agreed.

Service Crews For Gas Company Always Needed

TRENTON—Mayor Ross Burtt suggested the town complain to the Ontario Fuel Board if they do not get an answer from the Lakeland Gas Company on a letter sent to them by the town concerning the keeping of maintenance crews on duty in Trenton.

The matter was brought up at the last council meeting following the reading of a letter from the Ontario Fuel Board saying that new safety regulations have been drawn up and have been placed before the cabinet.

Councillor Charles Hilton said that Trenton also needs service crews on duty in the town at all times. He said the gas company had made a verbal agreement with the town before they started work that this would be one of their responsibilities. Mr. Hilton said he did not think it was right that gas users in R.C.I.-V.S. is now sponsoring "Operation Springlift" a drive for clothes, toys and other donations for the underprivileged. M.S. Boxes have been placed in all the class rooms for these gifts and it is hoped that every student will contribute at least one thing. The object is to give these people as happy a Christmas as possible. All students are being asked to contribute.

Keyettes — The important day for the Keyette Club of R.C.I.-V.S. finally arrived! Promptly at 4:15, thirty-five excited Keyettes, and two staff advisors, boarded the Rawson Bus which set out for the Tivoli theatre to present the musical "South Pacific" was playing. School spirit was at its peak, for the Keyettes sang the school song, and shouted cheers at the top of their lungs.

The trip as far as Tivoli was filled with gaiety and laughter. On arriving there, we decide to grab a light snack, but one unfortunate little girl, not several until the last, is forced to wrap her supper in a napkin; and eat it on the bus. The remainder of the trip was as hectic as the first part. One member, thinking she was tossing her candy wrapper out the window, threw away her nickel.

They arrived in Toronto at eight o'clock and by eight-thirty the theatre all were settled in their seats. The show on the huge stage was "South Pacific" which, as described by the Keyette members; the setting was "fantastic", the lights were the "greatest"; and the stars were "the best". The show itself

After the show, they stopped outside Toronto's "Chinese Quarter", and by one o'clock were homeward bound.

Retarded Children's Group Holds Meet

TRENTON — The December meeting of the Quinte Association for Retarded Children was held December 3, in the Auditorium of College Street Public School. A good number attended and it was gratifying to see new many from Trenton attended this first meeting in town.

The film "Tuesday's Child" was shown and was followed by a period of questions and answers.

The speakers were the Rev. E. Young, and Mrs. Toombs, of Campbellford, who spoke feelingly about the retarded child and their life in present-day society. "The House of Happiness" in Campbellford is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Toombs. It cares for many retarded children from both far and near.

Of much interest to those who are members of the Quinte Association for Retarded Children was the information given by Mr. Tom Stovell, the president that a building fund has already been started. It is felt that eventually the Association will have its own building, and the money a building fund is organized, the sooner this dream can materialize.

A second meeting will start in January at the schoo' in Belleville, which will operate in conjunction with the present class of ten pupils already attending. The January meeting will take place Monday, January 5. After this, meetings each month have been the first Tuesday, but starting in January they will take place on the first Monday, barring holidays.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Choose a Hobby for Retirement That Will Show a Little Profit

By THOMAS COLLINS

George W. Hauger, who retired in October, 1957, said this week that people are ruining their retirement by relying on a hobby to fend to prove it he has $5,400 he has made since last April by turning a hobby into a business.

Mr. Hauger makes a more intelligent attack on hobbies than is usually made. And I think the hobby people won't like him very much. But he makes a point or two.

"Somebody was very successful some years ago in selling the idea that a hobby was a ticket to Mother Lode at 45," he says. "Button-collecting, antiques, snapshots, painting, carving, fishing lures, butterflies, rock-hunting — all of it was thrown at people about to retire. And labeled as a nice ton of something to occupy your time.

"Well, a hole in the cemetery can occupy your time. Cheaper, too.

Mr. Hauger went on to explain that he loved all our lives, without letup, toward those things which made us human. And you'll have hard put to disprove it because it is our way of life.

"Retirement has no built-in tranquillize pills that lull us off into the market research, and that is the thing of substance. I am not talking about what I have learned myself. I'm talking about what is a fact. . . .

"Without any philosophy, Mr. Hauger turned a hobby, fishing, into $5,400 from April to the end of November of this year.

He did it with a little imagination and considerable courage. Probably about the same amount of both that retired men have. But he acted, and most retired men won't.

Mr. Hauger developed a commercial fishing pond. It occupies a corner of a swamp and is divided into three sections. It is heavily stocked with fish and the fish are separated by type into the three sections.

Customers come with their own rod and reel, or rent one for 50 cents. Bait sells for 15 cents. The customer drops his line in the pond, then pays by the pound for what he catches. Trout, for instance, is $1.50 a pound. A n d there are 10-pounders in the pond. But many smaller ones, too. There also are many minnows. Bait and lures are free. This is to encourage parents to come with their children.

A customer is stuck with whatever he catches. He can't throw back. And at the moment Mr. Hauger has been able to solve the problem of the customer who comes with his own rod and reel, bar with a line that has been tested to break when the catch is bigger than the pounder hits the hook.

Mr. Hauger didn't get this fish pond through the mail. He had $1,000 he was willing to invest. He had spotted a huge excavation, a quarter of a mile from a river, that had been made by contracting fill for a toll road. And he had seen, when attending a convention in Chicago, a fish pond that was born out of a similar set of circumstances.

He put two and two and h i s $1,000 together and went looking for somebody with enough capital to launch such a project. He wound up with a four-man corporation, including himself with a fractional interest and a contract that he was to be manager.

He won't tell me any more details about the financial angles and he won't tell you. He admits only that he made $5,400 this first year. And he says he has a choice of going to o r a n g e county in January to spend the winter fishing, or trying to work out an ice-fishing project in town.

Retirement, to you as to Mr. Hauger, can be a commencement. Why don't you commence something that pays?

Minor Hockey

Black Hawks, and Canadiens won their games this morning to pull into a tie with the Bruins who have also a game twoee hockey league, all with six points.

Canadiens defeated the Petrolia Army 3-0 on goals by Ron Lemieux with Peter Thorne potting two goals. David Hurst fired the other one while Larry Price had a pair of assists.

Blair Hawks picked up a 4-1 decision over the Red Wings with Stephen White registering two goals. Gary Lucas and Ron Bailey also scored with single assists going to Bob Petrie and Jerry Muldoon and Albert Lenline. Larry Stewart scored the lone Red Wing goal.

Quinte handed the Bruins their first loss of the season when they defeated the Blair Hawks 5-3 on solo rushes. Robert Campbell had the only assist.

The Maple Leafs gathered their initial win of the season by blanking the last - place Marlies 4-0. Larry Wiley and Gary May scored the goals while Dennis Spencer had one assist.

Rangers and Browns played the morning's other tie, skating to a stalemate. Ivo Scott and Gregory Chambers tallied for the Browns while Dan Tyers and Jimmie Lawlor replied for Rangers. All goals were unassisted.

Quinte District Breeders Buy Wisconsin Bull

Farmers in the Quinte district will be able to breed their cattle to a sire direct from the Wisconsin State Reformatory herd at Green Bay Wisconsin, next year.

At annual Eastville Invitational Sale held in New York State on December 3, a six-month-old bull calf was bought by a syndicate of dairymen from this establishment, Wis Symbol Ormsby was purchased.

Members of the committee charged with the selection of the Holstein sire for the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association considered themselves especially fortunate in being able to bring this bull back to Ontario. In June of 1957, they travelled to the dispersal sale of Oakeredale Farms at Digby, Connecticut, with the hope of purchasing his full brother. This bull, known as Wis Maestro, sold to the Michigan Artificial Breeder's Co-operative for $30,000.

Very seldom can a sire be obtained where all three nearest dams have been given the top rating of "excellent" this is the background of Wis Maestro and Wis Achievement.

A further indication that there is great breeding potential in this young sire is that both of his grandsires and both of his granddams are "excellent" and have produced proven animals. Gold medal award are given for proving on the progeny of an animal.

EXPORT CENTRE

VANCOUVER (CP) — British and Vancouver interests will combine to build a $2,000,000 office building in west-end Vancouver. The eight-storey structure, expected to be one of the most striking buildings in Western Canada, will provide office and display space for United Kingdom exporters.

Plan to Form Builders' Group

Thursday evening there was a meeting in Belleville of home builders, sub-contractors and suppliers from the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Peterborough. It was proposed that a Quinte District Builders' Association be formed with headquarters in Belleville. A full scale organizational meeting will be held on December 18th in the Knights of Columbus hall in honor of the new group.

A nominating committee has been selected consisting of Paul Halloran, Albert Horlock and Doug Black, all of Belleville, to bring forth a slate for the December 18th meeting.

It is expected that John C. Smith, executive vice-president of the national organization, Hy Murrell of Windsor, regional vice-president and King Ganong of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation will attend the meeting later this month.

"JUST THE FACTS, M'AM"

One of the pet theories amongst newspapermen, of high and low degree, from publishers to office boys, used to be that facts were reported in the news columns and opinions were expressed on the editorial page.

Of late there has been a gross invasion of the editorial writer's "living space." Under the euphemism of "interpretative writing" the news pages have filched from him much of the territory over which he used to claim sovereignty.

The news pages having stolen part of the editorial writer's domain, we have not the slightest twinge of conscience about invading the territory of the enemy by writing an editorial which expresses no opinion whatever but merely reports a fact. That it is a highly significant fact, a fact which, in expert hands, would produce columns and columns of "interpretative writing," is to our delight, which is further enhanced, rather than diminished, by the realization that it is a fact which the news pages would not recognize as news.

A young lady of ou. acquaintance, approaching the door of matrimony, was being subjected to the indefensible invasion of privacy which we condone as "pushing" or "sliding." It was suggested to her that her days of liberty were numbered, that within a few short weeks she might find that she had acquired not merely a husband but a "boss."

Her reply was startling.

"I want a boss," she said, "somebody to tell me what to do."

"Of course," she added after a moment's reflection, "I won't do it unless I want to."

There are the facts. The reader can write his, or her, own "interpretative."

We are chicken.

LEND A HAND

The Weatherman has been trying hard to get into the spirit of the season and give us that most welcome of gifts -- a new start on the winter sidewalk situation.

A new start, though, will not help much unless some of us turn over a new leaf.

One difficulty is that in some cases it is difficult to know who should turn the leaf.

A case in point concerns those "no-man's-lands" which cross the downtown sidewalks, from wall to gutter, wherever the line of store fronts is broken by a door leading to upstairs offices or apartments.

Storekeepers, or their employees, diligently clean away the snow from the section of sidewalk in front of their premises.

Between these cleared sections, all too often, are narrow strips of uncleared snow which quickly harden, become icy and form a real hazard. In one sense, this is a case of everybody's business being nobody's business, for generally the occupants of both these undear strips extend is shared by several upstairs tenants.

These tenants ought to sign mutual shovelling assistance pacts, before some unfortunate passerby, having been upended, takes it on himself to make an impression, in his turn, on the seat of their understanding.

TRIAL BY MACHINE

The International Conference on Electric Brains, meeting at Teddington, in England, heard Dr. Lucien Mehl, a French lawyer and mathematician, suggest the construction of an electronic brain able to "learn" all the laws and legal precedents, sort them out, arrange them in a logical order and give a verdict in a court case.

The Associated Press reported the proposal.

"Your lawyer has finished pleading your case," the AP said in commencing its story.

Lawyer? What lawyer? If a machine can "learn" all the laws and legal precedents so that it can act as judge, surely another machine ought to be able to learn the same laws and precedents so as to act as counsel for the defence or counsel for the prosecution.

Courtroom drama a century hence may be provided by three electronic computers all clicking away at top speed and, by patterns the most court cases today followed, all coming up with different answers.

The Supreme Court, we suppose, will be composed of the electronic machines which have won the most cases, which would mean those with the most tubes or the record of the fewest short circuits.

YOUNG MAN AND THE BABY

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Whenever life grows dull and sad
And weight of care oppresses,
When what seemed good is really bad,
And failures dim successes,
When homeward with a heavy heart
Despondently I'm turning,
I find the baby comes to start
The fires of new hope burning.

When all my plans miscarry, and
My path is sore beset,
The pressure of a little hand
Will cause me to forget.

The soft embrace of chubby arms
Will answer my neck entwined
Will sweep away the day's alarms,
And soothe my troubled mind.

Something to live for, something worth
The struggle and the strife;
They cannot crush that man to earth,
Nor kill his hope in life,
Who has a little child to run
And romp with him in play
New hope each evening is begun
And cares are kissed away.

De Gaulle Unusual Man

By Arthur Blakely in The Montreal Gazette

The commentators and other experts who fully understand such matters report that General de Gaulle is, at this very moment, pondering with a mixture of grief and gloom the magnitude of his failure in history.

They concede that the General derives, in all probability, some consolation from the fact that he did, after all, win.

They are confident that he neither wanted nor expected the kind of victory that he did, in the referendum.

The experts are sure that the General's supporters would win by a comfortable margin, but by nothing more than that here is not the slightest doubt, they say, that he counted heavily on the election of a strong enough band of opposition (lists of varying political hues) to keep the new National Assembly in an attractive state of balance.

And what happened? A landslide that the General can only regard as a national disaster. Communist strength slashed to pieces, the opponents of "interpretation" of the De Gaulle all but wiped out. And the Gaullists reinforced. And in quite enough, as the commentators explain it, to cause General de Gaulle to wonder if life is really worth while after all. He's the man who has had to put on a show of unconcern. But it does not fool the commentators and it does not fool the French; this brave exterior, he's a broken man.

* * *

And this all goes to show how different are Canada's political men and statesmen to the varieties that flourish elsewhere in the world.

There is, in Canada as well as abroad, a widespread public opinion that holds that it is highly desirable to keep the national politicians in line with approximate balance. Those who subscribe to this theory argue that in Canada's 265-member House of Commons the number of government supporters should total between 135-145. Other MP's should be Opposition members, they say, keeps the Government honest while maintaining the opposition at a level of strength and readiness to take over.

It's an interesting theory. But it's one that Canada's practising politicians—in sharp contrast to the views that commentators and the like attribute to the statesmanlike General de Gaulle—regard without affection or conviction.

At no time, for example, was the late William Lyon Mackenzie King thrown into a state of dejection by the huge parliamentary majorities that were his occasion, given to him. He contemplated these majorities with relish. He wasn't prepared to concede that any of them were large by a single M.P. even though, it should be added, that the Opposition was all but wiped out in the process of acquiring them.

Take, for example, the 1940 general election when the St. Laurent-led Liberals won a grand total of 180 seats out of a total of 245. Universally speaking, political theorists and other deep thinkers on the subject were persuaded that the Liberals had gone too far. Canada would have been better off, the theorists were firmly of, had more Opposition M.P.'s been elected. And they were prepared to be pickish.

But did Mr. St. Laurent and his supporters shed a tear over the plight of the Opposition and the damage done to Parliamentary democracy by the extent of the victory? Not one. The only Parliamentarians who seemed in any weeping were the Conservative, CCF and Socred survivors which figures.

* * *

It might be thought that the Conservatives, having wept in 1940, would weep again in 1945 when the tables were turned the tables by electing more than 200 PC's and reducing the Liberal band of Liberals and CCF'ers to carry on. If so, the Conservatives exceedingly well. And Prime Minister Diefenbaker, like Mr. St. Laurent before him, has borne his trials and tribulations like a man. In fact the Conservatives, far from giving evidence of a desire to keep the Opposition big for the nation's weal, are working lustrously to add to its numbers.

Gen. de Gaulle, if the experts are right, is an unusual man.

Life in Katmandu

BBC London letter

For most people — for most Europeans, anyway — Katmandu, capital of the independent kingdom of Nepal to the north of India, is a remote and very place; but that is not to say that life there is dull or dull. Far from it, according to Mrs. Mildred Stirler, who broadcast in the BBC overseas service after her return from a two-year stay in Nepal where her husband was working for the World Health Organization. "Every day brings a procession of people in our home," she said. "The Nepalese students of my husband's school were particularly interesting, and I used to enjoy entertaining to tea. They seemed to be fascinated to find that the colonials talked English." (Many English people have felt an equally unreasonable surprise on hearing French, German or Italian children speaking their mother tongues with enviable fluency.)

* * *

Besides regular visitors like the Indian ambassador, a keen hunter of tigers, and the bank manager, there were others to remind Mrs. Stirler the world — an American television team, Peter Ustinov, another well-known person to Heinrich Harrer during his seven years in Tibet; an Australian bishop; H.n Suyin, the author who has just published a book on Katmandu's setting, and, of course, the ambassadors who have come to tackle the highest peaks in the world.

"Then there were Indians who trekked over the hills to attend the yearly Hindu festival at Pasupatinath Temple," said Mrs. Stirler, "and Tibetans, who came down to the city for the winter. The Tibetans particularly are a colorful people, and very tough.

They had to walk many, many miles, often carrying heavy loads the high mountain passes to get down into Nepal. Their women were fascinated by my nylon stockings, and used to pull them away from my feet to feel the texture, completely baffled by the fact that there existed such skin. We were just as fascinated by them as they were by us, and we loved their unassuming Buddhist temple, the important Buddhist shrine where they go to worship and to turn the prayer wheels before setting out on their rough journey back to Tibet."

* * *

"Flowers play a big part in the lives of the Nepalese," Mrs. Stirler said. "The women and men too, wear flowers of all sorts in their hair, and garlands for festive occasions. And the woodcutters always come down from the hills with wild rhododendrons decorating their back-breaking loads of wood. But I think, above all, we enjoyed the peace of Katmandu because we must have been living in one of the most beautiful countries in the world. One of our greatest pleasures was to go riding over the hills and climb to the hills which completely surround the Katmandu valley. We would climb to about 7,000 feet and see about 500 miles of the Himalayan range spread out before us from fifty to ninety miles away, and even at that distance many of the peaks seem vast and towering."

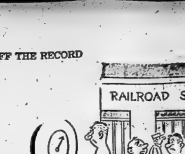
THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK



There is a familiar type of motorist who is not happy unless he is outsmarting his fellow drivers. To him, driving is a game. It games. What golfers get out of golf, bowlers out of bowling, what rugger and hockey players get out of bashing their gallant fellow-sportsman about, he gets out of d i v i n g. He is filled with through traffic, jockeying for position and passing, beating all us dopes to the gun. If you r u n up alongside one of these curiously frustrates just after he has come up on your right, inside, at a stop light, and jumped past you, to your alarm and chagrin, you will note the expression of deep satisfaction on his face, and his uplifted chest, as if he were an Olympic star who had just scored a goal.

If you can keep abreast of him for a few minutes, and then, at the first opportunity, calmly hold back to allow him, to permit him, to score another goal, and as hating so that he can come out around a parked car a n d thus get ahead of you, you have practically rubbed him day. What you should have done, to m a k e him happy, was to fight for position, and allow yourself to be forced to the curb and be left swiped.

The word frustrates which I applied to them above is not a guy type. I'm a spectator's several complaints, every one, without exception, was a phony either in his job, his domestic setup or his social relations. When you see an ill-restrained driver is traffic, you are looking at a guy trying to make good in at least something!"

Tell How Hoop Spun

Calgary Albertan

How does one hoop a hula? A medical house-journal, suggests that since exercise undoubtedly is for adults is perilous and unnecessary, tests just how the children do it.

The hoop is kept in rotary motion by rapid cross-sectional movements of pelvis in sagittal planes. All flexors and extensors of vertebral column, thorax and thighs are used. Greatest strain is on abdominal and intervertebral joints. Rapid tilting of pelvis is synchronized with sagittal flexion-extension, bladder empties easily and then in concert to produce gyratory motion. Is it really worth all that?

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A BIRD'S NEST

A friend at my Nova Scotia lake-land retreat last Summer brought a little hemlock branch to me showing a beautiful little bird's nest in it. I looked it up in my bird book, and decided it was the home of a Vireo — but it started me to speculate all about its history — its building, and its family.

What a work of art presented itself to me! Everything so perfect. The little nest was strongly built, with a small plate on it to strengthen it. Apparently a beak and sharp eyes to rest, and with the finest accurately fashioned, built of hemlock needles, and bound with one of nature's secrets over the entire edge. Then there were scattered bits of white birch over the under-nest that looked l i k e snowflakes!

Who taught that little inhabitant of the wild to form and build such a work of art, and so beautifully constructed? What a contrast to the great pines and hemlocks that covered the island of my dreams! How I would have loved to see that small bird's little family. I can only hope that all lived to drink in the beauty of the forest, its fragrance and color—its sunrises and sunsets. What a thrill it would have been to hold that entire bird family within my hand!

I carefully cut that branch of hemlock with the nest in perfect condition, and brought it home with me. I keep studying it, and all such as it, and wonder. I wonder. I bow silently to t h e God who created such a thing of beauty for W. H. Hudson, the great naturalist, would h a v e loved that handful of glory!

Every child should be taught to love all birds and inhabitants of the wild. I have an idea that their tiny heart-throbs, a n d their whippoorwill songs, a r e heard in the sunshine, and echo through the valleys of the land where I have spent so m a n y happy days.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

SUSPECTED LUMPS MAY NOT BE CANCER

"Dear. Dr. Molner: My husband has a lump or bump on his gum over the eye tooth. It is not half the size of a small marble. He says it is cancer and if they cut on it, it will go all through his body and kill him. The way it is, he says, he can maybe live a little while longer.

"He went to a doctor who told him to come back and he would send a specimen, and see, but my husband is scared and wouldn't go back— Mrs. C.H.B."

Lots of people act just the way he is acting — and all it causes is misery.

How does your husband know it is cancer? The answer is: He doesn't know. The doctor doesn't know, as a matter of fact, a person can't say if you describe probably is not cancer.

True, we should always suspect any lump until we prove that it isn't cancerous. Speaking roughly there are usually about 30 innocent lumps for every one that is malignant.

Now supposing you get bad news, and find out that it really is cancer. If it is not too far advanced, then you still have excellent chance of being cured, because the cancer can be completely removed.

Your husband is sort of half-right, half-wrong about cutting out a cancer. It is true that if the entire cancer is not removed, it is needless for some of the cells to keep on growing.

However, since every surgeon knows this, the greatest care is always taken to see that all cancerous tissue is removed. If your husband should not feel the way he does, he would be GUILTY WITH CONTEMPT.

Furthermore, he should remember that a person unless it is removed, will in time spread by itself throughout the body. That there is only one wire course. Have any cancer removed by surgery as soon as possible. Get rid of it before it has time to spread! That is why we urge people to have every lump, or persistent sore, looked at and at once.

Not all lumps and not all sores are cancer — but some of them are.

Your husband has heeded part of the advice: To be suspicious of any unexplained lump.

He has not followed the rest of the advice. He has not had examined to prove whether it is or isn't a cancer.

The only sure way to find out, in the early stages, is to do just the thing he has refused to do. That is to take a bloody piece of any sample of the tissue to a laboratory. In a few days you'll have the answer.

It's not possible that your husband will then feel rather silly about his fears, if they turns out to be just a cyst or something like that. But they might then worrying, worrying and not doing anything useful!

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that using a sun lamp can cause cancer? Is there any reason why one should attempt to get a tan with a sun lamp? — C.E."

There isn't any good reason for not using a sun-lamp to get a tan so long as you use the same good sense you use when eating the cooked meat. Do not fry yourself! Sun - lamps don't cause cancer unless you use them in such a way as to burn or torturing yourself with burns, and maybe not even then.

Note to C.B.W.: This constant pain you have while walking is no common "leg cramp." Whether it is a clogged blood vessel, or is the result of some nerve or muscular fault would be difficult to say without a thorough examination. If I had such a trouble, I would ask my physician about consultation and examination to see what is what.

Latest Trend In Uniforms

Sault Ste. Marie Star

Great Britain's war office is experimenting with new fashions in uniforms, with a view to attracting more girls to the service.

Judging by some of the advance models, the trend appears to favor the "silvey" look. In other words, the girls in khaki look considerably less military than before.

Another trend, and an embarrassing one, applies many of the new uniforms intelligible from those worn by officers, and really, more of the ones you're used to model them have been adopted by sergeants and other ranks.

Our innovation is a civilian-type raincoat which completely hides the girth of the wearer, and most of the uniforms lean away from the waistline.

It is to be hoped that Canadian uniforms will not follow this pattern. Perhaps, in our opinion, should reflect a soldier-like spirit and be designed in single out a soldier from the civilian background.

There is some advantage in all these privileges at all, they should include the right to wear uniforms hallowed by the traditions of the past.

In our mind, for "walking out" and parade-ground uniforms, we should look back-ward instead of forward. With practical battle-dress for the field, troops should be issued with something to make civilians sit up and take notice for full public dress.

Pictures of the old uniforms, such as we see in the Legion hall, show that men once had uniforms they were proud to wear. We can foresee very little pride in the wearing of the sloppy new fashions and civilian raincoats of the future.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THAT SURE WAY

Modern man does not need to be told that fear can tear his life and destroy it. But he should be reminded that there is another type of fear which is equally ruinous. This factor is hopelessness.

There are many reasons why people develop and cultivate gross appetites. Some of these come out of environment, others are the result of unstable mental attitudes and emotions. But almost always appetite and a gnawing sense of inferiority go together. The overman drinks to overcome his shyness. The sensualist wallows in his desires vainly seeking for satisfaction. And down in the bottom of his heart he knows will never be his. Almost without exception, fear and appetite go together — anxiety and insecurity.

There can be no one rule given for overcoming this general life. But of this we can be sure. Most of the different persons, we have to begin laying foundations at very deep levels. Everybody needs to feel simply by saying that there is nothing for him to be afraid of. We cannot down the urgency of gross appetites simply by denial and by striving to other interests.

Insecurity is the haunting reality of millions of lives. Such people need to learn that their only security is to be found in a personal love and love of the living God. There is no sure way but to live that way.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

"THIS IS THE DAY THE LORD HATH MADE"

This is the day the Lord hath made;
He calls the hours His own;
Let heaven rejoice, let earth be glad,
And praise surround the throne.

Today He rose and left the dead,
And Satan's empire fell;
Today the saints His triumphs spread,
And all His wonders tell.

Hosanna to the anointed King,
To David's holy Son!
Help us, O Lord; descend and bring
Salvation from the throne.

Hosanna in the highest strains
The Church on earth can raise!
The highest heavens in which He reigns
Shall give Him nobler praise.

when man discovered the principle of sowing and reaping. It made for a great new use of energy. It meant that man became an intelligent co-worker with God. Man puts the seed in the soil, and then God brings to bear on it the mighty forces of nature, the sun's rays, the air's breath, the earth's fructifying power.

And this principle of sowing and reaping is just as potent in the mind and spirit of man as in the realm of animals and plants. Life is not a mere collecting of experiences by co-operation with the Divine Power. God gives the seeds. We sow them. God grows them. He and we reap them.

Yet granting the general principle, we are puzzled by the seeming exceptions. Yonder is a farmer who works hard and well, but premature frost kills his crop. A mother writes that she raised her son in a godly home until he became a fine, promising young man. Then she was took him and sent back his lifeless body. But her neighbor who neglected her boy for her own good times and let him grow up unfit for military service, now has her son. Yonder is a person who lives conscientiously and prays faithfully, yet his business fails. Next to him is another fellow given to shady deals and loose living, yet he seems to prosper. How then can we say, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

BIG BUSINESS

If we are to understand God's plan, we must realize that his plan is too big for our finite minds to measure in our ledgers and month-by-month estimations. This was the truth that Job had to learn. After he and his friends had vainly tried to reason out the causes and effects in the troubled career, Job heard a voice out of the whirlwind saying, "Where was thou when I laid the foundation of the earth?" If thou has understanding. When he lifted his eyes to see it God's ways are too vast to be measured in petty, bookish ways, Job regained his faith.

We must see that the God of the soul and the spirit works by processes of fertility rather than quick return. The harvest does not always get a quick crop. But if he faithfully and patiently tills his soil, praying for divine guidance and receptiveness, he does reap a harvest of greater resourcefulness and becomes a better farmer.

The world is not run as a lottery. Here we merely take out our turn is it a factory where we put in our pay every month. But a Father who keeps faith with his children who trust and obey Him.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

"THIS IS THE DAY THE LORD HATH MADE"

This is the day the Lord hath made;
He calls the hours His own;
Let heaven rejoice, let earth be glad,
And praise surround the throne.

Today He rose and left the dead,
And Satan's empire fell;
Today the saints His triumphs spread,
And all His wonders tell.

Hosanna to the anointed King,
To David's holy Son!
Help us, O Lord; descend and bring
Salvation from the throne.

Hosanna in the highest strains
The Church on earth can raise!
The highest heavens in which He reigns
Shall give Him nobler praise.

Hymns glorifying the Sabbath Day are few in number but they are deeply cherished by the singing Church.

Every list of such hymns includes Christopher Wordsworth's beautiful song, "O Day Of Rest And Gladness", and this gem of Dr. Isaac Watts' which the great English hymnist wrote and published in 1719.

Thomas A. Arne, an English musician, created the music for the Watts hymn. The hymn itself is a paraphrasing of Psalm 118: 24-26.

"This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it.
Save now, I beseech Thee, O Lord: O Lord I beseech Thee, send now prosperity.
Blessed be He that cometh in the name of the Lord: we have blessed you out of the house of the Lord".

Many of Dr. Watts' best-loved hymns are based on one or another of the Psalms. Most all of them were inspired by Bible texts. Many hymnists have joined Matthew Arnold in praising "When I Survey The Wondrous Cross" as "the finest hymn in the English language".

when man discovered the principle of sowing and reaping. It made for a great new use of energy. It meant that man became an intelligent co-worker with God. Man puts the seed in the soil, and then God brings to bear on it the mighty forces of nature, the sun's rays, the air's breath, the earth's fructifying power.

And this principle of sowing and reaping is just as potent in the mind and spirit of man as in the realm of animals and plants. Life is not a mere collecting of experiences by co-operation with the Divine creator. God gives the seeds. We sow them. God grows them. He and we reap them.

Yet granting the general principle, we are puzzled by the seeming exceptions. Yonder is a farmer who works hard and well, but premature frost kills his crop. A mother writes that she prayed her son in a godly home until he became a fine, promising young man. Then the war took him and sent back his lifeless body. But her neighbor who neglected her boy for her own good times and let him grow up unfit for military service, now has her son. Yonder is a person who lives conscientiously and prays faithfully, yet his business fails. Next to him is another fellow given to shady deals and loose living, and he seems to prosper. How then can we say, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

BIG BUSINESS

If we are to understand God's harvest, we must realize that his business is too big for our infinite minds to measure in our little leggers and month-by-month calculations. This was the truth which Job had to learn. After he and his friends had vainly tried to trace causes and effects in his troubled career, Job heard a voice out of the whirlwind asking: "Where wast thou when I laid the foundation of the earth? Speak, if thou has understanding." When he lifted his eyes to see that God's ways are too vast to be measured in petty bookkeeping, Job regained his faith.

Also we must see that the God of the soul and the spirit works by the processes of fertility rather than of return. The farmer does not always get a good crop. But if he faithfully and patiently tills his soil, prepares for divine guidance and receives it, he does reap a harvest of greater resourcefulness. He becomes a better farmer.

"This world is not run as a lottery where we merely take our chances nor is it a factory where we get our pay every month. God is a Father who keeps faith with His children who trust and love Him.

Yes, in the material realm we see this principle of sowing and reaping as an old and accepted theme. But do we need to think what it meant to man when he first discovered it? Try to think back to the time when man first found out that he could drop a seed into the ground and produce a plant. Sometime ago a national magazine pointed out that human history could be divided into four levels of energy use. Man first gained energy by gathering edible wild plants and by catching edible wild animals. This method, used until about 8,000 B.C., yielded poor returns. Man developed a high culture on what nature put directly into his hands.

FIRST BREAKTHROUGH

The first breakthrough came with the domestication of plants and animals. When man learned to raise crops and breed stock, he began to develop settled societies. Civilization took a great spurt forward.

Then came another breakthrough to a third level of energy-use in the early 1700's when western Europeans began to use fossil fuels, such as coal and then later oil and natural gas. This led to steam engines and a mighty multiplication of power.

And now level four in energy production has been evolved by the discovery of atomic fission and what it will lead to, only God knows.

A Lift for Living

Reaping What We Have Sown

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

When I was a boy, the Sunday School lessons always had a Golden Text, which we were expected to commit to memory. One of these has remained with me. And I venture to think it is so familiar that when I start it most of you can finish it. Listen: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked," — you know the rest — "for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Now let us ask: When you first hear these words, does the statement strike you as a threat or a promise? Perhaps this question serves as a test of the state of your own conscience. And maybe it was evidence of my own guilty conscience, but I have to confess that the words usually struck me as a warning of judgment, reminding me I can't fool God, that if I sow in sin I shall reap in judgment.

We take this principle of sowing and reaping as an old and accepted theme. But do we need to think what it meant to man when he first discovered it? Try to think back to the time when man first found out that he could drop a seed into the ground and produce a plant. Sometime ago a national magazine pointed out that human history could be divided into four levels of energy use. Man first gained energy by gathering edible wild plants and by catching edible wild animals. This method, used until about 8,000 B.C., yielded poor returns. Man developed a high culture on what nature put directly into his hands.

DESSERT BRIDGE

The Soroptimist International Club of Belleville held a successful dessert bridge. The winner of the door prize was Mrs. John Stock. 1st prize was won by Mrs. Grace Clapp, 2nd prize by Miss Marjorie Sherman and low prize by Mrs. Ian Burling.

Delicious desserts were served by the various members of the club at the conclusion of the bridge.

Wedding

TULL—PENNELL

A quiet wedding ceremony was performed on Saturday, November 22nd, at 7.30 p.m. by the Rev. R. W. T. Middleton when Doris Myrtle Pennell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pennell, R.R. 1, Consecon, Ontario, was united in marriage to Norman William Tull, RCN Halifax, N.S., son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Tull, Belleville.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Wilma Wodzak, and the bridegroom by Mr. Jack Thomas of Kingston, Ontario.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 35 guests at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Christ Church Contact Club Elects Officers

Monday evening saw the final business meeting for the year of the Contact Club of Christ Church, with the annual election of officers.

President Helen McCormick introduced a new member — Gerry Carter — and secretary Joan Ford read a most appreciative letter from the Children of Mosonee for the attractive and useful layettes which the club members had made up and sent for use in his diocese.

The results of the hat campaign to date were announced, and a financial report given, following which it was decided to send to the wardens a cheque for $150 towards payment of the curtains in the new hall. Members also voted to send the usual cheque to St. George's Sunday school.

Florence Lennox as chairman of the nominating committee, presented the report of that committee, and in doing so pointed out that in addition to the slate of officers called annually, the club's custom of working in groups means that four 'other' members are needed as group leaders; more as telephone conveners, and during the year several other people are needed to head up committees for the various projects undertaken by the group. At present, there is a job for everyone to do and much is accomplished with the enthusiasm and co-operation of all.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Florence presented the findings of the nomination committee to Archdeacon J. B. Creegan who presided over the election of officers. Following are the officers of the Contact Club for the year 1959:

President, Mary Fletcher; 1st vice-president, Doris Stewart; 2nd vice-president, Joan Ford; secretary, Nadine Thorer; treasurer, Trudy Sandy; membership convener, Barbara Bertrim; social convener, Margaret Niles; reporter, Marjorie Sherry; hat convener, June Woodley; lay-out convener, Mary Czarnecki; study group leader, Betty Yates.

Mr. Creegan expressed to the members his thanks to the club and past executive for the work done during the past year and mentioned specifically the project the club undertakes of running a nursery at the time of the 9.30 a.m. family service, and also the confirmation reception which has come to be an annual project of the Contact Club that is to undertake. Mr. Creegan also wished for the incoming officers and the club as a whole every success for the future.

President Helen McCormick announced that next week will be the closing party.

Hostesses for the evening were: Keith Pringle, Thelma Stefan, Nadine Thorne and Marilyn Warren.

STATELY PLANT

The wild yellow lily found in moist areas from Quebec to Manitoba has a stem from two to five feet high.

This ... and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

T & T trusts that no husband who reads farther will be cocksure enhanced. We are suggesting horrible thoughts. In Wednesday's column we mentioned today's challenge — the changing family pattern. In one country where the purdah was still a custom from ancient days, there was a big festival each year. The attraction was the spectacle of thousands of brassieres taken apart. Arrangements had been perfected and everybody for miles around had been invited to see the gala event. Suddenly someone remembered that the women in purdah had been overlooked, so a huge tent was put up. The women in purdah could watch the show from the tent without being seen. Maybe the men miscalculated, or probably they never dreamed that their women were guilty of thinking. Anyway, when they were all collected in the tent they disobediently neglected to watch the program. What did they do? They took out the cause they talked. They talked over the subject uppermost in their minds, and no doubt talked by the changing patterns around them. They decided to take action against polygamy which they hated. They made up their minds to force their husbands to cut down on their wives. Result? How? By raising the cost of living.

"At home again, all began to demand more. They insisted on bringing their relatives from the sunta and other relatives into the compound. They became less and less satisfied with what they had, developed more and more expensive tastes. Within years later the men in the village were complaining to our member about the cost of living down on the number of wives. They had become slaves, black slaves to accessories and corsage of pink carnations. The bride's grandmother and grandfather, and the bridegroom's grandparents were also present in the receiving line.

For the wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the bride chose a cinnamon brown two-piece suit with gold green blouse, copper color sheer purse, feather hat, and gloves, and corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are residing at R.R. 2, Thomasburg.

The bride's gifts to her maid of honor and bridesmaid were matching pearl chokers and earrings, and to the little flower girls, heart-shaped lockets. The bridegroom's gifts to his groomsman and ushers, tie bars and matching cuff links; gifts to the pianist, soloist and servers were fancy cups and saucers.

Showers honoring the bride were held at the home of Mrs. Charles Dickens with Miss Ruth Park and Miss Helen Dickens as co-hostesses; at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Sills by the congregation of the Bethel Baptist Church, Belleville, when the bride was presented with a corsage of pins, and at a community shower by Plainfield residents, when the bride was presented with a china cabinet and insulated teaset. Also a community shower held by the Thomasburg residents.

Holloway WMS Holds Yule Meeting

The Christmas meeting of Holloway United Church was held in the church parlors, which were suitably decorated with lights and candles centred around the manger scene and the open Bible.

The 8.30 table was also festive with its lace cloth, silver services and centre of arranged Christmas candles.

Mrs. Walters and Mrs. Johnston poured tea. Lovely cookies and Christmas cakes were served with the tea.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend presided and welcomed all the ladies. After a fine call to worship, "Peace on the Stars", which was a merger of adventure, religion and peace, calling the wise men and shepherds to worship the Baby Jesus, prayer was offered.

The illustrated booklet, prepared by Mrs. Townsend, containing best wishes and kindly thoughts, which had been signed by all the ladies, was presented to Mrs. Smith on her retirement.

Mrs. Wilcox gave a reading entitled "Christmas Candles" and Mrs. Walters and Mrs. Middleton sang a duet, "Silent Night".

Mrs. Townsend read from St. Matthew's Gospel, some verses suitable for the occasion on the mount, where He cautions not to be so concerned over worldly things.

She then introduced the guest speakers, Mrs. R. W. T. Middleton, who spoke on this passage. She also warned not to be guilty of spoil Christmas quoting "Lord for tomorrow and its needs I do not pray; keep me from worrying just for today."

"Live one day at a time. God's in His Heaven; All's right with wives. We could be collected to witness the angry heights a standard of living the cost of which is fast making it impossible to live up to. Then we could devise some simple expedient like our sisters in purdah to force the cost of living down. There is a current western TV show whose title is receiving many quips and we are tempted to paraphrase too: "Have tent, will fold, will travel" or "They said it couldn't be done."

T & T will have more information to pass along about the changing family pattern for which we thank the Committee of Correspondence. While the conquest of outer space takes the headlines, the challenge of the family quietly faces us and the family well mean a great deal to mankind. We thank the Christian Science Monitor for our weekly thought: "It is largely in the family—whether in the flamboyant green of a jungle or the high responsibility of a city—that the identity of the individual man takes form. The family nurtures and protects. It educates and socializes. And the deepest springs of life and man emerges to make his mark."

T & T was in Brighton recently as the guest of a church women's group. Over our coffee we were impressed with what was a unique situation where a law and the accident of geography had joined in hand. Apparently by law children are enlisted in the school for the purpose of music lessons. The teacher in Brighton, however we mean, lives across the road from the school. The teacher does not arrange for the time lessons will be taken. The children and Tommy will take their lessons. The cooperative effort works out to everybody's benefit. If a boy or girl is week in a certain subject, the school teacher makes sure this class is not missed. The music teacher starts the day at nine o'clock and the pupils receive their music lessons without any interference with school progress. If the music teacher is overcome by miles away, what then? But Brighton is fortunate and happy in its unique arrangement. We never heard of a similar situation before.

"If we have furnished a home for them where love, worship and prayer was taught, they are secure.

"Don't worry over aches and pains. Worry increases illness, clouds happiness, eats up energy and destroys life.

"We worry over many things which never happen — Tomorrow's our tomorrows in God's Hands."

A cure for worry is religious faith. "Cast your sermon on the Word"; get an inward grip on yourself and the circumstances of life. Jesus Christ, who will make our homes full of blessing and joy for Christmas.

"Let us have a candle lighted, which we thank the Committee, a candle to shine in this darkened world through pain and love."

Mrs. T. F. Townsend sang a lovely solo, "O Leave Your Sheep", accompanied by Mrs. Hubbs at the piano.

Thanks was expressed by Mrs. Walters to Mrs. Middleton and all who helped in making the WMS meeting so fine.

Going Places

Both Youngsters and Oldsters Have Urge to Travel - - Cheaply

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

(Q) "I am retiring shortly and as I have always been interested in travel, I would like to become a tour guide. Can you tell me what you go about getting such a job?

Mrs. F.E.W., San Antonio, Tex.

(A) Almost everybody in the world has one of two ambitions — to be a writer "some day" or to travel, preferably free or cheaply. Becoming a tour guide is an obvious but, alas, difficult way of accomplishing the latter.

A tour guide must be a veteran world traveller; a linguist; a genius at making homogeneous large groups of people, no two of whom are ever anything alike; adept at coaxing favors from temperamental hoteliers, chefs and transportation executives; completely impervious to the quailing face of social emergencies of every description; completely excited; thoroughly familiar with the operational intricacies of hotels, airlines, railroads, and steamship lines; and as impersonal and disinterested while being all these things as a ranking official of the Chase National Bank.

If you think you qualify now, get in touch with the personnel offices of agencies like American Express or Thomas Cook. But don't count on work soon.

Not a month goes by that we don't get a letter from a young man fresh out of high school or college who would like to work his way around the world on a freighter. This particular way of seeing the world became impossible years ago when the maritime unions organized the seamen. But this legendary romantic hope still seems to spring eternal in the human breast.

HOLDING MAIL

(Q) "We are planning a long cross-country trip by car and will be gone some months. While on the road, however, we don't know where we'll be staying. Is it possible under these circumstances to receive mail from home from time to time?" Mrs. E.H., Philadelphia, Pa.

(A) Any hotel will hold mail for you, whether you register or not, if you claim it within a week of receipt of the letter and if it is marked "Hold for Arrival." You can pick out hotels along your route from your guide or from the Hotel Redbook, published by the association of hotels held belonging to the American Hotel Association, in any library, travel agency, railroad or airline office.

You can also have mail addressed to you care of general delivery at any post office. Remember, however, that they are closed Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

(Q) "I recently flew for the first time and was embarrassed by the difficulty I had paraphrasing the stewardess' request to serve lap. Is there any trick to this?"

Mrs. C. Chattanooga, Tenn.

(A) Just attack it slowly and firmly. Use your left hand and feel free to tuck the napkin under your chin instead of on your lap. Both ways are rank candidates for the cleaners if you don't. Practice is the only reliable etiquet in sky-high society.

TIPPING ATTENDANTS

(Q) "Is it necessary or expected of me to tip a gas station attendant?"

Mrs. J.P., Ocala.

(A) This used to be done in large cities but we haven't seen it in years, at least not for pumping gas and wiping the windshield.

Occasionally we have tipped particularly diligent employees of highway gas stations in remote emergency repairs under difficult conditions. If you do, make sure you're not tipping the owner.

Tipping is never called for in a large franchised dealer's service department. These mechanics are well-paid and consider themselves professionals; they probably wouldn't accept a tip anyway.

Some readers have wondered whether to tip parking lot attendants. The practice varies from city to city, but the answer pretty generally is no. As with all tipping, however, it depends on how much the service was worth to you.

(Q) "On our trip west we have been booked on a connecting flight with one of the local service airlines and are a little nervous about it. Do the pilots and condition of the planes match the standards of the large airlines?"

— T.O., Springfield, Mass.

(A) If they didn't, the airline couldn't stay in business. All such standards, regardless of the airline, meet the strict requirements of the federal government. Naturally, there are always human imperfections in the qualifications of personnel, but all airlines have a good as well and the small lines are in as favorable a position to attract top pilots and mechanics as big ones.

Many pilots prefer small lines because their short routes enable them to get home more often, and both pilots and mechanics often move around in the course of seniority, the key to the airline employee's career, on a small carrier.

MELROSE W. M. S.

MELROSE — The Christmas meeting of Melrose W.M.S. was held Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. L. Demille, with 11 members present.

The president, Mrs. C. Bates, Sr., opened the meeting with prayer after which Mrs. J. Milligan conducted the worship service.

Mrs. Milligan read a brief meditation. Scripture readings were given by: Mrs. Roy Bastien, Miss Margaret Bates, Mrs. C. Milligan and Mrs R. McFarlane. The leader gave a short meditation after the scripture reading and then led in Christmas hymns. Mrs. Milligan offered a prayer in the form of a poem.

A short business session was held with the president in the chair.

The treasurer reported that the sum of $287.50 had been raised in 1958 by the W.M.S. and the Mission Band. Mrs. Roy Dadley was appointed assistant press secretary. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Bates, Sr., on January 5th at 2 p.m.

Mrs. C. Osborn, group leader, took charge of the meeting and gave a Christmas reading concluding with a beautiful poem on the Nativity.

Mrs. C. Bates, Sr., gave a piano forte solo of Christmas carols with variations. Mrs. R. MacFarlane gave a reading entitled "Christmas Cards" and Mrs. C. Milligan one on "The Wonder of Christmas Carols". Miss Margaret Bailey read a description of how the Christmas hymn, "Joy to the World" was written, and gave a brief autobiography of the author, Isaac Watts. Mrs. E. Embury gave a reading entitled, "We All Play Santa Claus" and Mrs. J. Milligan a beautiful poem which was a prayer Christmas prayer.

Miss Margaret Bailey closed the meeting.

The hostess served refreshments and a social time was spent by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edward Smith are pictured signing the register following their marriage in Plainfield United Church. The bride is the former Miss Dorena Irene Peacock, daughter of Mrs. Clifford Cooke and the late Mr. Peacock. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of Thomasburg.

SMITH — PEACOCK

Plainfield United Church was the scene of a wedding Saturday, November 15, at 2.30 p.m. for a late fall wedding when Dorena Irene Peacock, of Plainfield, daughter of Mrs. Clifford Cooke of Plainfield, and the late Mr. Peacock, became the bride of Joseph Edward Smith, of Thomasburg, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith. The Rev. R. W. T. Middleton of Belleville R.R. 3, officiated.

White chrysanthemums, pink snapdragons and ferns adorned the chancel, and white satin bows the guest pews.

Mrs. Earl Gray, pianist, provided the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Evelyn Sills, who rendered "Together" before the ceremony, and "Because," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Clifford Cooke, the bride was charming in her floor-length bridal gown of nylon net and imported Chantilly lace, fashioned with molded bodice, with high, jewel neckline outlined with seed pearls. The net, off-shoulder effect yoke was enhanced by a scalloped ruffle of lace, and the long, fitted sleeves ended in fish-tail points over the wrists. The bouffant skirt was accented by graceful lace panels over tiered layers of net and satin underskirt. She wore a fingertip cap accented with seed pearls and sequins with shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion and carried a bouquet of baby-red roses mingled with white net.

Miss Ruth Park of Plainfield, who was maid of honor, gowned in tomato red nylon chiffon with Sabrina neckline, short sleeves and bouffant skirt of floor-length panels.

Mrs. Carl Wood of, Belleville, as bridesmaid, cousin of the bride, was attired similarly to the maid of honor, in royal blue. Both wore matching feather headdresses, gloves, black satin pumps and carried bouquets of white 'mums tinted with royal blue and mingled with white net.

The little flower girls, Darlene Cooke, sister of the bride, and Marion Smith, sister of the bridegroom, were dressed alike in white nylon with matching headdresses, white satin gloves, shoes and short socks and carried baskets of white 'mums tinted with royal blue.

Mr. Eugene Peacock, of Belleville, cousin of the bride, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Edmund Huskins, of Plainfield, and Mr. Leslie Smith, cousin of the bridegroom, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the Plainfield Orange hall, which was decorated with pink and white streamers and pink wedding bells. The bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask, lighted candles and a three-tier wedding cake with pink roses and silver leaves, topped by a bride and bridegroom beneath an arch of pink roses and white bells.

Those who served were the Misses Lillian and Hilda Turcott, Betty Dickens and Marilyn Whitemore.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Festival of Religious Freedom

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, Dec. 7 — Hanukkah, the eight-day festival beginning today, has to do with an army that taught George Washington some of his best military strategy. It is also about a victory which, though Jewish, was most important to Christians.

In the second century before the Christian era Palestine was dominated by a Syrian emperor named Antiochus IV, who demanded that everyone throughout his vast empire conform to h i s ideas of religion. Most people in those days could get along with one religion about as well as with another, but when Antiochus began to tamper with the Jewish faith he ran into a hornet's nest.

Angered at the Jews' resistance, the emperor seized t h e Temple, filled it with idols, and ordered conformity on pain of death. Then, the hornets really began to buzz — and sting. Led by Judas Maccabeus be cause "maccabee" means "hammer") the Jews organized a guerilla army back in the hills and proceeded to hammer away at the mighty invader. And with their tiny army they whipped him until he looked very foolish indeed.

STUDIED BY WASHINGTON

The story is told in the books of Maccabees, which are contained in that part of the Bible known as the Apocrypha. George Washington apparently not only read but carefully studied t h e accounts of Judas' three-y e a r struggle, for he copied one piece of strategy with considerable success. Judas at one time set up a dummy camp and deceived the Syrians into thinking h i s whole army was concentrated here. When the Syrians rushed down into the camp there w a s no one there, but they found themselves surrounded, with no avenue of escape. Washington successfully used this same device in his Revolutionary W a r tactics.

From this victory Judas went on into Jerusalem, cleansed and purified the Temple, and proclaimed an eight-day festival to celebrate the Temple's rededication. This was in 165 B.C. Although the festival is now observed in December (the 25th of the Jewish month of Kislev) it is not likely that the event itself took place at this time of year.

The victory was of inestimable importance to Christianity, f o r if the Jews had lost it might well have meant the end of Judaism, and if Judaism had ended at this point in religious history certainly Christianity would not h a v e appeared at the time it did nor is the form in which we know it.

CHILDREN LOVE IT

Jewish children love Hanukkah, for it is a time of gifts — some get a gift every day of the eight days. It is a time, too, of special food — particularly the wonderful latkes, potato pancakes. Every Jewish child at Hanukkah plays the dreydel game, which is played with a four-sided wooden or metal top. Each side of t h e top has one Hebrew letter — all four taken together stand for the words in the sentence "A great miracle happened there." The letter that comes up when t h e top falls to rest determines whether the spinner must add to the stakes or may take something out.

The children are happy with all these special goings on while their Christian friends are having much the same sort of fun out of Christmas, but Hanukkah is not by any means to be thought of as a children's festival. It is a deep and serious festival of re-

HOW WOMAN WRITES HER NAME ON SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When one encloses a self-addressed, stamped envelope in a letter for a return reply, should the name be written without a title; for example, Margaret Barnes? —Margaret

No. The name and address we write or type on the self-address envelope should read like a postal address . . . which is just what it is:

Miss Margaret Barnes
123 Pleasant Street
Haven City 7
Ontario

On a self-addressed envelope a married woman should write her name in this form: Mrs. J o h n Blake. A widow should write her name: Mrs. Arthur Hall. A divorcee should write her name: Mrs. Robinson Hicks.

Informal names do not belong on envelopes that are to go through the mail.

INTRODUCING TWO WOMEN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When I am introducing t w o women to each other, one married, and the other unmarried, whose name should I mention first? — S. L.

Mention first the name of t h e married woman . . . unless t h e unmarried woman is much older or is a woman of special distinction.

SHOULD PEOPLE IN MOURNING SEND CHRISTMAS CARDS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please tell me if it is proper for people in mourning to send Christmas cards. Your answer to this question will be of special help to several relatives a n d friends. Thank you. — Reader

Yes, it is entirely proper, but naturally it depends on their feelings and inclinations. Naturally, too, relatives and friends of those in mourning will not expect them to or want them to send Christmas cards if the effort to do this would add any strain to the bereaved who is being carried. However, if they do decide to send cards to relatives and some very intimate friends, those so honored will be deeply touched and inspired by this gallantry of the heart that can forget its own unhappiness in wishing happiness to others.

Note 1: The person in mourning may choose to write a greeting or a message on an inside blank page of a card with a religious picture or perhaps t h e word "Greetings" on the cover; or on plain white note-paper or white cards. Perhaps to write something like this: "Loving greetings to you. And every good wish for your Christmas and the New Year." Or even more simply: "My greetings and b e s t wishes to you, dear friend."

Note 2: Of course a person in mourning should not send Christmas cards to casual friends, or to mere acquaintances.

Religious freedom, and a time of personal rededication commemorating the rededication of the Temple to the faith of Abraham, Isaac and Moses.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Terry D. — He should break it to his parents at once.

Mark F. — It will take time for them to get used to the idea.

Terry D. — I am a divorcee of 34 and I have two children, 11 and seven.

About a year ago I met a man of 31 who has not been married before. We were very much in love and wanted to marry at once, but my divorce was not yet final. We became involved in an illicit relationship. I would n o t have gotten into anything like that if I wasn't certain that we were going to be married.

Mark's parents know that he is interested in someone, but he has just told me that he never mentioned that I am older than he is or that I am a divorcee with two children. He says that he just doesn't know how to break it to them. I want him to do it at once because I want to legalize our relationship and settle down as soon as possible.

Mark F. — I feel that since we have waited so long we should wait a little longer and make sure of ourselves. Besides, I want to break this news to my parents gradually. I want them to get to know Terry first. I am sure they will like her when they know her — but it will take a little time for them to get used to the idea of my being married to a divorcee with two children.

I am also a bit concerned about the difference in our ages. It isn't much I know, but my parents are always trying to match me up with girls in their early 20's. This will be quite a shock to them.

I am as eager as Terry to settle down, but I want to do things the right way so that we'll have no serious problems after we are married. Terry should be less impatient.

The Council: We agree that Terry should be a lot less impatient.

A very big factor in her thinking about a second marriage must be children's need for an at-home, day-to-day father. Mark, who fears to acknowledge the existence of these children before the world, sadly seems to fit into that role satisfactorily.

The age difference between Terry and Mark is so small as to be of no real importance at all, but the fact that Mark finds it even worth thinking about means that it has special significance for him. It is fairly obvious that he thinks of Terry as being far more mature than he is. Probably he was attracted to the very quality that leads him to balk at marriage — her motherliness.

Unfortunately, Mark does n o t even have the maturity to acknowledge his own doubts about the proposed marriage. He must place the blame for his stalling on an unreasonable fear of h i s parents' opinion. His idea that he will iron out every last wrinkle before he married and have "no serious problems" afterward is a rather childish daydream and very revealing of his general frame of mind.

Both Terry and Mark have a lot of serious thinking to do about their future. They should clear away the issues that disguise the real facts. Those issues are t h e age difference and Mark's parents.

The Bible Today

Churches throughout the world will observe next Sunday, December 7th, as Bible Sunday. Emphasis will be placed upon the living Word — "The Word was made Flesh, and dwelt among us—full of grace and truth." The reading and hearing of the ancient record will not fail to produce in millions of hearts a sense of direction and hope for our modern world.

This year the message will be read in 1,377 languages, and dialects. Last Christmas this Good News appeared in 17 additional languages for the first time, and in the current year will be available in about 16 more languages, and dialects through the untiring work of the Bible Society.

Suggested readings for next week:

Sunday, December 7th. Matt. 3:7-46.
Monday, December 8th. Matt. 6:1-15.
Tuesday, December 9th. Matt. 6:16-34.
Wednesday, December 10th — Matt. 7:1-20.
Thursday, December 11th — Luke 10:1-42.
Friday, December 12th. — Luke 15:1-32.
Saturday, December 13th. — Luke 24:1-53.

Question: v. Some of my family's recipes of yours are Marianne's Lemon Pie, Pineapple Mallow dessert, your 1955 Moist Light Fruit Cake and the more recent butter tart pan cookies. I have given this last recipe to at least a dozen people, the last one lying in Boston, Mass., and she reports it was a big hit there . . . We like the dressing used on cole slaw in most Chinese restaurants. Do you have a recipe for this? We had dinner in Florence, North Carolina on our way home from Florida, had a good steak dinner and the most delicious onion muffins I have ever eaten. They were like a muffin batter and the onions were well cooked but didn't look as if they had been fried. I have experimented but haven't come close to them yet. Do you have a recipe for anything like that? I would also like a recipe for Rhubarb Cream Pie and Old-Fashioned Tapioca Pudding . . . M.S.

Dinner Menus

SATURDAY

Savory Hamburg (see Wednesday) and Trimmings; Cole Slaw with Boiled Dressing; Lemon Meringue Pie (see Friday for foolproof meringue); Coffee.

Answer: Thanks mam for the compliments.

COLE SLAW DRESSING

To ½ cup boiled salad dressing add 1 teaspoon French mustard, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon scraped onion, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 6 tablespoons cream.

TENDER ONION MUFFINS

One egg, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon soft shortening, ⅞ cup thick sour cream, ½ cup chopped onions parboiled 3 minutes and drained and dried, 1 1-3 cups all-purpose flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon each soda, salt. Beat egg until light, then beat in sugar, soft shortening, sour cream and prepared onions. Sift together and stir in flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Fill 12 greased muffin tins 2-3 full. Bake at 400 deg. F'ahr. for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot.

RHUBARB CREAM PIE

Three cups rhubarb, cut in ½" pieces, 2 eggs, well beaten, 2 tablespoons milk, 1¼ cups sugar, 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon each salt, nutmeg, 1 tablespoon butter. Combine beaten eggs with milk, sugar, flour, salt nutmeg and mix with rhubarb. Pour into unbaked 9" pastry-lined pie plate. Dot with butter. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 50-60 minutes.

OLD-FASHIONED TAPIOCA PUDDING

One-quarter cup pearl tapioca, 2½ cups milk, 2 eggs, 1-3 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Wash tapioca, soak several hours or overnight in cold water to cover. Drain. Add milk and cook over boiling water in double boiler until tapioca is clear (about 1 hour). Beat eggs, add sugar, salt and pour hot milk mixture in slowly. Return to double boiler; cook until egg thickens, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add flavoring. Serve with pouring cream or orange hard sauce.

Clean Filter Helps Engine Do Its Job

By EUGENE MILMOE

Since the carburetor air cleaner is responsible for the dirt-free air flow needed to burn gasoline and run your engine efficiently, it must not be neglected.

Three types are in use — the new dry or paper filter, the oil bath cleaner and the older, oil wetted type. Driving conditions dictate how often the filter must be cleaned. In dirt-road areas, for example, it may be overlooked with grit after 1,000 miles . . while city drivers may get from 4,000 to 5,000 miles before cleaning is needed.

To service the dry element type, simply remove it and dislodge dirt by tapping or blowing with air. With the oil bath type, dump out dirty oil, clean the element in kerosene and refill with fresh oil. The oil-wetted filter should be cleaned in kerosene, blown dry, then saturated with fresh oil.

B. T. asks: "Is it true that in some antifreeze there are oil-type additives which help insulate the cooling system?"

(A) Permanent type antifreeze solutions contain a petroleum base inhibitor which, by coating metal surfaces, protects them against corrosion.

From: R. W: "What causes the hinges to squeak whenever the car door is opened or closed?"

(A) The usual reason is lack of lubrication. Try squirting the hinges with a penetrating oil as you work the door back and forth.

S. F writes: "A few weeks ago, I ran out of gas on the road for the second time this year. I understand there is an alarm which prevents this by warning you when there is only a gallon or so remaining in the tank. How much does this cost? Does the bell continue to ring until gas is added, or can it be turned off?"

(A) This tank alarm sells for approximately $15. It's a buzzer, not a bell, and it sounds off until you add gas or turn off the ignition.

B. F. asks: "Please settle a safety discussion. Can a car be brought to a stop quicker on a concrete or on a gravel road?"

(A) Concrete. Under dry road conditions, a car braked at 50 miles per hour will travel approximately 125 feet more on gravel than on concrete, before coming to a halt.

Problem of Stocking Game Birds

The other evening we chanced to overhear a rather heated discussion carried on by a group of young men in hunting clothes. This was not a case of eavesdropping; there was no need. The conversation was in tones loud enough to be heard clearly in all parts of the room. It seems that the boys had found little or no game that day, so they were giving the Game Commission what for.

"No wonder we got no game. Too many foxes."

"Right! They ought to put a bounty on foxes."

"Naw, that ain't it. We always had foxes. Trouble is, their stocking program's lousy. What we pay our money for each year, that's a licence!"

And so on, ad infinitum. That seems to be the usual solution of the uninformed — stocking.

Yes, who hunt ruffed grouse know that this bird, once plentiful, has suffered serious reverses. Where once there were 50 birds, now there is one or, more probably, none. All right — why not stock grouse?

For a great many years every effort was made to do exactly that. From the beginning, difficulties were encountered. Wild birds, which had been trapped, soon died in captivity. Then the game biologists learned that grouse chicks, hatched in an incubator from eggs that had been brought in from natural grouse cover, could be raised to adulthood on wire.

The next job was to get eggs from the captive birds. Nothing doing. They simply would not breed in captivity. After many years of heartbreaking failure, the game biologists came to the inescapable conclusion that they had been walking down a dead-end street. That was not the solution.

Of course, every effort has been made and is being made to provide adequate food and cover for our native grouse. It has been proven, rather conclusively, that the ruffed grouse must work out his own salvation, aided as much as possible by our biologists.

In former years, the bobwhite quail was the number-one game bird of the country. These appealing little birds were pretty much everywhere, and they supplied excellent sport afield as they were ideal both for wing shooting and dog work.

Now the days of good quail shooting are things of the past, so far as public shooting is concerned. The decline of this wonderful little bird can be credited to two major causes — inadequate natural food and cover, and too-heavy gun pressure.

So the game commissions of the various states decided to stock quail. There was little trouble in raising these birds in captivity. Trouble was, the little pen-reared birds simply did not have what it took for them to survive in open country. Not only were they easy prey to predators; also, they were not hardy enough to withstand extreme weather. So, year after year, stocked quail simply disappeared.

Recently word has come from Tennessee, formerly a great quail state. Their conservation commission regretfully decided to discontinue stocking pen-reared quail. Studies which extended over a period of many years showed that only about three per cent of the stocked quail fell to the hunter's gun.

On this basis, every quail in a hunter's game bag was costing the Commission about $33. Now the accent is on an improved management program with improved natural food and cover conditions.

Of course, both the Federal and State conservation commissions have been fully aware of this changing picture. With the increase in population there has, of course, been a decided change in our great outdoors. Native birds, such as grouse, quail, prairie chicken, sharptail grouse, etc., simply have not been able to adapt themselves to the changing conditions.

So the earnest attempt to take up the slack and populate our covers with birds which will thrive under presentday conditions, almost every game bird that flies anywhere in the world has been studied carefully and, in many cases, given a trial in our covers. The great majority have been hopeless failures.

One exotic species, however, has been a notable success — the ringneck pheasant. This colorful fellow and his little drab hens have made gunning in areas where upland shooting was just about a thing of the past. The ringneck has given us much for which to be thankful.

Trouble is, the ringneck does not thrive in the warmer climate south of the Mason-Dixon line. So now the problem is to find an import which will lend itself to conditions as they are in the Southern States. There are several likely prospects, one of them the redlegged partridge of Spain.

But stocking, of itself, certainly is not the entire answer. Obviously, a stocked bird cannot survive and prosper unless he can find natural food and adequate cover. Fence-line plowing, overgrazed wood lots, etc., have little to offer a stocked bird.

There have been plans suggested whereby farmers can be subsidized by the State in return for provisions for food and cover for the birds on their farms. Some of these programs make a great deal of sense and we hope for their wider adoption.

So the next time you feel like belaboring your Game Commission, take the trouble to talk to one of the men connected with this important body of men. Here you have been given only a general idea of the many and complex problems facing the game-management men. Believe me, the job is not an easy one or one which is being slighted in any way. An hour's talk with any member of your commission or with one of your wardens will give you an entirely new look at the over-all picture.

Jacobs Leads Golf Tourney

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (AP)—Tommy Jacobs, who forsakes the pro tournament here Sunday to hurry to California for his wedding, marched through the steaming jungles of the Dorado Beach Golf Club Friday in 66 strokes for a one stroke lead in the $20,000 invitation golf tournament.

Jacobs had a 71 Thursday and his combined total of 139 was one stroke better than that of Wesley Ellis Jr. of Aldcress, N.J., who totalled 72-68—140 for the two trips over the 7,115-yard jungle layout. Par is 36-36—72.

Howie Johnson of Glenwoodie, Ill., the first day leader with a 70, took a 71 in Friday's for 141 and third place.

Eighteen hole rounds today and Sunday will complete this tournament.

Al Balding of Toronto was tied in total scoring with Don Januzzy of Denver and Bill Collins of Baltimore in 32nd place in the 43-man competition. He carded 75-77—152.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

If what Wren Blair told this department in a personal interview the other day to the effect the Russian showing in the recent Moscow-Kelowna series was part of a Red psychological hockey warfare is true, the Muscovite puck authorities did a pretty fair job on the Packers.

A sports column in the Kelowna newspaper comes out with "The spectre of Russian hockey supremacy over Canada is an oversimfied myth, according to many of the Kelowna Packers. The Orchard City crew that returned from their victorious tour of Russia coming out 2-2-1 against the finest hockey players Russia had to offer in competition, were in complete accord about this."

Who is kidding who?

The Kelowna scribe wrote, "all the players were agreed about this. They said the teamwork displayed by the Russians was out of this world and their conditioning was superb, but they lacked individuality of play, and above all, polish around the nets."

Team manager Bob Giordana exploded another theory —that the Russians were so much faster than the Canadians. "They had a much faster take-off, but I watched a few times when our boys skated right alongside them and in a couple of cases beat them in the stretch."

The columnist quoted players as saying "Russian coach Anatoli Tarasov, the top Red hockey mentor, drills the players on the floor on blind passing and which the Russians are expert, but if they were short a man, their pattern was disrupted and they appeared to be lost.

"As individuals they were not in the same class as the Canucks."

However, the column states, none of the Packers was deluded about the possibility of the Russians being, push-overs for any Canadian club who chanced to wander into Red Square. "They were confident the Belleville McFarlands will have to strengthen, and work like Trojans at that."

Now, there's a couple of left-handed pats on the back.

So far, Mr. Blair's theory seems to be working out all right.

The Packers, the column reveals, "were vastly disgruntled over the newspaper coverage they received at home, especially the story about the last Russian team they played being "juniors."

"Juniors, bunk," snorted one. "Six of these juniors played on their national team. And we had seen several others before."

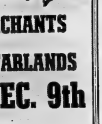
"Of course," the columnist wrote, "junior age over there apparently goes as far as 23, but as far as the make-up of personnel on the Russian teams is concerned, the most of the boys were quite happy in the knowledge they had faced the best in Russia." (Score two for Mr. Blair.) 146-136.

"And Russian newspapers," the story goes, "coloring their displeasure over the inept showing of their "Selects" in the final game, seemed to bear out the fact the plan was to ice the best against the Packers." (Another for Blair.)

But it remained for big Russ Kowalchuk to come up with the statement of the trip, and chalk up another hit for Blair. Said Russ: "The Russians will present a different combination of players against the Belleville McFarlands in world championship play. Russ recalled the was a member of the all-star team that played and beating Russians last year and emphasized the fact the team the Whitby Dunlops met in Oslo was a much different one to that which toured Canada.

Which leads one to believe there might be a mighty lot of truth in Blair's statements of the Russian "possum-playing" prior to world tournaments, and they are carrying on psychological hockey warfare.

Apart from that, the Kelowna impressions are that the Russians are tremendously dedicated players. They never stand around while on the ice and change shifts on the dead line, unless goalies, which were changed at least once a game during the Kelowna series, gallop off the ice to make the change.



"When the Russians get within reach of the puck, they do not make feeble passes at it, but use their feet, stick or any other available projection to move the puck toward the opposite net. They use their feet for trapping the puck in the same manner as soccer players, and get the disc rolling quickly with their stick to a team-mate who is bursting for the opposing net."

Welter Crown Changes Heads In Stunning Upset

VIRGIL AKINS

DON JORDAN

World welterweight champ Virgil Akins put his 147-pound crown on the block last night in Los Angeles against the 24-year-old [illegible]ordan, and lost it in 15 rounds.

Akins Fails to Cross Jordan And Loses Unanimous Verdict In First Defence of Title

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Youthful, unheralded Don Jordan of Los Angeles today reigned as the new welterweight champion of the world.

Jordan won a stunning upset Friday night over Virgil Akins of St. Louis, a veteran many astute boxing people felt would give the Californian a horrible beating.

California a horrible beating.

But it was the other way Olymoic Auditorium before 7,341 fans in Akins' first defence of the crown won just last June. The decision was unanimous, by a substantial margin.

Jordan, 21, a 5-1 underdog, got off to an early lead. He never was in serious trouble and wound up giving the 30-year-old champ a bad beating.

ALL FOR JORDAN

Referee Lee Grossman, under California's 10-points-per round system, gave it to Jordan, 145-138; judge Muddy Callahan had it 145-132 and judge Tommy Hart, 146-136.

There were no knockdowns but Akins survived a hectic bombardment in the 10th round, when Jordan hammered him from the corner to corner and the crowd roared for a knockout.

Jordan, the boxer, also proved to be Jordan the hitter, and equal to Akins, in rough-housing and brawling, which was the main offence of the loser.

Jordan came up with a bad cut over the left eye—he said it was from a butt—and Akins' right eye was slashed and eventually reduced to a swollen mess in the 10th round.

Akins has a contract for a rematch within 60 days. The rematch may be delayed while both fighters' wounds heal.

CROWD BOOS AKINS

Akins, whose headwork and wrestling drew constant boos from the crowd, was humble in defeat and had no alibis. He said Jordan was better than he anticipated. He said he would fight a different style next time.

Jordan said the fight was easier than he had expected. He, too, said he might change his offence next time.

Jordan, at 145, which was high for him, polled a surprise when he said he'd like to fight Joe Brown for the lightweight title after the rematch with Akins.

The fight attracted a gross gate of $29,548 not counting the undisclosed TV money. St Louis probably will get the rematch.

Akins was the solid choice of his smashing knockouts over Tony DeMarco and Vince Martinez the past year in his rematch climb to the heights of the 147-pound division. It had been a long struggle for Akins after a decade of ham and egg existence.

MONTREAL TRADES

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Royals have acquired the contract of outfielder Jack Dunfrom Havana Sugar Kings in exchange for Larry Novak. Daniels, formerly with Boston Braves and Toronto Maple Leafs, throws and bats left-handed. His batting average with the Kings of the International League during the 1958 season was .231. Novak, acquired by the Royals from the Miami Club in 1957, bats left-handed and throws righthanded. He spent the 1958 season with Macon. His batting average was .251.

Flattens Six Opponents in Nine Minutes

NEW YORK (AP) — In 11 months of pro fighting, Lamar Clark has won 27 fights, 26 of them by knockouts.

Incredible? This same mild-appearing heavyweight from Cedar City, Utah, flattened six opponents in one session in the fighting time of nine minutes.

The six-in-one bargain Monday night at Bingham, Utah, was the windup of the intermountain heavyweight championship. Lamar had belted out two guys at Kanab Friday and a third at Bingham Saturday, making nine in three nights.

For winning the tournament he received $250 and a trophy.

"Couple of times I've fought for nothing," said Clark, who visited New York to appear on a television show.

LOOKS LIKE CLERK

Clark, 24, is a stablemate of Gene Fullmer, the former middleweight champion. Both are managed by mink rancher Marv Jenson of West Jordan, Utah. Lamar is five-ten, 10 inches, weighs 185, and in street clothes looks like a clerk.

Can his chin take jaw withstand a punch?

Ask one of the guys Monday (the six-in-one night) knocked me down twice in the first round.

I got up and knocked him out in the second round. The others went out in the first round."

After fighting in smokers, Golden Gloves and AAU tourneys, he turned pro las Jan. 4 under Jenson. He beat John Hix in a six-round bout. Hix was the only fighter to go the limit with him.

Moore, Durelle Fight Will Be Televised

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC has announced it will carry next Wednesday's light - heavyweight title bout in Montreal on its full TV language television network with the Montreal and Sherbrooke, Que., areas tiecked out.

The fight, between champion Archie Moore and Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B. will not be carried on the CBC's French language TV network and there will be no radio coverage.

Extra Bulge Around Midriff Could Cost Ole Archie Title

MONTREAL (CP) — Archie Moore could knock out Yvon Durelle in the ring Wednesday night but lose his world light-heavyweight boxing crown at the weigh-in on the noon of the fight, says a spokesman for the promoter of the title go.

Norm Olson, who works in the office of Montreal wrestling-boxing promoter Eddie Quinn, declares that according to a recently-published rule of the National Boxing Association ole Archie must tip the scales at 175 pounds on the nose or forfeit his title to Durelle.

It would be up to the Montreal Athletic Commission to decide whether Moore should be given a chance to work off the extra weight should he fail to make the limit at first try, says Olson. One ounce overweight, and the champ could lose his crown.

At last report, Moore, a favorite to successfully defend his title against the fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B. tipped the scales at about 178. But he's not worried.

SCOFFS AT ODDS

On the other hand, Durelle, who scoffs at the odds-makers, was last-reported at 174½ pounds, or 1½-pound below the weight limit.

Durelle, in the north-end gym he shares with Moore, seemed restless Friday.

The Canadian had a slight head cold, but so had Moore. Neither the Russians in their current tour of Britain.

Campy Takes Bedside Job

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella, always a fighting ballplayer, took up the fight against juvenile delinquency Friday.

The 37-year-old crippled Dodger catching great has accepted the chairmanship of an advisory committee which will work with the March of Youth committee of the Knights of Pythias.

Campy said, "hospital therapy is great, but family therapy at home is so much better."

Still bouyant in spirits despite his crippling automobile accident of last January, Campanella joked with newsmen Friday, and said he has never minded all his rehabilitation to the point where he can eat a sandwich by himself.

Yankees Buy Richmond Club

RICHMOND (AP)—New York Yankees will buy and operate the Richmond franchise of the International League.

The announcement, made Friday by Richmond president H. Claiborne Robins and the Yankees, made no mention of the sale price.

The sale will give the Yankees, who have had a working agreement with the club A team for the last three years, ownership of three minor league clubs. Detroit Tigers are the only other American league club that own three minor teams.

The Virginians are now operated by six local businessmen.

The announcement said nothing of Yankee operational plans. Eddie Lopat, Richmond manager for the last three seasons, has been made a pitching coach in the Yankee organization. Herman Krattenmaker's contract as Richmond general manager has not been renewed.

Devaney Holds Macs To 4-2 Victory Over Chevies

Seaway Goalie Big Roadblock In 45-Shot Barrage of Pucks Smrke, Bradley Trigger Goals

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The McFarlands, their shooting eyes dead on target last night rained a 45-shot barrage of rubber at the Cornwall Chevies' net but the best they could do was emerge with a 4-2 victory over the seaway city club.

The big roadblock to a more substantial margin was Gerry Devaney in the Cornwall nets, who came up with a spectacular display of goaltending in kicking out 41 of the 45 shots poured at him.

The Chevies fired 15 at Gentle Bell.

Lou Smrke and Barton Bradley divided the Macs' quartet of goals with Smrke drawing down two assists and Bradley one. Goegan, Dewsbury, Crawford and Menard also had assists. Red Grigg scored both Cornwall goals with linemates Melski and Clarke drawing assists on each counter.

The Macs steered clear of the sinners' bench, ingurring only one penalty of the eight minors handed out by Referee Bill Balmer. Only one of the Chevies' sentences proved costly.

Big Al Dewsbury recovering from a bruised foot was back in harness last night and made his presence felt on the Macs' defence. Rags Raglan and Frank Rudnycki were not dressed nor were they on the McFarlands' bench. Coach Hildebrand used only fifteen players, one less than the club's league allotment.

The Macs scored the only goal of the opening goal of the opening period and would have had a half dozen more but for the sterling work of Devaney in the Cornwall nets. Devaney kicked out seventeen shots some of them from the lip of his dilivery, others blazing drives from farther out.

Goalie Bell was tested but five times three of the shots coming dangerously close.

Lou Smrke put the Macs out in front after nearly two minutes of play on a neat passing play near the goalmouth with Barton Bradley and Fiori Goegan.

Guy Henri sent big Al Dewsbury sprawling into the boards but the Macs power play failed during the resultant penalty.

Goyette sent Crawford headlong into the boards near the period end and was chased. The Macs poured on the pressure but again Devaney kicked out everything they loosed at him.

The Macs again dominated the play in the second period scoreboarding the Chevies 15-5.

Grigg put the visitors on even terms after four minutes of play skating straight down the centre and splitting the Macs' defence neatly to beat Bell. Melski and Clark were in on the play.

The Macs came back to the attack and again Devaney stood in their way. Bart Bradley put the Macs one up after seven minutes, scoring a beautiful goal from a long cross-the-goal pass from Lou Smrke on the right boards. Minnie Menard earned an assist on the play.

Goyette and Bingley were chased late in the period with the Macs capitilizing on the Chevies' costly misstep. Smrke scored his second goal of the night has he blasted a drive that Devaney thought he had stopped. The puck rolled out and Smrke swooped in and scored.

The Macs rounded out a 45-shot barrage of the tenacious Devaney in the third period again having a large margin of the play although the teams split a pair of markers.

Devaney pulled a spectacular save from Bradley in the last play from the period, then Goegan drew the only Belleville penalty of the game with no damage resulting.

McLay and Clarke of the Chevies were sentenced consecutively but the McFarland power plays were not clicking, and they failed to do anything about it. In fact, Bell had two narrow escapes when theChevies broke away from gaunging attacks.

The Macs settled down in the second half of the period and rapped rubber at the Chevies net. Bart Bradley scored his second goal of the night on knother passing play with Smrke and Crawford, but five minutes later Grigg reduced the margin to 4-2 on a gaug play in front of the Bellefield net with Melski and Clark again assisting.

Paul Payette was presented with the coveted award for the player of the week by Al Hardy between the first and second periods.

Lineups:

Cornwall — Goal, Devaney; defence, Servisa, Goyette, Laflelle, Bingley, Laplante; forwards: Henri, Clark, Muir, Melski, McLay, Quenville, Haughgan, Grigg, Burke.

New Champion Could Pass as Dapper Dan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Jordan, new welterweight champion, could pass as a dapper haberdasher instead of a fighter.

He was the prizefighter Friday night when he dealt a severe beating to the champion, Virgil Akins of St. Louis to earn the title.

Jordan, 24, is the father of four daughters, has a background of near-poverty, and is one of 13 children still living in a family that once numbered 19 children.

As a youngster, he was pretty well headed for a life of juvenile delinquency. He ran with a gang in trouble-torn East Los Angeles.

But as his friends now say, he straightened out and began to fly right.

Don's father was a fighter of no great promise. But he encouraged his sons to box. Two of Don's older brothers took up the sport but didn't get far.

Don, however, showed promise in Golden Gloves competition and while still in his teens, turned professional.

He learned his trade by industry, ambition and spirit. He is not a tiger at heart, pros does not lack courage in any sense of the word.

Jordan is quiet in conversation, and dresses conservatively.

His overall fighting record is: 56 fights, winner of 45, 15 by knockout, loser of 11.

AVILA MAY QUIT

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The sports newspaper La Aficion quoted Bobby Avila Friday as saying "it is very probable" that he will quit major league baseball after being traded to Baltimore Orioles by Cleveland Indians. However, he told Aficion, "I have not reached a final decision."

Canadians' Ralph Backstrom Could Be Rookie of the Year

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A slim, 21-year - old forward who plays with the spokes of a veteran is making a strong bid to become the third Montreal Canadien to win rookie-of-the-year honors since the National Hockey League established the Calder Trophy 22 seasons ago.

With mild-season voting for the trophy close at hand Ralph Backstrom looks like the only candidate to whom the selectors will give more than a passing glance.

In 24 games so far he has scored seven goals and assisted on seven more. Thursday night, playing his first game in Toronto between Bernie Geoffrion and Al McDonald, he had his biggest night yet, getting the only two Montreal goals in a 2-2 tie with Toronto.

SHACK TOUTED

Before the 1958 - 59 season opened Backstrom was looked upon as one of the rookies most likely to succeed in sticking in the NHL. But Canadien scouts were touting as the automatic Calder winner was Eddie Shack of New York Rangers.

Shack has lived up to his advance billing as a color guy who added to throw his weight around and could fight with the toughest but in the more mundane field of goal-scoring he hasn't been much of a factor.

In 22 games he has managed only four goals and two assists and his fighting ardor has tapered off while Backstrom improves as the season progresses.

Despite the fact that they have iced some of the games most exciting players, Canadiens have only twice been able to come up with Calder winners since the trophy was first given in the 1936-37 season.

Jimmy Quilty, who had only a brief NHL career, was the first of the two, in 1941, and Montreal fans had to wait until Bernie Geoffrion came along in the 1951-52 season before they had another.

In the intervening years such stars as Maurice Richard and Doug Harvey made their debuts and since then Jean Beliveau and Henri Richard have entered the league, but never caught the eye of the voters.

If Backstrom does win the Calder it will come as no surprise to some of men who have watched him grow up in Moose Jaw's farm system, where he has been labelled the best defensive delivery to the NHL since he was in his early teens.

BIG YEAR

Last season with Ottawa-Hull Canadiens he scored 45 goals and assisted on 37 more in 60 games against Junior A and Senior A opposition.

At five-feet-10-inches and 160 pounds the Kirkland Lake native doesn't look particularly suited to hard going.

But last season while the Junior Canadiens were hit by a streak of injuries he filled in at centre, right and left and frequently took up a defenceman's post when he was needed.

With Ottawa he demonstrated a kind of quiet leadership that made him the pivoted force on the team.

Tonight Canadiens are at home to New York and Boston Bruins are in Toronto while Chicago Black Hawks are host to Detroit Red Wings in an afternoon game.

Sunday Montreal is in Boston, Toronto is in New York and Chicago in Detroit.

Roberts Thought Owners Would Reject Raise

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National League player representative Robin Roberts says he was "naturally disappointed" but he anticipated the major league baseball owners' flat rejection Thursday of player demands for 20 per cent of gross revenue for player salaries each year.

"We think if we stay with our request and show them that its reasonable we'll make progress," he said.

Roberts, star pitcher of Philadelphia Phillies and one of baseball's highest paid players, backed sentiments expressed by J. Norman Lewis, attorney for the Players' Association. Like Lewis, Roberts said no "so-called drastic action is planned."

Roberts said that he, Lewis and Eddie Yost, American League player representative, will meet with the league owners' executive committee in January to press their case.

Leads Western Scoring Parade

SUDBURY (CP)—Jim Connelly of the first-place Chatham Maroons has scored a goal in each of his last nine games to pass the old mark of six consecutive scoring games and run up a total of 21 goals in 16 games to lead the OHA-NOHA Senior A scoring parade.

Connelly's 12 assists give him a total of 33 points and a three-point edge over team-mate. Ted Power, who has scored 11 times while assisting on 19 for 30 points.

Statistics on games including those of Wednesday show Jack McMaster of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in third place with 27 points.

Don Head of Chatham had 18 goals scored on him in his last four games but still manages to lead the goaltending department with a 2.18 goals-per-game average.

San Diego, Calif. — Charlie Powell, 215½, San Diego, knocked out Charlie Jones, 199½, Newark, N.J., 3.
Munich, Germany — Gustav Schoki, 165, Germany, knocked out Tino Portugez, 171, Puerto Rico, 1.

Bilts, Petes Play 2-2 Tie

GUELPH (CP) — Guelph Biltmores, the OHA Junior A team that learned to tie early in the season, has been doing it ever since.

They deadlocked 2-2 with Peterborough Petes Friday night for their ninth tie in 18 starts. They sit out Guelph's 21 points come from six wins, most of them against the league's leading teams.

But even if the result was true to Guelph form it could easily have been the home-team's game as they wiped out a 2-0 deficit in the second and Bob Ertel, going it alone in the final seconds of the game, got a goal post.

Peterborough's single point put them within sight of first-place St. Catharines TeePees, who have 31, Guelph can cut out holding third place, one point ahead of Toronto St. Michael's Majors.

Ertel, Connelly, the league's leading scorer with 45 points, fired his 20th goal of the season and Larry Babcock followed with a single for Petes. A goal by Don Brain kept Bilts in the picture.

In the second Guelph's Enos Kraft netted the equalizer.

GATESHEAD DOWN

LONDON (Reuters) — Workington Town defeated Gateshead 42 at Workington Friday night in an English League Rugby Union soccer-match, which was brought forward from the originally scheduled date of Jan. 24.

SUDBURY

kids can eat. Some don't have enough fuel.

"They're all frightened," Father Delaney says. But he adds he must not be too proud to come to the food-clothing depot he has set up in an old garage to help needy cases.

"They don' want to beg."

The union itself—whose members averaged around $85 a week in pay—is doing out to its members small quantities of food and vouchers cashable at grocery stores.

HAVE TO TELL ALL

The vouchers might run up to $30 a week for a large family. And to get a voucher a union member has to expose every facet of his personal finances including what he might have in the bank, how much he owes on his car and how his house mortgage is going.

Normal union practice in a battle of this kind is to issue regular "strike pay" but in this strike the mine-mill workers virtually have to prove they are destitute before getting something out of the union kitty.

Up to now, it has been calculated, the payroll loss to Sudbury has been $11,000,000, or $900 per man on strike.

Still, the city isn't suffering to any degree, at least on the surface.

Bank clearings, a fair indicator of business, are down around 25 per cent.

From unemployment insurance office figures, it would seem that some 900 people outside Inco have been laid off in the Sudbury district since the strike started. But that is only guesswork in view of layoffs in seasonal industries.

Again, it is probably a guess that somewhere between 2,000 and 4,000 persons have left Sudbury since the strike started. There has been an exodus, all right, mostly of strikers. Some may have left town for good. Some may have gone to live with relatives until the job is opened again. Others would be looking for outside work. But nobody can put a finger on any figure.

YULE SHOPPING DOWN

James Price, manager of Sudbury's largest department store, says Christmas shopping is down between one - quarter and one-third from last year.

"We weren't surprised at this," he says.

"But," he adds, "the smaller merchants have been surprised at the way business has held up in spite of the strike."

Getting back to the question of privation in strikers' homes, you hear this story:

The kid fainted in school.

Teacher asks how come.

Kid says he didn't have breakfast.

"Why?"

"It wasn't my turn today."

Frankford Will Hold Election For Reeveship

FRANKFORD — Anticipated fireworks did not materialize and Monday's nomination meeting for the village of Frankford was the quietest in years. However, as a result of nominations an election will be held next Monday for the office of reeve and another nomination will have to be held in the new future to elect a school trustee.

Former Reeve H. Wilmott Rose is challenging Reeve Spencer for re-election. Mr. Rose lost by a rather narrow margin for 1958.

Only Mr. Rose and Mrs. Spencer received nominations for reeve. For council, nominees were Messrs. Carman Mikel, Frank Rabel, Ray Moran, Raymond Rowe and Smith Osterhout. Mr. Osterhout withdrew and thus the present council received an acclamation for the coming year.

Mr. Orval Berry, outgoing public utilities commissioner, received the only nomination for that office.

Four men received nominations for the public school board trustee spots: Messrs. Clarence Lohnes, Harry Wickson, Clarence Way and Harold Reid. Messrs. Way and Reid withdrew and another nomination meeting will be held for the other seat.

Next Monday, ratepayers will ballot between H. Wilmott Rose, reeve; councillor candidates, and George Nelson Spencer, grocer, for the reeveship.

FRANKFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Charlesworth attended the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Preston in Wellington on Tuesday evening. Mr. Preston was a former resident of the Stockdale area and is well known in this area.

Mrs. C. Ross and family spent this week with relatives in Woodstock.

Mr. Ernest Anderson is ill at his home.

Just a reminder that Frankford pond is not safe for walking. One man and three boys got a cold dip by falling in this week.

Mr. Bob Schriver and sons of Stockdale, spent this week with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Palrick and family.

STOP LAYING CHARGES

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner told British Columbia police authorities to stop laying charges, for the time being, under the careless driving section of the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act. The action was prompted by an Ontario Supreme Court ruling that has cast doubt on the validity of the careless driving law.

Rawdon

MOUNT PLEASANT-RAWDON W.A.

RAWDON — Mrs. Raymond McConnell was hostess for the December meeting of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon W.A. with a large attendance.

Mrs. Jim Johnson, president, was in charge and opened the meeting.

Mrs. Robert Merrick gave her report and Mrs. Ross Jeffs read the thank-you notes, followed by a report of the finances by the treasurer.

The program based on Christmas, was arranged by Mrs. Doug Campbell and Mrs. Frank Spencer.

The Scripture was read by Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Herbert Smith offered prayer. The Christmas Story and readings on that theme were given by Mrs. Harvey Couch, and Mesdames Jeffs, Spencer and Campbell.

Mrs. Eric Summers and Mrs. Mac Sharp contributed a vocal duet and were in charge of the carol singing.

Mrs. Bill McAdam read a selection and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver gave a piano solo.

Plans were made for catering in December and for sending "Cards".

The pastor, the Rev. W. G. Fletcher conducted the election of officers and Mrs. Carleton Potts will be the 1959 president. Lunch was served and other refreshments brought the meeting to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Sharpe and daughters attended a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hanlon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bonnell of Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray White and family, Tyndale, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White and family.

FREED ON BLOOD TEST

KITCHENER (CP) — An impaired driving charge against a Waterloo man was dismissed in court Thursday after a blood test on his alcohol in his bloodstream in spite of police reports his breath smelled of alcohol.

BATAWA W.A. Holds Successful Tea and Bazaar

BATAWA — The W.A. of Batawa United Church held their annual Christmas bazaar and tea on Wednesday afternoon in the Recreation hall.

Guests were received by Mrs. H. Beach, wife of the pastor, and Mrs. H. Kern, president of the Women's Association. Mrs. A. Storey was treasurer for the afternoon.

There was a fine display of ladies' handiwork by baking and useful articles, including jewellery and homemade Christmas candles, fashioned into centrepieces.

The apron table with Mrs. W. Blair, convener, assisted by Mrs. C. Westlake and Mrs. J. Moore, displayed many useful and dainty aprons.

The home cooking table was convened by Mrs. R. Donable, with Mrs. D. Buck, Mrs. G. Elder and Mrs. L. Lockhart assisting.

Mrs. F. Hoecks and Mrs. T. Alexander were in charge of the candy table.

Mrs. Cecil Geldard was convener of the novelty table and was assisted by Mrs. P. Muller.

The tea room was tastefully decorated in a Christmas motif, including the traditional Christmas tree.

The tea table was decorated with a Christmas centrepiece and candelabras. The small tables were each centred with a miniature candy cane nestled in pine.

Pouring tea were: Mrs. H. Martin of Stirling; Mrs. F. Caley of Frankford; Mrs. P. Hubble, of Stockdale; Mrs. A. Anselmo, of Frankford; Mrs. H. Terry, of Frankford and Mrs. R. Milne of Batawa.

Those serving were: Mrs. R. Mitts, Mrs. E. Daniels, Mrs. E. Hennessey, Mrs. J. Paces, Mrs. J. Nikulicek and Mrs. J. Cormack.

Mrs. R. Armstrong convened the kitchen with Mrs. W. Pavlica and Mrs. G. Flindall as her assistants.

ESTHER WILLIAMS TO ESTABLISH DISTRIBUTORSHIP IN BELLEVILLE

1959 Distributor Appointment Program Just Starting

The International Swimming Pool Corporation, world's leading manufacturer of home and resort swimming pools, has just launched the largest Esther Williams distributor appointment program in the Company's history. International is the exclusive manufacturer of the famous Esther Williams Pools and is expanding manufacturing, service and storage facilities in order to serve an additional 300 communities.

Backed by the biggest swimming pool publicity and advertising campaign ever announced in the industry, the new distributor appointment program is scheduled to be completed within six weeks.

This market has been selected by International's Marketing Committee for one of the new distributorships. An Esther Williams marketing executive will personally consult with home owners and resort owners and consider applications for the Esther Williams distributorship in this area (see box below).

DISTRIBUTOR QUALIFICATIONS

Good character, a successful business background and a desire to build your own business are the prime qualifications for an Esther Williams distributorship.

The home and motel swimming pool business has become one of America's fastest growing new industries. The Esther Williams brand is the undisputed leader in this new industry, accounting for 30 to 40% of all the permanent-type pool business.

Industry sales have more than doubled every year for the past three years. Trade experts, however, point out that pool sales have not yet reached boom stage. Sales on a gigantic scale are expected to begin in 1959 and continue for many years to come.

No franchise fee is required of a new Esther Williams distributor. Distributor appointed will be expected to make a modest investment in selfliquidating inventory with full profit potential. Construction experience is not a requirement.

Esther Williams, glamorous president of International Swimming Pool Corporation and world famous authority on swimming and swimming pools.

At a recent distributor conference, Esther Williams observed that, "It is truly amazing how quickly a community becomes swimming pool conscious following the appointment of the distributor for our complete line of family and motel pools."

Many swimming pool authorities credit Miss Williams as being the major influence in speeding up the trend to family swimming pools—a trend that is sweeping across America and making the backyard family pool a sound investment, as well as the new and accepted adjunct to American family living.

At the same conference Miss Williams also explained, "I believe there are four basic reasons why the Esther Williams Pool is outselling all others by a wide margin.

"First, it's the safest pool with the exclusive safety walk all around, the flat play area and the safety cover. These features give parents peace of mind. Being the mother of three energetic children, I can assure you these wonderful features give me peace of mind.

"Secondly, an Esther Williams Pool is built to last because of the rigid construction standards established by our Engineering Department—poured concrete, steel reinforced throughout and covered with exclusive Perma-Seal Poolskin which eliminates costly painting expenses.

"The third basic reason is that an Esther Williams Pool is complete in every respect for convenience, maximum family fun and the most economical maintenance—everything including filter, underwater light, stainless steel ladder, laminated diving board and 10 other items. There are no hidden extras to buy.

"And, the fourth reason more people from coast to coast are buying this complete pool than any other is the integrity on the part of Esther Williams distributors to provide the finest possible pool at lowest cost."

America's Largest-Selling Family and Motel Pool To Be Available In This Area

The Division Marketing Manager for Esther Williams Pools,

MR. RALPH C. JOHNSON

is in Belleville to consult with home owners interested in home pools and to talk with distributor applicants for this area. For an appointment call or write him at the address or number below:

H-S Assoc. Holds Euchre And Bazaar

READ — A successful euchre and bazaar was held in the Parish Hall on Monday evening. Fourteen tables of euchre were played with prizes going to: ladies — Mrs. Francis Coffey first; Mrs. Den Kehoe, 2nd; men — Harold Enright, 1st; and James Corrigan, 2nd.

A variety of tables were on display. A candy table was conveved by Mrs. Percy Callaghan, and Mrs. Adrian Callaghan. A sewing table with all its dainty spoons and crochet and knitted articles was overseen by Mrs. Kathleen Coffey and Mrs. Jerry Harrigan. A home-cooking table with its displays of cakes, cookies, pies, buns and bread was looked after by Mrs. Vince McDermott and Mrs. Joe Walsh.

The white elephant table and the knick-knack-and-candy table quite a crowd. Those assisting on these tables were Mrs. Teresa Mullin, Mrs. Reta Enright and Mrs. J. P. Farrell.

During the evening a Christmas cake was drawn for and Mr. Harold Brennan was the lucky winner.

Coffee and doughnuts were served throughout the evening.

Farm Forum Discusses Cost Of Production

6TH SIDNEY — The Brookdale Farm forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Pollard on Monday evening with 30 members present. The topic for the evening was, "The Cost of Production Can we Find it?" After listening to a very interesting broadcast and a great deal of discussion the group came to the conclusion that it is difficult thing to arrive at an accurate cost of production. The very best that could be done would really only be an estimate. The following is an excerpt this.

The consensus was that a good strong farm organization such as the Federation of Agriculture would be the logical agency to determine the average cost of production. If farmers would support the federation 100 per cent it would be given strength.

Struck by Car

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Ruth Patterson, 73, died in hospital Thursday night after being struck by a car in suburban Scarborough. Police identified the driver as Clement Fielding, 31. She was the 117th person to die in a traffic accident in Metropolitan Toronto this year, compared with 120 at the same time last year.

Hits Rear of Truck

BRAMPTON (CP)— John William Blanchard, 29, was killed Thursday night when his car crashed into the rear of a truck on Highway 10 south of here.

His son Peter, 7, was uninjured. Truck driver Jeanneke Vonk of Clarkson and his passenger, James Kuruluk of Oakville, were taken to Peel Memorial Hospital with head injkuries.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Sunday, December 7, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Many good hunches are yours during A.M. which, if followed, can gain you great knowledge and assist you in the early future. Get into the so-called Silent Set and let them come through. P.M. don't quarrel with loved one or have estrangement.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) If you do not pay particular attention to what a partner is trying to express, there can easily be confusion and misunderstanding. Don't be so concerned with own views that you leave no room for the ideas of others.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Healing and looking after the state of your health is of vital concern to you today. Spend time figuring ways in which you can work more harmoniously with co-workers. Tonight it is necessary you do not get into an unfortunate fracas.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Arising in a most happy frame of mind if living right astrologically, you can make this a habit by showing kindness and goodness to those who have done you real favors. Be the part. P.M. don't be extravagant in entertainment. Relax.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Affair at home needs your early attention. Nip the disconcerting situation in the bud by living the Golden Rule to the limit of your ability. Insure domestic tranquility and family love which is beyond price.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Have a talk with that person of high principles who can so help you to attain the ideal life you so deserve. Don't procrastinate. Go after this valuable 'ete, advice, and constructive plans will take shape quickly. P.M. be happy-go-lucky.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — A.M. hours give you a fine concept of the actual merit of standards and principles under which you were reared before you go into practice once more. Refuse to be drawn into errors of others.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — This is a fine day for renewing your energies, toning up your system, raising your spirituality and improving your appearance P.M. rather than finding fault and grumbling, impress those in power with your constructive abilities.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — A.M. is particularly well adapted for concentration on the spiritual, since Sagittarians are highly devoted and require more such help for their signs. P.M. live the Golden Rule. Sidestep four-flushing new acquaintance.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) During A.M. you are fortunate in having a well-wishing and aggressive comrade who will assist you in gaining your goals. But you must be specific and thoroughly honest for best results. Start steer clear of uninformed advisor.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Concentrate on how you can be of greatest help to those in civic or public life, executives who need a good right hand man or woman, moral or financial support. P.M. avoid fight between associate and higher up. Relax.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) For mental and spiritual enlightenment, seek out the most inspired adviser you know and you will get invaluable advice, clear for future. P.M. forget labor of humdrum nature especially and concentrate on the idealistic.

If your child is born today — The lucky child born today is the kind who somehow will always know the correct solution to most everything because of the highly developed nature. Your early duty is to instill a balanced combination of the spiritual and the practical values for highest successful connection with fellow man. Astrology, too, for any emergencies during latter part of life.

Monday, December 8 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Fine first day of the week to consult with financial sources, customers, competitors, government personnel, et al., to get a clear picture of present security standing. P.M. be just as powerful and thorough with bosom tie. Get future on firm basis.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Come to better understanding with all whom you consider as associates by being very practical. Notice the small; writing on contracts, understand all clauses perfectly. P.M. is ideal for an evening out with husband, wife, associate, et al.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Particularly fine day to get much back work caught up and to meet any obligations you have made. Excellent, too, for getting wardrobe, utilities in order. Write letters, put over big sales, purchases, action!

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) The right time to put yourself across with Bigwigs, especially in artistic and cultural lines. Don't waste a minute of this precious day, show initiative toward same. Tonight is excellent for increasing popularity and exercising wit.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Commence this new week properly by meeting obligations to family ties or those vital persons in the business or social world. Also good for beginning new enterprise, provided too, you first get necessary detail out of the way. P.M. rest at home.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) It is possible now to have conferences of importance with those whom you have found difficult to see earlier Travel, if necessary, or write, call long distance. Come to meeting of minds. Also, get your shopping done.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Today you can more successfully handle important real estate and monetary affairs. State your position fairly and squarely to all. Later, get credit higher, set up better bookkeeping system. Get larynx treated.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get an early start this morning, after dressing in nicest apparel. to see all those persons who can assist you in your career. P.M. go to social affairs where you can combine business with pleasure and get into the higher strata.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take time to estimate accurately any large holdings or interests in connection with big business concerns. Fine day to put your philanthropic plans in motion. Tonight should be spent with loved ones or bosom pal peacefully.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Fine now for uniting your energies with others toward some end. Don't angle so much, but come straight to the point Excellent evening for tripping the light fantastic or glib, amusing conversation.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Doublecheck your efforts in matters civic or dealing with the public in general. See that all is in order. Meet test of higher up with flying colors. Get credit rating as high as possible.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) All manner of constructive plans, interesting new people, inventions are in the offing today, but it is up to you to get off that easy chair and go into the outside world to meet and utilize them. Don't hide your great light under a bushel.

Latin America Is Probably The Land of Most Exciting Possibilities in the World

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Next to Canada, Latin America is probably the land of most exciting possibilities in the world today.

If it's true that the 20th century belongs to Canada, the Latin Americans are confident that the pendulum of promise—in its glorious way — will swing southward to them in turn.

They have a lot of tough problems, though, and they face as many dangers as opportunities. They're wrestling the twin devils of political and economic instability in a time of fervid nationalism, radical change and social upheaval. Scarcely a day passes without some new violence or incident.

Youth, in particular, is exasperated at the hitherto chasm between the "haves" and the "have nots." Communist Russia is reaching around the world in an attempt to move in where discredited dictators have left unrest, confusion and worse.

ROMANTIC LAND

South of the Rio Grande are 20 republics, some of them merely names to most Canadians, places that were once scornfully dubbed "banana republics."

Not counting Puerto Rico and the British French Guianas, Latin America has an area slightly more than twice the size of Canada and a population of 185,000,000, considerably more than that of the United States and increasing at the fast rate of 2.5 per cent annually.

This is the romantic land the Spanish conquistadores roamed 450 years ago. It's a continent—and then some — of fiesta and bloody revolution, snow-clad Andean mountains and broad pampas, equatorial jungles and temperate plateaus, squalid villages and glittering cities, skyscrapers and hovels, blazing color and ever-dark forests, dazzling riches and abysmal poverty.

The rollcall: Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela.

ECONOMIES CHANGED

Continental Latin America, with its vast natural resources, can be compared with Canada but it is

MAJESTIC VIEW

The rugged peaks of the Andes mountains present a breathtaking scene from this vantage point 11,500 feet above sea level on the Latacunga-Quevedo highway in Ecuador. Indians farm the land up to the bases of the peaks as far as possible, or as high as the growth of vegetation will allow. (CP Photo).

Americans have a turbulent history. It's estimated that Bolivia, for instance, had 178 revolutions between 1825 and 1952, and the country is going through another crisis right now.

DICTATORS' TWILIGHT

Politically, big things have been happening throughout the continent. Five dictators were deposed and one assassinated—Gen. Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua — in less than four years.

The mightiest of these, of course, were Juan D. Peron of Argentina, Gustavo Rojas Pinilla of Colombia and Marcos Perez Jimenez of Venezuela. But equally significant were the downfall of Communist-supported Jacobo Arbenz Guzman of Guatemala, who was toppled after a 12-day civil war, and Paul E. Magloire of Haiti which, incidentally, is the only Negro republic in the Americas.

The trend is toward democracy but military dictators still cling to power in Cuba, the Dominican Republic and Paraguay, and some observers also put the new president of Haiti, Francois Duvalier, in this category since he uses high-handed methods to defend his regime.

It's obviously twilight-time for dictators, but reformers have found that the overthrow of a dictator does not by any means automatically end trouble. Indeed, it's sometimes only then that the fully plight of a country can be assessed.

LEFT CHAOS BEHIND

Peron left Argentina—where he is still a hero to a host of unthinking workers—in such a condition of chaos that it is still struggling for economic survival. Peron meanwhile is trying from exile to overthrow the new regime, using the fabulous fortune he stole from the country.

The ex-czar of Argentina's troubles was dramatized by the recent political storm which President Arturo Frondizi weathered with the support of military leaders. The president is seeking outside oil investments in the midst of soaring inflation.

Of the remaining Latin dictators, Gen. Alfredo Stroessner's rule in Paraguay, most backward republic which has never known a really free election, is mild and he has promised to introduce democracy gradually. President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba, fighting a stubborn rebellion, gained no new prestige in the November general elections and seems ready to relinquish a measure of power.

Only Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo of the Dominican Republic reigns supreme and steadfast, but the self-styled "benefactor" is 68 years old now and flaws in his health are giving encouragement to his enemies.

EXPORTS VITAL

Many Latin Americans bitterly accuse the U.S. of supporting dictators in the past and this was one of the reasons for attacks on Vice - President Richard Nixon when he toured the continent last spring.

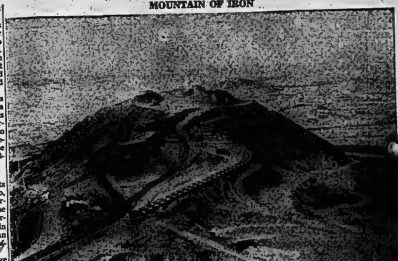
But most authorities say a deeper reason was economic resentment against the U.S. for policies that deal severe hardship to "one crop" countries and nations heavily dependent on foreign trade.

Despite industrialization, most Latin America lands on exports of agricultural and mineral commodities. Fourteen countries, for instance, depend heavily on coffee exports and the current overproduction and price-drop of this commodity are disastrous.

Harassed Latin governments sometimes blame the U.S. for faults that may lie closer to home, such as fantastic inflation. Prices in Chile rose no less than 1,300 per cent in eight years, but conditions now have improved under a stable government and an austerity program.

One significant development is the Latin American plan for a common market along the lines of the European Common Market. With traditional exports to Europe sharply curtailed, the republics hope to increase trade among themselves, reducing outside expenditures.

LATINS CONFIDENT



Despite Communist movements of some importance in Mexico, Guatemala, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile and Venezuela, the Reds are not considered a serious threat to take over power in any of the republics. But Russian Premier Khrushchev's trade offensive is another matter.

Russia and the satellites have moved in with credits and barter, making sizable deals with Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay and Chile, not to mention sharply increased propaganda and cultural activity. Czechoslovakia offered to buy Peru's surplus lead and zinc.

Russia, showing the other side of the coin, has caused crushing hardship by its commodity-dumping policies in world markets. Bolivia, especially, was crippled by Russian dumping of tin.

All this may present a picture of a continent in the throes of headlong change, and even disarray. But the Latin Americans boast with confidence that their problems arise merely from growth, and the desire to grow more—and faster.

MOUNTAIN OF IRON

A region of Venezuela virtually unknown and untouched a few years ago is beginning to bustle with activity. Industry is moving into the wilderness to tap the rich iron ore deposits of Cerro Bolivar, 75 miles west of Puerto Ordaz, a town of 10,000 that didn't even exist seven years ago. This view shows the so-called "iron mountain," claimed to be one of the richest deposits of its kind in the world. The mountain, four miles long and 4,000 feet high, is 64 per cent iron. (CP Photo).

West Berlin Gives Emphatic 'No' To Red Plans

Not Single Red Elected To Parliament of City

BERLIN (AP)—The people of West Berlin gave an emphatic no Sunday to Communist plans to drive the Western Allies out of their city.

But the resounding Communist defeat in the election of a new West Berlin parliament did not lull the Soviet proposal to end the four-power occupation and, turn West Berlin into a demilitarized free city, Red spokesmen said the election would not affect it.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt lifted his people from shocks to cone and warned of serious times ahead.

No Communist candidates were victorious in the election, viewed widely as a plebiscite on Nikita Khrushchev's proposal. The Communists were the only ones who openly backed the Soviet premier.

BRANDT TRIUMPHANT

Brandt, leader of the Socialists, was re-elected in the smashing personal triumph. His party got 78 of the 138 seats, a solid majority. The remaining 53 went to the Christian Democratic Union of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's party.

The Communist candidates received a mere 1.9 per cent of the vote, compared to 19.3 per cent in the last election in 1954. They never have won a parliamentary seat in West Berlin.

Brandt, 44, became the undisputed leader of West Berlin and thus a strong eventual contender for the West German chancellorship.

He announced he will go to Bonn Sunday for talks next week with Adenauer. But he declined to say whether he will form an all Socialist government or whether he will continue the previous coalition with the Christian Democrats. In the last parliament, which ended only 127 seats, the Socialists held 64 for a majority of one.

MOSCOW SCORNFUL

Moscow radio scoffed at suggestions the election was anything but a triumph for the Soviet free-city proposals.

Premier German Premier Otto Grotewohl also said in a statement that the election had no effect on the Soviet proposal. The outcome, he said, will be decided by negotiations between Russia, the Western Allies and the two Germanys.

Even the East German news agency, blamed the Communist defeat on what it called a reign of terror in West Berlin. It said the West Berliners weren't afraid of the Soviet plan.

The socialists took a 52.1 per cent of the popular vote compared to 44.6 in 1954. The Christian Democrats also gained. In 1954 they got 32.4 per cent. This time they got 32.6 per cent. The turnout was tremendous. Out of a total population of about 2,200,000, more than 1,800,000 voted.

U.S. Space-Probe Team Prepares For Second Shot

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a second space shot ahead, U.S. rocket scientists set out today to correct troubles that thwarted their first effort to hurl a tiny package of instruments into orbit around the sun.

At the same time, they raised the experiment a success in measuring the depth of man-produced radiation around the earth.

The space-probe Pioneer III—first of a assigned to the mission—met its flaming end over North Africa at 2:51 p.m EST Sunday.

Fired aloft by a four - stage rocket early Saturday, the 13-pound cone reached an astounding peak altitude of 66,654 miles before falling back and burning in the heat generated by atmospheric friction.

ROUGH START

It was 38 hours and six minutes in flight.

The army's Pioneer III didn't get as far into space as did the U.S. Air Force's best effort Dec. 11. Revised figures showed the air force's Pioneer I reached 71,300 miles.

The air force has used up all three tiny probes allotted to it for the present at least. It sought to need a somewhat heavier satellite into orbit around the moon, some 230,000 miles from the earth.

The army's intent with Pioneer III was to pass near the moon and beyond into orbit around the sun, some 93,000,000 miles away.

Maj. Gen. John P. Medaris, chief of the army missile command, said another shot is at least a month off.

FUEL CUT OFF

Scientists said Pioneer III was launched at too low an angle. And they said its first stage fuel shut off three seconds too soon, cutting its speed below the 24,900 miles an hour needed to break away from the earth's main gravitational pull.

Medaris said the rocket design will be analyzed and its control system altered slightly.

Dr. William H. Pickering said the army probe's round trip has let space minded scientists to get twice the amount of radiation data they would have gotten if the gold-plated cone had continued on instead of returning toward earth.

Attempt Fails To Hold up Bakery Office

LINDSAY (CP) — Two bandits disguised with nylon stockings and hunting caps failed in a holdup attempt Saturday when a gun they pointed at a fleeing bakery driver jammed.

Police said the two men entered the Trent Valley Bakery office just as four drivers checked in with their day's receipts.

Thomas Downey, standing just inside the door, fled. Another driver, Robert Spence, said a bandit aimed the revolver at him as fleeing Downey but the gun jammed.

The robbers ran and were chased by two drivers who lost them on downtown streets.

GOVT-SUPERVISED VOTE FOR INCO WORKERS LIKELY

MLA's Receive Hundreds of Letters

SUDBURY (CP) — A government-sponsored vote among 14,000 striking workers of the International Nickel Company to determine whether they want to return to their jobs appeared a possibility today.

Two local Progressive Conservative members of the Ontario legislature reported at the week-end that they have forwarded a petition of hundreds of letters asking the government to Premier Frost and Labor Minister Daley.

A union leader promptly condemned the suggestion.

Rheal Belisle, member for Nickel Belt, and G. J. Monaghan, member for Sudbury, said in an interview the letters have been sent to them from strikers and their wives.

They said the stack of mail has taken on the proportions of a petition. Mr. Belisle said the government would not normally ignore discussion on merits of a petition of this nature.

BOLSKI ATTACKS MLAS

Stanley Bolski, president of Local 598 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter (ind.) with 8,000 of the union's membership were trying "to assist the International Nickel Company in steering a cheap settlement down workers' throats."

He said that "some politicians and certain individuals who are not connected with the dispute making efforts even before the last company offer to promote a settlement by government by trying to organize a letter-writing campaign."

Union members have been warned repeatedly, he said, to be on their guard against such a movement.

He said the Ontario Labor Relations Act does not require a government supervised vote and that "secret ballots are available to our members if required and by the Labor Relations Board as to who determine this."

NAMES BARRED SIGNED

Mr. Buchanan said the letters were at first unsigned but are now being signed with signatures.

"They are from my constituents and as a representative of the people I can do nothing less than forward them as petitions to the Labor Relations Board," he said.

The Inco strike, called Sept. 2 has already cost more than 411,000,000 in lost wages and many millions more in business for wages agencies for essentials of food and clothing.

The last effort to settle the strike ended in failure Nov. 24 when the union rejected an Inco proposal at government - sponsored talks in Toronto for a three - year agreement with wage increases of 11¾ per cent in the first year, 5¼ per cent in each of the last two years.

DEMANDS REDUCED

Union bargainers scaled down their original request for an 18-month contract to one for 34½ per cent in each year of a three-year agreement.

Average wage at Inco before the strike was $2.20 hourly.

Both members said the letters they have received about one-third of them from strikers' wives —express belief in the sincerity of the union's settlement. Strikers' claim, however, that the workers no strongly enough to what they did when they authorized strike action three months ago.

Publisher Will Risk Jail Term To Bring Out Edition of Lolita

LONDON (AP)—George Weidenfeld, a London publisher, has decided to risk a five-year jail term by going to jail for two years.

He is going to bring out a British edition of Vladimir Nabokov's controversial novel Lolita, which he says he faces charges of "uttering an obscene publication."

Weidenfeld will have to find a printer willing to accept the risk, to stand trial with him. Under British law the publisher and printer of an obscene publication are equally guilty.

Lolita, by Vladimir Nabokov, concerns a love affair between a man in his 40s and a girl of 12.

The question of a British court may have to decide ultimately whether Lolita is pornography or a work of art.

The "work of art" school includes French writer Francois Mauriac and British novelist Graham Greene.

"Mr. Weidenfeld agrees," said a spokesman for his publishing firm, Weidenfeld and Nicholson. "It is a matter that he has decided to stand the chance that he may be prosecuted.

"Lolita will be books freely available at most British libraries and in bookshops. Ulysses—author William Faulkner's Sanctuary, both of which were, in fact, strongly denounced as Lolita.

Like Ulysses, Nabokov's work first was published in Paris, three years ago. It came out recently in the United States and became a best-seller.

Unlike Lolita, the James Joyce opus had to run the legal gauntlet in order to receive U.S. publication. It was on the banned list for 14 years, until a federal judge ruled that its four contents were "more emetic than pornographic."

Subzero Cold, Heavy Snowfall Grip Vast Stretches of Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Subzero cold gripped the vast stretch of Canada from the Rockies to the Ontario-Quebec border Sunday night and warmest place in the country appeared to be British Columbia, having its troubles with from two to 16 inches of snowfall.

Meanwhile, the east coast was battered by gales reaching 60 miles an hour and scores of lobster traps were buried ashore on southwestern Prince Edward Island. Temperatures inland Sunday were in the 30s in Prince Edward Island, but that in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, on the Maritime Provinces were prevented drops in temperature and snow.

The lower B.C. mainland has its first measurable snowfall since March last year. Heavy drifting was reported from the Fraser Valley, Port Alberni and Nanaimo on Vancouver island and from two to eight inches at Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon.

The Vancouver weather office has an additional four to five inches could be expected today from a fresh Pacific storm moving inland. The mercury hovered around freezing.

The overnight readings in Alberta and Saskatchewan ranged from 25 below to 20 below. Even the rate, ought to be embedded in our constitution by an appropriate constitutional amendment. North America Act so that not even the Parliament of Canada can detract from them.

"And it would seem to follow logically from this that Parliament could properly seek such an amendment without the prior approval of the provinces since the subject matter of the amendment is clearly within their legislative competence."

Mr. Butler's view of the need for constitutional changes received support in the Senate on Thursday as the upper house opened debate on the throne speech. Senators are expected to make sure freedoms such as those in the bill of rights will be entrenched in later legislation.

Unlike Mr. Justice Thorson, however, both said preferable political and constitutional obstacles stand in the way.

A third brief, presented by the Canadian Civil Liberties Union of Canada, agreed with Mr. Justice Thorson that there is an uneasy

Koala Bears Most Friendly To Diefenbaker

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The Diefenbakers and their koala bears got together briefly but cordially here Sunday.

The prime minister and his wife visited one of the world's leading zoos. The koala bears were on the program.

One especially-friendly one cuddled in their arms when the Canadian party was given special permission to enter the cages of koalas and kangaroos.

Mrs. Diefenbaker held one for several minutes — "just like a baby."

The koala bears are Australia's national animal.

He had dropped in Saturday on an unscheduled visit.

Provincial Consent Is Not Needed for Human Rights Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The head of Canada's Exchequer Court expressed the view Friday that Parliament can seek an amendment to the constitution to guarantees of civil rights, Parliament could pass a bill to protect human rights without prior approval of the provinces.

Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson, opening a three-day national seminar on human rights, said he and others is strong support for such an amendment.

Mr. Justice Thorson, former president of the International Commission of Jurists, was discussing Canada's proposed new bill of rights, introduced last September in the dying hours of the parliamentary session. It is expected to come up again in the new session starting in mid-January.

Mr. Thorson said the letters were at first unsigned but are now being signed with signatures.

"They are from my constituents and as a representative of the people I can do nothing less than forward them as petitions to the Labor Relations Board," he said.

Call Strike Off Eight Hours After Starting

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike of delivery men against nine New York City newspapers ended abruptly this afternoon.

Barney G. Cameron, president of the Publishers Association of New York City, announced the end of the strike shortly before 4 am EST. The deliverers had gone on strike at midnight.

Negotiations for contracts placed around the New York dailies by the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union had been called off.

Liner Seized In Bermuda for $1,000,000 Debt

ST. GEORGE, Bermuda (AP) The liner Arosa Star was seized in Bermuda Sunday and 183 bewildered cruise passengers including Canadians taken off.

The seizure left the 12,000-ton liner and her cargo for more than $1,000,000 in debts were posted on the foremast within minutes after the vessel docked here.

The Swiss - owned ship, flying the Liberian flag, turned into Bermuda instead of going direct to New York on a cruise to Caribbean ports, with a finalcall cloud hanging over the ship and allowed to set out only after posting a $40,000 bond.

Arosa Star owed for the police here listed among big creditors of the ship's owners in Switzerland $218,000 for fuel and other supplies and Cadiz of Switzerland $56,054.

In addition to the 183 passengers, arrangements are being made to fly to New York 23 officers who signed to work on the cruise.

Agents for Wall Street Tours, which chartered the ship for the cruise, assured passengers they would be flown to New York as soon as possible.

The Diefenbakers were married in Toronto. Today prime minister remarked that since it will

33 FREIGHTERS STILL HELD UP BY CANAL ICE

Week-Long Battle Ahead for Crews

MONTREAL (CP)—Ten ocean freighters crawled today through a narrow, ice-clogged channel in the Lachine Canal while seven others waited in a queue at Lake St. Louis, 10 miles west.

Canal officials gave priority to the ocean ships because they have a slimmer lines and are able to squeeze through a narrow bottleneck at the third lock, about half a mile from Montreal harbor.

Ice has encased the canal wall and a bridge abutment through which ships must pass is enter the third lock on their downbound passage to Montreal.

There's also a tough room during the summer," said Lachine Canal chief, Rheal St. Germain, 57, "But now the ice has made the channel just a narrow path."

SLOW BUT SURE

Mr. St Germain said "Everything is slow but sure."

He said 16 Canadian canal workers were also working on either in the canal itself or at Lake St. Louis, making a total of 33 vessels as of 10:30 a.m. EST today.

"We'll get them all through if at all possible," said department of transport authorities as they threw an additional crew into clearing the canal and laying off the freighters.

The deadline had been set originally for midnight Saturday, but was extended Sunday.

MEN OPTIMISTIC

Department authorities were optimistic that the men on the scene have coped with similar problems before. Some of the men are veterans of 30 years.

Canal officials were hopeful the weather would stay mild for the rest of the week.

But if continuing cold weather—today's low and high are zero and the degrees respectively—should choke the canal with an impassable mass of ice, a heavy snow could pack it with slush.

C. T Meatzs, general manager of the Shipping Federation of Canada, said it was still too early to tell what consequences will be getting all the ships through.

Ten ships were moved through the canal between 8 a.m. Saturday and 3:30 p.m Sunday.

FOUND DELAY

Then the Selkirk, a sub-nosed Canadian canal ship, was frozen in for more than four hours at lock No. 3, halting proceedings until canal crews send tiny canal ice - breaker to her aid.

Prospects were that at dawn today the Selkirk would be clear of the canal itself and 18 in Lake St. Louis waiting for the Seaway and Welland Seaways Canal west of Lake St. Louis finished up for the season Dec. 15. The Seaway opens May, last of the downstream boats which was cleared into the lake Sunday.

About 20 of the ships still to come through the Lachine Canal are bound for the Atlantic, 800 miles distant, 13 for Montreal, downstream from Montreal, and the Gulf of St. Lawrence beyond, are relatively free of ice.

Missing Fishing Tug Is Sighted

KINGSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—The fishing tug Dauntless with a crew of five aboard was sighted this morning after being reported missing Sunday.

The tug's position was south-east of Kelley's Island just before noon. Fishermen here believed the tug was in distress ice difficulties late Sunday. Aboard the tug are Simon Sumpthon, 45, Canadian, Fred Fuller, Duncan Baldwin and Joe Berlocko.

Diefenbakers Mark Anniversary 12,000 Feet Above South Pacific

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (CP)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Mrs. Diefenbaker today acknowledged congratulations on the eighth anniversary of their wedding anniversary and gave small wooden presents.

One was a tiny wooden bottle topped by a bottle opener to commemorate the Diefenbaker's departure during their Asian visit from their party's practice of abstaining from alcoholic drinks.

In Asia they drank an occasional beer on doctors' orders to avoid upsets from changes in the water. Arriving in Christchurch today, the prime minister remarked that since it will be impossible to reach a 30th anniversary here, they are multiplying the years by 10 and calling this their golden anniversary.

Members of the Canadian party, however, regarded it as the fifth wooden — anniversary and gave small wooden presents.

Dr. Lockhart, Principal Of U.C., Winnipeg, Quits

Says Vicious Personal Attacks Main Reason

WINNIPEG (CP)—The principal of United College resigned today after an eight-month dispute over an unaccepted private letter that led to the firing of the professor who wrote it. He is the resignation of 10 other faculty members in protest.

Dr. Wilfred C. Lockhart, 52, announced his resignation at a press conference. He said in a statement the "vicious personal attacks" upon him in the dispute had made him incapable of discharging his duties.

The letter was written by Prof. Henry Crowe last March while on a year's leave to lecture at Queen's University in Kingston. Contents have never been made public.

DISPUTE FOLLOWED

It reached Dr. Lockhart with an anonymous covering note giving his opinion on the contents. A dispute with Prof. Crowe followed and he was dismissed in September. He charged that the letter was personal and confidential, that it had been photostated and used against him. Prof Crowe, who declined to say what the letter contained the contents were "completely misunderstood out of consequence" in his dispute with the college.

Most of 14 resignations by the teaching staff of the college have been announced since Prof. Crowe's dismissal. All have said they would quit at the end of the academic year in April.

In a statement today on Dr. Lockhart's resignation, Chancellor Watson, chairman of the board of regents of United College, said the board would make a statement following a special meeting to be held "as soon as possible."

TENDERS RESIGNATION

Dr. Lockhart said:

"I tendered my resignation as principal of United College to become effective as of Jan. 1, 1959, or at such time as the board may wish to relieve me of my responsibilities. This is because of our failure to effect a Christian reconciliation with Prof. Crowe and because the widespread attacks upon me personally have rendered me unable to perform my proper duties as principal of our college.

"I do so also out of the deep conviction that I do not see how in the present situation discharge my duties in carrying out the purposes of the college set forth in the act of the incorporation of United College, as a body corporate and politic for the education of youth in the Christian knowledge according to the principles of the Christian religion."

PROFESSOR

The 11 resignations from the 32-member faculty included that of Dr. William A. C. H. Dobson, associate German professor, to whom the disputed letter was written.

A committee of the Canadian Association of University Teachers investigating the case reported that Prof. Crowe was the victim of injustice and should be reinstated.

Statements critical of the college administration have been issued by professors at the University of Saskatchewan and University, Kingston, where Prof. Crowe was teaching one year when he wrote the letter to Dr. Packer.

LOCKHART STATEMENT

In his statement today, Dr. Lockhart said:

"I have read and condemned and received before the public as a result of a deal in the press and TV, as a person unworthy

Pair on Date Find They Are Brother, Sister

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Richard Gillett, 22, and Dorothy Maneval, 19, had a date Saturday night. A little later they discovered they were brother and sister.

Gillett said they were separated 10 years ago when their mother died. He was adopted by a family in Lenox, Ind. He one in Claxton. Both are small towns near here.

A friend introduced Richard to Dorothy several days ago.

"I went to Dolly Dick and we made a date for Saturday night", said Miss Maneval, a high school student.

"Saturday she explained"; said Gillett, "that Dorothy was not her real name and that she really was Sara Esther Aldridge.

"It was then I told her that I knew she was my sister, because my real name is Michael Charles Aldridge", said Gillett, a factory worker at nearby Oregon City.

Gillett said he had known all along that he was adopted but had never tried to find her. Dorothy said she remembered she had a brother but had never tried to find him.

De Gaulle Puts Damper on Hopes Of Integration

ALGIERS (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle has put another damper on the hopes of French extremists in Algeria who are demanding the territory's complete integration with France.

Ending a five-day tour of Algeria and the Sahara, de Gaulle Sunday night called for the realization of "Algeria's personality and dignity" for Algeria's 9,000,000 Moslems before any political settlement.

In a recorded three - minute speech broadcast as he left by plane for Paris, he also avoided the issue of integration of Algeria politically and economically with France.

"Every man and every woman here should have their liberty, their responsibility and their dignity," the premier said.

"And that is done, we will see much better revealed the living personality of Algeria on the Sahara and also the real nature of things which unite it with France.

"It is when this is done that the so-called problem of Algeria will appear practically and reasonably."

DEVELOPMENT FIRST

His remarks indicate he intends to go ahead with his announced plan to develop the economic development plan before trying to solve Algeria's political problems.

De Gaulle's tour of the new Saharan oil and natural gas fields brought to light new estimates of their reserves and potential supply France with vital fuels for 80 years.

Figures at present consumes about 25,000,000 tons of oil yearly. By 1962 Sahara fields and the Gabon fields in Equatorial Africa are expected to produce 60,000,000 tons of crude oil year.

TWIN TURKEYS AT SHOOT

A good shot by the name of Forsythe won't lack for turkeys this Christmas.

At the turkey shoot held at Stellker's Belleville R. R. 8 farm on Saturday, Forsythe's trusty weapon brought him four Christmas dinners.

Another turkey shoot will be held Saturday starting twelve noon.

FIREMEN ANSWER 2 WEEKEND ALARMS

City firemen had two runs over the weekend. One of the runs turned out to be a false alarm at 14 Murney Street, while the other at a run for hot stove pipes at the Front Road United Church east of the city on No. 2 Highway.

Former Pres. Of Venezuela Has Early Lead

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Former president Romulo Betancourt led Rear-Admiral Wolfgang Larrazabal by a slim margin early today in the contest for Venezuela's first freely-elected president in 10 years.

Larrazabal won an overwhelming majority of the votes in Caracas, where he made his self popular as leader of the junta that toppled dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez. The admiral was a slight favorite prior to the voting Sunday.

But the light organization of Betancourt's Democratic Action party, revived after 10 years underground, apparently was keeping Betancourt ahead in the interior of the country.

Unofficial tabulations of about one-third of the votes gave Betancourt 343,739 and Larrazabal 458,743. Trailing as expected with the third candidate, Rafael Caldera, with 178,877.

Nobel Prize Winners Gather

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Winners of 1958 Nobel Prizes gathered in Stockholm today for the quiz giving. The Russians sent the three winners of the physics prize, literary winner Boris Pasternak stayed at home.

Another blast was loaded at Pasternak, author of the novel Dr. Zhivago, by Soviet writers at a Moscow meeting Sunday. Premier Khrushchev and the rest of the Communist party's ruling presidium looked on approvingly.

The prizes will be awarded at ceremonies Wednesday.

Cairo Papers Report Israel May Attack

CAIRO (Reuters) — Cairo newspapers today splashed — under banner headlines in red —identical reports that Israeli forces might attack the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria at any moment.

The report added that U.A.R. forces were ready for every eventuality and were "bold and invincible in Israel's defeat."

The crux of the matter, it said, was whether Britain and France would consent to Israeli attacks aimed at territorial expansion.

P.E.I. Liberals May Call Vote Early in 1959

By DON HOTT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Political parties in the Atlantic Provinces are primed as never before for general elections. But well-oiled machinery may rust away in all but one province before it can be used.

Prophets wandering through a kaleidoscope of election speculation pick Prince Edward Island's Liberal government as the only one likely to lay its mandate on the line in 1959.

Nova Scotia Progressive Conservatives seem content to wait until 1960. By then, their big constituents will be accustomed to a three-per-cent hospital sales tax that goes into effect Jan. 1. No big issues are in the offing in either Newfoundland or New Brunswick. Like Nova Scotia, there is no legal call for elections in these provinces before 1963.

PREMIER DROPS HINTS

Premier Alex Matheson has been dropping hints of a 1959 P.E.I election He has called the legislature to convene Feb. 10, a month earlier than usual. And he has a party meeting election day was "not too far off."

The Liberals won the 27 of 30 seats in a 1955 spring election. Little chance is seen of a progressive Conservative upset in the next election.

Besides the main campaign issues will be freight rates and federal-provincial fiscal relations. Nova Scotia's Premier Stanfield, in power only since 1956, is giving his statutory years left to govern, is still establishing his administration.

The PCs hold a slim edge in the legislature—24 to 19 Liberals. The one CCF member usually votes with the opposition.

Few people expect a New Brunswick election before 1960. Premier Fleming is naturally giving no hint of his plans.

Young Liberals are agitating for liquor to be made an issue. There are no bars or taverns in New Brunswick.

CCF and Social Credit parties are re-organizing. They hope to gain seats from the Liberals in Liberals who now hold 14 of the 32 legislature places. The Conservatives have 25 seats and three are vacant.

Social Credit organizer E. G. Flewelling says 36 candidates will be fielded in the next election. Eighteen were beaten in 1956.

James W. Kerr

Charles S. Coates

The Board of Directors of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited announces the appointment of James W. Kerr of Hamilton, Ontario, as president and chief executive officer, and the election of Charles S. Coates as chairman of the board. Mr. Kerr is an engineering graduate of the University of Toronto, Mr. Kerr was formerly vice-president and general manager of Canadian Westinghouse Company's Hamilton products Group, having joined the company in 1937. He has held various executive posts closely associated with many important power and industrial developments across Canada. Mr. Coates joined Trans-Canada in 1954 as executive vice-president and general manager and was made president in 1957. He directed the design, engineering and construction of the 2,200-mile, Alberta-Quebec natural gas transmission system, which was completed and placed in operation in October of this year. As well Chairman, Mr. Coates succeeds N. E. Tanner of Calgary, who will remain as a director and will continue to take an active part in the operation of the company.

to head an academic community especially a church college. The attacks upon me have been vicious and persistent. They have come from a small group within my own faculty, from the University of Manitoba, from the CAUT and from the public at large. As a result of these my position has become untenable and I have tendered my resignation.

"In my own defence I would like to make a few simple facts clear:

"1. I never at any time tampered with the mails. The letter in question came to me in Her Majesty's mail as an enclosure in an envelope addressed to myself. The letter was devoid of its original envelope.

"2. I could not avoid reading the pertinent sections of the letter. When I opened the envelope addressed to myself, Prof. Crowe's letter lay open before me on my desk.

"3. I did not know at first to whom it had been addressed or from whom it had come. It began 'Dear Vilio'. This was an unfamiliar name.

"But I did know that it had been in the hands of someone else. The accompanying note said 'We think you should read this' and did not know the 'we' referred—one person or 20 perce v. The letter, by the time it reached me, was not, in my judgment, a privileged or private document. Others had been in possession of it and might also have already made use of it.

"Under the circumstances I felt, as chief executive officer of the college, morally bound to retain a copy of it especially since there might have been sinister intent behind it being sent to me as principal of the college.

"If this was a mistake in judgment, I should like to add that it had no malicious intent. This should be clear from the fact that I was quite prepared to inform Prof. Packer that I knew its contents and had retained a copy of it. If it had been my intent to use the letter against Prof. Crowe I would never read the letter. Crowe I would never had did.

"4. I wrote to Professor Crowe explaining that the letter had come into my possession and expressing regret over the circumstances. I assumed that he would do me the courtesy to reply to my letter providing some explanation or expressing some regret over his statements. He did not reply until one month later. Rather he sent me his lawyer and hence unfortunately from the very beginning of this regrettable affair relationships between myself, myself and the board were put on a legal basis.

"5. I have been trained in liberal theological schools and despite the college that have been open to paint me a narrow-minded ecclesiastic I am not known by my friends as being either pious or orthodox. But I have profoundly shocked at the statements in the letter. They left no doubt in my mind about the writer's opinion of religion and the religious views held by myself and by men who are, who have been in the past, held in high esteem within the college and the community at large. Prof. Crowe has since described the statements as 'heretical'. It is significant that Prof. Crowe refused to publish his letter.

"6. I never at any time took Prof. Crowe's letter to the board of governors, nor divulged its contents to them. I have never used the letter for or purpose against Prof. Crowe and I have at no time even recommended his dismissal from the college.

"Having now stated the simple facts relating to the recent handling of this letter I want to acknowledge publicly, without reserve or qualification, my profound regret, if any interpretation, however inadvertent, should have brought harm to anyone and to the college. For this I am deeply sorry and I apologize to say I may have wronged.

"I had hoped that it might have been possible to effect a reconciliation with Prof. Crowe and that he would have found it possible to accept the board's offer to return to the college. I have worked hard to this end but it appears clear that Prof. Crowe is unwilling to modify his position in any degree. He apparently remains adamant in his conviction that the right is all on his side and the wrong all ours . . ."

Before coming to Winnipeg in 1955, Dr. Packer had been rector of Kingsway-Lambton United Church in Toronto.

Five students of the teaching staff came during the week-end. They included Dr. Packer, Miss Elizabeth Frances Morrison, dean of women since 1946; G. E. Instructor.

Hit-Run Crash Being Probed; Car Hits House

A hit-and-run accident on Front Street resulting in about $1,000 damage to one vehicle and a caesar mishap on Highland Ave., which saw a Trenton car leap the curb and crash through the lawn into the corner of a house, were the major items reported by city police over the weekend.

At the corner of Front and Victoria a car owned by Roy Ketcheson, West College Street, was damaged by another vehicle the driver of which drove away without stopping. Police are checking out the licence number of the hit-and-run car.

On Highland Ave. a car driven by Angus Cameron went out of control Saturday afternoon and after jumping the sidewalk went through the corner of a house owned by Dr. R. M. Youngshound. About $50 damage was caused to the house while the car was reported quite extensively damaged.

City police reported a rash of "fly-by-night" accidents but no injuries were reported.

Provincial police also reported a quiet weekend with only minor incidents.

Five-Stage Hike In Wages Given Truck Workers

TORONTO (CP) — About 7,000 long-haul trucking drivers in Ontario will receive wage increases under an agreement reached between trucking companies operating on an inter-provincial basis already have applied to the provincial bodies for authorization of a 17-per cent rate increase, effective Jan. 2.

The five-stage increase will total 21 cents an hour by Jan. 1, 1961, when the final boost is applied.

The agreement was negotiated by the motor transport industrial relations bureau and three teamsters locals. It is being ratified by the union membership across Ontario.

F. W. Murray, bureau director, said rate increases will be necessary for companies to cover the added operating cost. Trucking companies operating on an inter-provincial basis already have applied to the provincial bodies for authorization of a 17-per cent rate increase, effective Jan. 2.

FROST ON UNIVERSITIES

Premier Leslie Frost says that to provide a university education for all would be a "profound error."

Few realists will quarrel with his contention.

To educate as the university level is difficult enough to challenge the talents of the most intelligent, then the curriculum will be too difficult for some.

It is not so certain that Premier Frost was correct, from a practical as well as a theoretical standpoint, in all his other observations on the same occasion.

With this contention that it would be a mistake to use an individual's economic circumstances as a gauge to determine whether he should be admitted to university, most will agree.

There will be general sympathy, too, with his contention that many young men who "squeeze through with second class honors" later make a notable contribution to the life of the community and the nation.

But when the suggested that only the unusually high standards for university entrance "would reduce the number of competent people available to our expanding economic life," his observation demands further consideration.

This would not be true if the places of second class honors students in good economic circumstances were taken by first class honors students who previously had not been able to attend university. Nobody will deny that some second class honors students accomplish more, in later life, than some first class honors students, but on the average it must surely be true that the better the student the more likelihood that the university training will pay dividends, not merely to the student but to the community.

If Premier Frost meant that he was opposed to limiting the number of university students by applying academic requirements exceptionally high, we agree. But at the same time if limited university facilities make it necessary to exclude some of those who would like to attend university and who would likely benefit themselves and the country by such attendance, surely the only practical yardstick is the academic record of the would-be students.

RUBBER CHEQUES AMONGST THE GOOD

Once again Christmas shoppers are bustling about through Belleville stores in their annual present buying spree. A festive air pervades the atmosphere with cheerful decorations in store windows, the carol music in the air, and everywhere people, some looking, some hurry-ing, some buying, some wishing. Nearly everyone is thinking about the happy celebration ahead. The gathering of friends on Christmas Eve, the expressions of delight of children opening their presents, the quiet satisfaction of their elders as they watch, the family gathering around the banquet table for their turkey or goose dinner, the carol services in the churches, the thanks given to Him for the good life -- these are good things about Christmas.

Unfortunately Christmas is also a time when the worst comes out in some people. In the crowded stores the shoplifters find a thief's pleasure is more easily satisfied. With harried clerks, the bad check artists find it very easy to pass their bogus cheques because they do not exercise enough caution when cashing cheques from strangers. "Strangers are not always crooks, but crooks are usually strangers," says the chief. He heartily recommends that local merchants might use the fingerprint system which has proved so popular in Western Canada. It operates quite simply and quickly.

Strangers who wish to cash a cheque or pay for goods by cheque are requested to have their index finger-print imprinted on the back of the cheque. Then, if the cheque bounces, there is a record by which to identify the culprit. Most bad cheque passers are repeat offenders and their fingerprints are in the police files. This fact usually deters them from trying to pass the cheque when their fingerprint is requested. On the other hand, if the cheque is good the passer should have no hesitation at giving his fingerprint when he understands that it is general policy of the cashier.

It is a simple enough measure to deter those who turn the Christmas season into a criminal advantage.

FRIENDSHIP
By EDGAR A. GUEST

You needn't be rich to have friends,
You needn't be great to be true;
On what you are, friendship depends
Far more than on what you can do.
You may live in the simplest of style
And play but the humblest of parts,
But you have the courage to smile,
Be decent and score what is vile,

You'll be loved by a legion of hearts.
You needn't be famous to know
The best that the world has to give;
Thousands to you love will show
No matter how simply you live
If only you're honest and kind
And cling to your principles tight;
Though with money your pockets aren't lined
You will leave life a name behind
Who will miss you and mourn when you die.

Travelling Teen-Agers

By Marie-Madeleine Kah reg in UNESCO Features

In May 1957, a news item appeared in French newspapers: "Accident: Architect Jean Walter was knocked down by a car and killed when crossing highway No. 7 near Paris."

His name was scarcely known to the general public, yet he had done more than most people in the service of By comparison, his architect brother engineer by had made important contributions to town planning and architecture in the period between the two wars, and designed the Zellidja scholarship. He had mines in Morocco. But he will be remembered chiefly as the man who established a magnificent foundation for young people in his scholarship fund.

Walter was one of those rare people who put their trust in youth, and he did it in an exceptionally generous and intelligent fashion by giving young Frenchmen the opportunity "of roughing it" in their education with knowledge they cannot acquire in secondary school nor, later, at the university."

The Zellidja scholarships, which were set up as a national trust in 1937, are awarded each year to some 350 schoolboys aged 17 or 18 after a series of tests of introduction and a cheque for 30,000 French francs (roughly $100) and each holder sets out alone on a voyage of research and discovery to conduct a study project which he has planned in advance. Among the projects the explorers who may have travelled as far afield as Peru, the South Pacific, Equatorial Africa, India or North America is require to write a book dizzy of his trip, together with an expense account and a report on his project illustrated with maps, drawings, colored photographs, some of which he must produce himself.

Of the boys being back from adventure, art works, folk costumes, utensils etc. from their travels — Eskimo snow-shoes, Greek vases from the Aegean, embroidery by African native tribes . . . And each year the best reports are gathered into a most interesting items are exhibited in Paris. This year, the exhibition has a special significance since it is one of the events scheduled for the Unesco World Month now taking place in Paris. It is on view at the city's Palais-de-la-Decouverte under the general title of "How Young Frenchmen See the World".

The main purpose of the Zellidja scholarships is to develop a sense of initiative, courage and responsibility among young people. The boys are encouraged to work during their trips and many of them are forced by circumstances to earn their keep. Their first experience of other lands and other customs helps to broaden their outlook and develop a real desire for co-operation and understanding of other people — which is one of Unesco's main aims.

Photographs taken by the scholarship-holders in India, Canada, New Zealand, Africa, etc., exhibited in the big hall of the Pedagogical Museum, are there to prove the variety of countries visited and the intense interest and curiosity with which the young French boys in the world at large. The subjects of their studies are various not by geographical location, but by subject-matter also shown there: anthropological, ethnological, irrigation, mining, and so on. Some have chosen as a dif-ferent as Morocco and Israel, Mexico and the Ukraine. Others have brought back wood-carvings from Lapland prove that architectvitions too, are universal.

"The world is vast and men are fascinating in their diversity," says one of the prize-winners, Pierre Forin! "What impressed me most were the fundamental traits common to people the world over and which go to make up human life, that extraordinary mixture of pettiness and greatness. These simple things are well worth while discovering, and the way to do so is to travel the world with a rucksack on your back, not much less.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In London, England, one of the best boarding houses has the most wonderful electric train set up in its window. Two trains, no less, a passenger and a goods train, and they call 'em over there, circulate at high speed over wide countryside, villages, under bridges, through tunnels. Signals change, semaphores rise and fall, Gatemen raise gates. And, at the end of a run, the trains come to a halt, the passenger train is filling model railway station, the goods train in a complex marshalling yard, as they call freight yards over yonder.

Each run takes about three minutes.

And to start a fresh run, some-body outside on the street, precisely a small boy with his nose stuck to the plate glass window, has to put a ha'penny in a slot provided outside.

Now, who but the English would have thought of a thing like that?

Inside, I asked one of the floor managers about it, and he told me of making the public p a y for a window display at Christmas.

"Ah, no. The pennies g o to a children's charity. But the trick is to see that slot out there is to give each child the feeling that he or she is operating the trains. It is their doing. They have the feeling that they are throwing the switch that makes the tremendous scene in motion. It is, as you see, personal, in a sense that m e r e money isn't."

Egypt Too, Ousts Sack

Atlanta Constitution

The sack is on thk-way out in Egypt, too. There the sack is the galable, a flowing nightshirt-like garment worn traditionally by the Arab men.

President Nasser says the galabia must go. It's dangerous, workers trip over their galabias in factories and get hurt.

So the order has gone out through all Egypt that the standard dress for government workers, private companies and all factories will be trousers and a shirt.

That is, for men.

What the West would like to see now is for the Egyptian men to ditch their pants and gird on the sack.

No Explosion

Recently an American air force bomber, with such a weapon aboard, crashed in Texas. There was no contamination, no explosion, which may or may not, alleviate anxiety.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

YOURSELF IN IT!

Wouldn't it be wonderful if everybody put his or her whole heart and soul into his or she did? What a different world this would be! Think of the things that enthusiasm has carried! think it was Emerson who said that nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm.

I was much impressed with a story told of the young wife of a playwright. She was telling me of the difficulties they encountered, into the first accepted play of her husband. "But, after all the time of preparation," she said, "he lived right in it."

Edison was so absorbed in his work that he rarely could arrange the time in which to enter into the interests of others. Invited to join others in the celebration of one of his birthdays, he wired that he was "especially busy" that day! Even while one of his early plants went up in flames he withdrew, before the fire's finish, and got his builders to start all over again. I once went through his interesting laboratory that Mr. Henry Ford had reconstructed as a tribute to Edison. I was amazed at the many inventions he had created. Once proved that these were in the interest of others. The time given over to others while he started something new was the time he became never long enough.

It is said of Hercules, the god of strength, that whether he stood or sat, or whatever he did, he was thinking of the task he had set him to do. Be a person worth meeting!

Strength for The Day

WE CAN ENDURE IN HOPE

Jesus said on one occasion, "I have overcome the world." In this declaration that "Whatsoever is born of God overcometh i s v e r world."

When problems begin to arise in our lives, we should remember which threaten to overwhelm us, when sorrow and grief overcome us, when disappointment blinds us and leaves us bleeding at the heart, we have the time for us to remember that we live in a world in which there is reason for hope. Just as the ambulances are always ready to go to a scene of disaster, gather up the victims, and take them to a place where they may be cared for and cured, so the love of God is waiting at all times to rescue us from trouble. There is no problem which cannot be solved. There is no burden which cannot be lifted. There is no disappointment from which we cannot recover. "Easy" is not found in the world of hard realities is c e r tainly. There is a firmness about the sternest which characterizes it and fills us indeed with a sense of awe and sometimes of fear.

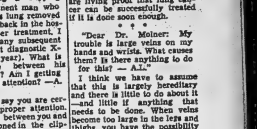
But we should with confidence thrust the fear aside. The universe is made in such a way that problems are capable of being solved, burdens are capable of being lifted, disappointments can be surmounted.

The word "overcome" looms large on the pages of the Bible. "Be of good cheer," I have overcome the world." That should be sufficient assurance.

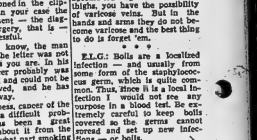
Here's 'Take' In Gambling

Galt Reporter

You probably have often wondered about the size of "The take" as gamblers call it when "the house" gets. Steve Fisher in "No House Limit" tells the story as follows:



A successful and infallible percentage of every dollar that is put down on a gambling table goes to the house.



It varies from hour to hour, from day to day, from week to week, but by the end of a month reaches unerringly. With dice it is 7½ per cent, but on blackjack never less than 30 and often higher.

Roulette is somewhere from 40 to 70 per cent profit-for the house in which the slot machines from 40 to 80 percent, depending on how tightly the screw in the back of the one armed bandit has been fixed.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

EARLY DIAGNOSIS OF LUNG CANCER IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

"Dear Dr. Molner: I had part of my left lung (one lobe) removed because of cancer. I recovered rapidly (I was then 70 years old) and returned to work in a machine shop for four years and then retired. I am enclosing a clipping about a prominent man who had part of his lung removed and now he is back in the hospital for further treatment. I have not had any subsequent treatment (just examined for rays twice a year). What is the difference between his case and mine? Am I getting proper cancer attention? —A. L.H."

Yes, I would say you are certainly getting proper attention. The difference between you and the man mentioned in the clipping, is that in your case the original treatment, — the diagnosis and surgery, that is was very successful.

As you now know, the man mentioned in the letter was not as fortunate as you were. In his case, the cancer probably was more advanced and could not be entirely removed, and he has now passed away.

In fact, cancer of the lung presents a difficult problem. There has been a great deal written about it from the standpoint of what part smoking plays in this disease.

I am going to sidestep that argument as gracefully as I can, because, while arguments raging between experts on both sides, I should not care to set myself up as an arbiter to say that either side is wrong. Quite aside however from the tobacco plays, I do think that we are seeing more of this type of cancer because, in part at least, people are living longer and it takes wise enough to have more "frequent X-rays of their lungs, and other examinations as are indicated more cases soon enough to do something about them.

I have not the slightest doubt that in time we will learn to discover more cases sooner and save more lives. I personally think that a good many cases of lung cancer in the past have not even been recognized but were classified as "grippe" or lungs! weakened by cancer, without his knowing it. fell victim to some other disease.

In your case, A.H., your rapid recovery and ability to go to work for four years at the age of 70! —is a tribute to your achievement. It is to be hoped that X-rays to detect quickly whether there is any recurrence of the disease.

Tomorrow I'm going to discuss some of the signs, and some of the conditions which make some cases easier or harder than others to treat. But for today let's remember these two important points which are brought out by your letter. First, that early diagnosis is of the greatest importance; second, that you are living proof that lung cancer can successfully treated if it is done soon enough.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My trouble is large veins on my hands and wrists. What causes them? Is there anything to do for this? — A.H."

I think we have to assume that this is largely hereditary and there is little to do about it —and little if anything that needs to be done. When veins become too large in the legs and thighs, you have the possibility of varicose veins. But in the hands and wrists they do not become varicose and the best thing to do is forget it.

Many Think Mine-Mill Strike At Inco Plant Bonehead Play

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SUDBURY (CP) — Did the mine-mill union make a multi-million dollar bonehead play in its nickel strike?

A lot of knowledgeable people here will tell you that this is exactly what was done by the Red-led International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers in its $1,000,000-a-week walkout.

On a tour of the locality, this reporter has heard many people describe the calling of the strike as "dumb" or "stupid."

The reason is that the employer —International Nickel Company —holds the high cards in this big stake poker game.

And right now Inco looks like the winner—with nothing much to lose—while the losers could be the 13,500 men on strike against Inco's diggings and smelters. And their families.

BIG STOCKPILE

Here's the setup briefly:

With Inco loaded with a big stockpile of base metals in a good world market, the union demanded a better money deal and then struck about 2½ months ago when the company said no.

So far as can be learned here, Inco doesn't give a hoot economically. It's better off than it was before, as far as payroll is concerned.

Meanwhile, the company is working off a huge stockpile of base metals which it has to sell on the world market. It might take Inco until mid-February to get rid of what it has piled up.

This accounts in some part for the company being able to tell the union, when it got tough, to go take a jump in nearby Ramsay Lake.

There is some thinking here that bright negotiators at Inco lockeyed the union into striking. Nobody talks on this for publication.

POOR TIMING

But certainly the strike appears to have been called at a poor time, with miserable weather closing in on this northern community and now with Christmas coming on.

Forthright Mayor Joe Fabbro of Sudbury was asked this:

"Did mine-mill make a mistake in calling the strike?"

His reply:

"A very blunt and direct question. Perhaps it's time for a similar type of answer.

"Normally you would presume that union officials are those in the best position to determine at what moment a strike is best called.

"However, the economy of the industry was well known to all concerned and the present status of this strike action would appear to justify the warnings that were given by the company and others that the union would have to be realistic in its negotiations for a settlement."

TROUBLE FOR MAYOR?

The 46-year-old chief magistrate of Italian descent — re-elected to another two-year term last Monday — wiped his brow and remarked: "Well, I suppose this could get me in trouble."

"However," he added, "regardless of any mistakes that have been made, the time now has come when both factions should forget the prestige of their own positions in favor of what is best for those most directly affected.

"Nor can the company disregard the fact that industry's prime function is to give security to those people working within its influence."

Another civic leader, not wanting to be quoted, said that "I think the union got itself bear-trapped by the company.

"They just weren't smart enough. It was a poor time to pull a strike, and they didn't have enough to finance a major strike."

SAID NOT VERY BRIGHT

While some in the city suggest that the Communist party was behind the walkout, a business executive says it was just not very bright thinking on the part of the union's top brass.

About next spring or early summer," he said, "a strike might be put over. Right now is the wrong period is history for it."

Both sides get a clobbering from Rev. J. J. Delaney, who heads the Catholic charities emergency setup on the strike scene.

"All consideration for human beings has been cast aside," he says.

"This has become a knock-down, drag-out battle and the average man with his despairing wife and his hungry children is the ammunition."

"Both sides", adds Father Delaney, "are hurling the-little man back and forth like a ping pong ball.

"Both sides are shedding crocodile tears at his plight, and both sides stand back and let the church feed him and his family."

Britain's Fifth Post-War General Election May Be Held Anytime Next Year

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Britain's political parties enter the new year with the country's fifth post-war general election just around the corner.

Almost everybody expects Prime Minister MacMillan to seek a fresh mandate for his Conservative government sometime in 1959. Although he is entitled to wait until his five-year term expires in May, 1960, forecasts of the probable election date are almost wholly limited to the period between early spring and late October.

It is doubtful if the Prime Minister has yet made up his own mind about the most suitable date. But one thing is clear. Whether or not Parliament is dissolved in the next 12 months, the impending vote is certain to be the dominant factor in the United Kingdom's political arena throughout the year.

BUSY PREPARATIONS

Parties are busy overhauling campaign machinery last given a full-scale workout in 1955 when Sir Anthony Eden led Conservatives to their most impressive victory since 1935. And already voters are being wooed with an array of policy documents packed with promises of more jobs, better pensions, improved housing and other benefits.

Public opinion moved sharply away from the Conservative administration at the beginning of 1958, then swung back in the final six months leaving the country almost evenly divided in its support of the major parties, the Tories and the Opposition Labor Party. The tiny Liberal party showed some signs of revival when it gained its first bye-election victory since the Second World War by wresting a seat from the Conservatives.

Much of the credit for the Tory recovery belongs to the prime minister, who took over from Eden in January, 1957, when both his party and the country were shaken by the Suez Canal crisis. Macmillan's emergence as a popular leader is the most striking feature of British politics in 1958.

His calm, confident handling of emergencies inside and outside the Commons has earned him the title of "Unflappable Mac."

JANUARY SURPRISE

In January, the Tories were shaken by the resignation of Peter Thorneycroft, chancellor of the exchequer, and his ministerial aides in a dispute over the government's fiscal policies. At the time Thorneycroft's prestige was high as a result of his stern credit restriction measures that had halted a disastrous run on sterling a few months earlier.

Macmillan dismissed the resignations as "our little local difficulties" and boarded a plane for a six-week Commonwealth tour. By the time he returned, the excitement had died and Thorneycroft's successor, Derick Heathcoat Amory, was firmly in the saddle.

The prime minister showed the same imperturbability in another storm, this time from opposition benches, over the introduction of the government's controversial Rent Act, which freed some 800,000 homes from rent control and allowed increased charges for others. Despite dire predictions from Labor benches, there were few cases of hardship among tenants when the legislation went into effect.

Macmillan admits his government has had "a bit of luck." One instance was the manner in which he was able to withdraw British troops peacefully from Jordan only four months after they were dispatched, in spite of violent opposition protests, at the time of the Iraqi revolution.

ELECTION ISSUE

Macmillan's ability to lead his party to a third successive term of office may well depend on the government's success in combatting the country's rising level of unemployment. More than 600,000 Britons are expected to be out of work before the winter is over and thousands more are restricted to short time.

Unemployment provides Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell with a ready-made election issue. For months, he and his colleagues have predicted that the government's fiscal policies would result in an employment crisis.

The date of the next election—and the result—is likely to depend on how rapidly the 600,000 get back to work.

Above can be seen the flower on a "century plant" owned by Mrs. Grace Maniates of the Capitol Lunch, 145 Front street, who received it as a gift twenty-five years ago from a friend in Toronto, a Mrs. Watnwright. This is the second time the plant has bloomed since Mrs. Maniates has owned the plant, which is a tropical American agave found mostly in Mexico or the deserts of the southwestern United States.

This plant, also known as the American aloe, is cultivated in the warmer parts of Europe, especially Spain, Italy, and Portugal, where it is used for hedges and fences, securing kitchen utensils, and its juice is made into cakes for washing since it lathers well in salt water as well as fresh. In Mexico the natives also make use of the juice of the leaves. When this juice is distilled it yields two popular beverages — mescal and tequila, which are widely used in Mexico. North American Indians used to roast the leaves as a source of food.

The century plant is so-called because of a popular misconception that it blooms only once in every hundred years. Actually the plant blooms on reaching maturity and at odd intervals thereafter. In some areas the plant is slower reaching maturity than in other areas depending on the climate.

Gamma Mu Hears Talk on Civil Defence

The regular meeting of the Gamma Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held recently at the home of Miss Alex Hastey Dufferin Ave.

The guest speaker, Mr. John A. Priggie, Crown Attorney, was introduced by Mrs. R. Brain. Mr. Prigle's informative talk was illustrated by a film. The subject was "Civil Defence" and his address was followed by an interesting question and answer period. The speaker was thanked by Mrs. W. L. Turner.

A business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. W. Cochrane, who announced that Mrs. E. James had been named to serve on the social committee.

Mrs. D. Bateman reported for the "Service Committee". The chapter voted to assist a family at Christmas time. Members were asked to bring canned goods to the next meeting.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostesses, Mrs. J. McCormick and Mrs. D. Grant.

St. Peter's WMS Elects Officers

The annual meeting of St. Peter's W.M.S., Madoc, was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Brett, with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. Bailey, opened the meeting with prayer. Business was discussed followed by the annual reports from the various secretaries, which were encouraging, showing the year's progress.

Miss VanKleek brought in the slate of officers for 1959. It was adopted and the officers duly installed by Miss E. Heslip. Mrs. Brett presided at the piano.

Mrs. Spencer read two appropriate Christmas poems and Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Alvey favored with a beautiful duet "Far In the East".

A Christmas service of worship was held responsively from the Glad Tidings. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants. A social hour followed.

WEDDINGS

DEARBORN — BRADSHAW

Point Anne United Church was the setting on Saturday, November 15, at 2.00 p.m. for a very pretty fall wedding when the Reverend Alexander McDowell, pastor of Eastminster United Church, Bellleville, united in marriage Lena Ursula Marguerite Bradshaw of Point Anne, daughter of Mr. Leeman Bradshaw, and the late Mrs. Bradshaw, to Harold Ray Dearborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dearborn, of Port Perry, Ont. Baskets of pastel shaded chrysanthemums adorned the chancel rail, and white satin bows the guest pews.

Miss Lois Bradshaw accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Naugler, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," before the ceremony, and the "Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Leeman Bradshaw, the bride was lovely in her ballerina-length bridal gown of white net over taffeta featuring a molded Chantilly lace bodice with Sabrina neckline, and sheath-like sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The bell skirt was appliqued with white roses taken from the lace and two fly-away panels accented the back neckline. She wore a floor-length veil of nylon illusion and crown of iridescent sequins and pearls and a cascade of red Sweetheart roses mingled with white carnation on a white Bible, a presentation from the Sunday school, and white streamers knotted with red rose buds.

Mrs. Don Revelle, of Buffalo, was matron of honor, and the Misses Doreen Holloway, Belleville, R.N. 5, and Kitchener Payne of Point Anne, were bridesmaids. All were attired in gowns of similar princess style, the matron of honor in beige lace over satin, featuring chiffon at the necklines with streamers in turquise lace. All wore bandeaux of net, studded with pearl and carried cascades of 'mums mingled with ferns.

Mr. Fred Dearborn of Oshawa, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, while Messrs. John Naylor of Don Mills, Ontario, and Thomas Mitchell of Belleville, were ushers.

The reception, which followed the ceremony, was held at the Hotel Quinte, Belleville, where the bride's table was appropriately appointed with white damask, centred by a three-tier wedding cake made by the bride's step-mother. White tulle surrounded the base, and the attendants and bride's bouquets lent a lovely nuptial accent.

The bride's stepmother received the guests, wearning an olive green dress with matching jacket, brown accessories and corsage of yellow carnations. Assisting her in the receiving line was the bridegroom's mother, gowned in a sapphire blue tricolene two-piece ensemble, with violet-shade accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride chose a mint green jersey dress, with dark brown coat, shoes and purse, winter-white hat and gloves, with corsage of Sweetheart roses mingled with shattered white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Dearborn are residing at 84A Catherine Street, Belleville.

Guests attended from Oshawa, Toronto, Buffalo, Kingston, Port Perry, Don Mills, Ottawa, Westport, Brockville and Brighton, Ontario.

The bride, previous to her marriage, was sentertained at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Miss Doreen Holloway, at a community shower held by the citizens of Point Anne at the Orange hall; and at presentations of a coffee table from the employees of the Canada Cement Company, Plant No. 5, where the bride is employed, and of a white Bible from the Point Anne United Church Sunday school, where the bride is a teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Dearborn were recently presented with a step-up table, a tri-light floor lamp, and two table lamps by the residents of Prospect community.

JOHNSON — HOLGATE

ELDORADO — Eldorado United Church was the setting for a lovely wedding on Saturday, November 29th, at 2.30 p.m. when Helen Charlaine Holgate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holgate of Eldorado, became the bride of Lee Ashley Johnson son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnson of Eldorado.

The Rev. R. A. Milley officiated.

The altar was nicely decorated with white, yellow and mauve chrysanthemums and the pews were tied with pink and white bows.

The soloist, Mrs. Fred Bailey of Cooper, sang "Oh Promise Me," before the ceremony, and "Walk Beside You," during the signing of the register, accompanied at the organ by Miss Donley, of Bannockburn.

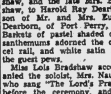
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her bridal gown of white nylon net over taffeta, fashioned in full-length with fitted bodice with a matching jacket with long pointed sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a lovely bouquet of roses.

Mrs. Floyd Blackburn, of Eldorado, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was attired in a street-length dress of yellow nylon chiffon and net over taffeta, and carried a nosegay of mauve and yellow 'mums, entwined with lace and satin ribbon.

Miss Betty Wyatt, of Madoc, as bridesmaid, was attired in pastel green nylon chiffon and net over taffeta and carried a nosegay similar to the matron of honor.

Little Carrion McCann, of Madoc, niece of the bridegroom as flower girl, was sweet in pink net over satin and carried a basket of pink mechuda and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. John McCann, of Madoc, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Floyd Blackburn, of Eldorado, and Mr. Don Holland, of Madoc, ushered the guests.



After the ceremony, the reception was held in the church basement where the bride's mother received, attired in sapphire blue ticatina crepe with contrasting white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother assisted, attired in dark beige trocaded taffeta with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table, with white damask was centred by a three tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath an arch of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to the United States, Guelph and Mount Forest, the bride chose a dark wool of powder blue check with navy accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside in Eldorado.

Guests were present from Belleville; Madoc; Remington, and Queensboro.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Gerald Morrison of Eldorado, and a presentation and shower at the Bell Telephone office at Madoc.

Women Are Accepted On Merits -- Lady Elliot

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A sign of the changing times in Britain, one of the first peeresses named to the House of Lords enters the House for her first parliamentary session. Baroness Swaroop, formerly Countess Marchioness of Reading and chairman of the Women's Voluntary Service, was one of four women named to the House in 1958. She is shown in parliamentary robes and wearing the traditional black tricorne hat as she enters the Palace of Westminster in October, 1958. (CP Photo).

LONDON (CP)—In the last 12 months the final crop of debutantes curtsied to the Queen in Buckingham Palace and the first group of peeresses welcomed her to the House of Lords.

Both developments are symbolic of the changing role of women in British society.

The debs will continue to play their decorative role in the annual functions of London's social season. But they have lost the right of access to their Sovereign.

On the other hand, by the granting of life peerages, the Queen is able to honor women who have achieved distinction through their own efforts rather than those who claim royal favor as a hereditary privilege.

NEW STANDARD

Baroness Elliot, one of the four women to receive a seat in the House of Lords, describes the innovation as "another instance of the way women are being accepted on their merits and not because they belong to another sex."

Lady Elliot, who has served on numerous government bodies and has been a delegate to the United Nations General Assembly, believes "this is a good age for women."

"They are being considered on all sides by various authorities like a new parliamentary bill is discussed, the community is thought of as one consisting of both men and women."

Women are playing an active role in British public life. There are 28 in parliament, 42 are mayors of their communities and many others hold important positions in local government.

They have made rapid strides in the scientific and engineering fields and are gaining ground in the executive side of the business world. The last year saw the appointment of Britain's first woman bank manager.

More jobs are being made available to them in industry, particularl part time jobs. A major obstacle to their promotion to higher professional posts is being overcome as more women elect to continue their careers after marriage.

The long battle for equal pay for equal work made headway in the civil service, one of the largest employers of women, has announced a scheme whereby that will equalize men's and women's pay for comparable work by 1961. Similar schemes are in operation in education and government and the standard is already been achieved in a wide variety of fields.

Lady Elliot, who says woman's advances should be viewed "in a sense of partnership, not competition," feels there are still a few objectives to be attained.

In particular, she would like to see legislation providing separate assessment for taxation purposes of the earned income of a married woman, and for establishing common ownership of their home.

WORK FOR PEACE

Another of the new life peeresses, the Dowager Marchioness of Reading, believes women should concentrate on working for world peace and that the best way to achieve it is by having "a contented and happy country."

"I am not one of the people who is worrying about the status of women," she says. "In this country they are given the maximum of responsibility and the maximum of opportunity. This is 'in reality' and not just on paper legislation. Where real achievement is, in fact, more important than adulation."

Quinte Lady Barbershoppers Obtain Quota

An executive meeting of the Quinte District Lady Barbershoppers was held at the home of Miss Muriel Jobson.

Plans were finalized for their first public performance which was held at Trenton Memorial on behalf of the Kiwanis ladies' Christmas party.

The Barbershoppers were led by Phil Squire.

It was reported by the membership convenver that the necessary number of girls for the Charter had been obtained. It is expected that the Charter with "Sweet Adeline Incorporated" will be applied for before the end of this year.

After the meeting, coffee was served, and some harmony singing enjoyed.

Christmas

The Elfin hosts you may not see,
At happy Christmas Time;
But Elfin horns are sounding free,
And Pixies chant their rhyme.

The magic in the human heart,
Deep buried through the year;
Streams forth again from shop and mart,
As jolly Christmas Cheer.

Glad Season when the smiles of men,
Are like the child's once more;
When friendship melts the icy pain,
And opens wide the door.

When briefly, gladly, for a spell,
The Christ Child sweet, descends;
To dwell with men in human breasts,
And broken heartache mends.

Swift wings will bear Him off again,
The glory all departs;
But a little song of hope He'll leave,
In all our lightened hearts.

You are planning on having a dessert sometime during the festivities weren't you? If so this is my way of crashing your party.

Wife Preserves

Banish stale tobacco smoke to rooms or closets by mixing a little diluted ammonia in a bowl of fresh water; let it stand overnight in the affected area.

ENCHANTED DESSERT CAKE:

One cup sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, separated, 1-2 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon each lemon juice and lemon rind, 3-4 cup sugar, and 2 tablespoons sugar. To sifted cake flour add salt and baking powder and sift three times. To the egg yolks add water and lemon rind and beat with rotary beater until light and foamy. Add 3-4 cup sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Then add flour mixture in small amounts and fold enough after each addition to blend. Beat egg whites until foamy, add lemon juice and 2 tablespoons of sugar and beat until it is stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Bake in two ungreased 8" layer cake pans, that are deep. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes or until done. Invert on rack until cold. Put together with

LEMON CREAM FILLING :

Combine 1 cup sugar and 4 tablespoons flour in top of double boiler. Add one slightly beaten egg, 1-3 cup lemon juice, 1-3 cup water and 2 tablespoons butter and mix thoroughly. Place over boiling water and cook for, 10 minutes stirring constantly. Cool. When cold add 1 teaspoon finely grated lemon rind and 1-4 cup cream whipped. Using half of the filling spread between cake layers, and on the other half of the filling add 3-4 cup whipped cream and use as a sauce for the cake.

ZABAGLIONE WITH FROZEN STRAWBERRIES:

Put 6 egg yolks in a bowl and beat with rotary beater until light in color. Continue to beat while gradually adding 2-3 cup powdered (not confectioner's) sugar then add 2-3 cup orange juice. Transfer to top of double boiler over a very little boiling water (do not let water touch the top of the double boiler) and continue to beat rapidly until the mixture becomes foamy and thick, about 7 minutes. Cool at room temperature and then refrigerate. Put a peach halve in the bottom of each serving dish, spoon the chilled Zabaglione on the peach and then top with thawed frozen raspberries. Note: This may be assembled in advance and stored in refrigerator until serving time.

CHEESECAKE WITH FROZEN STRAWBERRIES:

For a speedy dessert for carver wives.

Buy best quality cheesecake by the pound from a European Bakery (or make your own). Keep cold. At serving time cut into 2" squares. Top each with a generous spoonful of thawed sliced strawberries. Be ready for a call for "seconds".

'Christmas', Its Meaning Told To WMS Meet

The president, Mrs. D. Brenton, of Canniton Women's Missionary Society, was hostess for the December meeting.

After the opening prayer reports by Mrs. Gerald Brenton, secretary, and Mrs. Roy Pound, were heard. It was brought to the attention that Christmas cards and church calendars were for sale and could be purchased from Mrs. Pound, the money received from this source to be used in W.M.S. work. A social evening was suggested for WMS and WA of Canniton, to be held the first Thursday in February with plans to contact a guest speaker to be made at a later date.

Mrs. Doug Brenton began the worship service by reading a Christmas poem. Mrs. Ralph Plumpton favored with the beloved Christmas song, "Oh Holy Night."

MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

In her address to the members and friends present, Mrs. Brenton said, "this Advent season was a time of preparing our hearts for Christmas. It was nearly 300 years after Christ was born that the Christian people began celebrating His birth to much extent. The Santa Claus theory as we know it today, originated from a priest called St. Nicholas, who went about doing good and distributing gifts to children secretly. But the meaning of Christmas goes much deeper than this. The lives of Old Testament times were looking for spiritual light to come in the world. Isaiah 59, speaks of the light to come as did the Psalmist, David.

"As Christian people we should let the light of Christ shine through us and the WMS should be as a beacon flashing to other lands."

Mrs. Fred Furmidge sang "The Light of the World is Jesus," with the society joining in the chorus. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. Mcclure.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Brenton told of some of the highlights of her trip to England this past summer which was interesting to all.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, ending a most successful meeting.

GOOD MANNERS

RECEPTION DUTIES OF MASTER AND MISTRESS OF CEREMONIES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband has been asked to be Master of Ceremonies and I have been asked to be Mistress of Ceremonies at a wedding reception. Will you please tell us the procedure we are to follow to help make the occasion run smoothly? Thank you in advance for your guidance. — Two Readers

The first duty of a Master of Ceremonies and of a Mistress of Ceremonies is to have a very definite consultation with the bride-to-be and her mother, or whoever is planning the wedding with the bride-to-be, as to the general pattern of the procedure they have in mind. Customarily the Master of Ceremonies is asked to preside over the procedure for the toasts and for the responses to the toasts.

First he would be expected to make some gracious comments of hospitality welcoming, and usually by some bright comments on the importance and significance of the Happy Occasion. Then he calls for the toasts, in pre-arranged (and most carefully prearranged) sequence, and then for the response to each toast. He should, of course, be told whom he is to call on for the first and most important toasts that is, the toasts that are customarily made before any spontaneous toasts which may be proposed afterward.

For example: the toast to the bride, or, more usual, the toast to the bride and groom. The groom responds to this toast); toast to the bride's attendants; toast to the bride's mother, the hostess of the wedding, and to the bride's father, the host of the wedding; toast to the groom's mother, the second guest of honor of the wedding, and to the groom's father, the man guest of honor of the wedding and any other of the customary toasts at the beginning.

It is, of course, important and considerate for the Master of Ceremonies to inform, before the wedding, each one to be called on. Certainly no one wants to be called on without some opportunity to prepare "a few well-chosen words."

When the traditional toasts have been proposed and responded to, the Master of Ceremonies must be alertly prepared to direct any spontaneous toasts that anyone wishes to propose. These do not normally have to be responded to, usually aren't.

It should, I advise, be the definite responsibility of the Master of Ceremonies to see that the bride and groom should cut the cake, to summon the guests to the table where the cake is to be cut, and usually to be the one to lead the guests in singing "The Bride Cuts the Cake!"

Important Note: The Master of Ceremonies has the grace and poise to make himself inconspicuous during the cutting of the occasion . . . he must not give the impression that the occasion . . . and it is indeed a delight when he is graceful in manner and the ready humor which stimulates others to speak.

When there is a Mistress of Ceremonies, the bride-to-be and her mother should decide just what responsibilities she is to have to supplement her responsibilities of the Master of Ceremonies. She may be asked to take over the over-all directing of the reception, including the formation of the receiving-line. She doubtedly she will be asked to supervise the Guest Book procedure, making sure that everyone signs it. She may take over the cutting-and-serving of the wedding cake after the bride and groom have cut and shared the first piece. Quite often she is asked to take over some responsibilities of the serving of the refreshments.

A REMEMBRANCE BOOK . . . TO INSPIRE HER GOD-DAUGHTER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have a special problem about a special present I want to give to my young goddaughter. I love her very dearly, though I should admit she is more than a little inclined to be thoughtless and inconsiderate of other people — a frequent fault, I've noticed, in today's youngsters. However, she usually is willing to talk things over with me, and we are good friends. My problem is what to have her sixteenth birthday, which is quite soon. I've given her a devoted reader of your column, and so I'm coming to you to ask if by any chance you know of a book which would be appropriate. — Godmother

Thank you for your kind words. I have an idea . . . and I do hope it will be helpful. How about giving your young goddaughter an attractively bound record-book of birthdays, anniversaries, and other important days and occasions to be remembered in the lives of her family and relatives and friends? These books come in various price ranges, and I have found there is excellent gift for a young person particularly, to "bend the twig" to thoughtfulness for others. They are a remembrance for repeating!

A handsome leather binding might be in the girl's favorite color; her full name or initials may be stamped in gold on the cover; and also the date; the she should be ample, one full page for each day, or perhaps loose-leaf. Don't force her "remembrances" — just be a help now and then, and let the habit grow as naturally as breathing. Possibly for this gift you will. Let the book grow in grace as you guide your goddaughter to grow in grace.

SHE SHOULD TAKE A GIFT TO THE ADOPTED BABY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My friend of mine is a very recent "adoptive mother," and now that she and her husband have been given their lovely little daughter, she is planning to give an afternoon party for her friends to "meet" the child. Would it be proper for me to bring the baby a gift to the party? — Louise

Begins to Live At 27 After Heart Surgery

"CALGARY (CP) — Dorothy Sales began to live at 27 after an operation to correct an enlarged heart condition that had kept her an invalid.

Dorothy weighed only 41½ pounds at birth. Now far from stunning now, with her 89 pounds spread over a four-foot-10-inch frame. But her recent activities are a tribute to her courage.

Three years ago, three days after surgeons in Edmonton removed a plug from the artery carrying blood to her heart. She almost died during the operation and for six months was blind.

BIG EFFORT

Her sight gradually returned. Meanwhile, she was told to walk to exercise the heart. It was a big effort, as Dorothy had spent most of her life in bed or in a wheel chair.

A year after the operation, she began a do-it-yourself education program with the aid of a tutor and the advice of the department of education. When she was nine, she had spent two years in a Red Cross hospital and had worked her way to Grade III. Her new courses took her from Grades IV to VIII in three years.

Now at the age of 31, Dorothy enrolled in Grade IX in a city high school. She hopes to graduate, take a secretarial course and realize an old ambition—a job of her own.

TWIN SISTER DIED

Dorothy, whose twin sister died at birth, would not have ill different if she had her life to live over.

"I just can't see myself any other way," she said recently in an interview. "I was just meant to be this way. Don't think I wasn't bitter, because there are times when I still am. Why me?"

She often tires of explaining to people about herself and the skin condition that is a part of her illness. She is looking forward to another operation to correct her condition further, because she still tires easily.

She hopes most of all it will help her take a normal place in society.

MARK a different looking sandwich for your youngster by shaping the bread slices with a cookie cutter. Both may be cut, or only the top slice if it's a small sandwich. Dice the remaining scraps for croutons or for stuffing.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Adelaide R. — I don't want my mother at my wedding.

Mrs. F. R. — Her real mother should take over.

Adelaide R. — I am 20 years old and about to marry. I have a very serious problem in that I don't know whether or not to invite my own mother to the wedding.

My mother deserted my father and Joe and my baby brother when I was six years old. She ran off with another man and is now living in another province married to a third man. She has written to me and tried to keep in touch with me over the years, but I have never answered her. Once when I was a little girl she said to me "You'll understand when you are older," but now that I'm older I can understand less than ever how a woman can leave her own children.

My stepmother, who has cared for me for the past 13 years, says it is only right that I should invite my mother. My father doesn't say anything, but I'm sure he'd rather not see her. I certainly don't want to see her.

Mrs. F. R. — I don't make any comment for Adelaide's mother, but I do think she is entitled to see her own daughter get married. I wouldn't want anyone to think that she had been left out on my account.

It is true that my husband would rather not see her, but he is willing to let her come. I persuaded him that it is the only right thing to do. Adelaide's fiance and his family are not very keen on it either, but they go along with anything Adelaide wants.

I have been told that it is the custom for the real parent to take over the wedding ceremonies when there has been a divorce.

The Council: Mrs. F. R. appears to be a fine, sympathetic person, but perhaps her happiness over Adelaide's marriage is causing her to go overboard. She wants to share this happiness with the girl's real mother. But she would not do this woman any kindness by insisting upon her presence when nobody really wants it.

Adelaide is deeply attached to her stepmother and wants her at her side when she marries. This is natural under the circumstances. The real mother would look and feel irrelevant. Adelaide would have to deal with a terrific tangle of emotions on the bride's side. She should feel happy and no custom, set of rules or public opinion is more important than this.

Weddings offer wonderful opportunities for reconciliations, but it is not necessary to make it a ceremony that such an occasion. Since Mrs. F. R. feels as she does about Adelaide's mother, she would be wise to discuss the matter with the girl. She should be free to try to understand that nobody is immune to error and that none of us has the right to judge others harshly. Children are in a particularly poor position to pronounce upon the sins of parents.

We think that Adelaide should make an effort to know her mother and to introduce her husband to her. Possibly her relationship will be far from ideal, but it would be good for Adelaide to arrive at enough understanding of her mother to eliminate some of the bitterness she now feels.

Browns, Giants Meet in Eastern Final

NEW YORK (AP)—Two close games Sunday sent the National Football League's eastern division race between Cleveland Browns and New York Giants to the final meeting between those teams next week.

Cleveland, leading the eastern section by one game won a 21-14 decision over Philadelphia Eagles and runner-up New York held off a comeback drive by Detroit Lions to win 19-17

These two teams meet in New York next Sunday. Cleveland can clinch the title with a victory or a tie. If the Giants win, they'll play off with Cleveland in New York a week later for the right to meet Baltimore Colts in the championship game Dec. 28.

Baltimore, with the western division title already secure, suffered its second setback of the season Saturday, losing 39-28 to Los Angeles Rams before 100,000 spectators.

That victory sent the Rams into their final game tied for second place in the western division with Chicago Bears. The Bears romped to a 30-14 victory over their crosstown rivals, Chicago Cardinals, Sunday. Each has a 7-4 record, two games behind Baltimore's 9-2. The Bears play Detroit and the Rams face Green Bay next Sunday.

STEELERS OUT

Pittsburgh Steelers finally dropped out of the eastern title race with a 14-14 tie with Washington Redskins. San Francisco 49ers moved ahead of Detroit to fourth in the western division with a 48-21 victory over the last-place Green Bay Packers.

With 36,773 fans watching in Philadelphia, the Browns let themselves be overtaken by the Eagles twice in the first half before they won out on Milt Plum's 48-yard scoring pass to Ray Renfro at the end of the third quarter.

Plum was responsible for all three Cleveland touchdowns although hard — running Jimmy Brown did a lot to set up the Eagle defence.

Detroit, the 1957 champions, gave 50,115 hometown fans more than one shrill when they took the lead in the second half after trailing the Giants 3-32 at halftime and threatened again just before the finish.

Dutchie Star Out for Rest Of Season

KITCHENER (CP) — Jack McMaster, star forward Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the OHA-NOHA senior A, is disabled for the rest of the season, team manager Ernie Goman said Sunday.

McMaster received a cracked vertebrae when he crashed into the boards at Sudbury during a Friday night game against Sudbury Wolves. Kitchener won the game 6-4.

Dr. William White, Sudbury club physician, said McMaster's injury was the most serious of any he has ever handled. Goman called it the most serious ever suffered by a Kitchener player.

Full extent of McMaster's condition has not been established since there have been changes in his reaction to the sense of feeling in various parts of his body. He is in Sudbury hospital in a special "immobilization" bed similar to one in which Brooklyn Dodger catcher Roy Campanella was placed after his auto injury last year.

It is expected McMaster will be moved to Toronto from Sudbury. Mrs. Ronald McMaster of Niagara Falls will join her son in Sudbury.

INCO METALS AT WORK IN CANADA

Electrical appliances with a gleaming plated finish add bright beauty to your kitchen. And how much easier and more efficient they make your household tasks. Food stains, grease, dirt and grime wipe off so easily. Properly plated appliances won't chip, crack or deteriorate in appearance. How nice to know that the appliances you buy today will stay bright and new looking for years to come.

We ordinarily speak of these appliances as being "chrome-plated". Actually, they're plated with both nickel and chromium. On the surface, a thin film of chromium helps give appliances their bright, shiny appearance . . . but underneath, a heavy coating of nickel provides the real protection against rust, corrosion and wear.

Nickel plating has become a major industry in Canada. Electrical appliances, hardware, automobile parts and many other articles used in industry and the home are plated with Inco Nickel. Another way that Inco Nickel serves the Canadian industries that serve you.

Inco has recently published a colourfully illustrated 32-page booklet about Canada's nickel industry, entitled "The Exciting Story of Nickel". It is written primarily for Canadian youth by Alan King, but adults will also find it full of interesting information. Just write to Inco for a free copy of this booklet.

Enlarged cross section shows nickel plating . . . under chromium . . . over base metal; that's how a quality finish is built on appliances. Chromium adds gleaming beauty. Nickel makes that beauty last.

Saturday morning and afternoon representatives from Albert College, BCVS, Quinte Secondary School, the Belleville YMCA and Stirling attended a basketball officials' clinic sponsored by the YMCA. The clinic, held in the YMCA and the Quinte Secondary School, was under the leadership of Stan Mockford of the Ontario Board of Approved Basketball Officials. The morning session of the clinic was a discussion period covering the interpretation of rules. The afternoon session consisted of floor demonstration of infractions and violations with those attending actually being coached on their performance in refereeing a game between two high school teams. A written and practical examination will be held later in Belleville so those wishing to referee in inter-school games may qualify themselves. Approximately twenty-three attended the clinic, which was under the direction of Jack Bernhard, physical education director of the Belleville YMCA.

Minor Hockey

The Bruins maintained their perfect record in the bantam section of the BMHA Saturday morning when they blanked Quinte 6-0 for the 5 fourth win in as many games.

Goalie Garry Bonin played well to earn his shutout for the first - place Bruins while the goals were evenly distributed among six players. Pete Emerson, Terry Cassalman, Rae Monroe, Dwight Rathwell, Jerry St. Denis and Gary Day each scored once. Assists went to Bill Goodfellow with a pair, Rathwell, Bonin, McBride, Fred Robinson and Don Gardiner.

The Macs stayed just one point back of the leaders by taking a 3-1 victory over the Maple Leafs. Rickey Denard triggered two goals for the winners with Stan Woodcock getting the odd one. Peter Scarth scored for Leafs with Bill Angove assisting.

Browns climber a notch into third place with a 5-1 victory over the Rangers. Three players shared the scoring spotlight as Jim Wood and Denr's Hull each scored two goals and Bob Boyle had a goal and assist. Tom Boyle also earned one helper. Tony Petts on a pass from Dan Lucas scored for Rangers.

Canadiens pulled into a tie with the Barons by handing them their first setback of the season by a close 3-2 score. Gean York scored two goals and Carl Boomhower one for the Canadiens. Assists were shared by Brian Skinner, Wayne Wood, Dennis Ray and Dave Harris. Glenn Rainbird and Wayne McGarvey were the Baron marksmen while Bruce Symons had an assist.

Art Lucas led the Red Wings to their initial win of the campaign over the pointless Black Hawks, scoring three goals, in a 4-0 victory. Richard Cook with Jim Ross assisting had the other counter while all Lucas' goals were unassigned. Bill Elliott recorded the shutout in the nets.

Minor Hockey

Whitby Dunlops put together a pair of victories during the weekend to boost their Eastern Senior Ontario Hockey Association standing in a tat 31 points—more than three times the number collected by last-place Kingston.

Saturday night Whitby played to a home-ice crowd, edging Cornwall Cleveles 3-2. Sunday the leaders went to Cornwall to do it again—this time by a 7-4 margin.

In other weekend action, Hull-Ottawa Canadiens defeated the hapless Kingston Merchants 4-2 at Hull Sunday to add to the visitors' woes from a Saturday night 11-3 shellacking at the hands of Belleville McFarlands at Kingston.

Pete Babando, Jack Kane and Harry Sinden scored the winners in the Saturday game at Whitby. Ron Muir got both Cornwall goals.

In the Sunday encounter at Cornwall defenceman Ted O'Connor fired three goals for Whitby and Whitey Youngberg scored two. Georges Samolenko and Gordie Myles had one apiece. Ron Muir got his third and fourth weekend goals for the Cherubs. Nobby Clarke and Neil Burke got the other two.

At Hull Bobby Boucher got three of the winners' four goals and Bob Ellett added the fourth. Bill Calvin and Rose Olsen found the mark for the Merchants.

Industrial Hockey League Results

Sports Centre took over first place in the Industrial Hockey League yesterday by defeating Hillcrest Wreckers 8-5, dropping the losers into runner-up position in the four-team grouping.

In the other game Bell Telephones recorded their first win of the season, shading Circle TV by a 3-2 score.

Les Cooper spearheaded the Sports Centre attack with three goals while Doug's top point man, Bert Faulkner, fired a pair. Singleton went to "Flicker" St. Derk, Jim Campbell and Larry Wood. Jack Calnan registered two markers for Hillcrest with the others going to Dave Kelly, Ron Aitken, Wayne Fox and George Crabb.

Leroy McBrian's brace of goals provided Bell Telephone with the victory. Bob Hazard scored the other goal. Circle TV marksmen were Pat Marsele and Ian Cooper.

Following are the league standings and the top scorers including all games played to date, as released by league president Russ Sands:

Hockey's Big Seven

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal Canadiens scored two goals and picked up two assists during the weekend to advance into a tie with New York's Andy Bathgate for the National Hockey League's individual point - scoring leadership.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts
Bathvale, New York	15	17	34
Geoffrion, Montreal	14	20	34
Moore, Montreal	14	14	28
Howe, Detroit	13	15	28

AT THE PARK — Strange Fascination — Charlotte Austin seems strangely fascinated by the gorilla in a scene from Allied Artists' "The Bride and the Beast". This provocative and exciting suspense story, starring Miss Austin and Lance Fuller, opens at the Park Theatre tonight. On the same program raw and violent as the book that sold 3,000,000 torrid copies "Never Love a Stranger", starring John Barrymore Jr., and Lita Milan. Both features are first showings.

AT THE BELLE — Lovely Swedish-born actress, Inger Stevens is seen in the dramatic role of the extortionist victim in MGM's "Cry Terror", the suspense drama also stars James Mason, Rod Steiger and Neville Brand. Jose Ferrer and Gena Rowlands as the happily married couple of MGM's comedy-drama, "The High Cost of Loving", both first showing MGM attractions, open today at the Belle Theatre.

Name's The Same—But The Team—That's Different

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

When a sports fan purchases a ticket to any athletic event he buys with it the inalienable right to react emotionally as he sees fit. He can cheer or boo the home or visiting team, or officials as he desires. That is part of our democratic way of living as it applies to sports.

Unlike the more or less stoical British and continental fans, Canadians and Americans give vent to their feelings vociferously, and regrettably sometimes, in more demonstrative fashion.

The roar of a hockey or baseball crowd is part of the color of the sport. Drab, indeed, would be our athletic contests, if taut ears around in funereal calm, with not a whisper of encouragement or criticism echoing from the seats or stands.

Win, lose or draw, fans generally back their home teams to the limit. But they have been known to boo the hometown heroes if they go into a protracted slump. This has occurred to both individuals and teams as a whole, in major leagues' professional sports.

Generally this fan reaction is deserved. However, there are instances when it is uncalled for.

One of these instances occurred last Friday night in Memorial Arena when the McFarlands were playing the Cornwall Chevies.

The victim of the critical jibes was playing coach Ike Hildebrand of the McFarlands. One of two self-appointed fanymen in the stands yelled among other unkind remarks to "Take yourself off the ice, Ike."

Several sane-thinking fans have agreed with this department that the vocal barbs emanated from a few hotheads who know little or no hockey. Ike was the value of Hildebrand to the club as a player, or his responsibilities as a playing coach.

The lot of a hockey coach is a tough one. That of a playing coach is tougher. Hildebrand has the worries of both, with the added responsibilities of building his club into a whole that will retain for Canada the world's amateur championship.

Hildebrand realizes, along with Manager Drury Dennen, if there is any way the Russians and other strong European teams in world tournament the Macs must be a better club than that which won the Allan Cup last season.

To acquire this state of hockey perfection, strength for the weaker spots on the club must be found. There is no sentiment in hockey, or any other sport where championships are concerned. None knows that better than Hildebrand. He knows that he must, if the situation demands it, "cut" his best friend from the club, if a better player is obtainable. It is not easy.

As everyone who has followed the fortunes of the McFarlands this season knows, Ike has juggled his forward lines and defence combinations time and time again, in an effort to find an all-round winning combination.

Players will come and go, until the McFarland management and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association feel confident they have secured a club that will prove worthy representatives of Canada in Europe.

In addition to this world-team worries, Hildebrand has a fifty-game league schedule on his hands, besides exhibition games. Strangely, but naturally, hockey fans feel as a general rule that a club that is good enough to win the Allan Cup one year, should pick up where it left off and sweep all opposition aside the next season.

This has not been the case with the Macs. While the majority of the Allan Cup winners returned, the team had to be rebuilt and new players tried out in the process of reconstruction. Add to this the fact the team was not playing up to its potential, and you have what was regarded as a rather poor opening showing for champions.

All this, with other things, caused Hildebrand sleepless nights. As a field, when things looked dark last year, he threw his own indomitable never-say-die spirit into the matter and has pulled up the club by its skatesstraps more than once.

With a tremendous load of responsibilities on his 155-pound shoulders, perhaps Ike's play may have slowed a little, but not sufficient to warrant fans demanding his being taken from the ice. It merely faltered to the point where he scored three goals against Kingston Saturday night.

His effort in mentoring and playing the Macs to the Allan Cup last year, drew the admiring comment of hockey men all over Canada. It should help Ike to know that for every bitter critic, there are a thousand fans who believe in him and his ability to give Belleville and Canada a world-championship hockey combination.

Speaking of building the team, Manager Drury Dennen announced yesterday the McFarlands had traded Frank Battaglia and "Rags" Ragian to Kingston for high-scoring forward Roy Partridge and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Partridge will line up with the Macs against his old teammates from Kingston in Memorial Arena tomorrow night. Also seeing his first action with the Macs is Jean Lamirande, new defencemah late of the Quebec Aces, who was one of the stars of the Whitby Dunlops in their world tournament play last season.

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time in the 19-year history of parimutuel betting in New York, betting on the trotters in 1958 exceeded the totals for the running tracks.

It's the beginning of a trend that will spread to other states where the sulky sport has legalized betting at night trotting ovals?

Harness racing has been called the country's fastest growing sport.
